CRTC clarifies ownership of MAPL logo and system

The Canadian Radio-Television and Telecommunications Commission (CRTC) has issued a press release (Feb. 25/92) which clarifies some misunderstandings about the use of the MAPL system logo.

An article in the Toronto Star (Feb. 8/92) quoting CBC Entertainment's Karen Gordon perplexed many people in the industry when she suggested that a Canadian producer would qualify for P (production) in the system. The fact sheet from the CRTC shows that, in fact, it is the geographical location of the recording that qualifies, and that the recording must be wholly produced in Canada to qualify for P.

The fact sheet also clarifies that the MAPL logo was created by and is owned by Stan Klees and used in RPM. The logo is available for use by the industry in both the English and French sectors through permission from RPM.

RPM is reprinting this press release to assure that the industry has a full understanding of the MAPL system and the use of the MAPL logo.

The MAPL System

What is it?

The MAPL* system refers to the four elements in the Radio Regulations used to qualify musical selections as Canadian. These elements were selected as part of the Canadian

Ure makes appearance with Vancouver's Odds

The Odds put on an electrifying performance at Toronto's Horseshoe Club on Feb. 26, but the real buzz in the crowd was over the rumoured appearance of fellow BMG artist, Midge Ure.

Sure enough, at 11 p.m. the former Ultravox leader joined the Vancouver band for a surprisingly tight rendition of Cold, Cold Heart from his Pure album. Ure has been in New York City for the past month promoting Pure, which was just recently released in the United States. He has been working on new songs on a portable keyboard while on the road and he also participated in a writer's showcase at New York's Bottom Line Club. Ure is considering joining a proposed tour of the show, which features songwriters exchanging ideas and playing them on stage.

Ure has a band together which played a few dates in Germany just before Christmas, but he's waiting to see how well Pure does in the US before deciding on a full-scale tour. Former Ultravox members have asked him to re-unite the band but he says he's happy with his solo work and doesn't want to dwell too much on his past. Still, he says he includes up to eight Ultravox songs -- including Vienna and Dancing With Tears In My Eyes -- in his live show.

A greatest hits album is in the works and Ure is hoping it will include the earliest acoustic version of Do They Know It's Christmas?, the #1 Band-Aid single he co-wrote with Bob Geldoff. The song includes Sting on vocals and Ure must obtain his permission before he can release it.

content regulations, following an extensive public hearing process.

Objectives.

The primary objective of the regulation -- a cultural one -- is to encourage increased exposure of Canadian musical performers, lyricists and composers to Canadian audiences.

The secondary objective -- an industrial one -- is to strengthen the Canadian music industry, including both the creative and production components.

How does it work?

Basically, this is a point system. To qualify as "Canadian content" a recording must fulfill at least two of the following four conditions:

Music (M) - the music must be composed by a Canadian.

Artist (A) - the music or lyrics must be principally performed by a Canadian.

Production (P) - the musical selection consists of a live performance that is
(i) recorded wholly in Canada, or
(ii) performed wholly in Canada and broadcast live in Canada.

Lyrics (L) - the lyrics must be written by a Canadian.

This Canadian content regulation is designed to stimulate all components of the Canadian music industry and to be as simple as possible for the industry to implement and regulate.

*The MAPL acronym and logo were created by Stan Klees for RPM Weekly and are used by both the English and French sectors of the Canadian music industry. The logo is made available for use by the industry upon request to RPM Weekly.

Sony's new Mini Disc set for August launch

Sony's Mini Disc, a breakthrough in the evolution of digital audio technology, was introduced to members of the Canadian music industry last Friday.

The 64 millimetre (2.56 inch) Mini Disc, and its player, are both smaller than compact discs and players. Another Mini Disc advantage is its ability to digitally record up to 74 minutes per disc while still offering the same noiseless and distortion-free digital technology as CDs during playback.

The Mini Disc offers quick random access like CDs and can't stretch, break or tangle like cassette tapes. The disc is housed in a caddy and new technology using an advanced semiconductor memory provides almost total shock resistance so there is no skipping even while jogging or driving.

Pre-recorded Mini Discs will be sold in record stores similarly to CDs and cassettes. Sony hopes to price Mini Discs on par with CDs and have them on the market by August. Recorder players will be in the $500 range while basic players will be around $200.

Sony plans on manufacturing three million Mini Discs by the end of the year.

Veteran Wilf Gillmeister dead after lengthy illness

Industry pioneer Wilf Gillmeister passed away Feb. 12 at his home in Ajax, Ont. after a lengthy illness. Mr. Gillmeister, who was 78 at the time of his death, joined RCA Victor in Montreal in 1939. He joined the RCAF when war broke out and went overseas as a navigator. He was captured after being shot down over France and remained a prisoner of war for 13 months.

Mr. Gillmeister returned to Canada after the war and rejoined RCA, working as an assistant to the late Hugh Josephs. He was heavily involved in A&R and royalties for the company, contributing much to the growing importance of these fairly new functions at RCA.

Mr. Gillmeister was also a well known trumpeter and, with Oscar Peterson on keyboards, toured with one of Montreal's most popular big bands. He also played with many of the top visiting international big bands and quite often shared the spotlight with Maynard Ferguson.

Through his 37 year association with RCA, Mr. Gillmeister contributed much to the label's evolution as one of the most successful record manufacturing companies in Canada. He was very dedicated to popularizing the Camden label, and was instrumental in launching Stereo 8. He served in managerial capacities in both the marketing and merchandising operations of the company, and also served as a product manager and manager of planning scheduling when the Smiths Falls plant was in operation.

Mr. Gillmeister is survived by his wife Phyllis, who also worked for RCA at the Don Mills, Ontario location and two daughters, Dorothy Gillmeister in Sault Ste. Marie, and Lorraine Krause of Huntingdon, Quebec.

Memorial services and burial will be held in Hudson, Quebec at a later date.

EMI Music Publishing signs Toronto's Soil

EMI Music Publishing Canada has signed Vadim Rodomar and Matthew DeMatteo, primary songwriters for Soil, a Toronto-based alternative and dance band.

Hank Medress, president of EMI Music Publishing Canada (centre) with Vadim Rodomar and Matthew DeMatteo, primary songwriters for Toronto based Soil, recently signed to the publishing firm.

Maritime recording artists share awards spotlight

Cape Breton sweep of East Coast Music Awards

The East Coast Music Awards, held at the 1,100 seat Rebecca Cohn Auditorium in Halifax (Feb. 16) drew a packed house to honour the best from Canada's Atlantic provinces. There were some surprises and a lot of encouragement for independent recording artists at the awards show, which capped to the annual three-day music conference.

Cape Breton acts won eight of the 15 awards. The Rankin Family, from Mabou, a traditional/original music band, won the phone-in poll as Entertainer of the Year. The group also won two industry-judged awards - as Live Act of the Year, and Jimmy Rankin's penning of Orangedale Whistle, which took the Song of the Year award.

Also from "the right side of the causeway," Barra MacNeils, a family of three brothers and a sister from Sydney Mines, took the Recording Band of the Year award and won the Album of the Year category for their Time Frame release. Sydney-based Real World won in the Pop-Rock Artist category.

In keeping with the Celtic treasures that often dominate music from the Atlantic Provinces, two fiddlers from Cape Breton didn't go unnoticed. Natalie MacMaster won for Best Roots-Traditional Artist and Howie MacDonald as Top Traditional Instrumentalist.

Cape Breton could also be credited with the Lennie Gallant win as Vocalist of the Year and for winning the Video of the Year for Man Of Steel. The Prince Edward Island Acadian singer/songwriter obviously touched a politico/social nerve with his song about unemployed Cape Breton steelworkers.

One of the surprise nominees on hand for the awards presentations was Netzwerk (Capitol) recording artist Sarah McLachlan, who also performed. A former Haligonian now living in Vancouver, McLachlan -- who has gained international recognition -- flew in from San Francisco to accept her award as Female Vocalist of the Year. She had been nominated in six other categories, but was obviously delighted with this important solo win.

New Brunswick's Joan Kennedy, no stranger to the charts, was voted Country Artist of the Year. The Dr. Helen Creighton Lifetime Achievement Award was awarded

Cochrane Makes US gains with Life Is A Highway

Tom Cochrane is effectively paving his way to his six Juno nominations. After wrapping a highly successful 11 date Atlantic Canada tour the Capitol recording artist is now poised to break across the US with Life Is A Highway. The single, the second taken from his Mad Mad World album has made impressive moves up the AOR charts of R&R and the Gavin Report and Album Network's Power Cuts chart.

The album, now five times platinum in Canada, was released in the US on Feb. 25. No Regrets, the second single taken from the album, is now nudging the top slot of the RPM 100 Hit Tracks chart and the accompanying video scored a No. 1 on MuchMusic's national video chart.

Cochrane has been nominated for six Juno Awards: Album of the Year for Mad Mad World, Single of the Year for Life Is A Highway, Male Vocalist and Songwriter of the Year, Best Video for Life Is A Highway, and producer for All The King's Men from Mad Mad World.

posthumously to the late Newfoundland fiddler, Rufus Guinchard. He was honoured him for preserving much of Newfoundland's traditional music.

Other award winners were Nova Scotia's (Sydney Mines) John Campbell, who took the Unrecorded Artist of the Year Award, and Nova Scotia's Basil Donovan of Blue Rodeo who took the Goin' Down The Road Award, honouring an artist who has left the Maritimes and succeeded elsewhere.

The awards evening was hosted by Denis Ryan and Raylene Rankin. Performing along with McLachlan were Figgy Duff, Lennie Gallant, Brett Ryan, Espresso SVP, the fiddle duo of Howie MacDonald and Natalie MacMaster, and the Thomas Trio and the Red Albino. The performers returned to the stage for an all-star finale jam with Sam Moon.

Songwriter Wright gets break through ARIA

Jason Wright, a native of Wilkie, Sask., now living in Olds, Alberta, was a finalist in this year's Alberta Recording Industry Association's (ARIA) Songwriters Competition. The 29 year old has been writing and performing for some time, playing local weddings and working the club circuit. But Wright's main focus centres around performing original material.

After making the semi-finals in the 1991 Gold Fever Festival and the finals in the Alberta music project, Wright and his band Slice Of Life came out the winners in a televised variety talent show sponsored by a Vancouver television station.

ARIA member and Olds resident Elaine Wilson profiled Wright and his songwriting ambitions as follows:

Jason Wright's entry entitled Distant Thunder is a haunting glimpse at teenage suicide. "It relates to kids not getting enough attention at an important time," Wright explained.

The song evolved slowly. "In this case, the music came before the lyrics. I'll try to fit the words in with the music if it's appropriate. Some songs come in a couple of days. This song, before it was finally finished, took a couple of months. I heard a program on CBC Radio about girls in this asylum. They had a terrible problem, but they were nice people who had been through terrible trauma."

A member of the Saskatchewan Recording Industry Association, Wright joined ARIA to familiarize himself with the business end of Alberta's music industry. Learning he was a finalist was "very exciting, there's no question. The band is very excited. The people I play with have been playing music for a long time. We believe in what we're doing."

Wright applauds the encouragement ARIA's 1992 Songwriters Competition offers. "There's a lot of good songwriters out there. It takes them a long time to get recognized. It's not that they're not writing good stuff. Timing is everything. I think it's important that there are contests like this, places where people can showcase their material. It helps the guy who is struggling."

WAT SAYS

with Elvira Caprese

What a real mess!!! Bruce and Bryan have nothing going compared to a situation where a Canadian artist does a Canadian song and takes a Canadian producer to Los Angeles to do the session and says it is AP in the MAPL system. That record wouldn't qualify, but who would you sue??? (See page 2 for the correct ruling). If Karen and Bryan didn't know . . . why should anyone else? (EC: Nasty!!!)

Industry backlash . . . ? Would an industry that votes for itself get involved in politics? I would hope not. But apparently there are those who believe that the Bryan Adams controversy will result in CARAS members miring themselves in political slop by voting against rather than for Adams. No matter what

The JUNO AWARDS were originated by Walt Grealis and Stan Klees. The first awards presentation was held at St. Lawrence Hall, 157 King Street East, Toronto, Ontario on February 23, 1970

"... the prophets of doom, the messengers of mediocrity, will be overwhelmed by the new generation of competent, creative, confident artisans, and by all those preceding generations who have already demonstrated their freshness of mind, their talent, and their capacity for inspired leadership."

company they're with or how they might regard his opinions on the industry, if they feel he was the top male vocalist, the songwriter and producer of the year, that his single and album were the best of the year, and that he was the Canadian entertainer of the year, they should vote that way. Personally, I think Adams brought more attention to Canada's entertainment/recording industry in a week or so of heavy HEAVY news coverage than the industry has scored in 30 years. (EC: Most of them have to be shown how to vote anyway . . . you know, put your X here . . . !)

Peter Howell's my hero . . . ! Never, in all the years that I've been around (EC: Nobody can count that high . . . !) have I seen a major daily allow so much space to one newsmaker. The Feb. 24 issue of the Toronto Star, front-paged Peter Howell's piece on Bryan Adams . . . right across from the week's most dismal news story -- GM's closing of its St. Catharines plant. All of page 2 was then taken up with photos of Adams and his family and the most entertaining piece of investigative reporting I've seen in a long time. Howell left no stone unturned. He even prepared his subjects with faxed questions that he would like answered, and got some pretty good, not to mention important revelations. I particularly liked the comments from Jim Vallance, Adams' former songwriting partner. No matter how you look at it, this has been Bryan Adams' year . . . thanks, in part, to Howell's coining of the "un-Canadian" tag that got the whole thing started. (EC: Well, a little credit PLEASE for grizzly Allen . . . !)

New and improved . . . ! This year's Big Country Awards Banquet will be new and improved. We have a few new angles that will bring this event back to its historic prominence. The big event will be held June 7 in the Harbour Ballroom of Toronto's Harbour Castle Westin. Jot this date down in your diary because it will be one of the most tasteful, enjoyable and fun-filled evenings you'll ever have. You don't have to be in the country music end of the business. This will be an evening of style, elegance and panache. (EC: Do they serve the panache as a dip????) Not only do you get the show . . . but it's a sit down, catered affair!

Two days prior . . . ! On the Friday before the awards banquet, the Variety Club will hold its luncheon tribute to country music. For those who want to semi-schmooze, this is the event for all the country music wannabes. Mark that date down as June 5 in the Frontenac Ballroom of the Harbour Castle Westin. It's the largest head table (EC: A special table just for that????) in country music and the preamble to the big awards night on Sunday. Details coming soon in RPM.

Relax Junos!!!! After watching the Grammys, I'm sure the Junos will come off better and I'm still saying two million. This will be "The night Canadian music comes home," which either refers to Vancouver being in a foreign country (EC: Not yet!) or the fact that there will be no foreign acts on the variety show. (EC: It's an awards show!!!) You could have fooled me!!! Boy, were the Grammys long and boring. After the first 20 minutes they were long. I watched every minute to see if Bryan Adams would be changed back into a Canadian . . . but all he did was share one Grammy with two other guys. (EC: Were they Canadians???) One of them is rumoured to have written the title to the song. (EC: Don't upset Bruce!!!) Now I'm really confused by the pronunciation of Celine's last name. These foreign names are so hard to pronounce. Go get 'em Junos!!!

When it comes to dailies . . . ! Watch for the Globe and Mail to pump life back into its entertainment (The Arts) section. It took a Peter Howell to make the Star's entertainment section entertaining . . . and informative. Now watch Chris Dafoe, ex of the Star, to do the same for the Globe through their Vancouver bureau. (EC: A real reporter from Vancouver . . . ?) As for the other Toronto daily . . . who knows what goes on down there? If you're a good hockey player, you just might score a column . . . or keep a job. The only breath of fresh air is Diane Francis and we're eagerly awaiting her expose on Toronto's SkyDome. Perhaps when she gets back from Russia. (EC: That expose is a long time coming wouldn't you say . . . ?)

Distinct society . . . Eh!!! Who won the majority of the medals for Canada at the Olympics . . . and who won that crucial industry hockey game . . . 17 WHAT? The Quebecers, that's who. (EC: So why do you have a photo of the losers . . . ?) See page 15.

The business is up 32 per cent . . . ! What great news. January showed a 32 per cent increase over last year . . . but nobody's happy. (EC: Everybody wants to pay their bills with product . . . !) But our visitors were happy. (EC: Wouldn't you be happy calling on RPM . . . ?)

COVER STORY - by Steve McLean

Brent Lee and his band are Outsiders looking in

When Brent Lee first met Naoise Sheridan in 1988, they drank heavily, talked about AC/DC and Merle Haggard, and traded song ideas.

Today these two, along with bassist Mike Lynch and drummer Ron Desjarlais, express their fondness for rock, country and alcohol through their band, Brent Lee and the Outsiders. Lee and Sheridan dropped by RPM for an often irreverent chat about their burgeoning careers.

The group started in Vancouver but when things got stale they decided to leave their friends and family to seek out a new market in Toronto. The band's first break came when they did an interview for MuchMusic's country show, Outlaws & Heroes. Since then the band has made 15 appearances on MuchMusic -- all without the benefit of a video.

Their other bit of good fortune was meeting Dale Murray of Justin Entertainment. Lee, 28, remembers the night at a Toronto nightclub when the two sides first negotiated working together:

"By the end of the night Dale was lying on the front stairs with a wine glass in his hand and his tongue sticking out the side of his mouth. We were all standing around looking at him and saying, 'This is the guy who's going to be handling our careers.'"

Murray received four enthusiastic thumbs up and he has been dedicated to the band ever since.

Opening on tours by Dwight Yoakam and The Tragically Hip exposed the band to a wider audience and they would like to get similar gigs in the future. But for the next six weeks, the band will be doing their own tour through western Canada.

"We used to play any town big enough to have a gas station. Now they have to be large enough to have a McDonald's before we play there," says the 30-year-old Sheridan.

Lee and Sheridan often get together and work on songs while on the road, though only the person with the original idea is usually credited with writing it. They hope to write 10 songs on the upcoming tour if they're not too busy selling T-shirts, CDs and tapes in between sets of their shows.

The band released their MCA-distributed debut album, Rose Tattoo, in December. The catchy first single, Would You Love Me, has achieved moderate chart success on a variety of radio formats. They're hoping the next single, Where I'm Going, will bring the group to the attention of those with the financial backing they need to finally produce a video.

A tentative title for the band's next album came to Lee at a recent Valentine's Day show, where a scrawny and obviously inebriated man with seven roses approached the stage. He asked Lee to call a woman named Cher (no not that one) to the front, and he insisted that the singer propose to her over the microphone on his behalf.

"She never did answer yes, but she cried and parts of her clothing fell off," Lee says. "Then everyone applauded. It was a beautiful thing."

Weasel and Cher, the album, could be hitting record stores by the end of this year or in early 1993.

Sarah McLachlan down home for concert dates

Netwerk recording artist Sarah McLachlan will launch her first ever east coast tour on March 11 at Charlottetown's Confederation Centre. McLachlan returned home to Halifax (Feb. 16) for the East Coast Music Awards where she won Female Vocalist of the Year.

After Charlottetown McLachlan will play the Rebecca Cohn Theatre in Halifax (12), the Acadia University Hall in Wolfville (13), Corner Brook's Arts & Cultural Centre (15), the Arts & Cultural Centre in St. John's (16), Saint John's High School Auditorium (19), and Fredericton's Playhouse (20).

McLachlan was signed to the Netwerk label in 1987 at age 19. After that, she moved to Vancouver. A year later she released Touch, her debut album which gained her a gold certification.

Solace, her second album, garnered critical acclaim on the international front. The album has enjoyed 30 weeks of charting on the RPM 100, and has now surpassed gold.

1991 was a good year for songwriter Jordan

Marc Jordan's 1991 Juno nomination for songwriter of the year caps off his most successful year ever.

Rhythm of My Heart, the lead single from Rod Stewart's Vagabond Heart, propelled the album's sales to 4.25 million units worldwide and triple platinum status in Canada. The song was the second most performed song on European radio, according to ASCAP. The song's success spurred new interest in Jordan's original catalogue, prompting WEA Canada and several other labels worldwide to reissue Mannequin, Blue Desert, and Live at the El Mocambo on compact disc.

Other international artists who have recorded Jordan's songs include Diana Ross, Chicago, Kansas, and the Manhattan Transfer, who recently recorded their fifth Jordan cover, Gentleman with a Family.

Following several live performances last summer, Jordan began writing material for his latest album, which he calls "a collection of raw live jazz-oriented songs." The album will be produced by Steely Dan producer Gary Katz, who also produced Jordan's 1978 Juno-nominated debut album, Mannequin.

Late last year, Jordan co-wrote two songs with Exchange for the soundtrack of the animated American television show, The Legend of Prince Valiant. Love Called Out My Name, a duet with his wife, singer/songwriter Amy Sky, and Where The Truth Lies, are both receiving Canadian airplay.

*Part Six of a SeriesA&A rises from red and keeps up with competition

*Dan Whitt - President and CEO
A&A Music and Entertainment*

In 1887, Mark Twain quipped, "Reports of my death are greatly exaggerated."

Today he could be speaking for A&A Music and Entertainment, which industry wags continue to eulogize.

True, the record and tape giant was mired in bankruptcy just a year ago and more than a third of the stores were closed. True, steep price cuts were made in select locations last fall. But from survivalist tactics, these moves are part of a calculated effort to reposition A&A as the music and home entertainment retail outlet.

A&A is alive and well and we're right on target with our profit projects. But the industry itself is changing, and we're taking some bold steps to recapture lost market share and secure our viability for the future.

According to statistics released by the Canadian recording industry, dollar sales for recorded music in 1991 were up seven percent while unit sales were down five percent. The only growth area was compact discs.

Ours is a mature industry. Any growth is coming from new formats. What we're doing in our stores is bringing in related product lines to build upon our existing base.

Now with 147 stores coast-to-coast, A&A is in the process of expanding its inventory.

Initial steps will include adding sell-through movies and video games to its inventory of compact discs, audio cassettes and accessories. Records, for which consumer demand has fallen dramatically, were dropped last fall. New consumer services and state-of-the-art retailing technology are rapidly being set in place.

The man with the vision to turn the once ailing company is Cliff Horwitz, president of Jumbo Video and chief executive officer of both Jumbo Video and A&A. Since a consortium of investors led by Lincoln Capital Corporation rescued A&A from bankruptcy last fall, Cliff initially manned the helm of both firms.

Contrary to popular opinion that the closing of almost 100 stores is a symptom of impending doom, the new owners purchased only the most profitable ones in the chain and thus began its venture on a healthy footing. A corporate name change from A&A Records and Tapes to A&A Music and Entertainment, more accurately reflects the new corporate mission.

What I feel I bring to the A&A team is industry experience, product knowledge and background and a shared vision for where we are going. Last year, prices were dropped in four downtown Toronto and Montreal locations. The move was undertaken to increase market share in these areas and the consumer response was overwhelming.

In November, the company instituted a toll-free telephone number (1-800-387-6060) which enables consumers to find out if a selection is in stock or to place special orders. There are 20,000 releases out there and we can't possibly carry them all. But if we don't have something that someone wants, we'll get it for them.

Another enhancement is the installation of a computerized management information system which tracks inventory-by sku-at the point of sale. Now in the testing stages, the system will be rolled out to all stores this year.

What this means to the consumer is that we will have the right inventory mix for each store according to what that demographic is looking for. One store might have greater call for heavy metal and another for classical music. We'll be able to build each inventory based upon the buying patterns of that store's clientele.

A pro-active, consumer-driven marketing strategy is not the only prescription for success in a recessive economy. A&A has strong nationalistic roots and a team-oriented approach to human resources. These are assets every bit as valuable as real estate and financial backing.

We're a Canadian-owned company with the largest number of retail music outlets in the country. We're a team of 800 employees, each working toward a common goal. All of our profits are reinvested in this country to expand our business and create even more opportunities for us all. And that's something you don't hear about much in the headlines these days.

1992: a time for being more selective

*Frank Davies - President
TMP - The Music Publisher*

1991 was a year that saw several important changes domestically and internationally for TMP, with the acquisition of TMP's assets from Canada Publishing Corporation and the subsequent formation of a joint venture with MCA Music worldwide.

Since its formation in 1986, TMP has sought to sign, develop and promote its songwriters, artists and their productions alongside the representation of several key foreign catalogues in Canada.

The joint venture with MCA Music has enabled TMP to solidify its long term goals of taking its Canadian songs and songwriters to the world.

1992 is off to a good start thanks to the massive Canadian success of Tom Cochrane's wonderful Mad Mad World album. TMP has two songs on the album including the upcoming single, Annette Ducharme's Sinking Like A Sunset. Also creating serious sales action in Germany is Ian Thomas' Boomers album What We Do, now scheduled for release in several other countries.

TMP is concentrating its efforts in 1992 on several artist/writer development deals including Annette Ducharme, John Cody, Ron Hynes, The Mozz and Rick Braun. We are about to announce the worldwide signing of a major songwriter.

For music publishers, who are still awaiting the completion of the new mechanical licensing agreement between the CMRRA and CRIA and who continue to face the ongoing attempt by "users" to reduce the value of their copyrights (as reflected by the opposition to SOCAN's tariff proposals), 1992 is a time for being more selective and expanding horizons while continuing to create and develop for the future. TMP plans to achieve these goals.

FACTOR's New Talent Award has changes

FACTOR's New Talent Demo Award Program funds have been fully committed for their fiscal year ending March 31. As a result FACTOR will no longer be accepting applications to the program for their remaining fiscal year.

The New Talent Demo Award Program offers assistance for the production of high-quality demo tapes which are essential to securing recording or distribution deals. Only new talent may apply to the program. FACTOR

Vancouver's Crusoe set for Toronto listening date

Alistair Palmer, who heads up Vancouver's J.A. Palmer & Associates, has scheduled a March 9 (6 p.m.) listening session at Toronto's Kensington Sound for Crusoe, a new west coast act.

Palmer is on a shopping trip with Crusoe's album. Besides the Toronto session, he will attend the South by Southwest convention, an annual alternative music conference held in Texas.

Crusoe's album was produced by Stefano Cancelli of Toronto and recorded at Vancouver's Venture Sound Studio.

defines new talent as artists or performers who have commercially released fewer than 10 songs.

FACTOR's Board of Directors have confirmed the following changes to the program effective April 1, 1992:

- FACTOR will no longer place successful applicants in the studio where the recording is to take place. The choice of the studio will be up to the applicant.

- FACTOR will recognize a maximum of 25 hours studio and will provide a cash award of up to 50% of eligible award production costs to a maximum of $1,500.

- The applicant will be responsible for all costs incurred for the production and will be reimbursed the eligible award amount by FACTOR upon completion of the project.

Due to these changes new application forms must be used by those wishing to apply for the program and will be available in early March. Next deadline for submitting applications to the program in all musical categories is May 29, 1992. Last year the New Talent Demo Award Program provided assistance to approximately 129 artists across Canada.

ONE 2 ONE - Pop
Imagine It
A&M - 75021 5364 2-Q

Imagine It... a new One 2 One album that forsakes its synth pop predecessors and focuses on both acoustic and electric guitars to carry its 10 tunes along. At times you may swear you've heard brief riffs or melodies somewhere else, but for the most part One 2 One manage to achieve a fairly distinctive identity. The album's first single, Peace Of Mind (Love Goes On), is the band's view of what it would have been like to fully experience the 1960s. The rest of the songs primarily deal with every pop band's favourite subject: love. Guest musician Frank Levin contributes some nice piano and keyboard work on Tough To Tame, while Gypsy Girl mirrors southeastern European sounds before picking up tempo and getting a bit atmospheric. Louise Reny's voice stands out on Big Hush and I'll Walk Away, a galloping country song that begins with the sound of gently falling rain and includes some good acoustic guitar work. The album was produced, engineered and arranged by band member Leslie Howe in his Ottawa studio. (CD reviewed) -SM

BOOTSAUCE - Alternative rock
Bull
Vertigo/ -512027-2-Q

This follow-up to Bootsauce's gold-selling debut, The Brown Album, was the highest placing new entry (#49) on last week's RPM Albums chart. Heavy funk rhythms, Pere Fume's screeching guitar, and lead singer Drew Ling's deeper than a volcano vocals combine to give this Montreal band a unique sound. You probably won't hear too much of this on AOR or CHR because sordid sex is a preponderant theme throughout. The exception is the first single, Love Monkey #9, which deals with the cruelty of lab animal testing. Bootsauce's fondness for disco surfaces with Rollercoaster's Child, an adaptation of the Ohio Players' Love Rollercoaster. It's a logical progression from last year's club hit cover of Hot Chocolate's Every 1's A Winner. Motorhead's Lemmy and Wizzo guest on Hold Tight, so Bootsauce is obviously in no danger of losing it's grungy edge. (CD reviewed) -SM

WILLIE P. BENNETT - Folk
Collectibles
Dark Light Music - DL-12001

Too often, critics and the industry alike rush to recognize new talent, forgetting some of the real trouperes who have been bordering on success for more years than they want to admit. Willie P. Bennett is one of the unsung heroes of this industry. There's no pretentiousness here. He's not a Nashville wannabe. What you get from Bennett is realism in both lyrics and music. All the songs are Bennett originals, recorded in Canada - 100 per cent Cancon, and all taken from three albums: Tryin' To Start Out Clean (1975), Hobo's Haunt (1977) and Blackie And The Rodeo King (1978). Bennett's session people are superbly patched into the sensitive and whisper smooth Bennett vocals, particularly on You which features Rick Taylor on high string guitar, Ken Whiteley on lead acoustic guitar, Mike Gardner on bass and tiple and drummer Steve Taylor. Also key are Country Squall, with Dennis LaPage on banjo, and Me And Molly with the late Ron Dann on pedal steel, bassist David Pendrith and keyboardist Ken Whiteley. Bennett supplies harmonic, acoustic guitar and high string guitar on various tracks. David Essig produced the tracks from Hobo's Haunt and Tryin' To Start Out Clean, while Bennett joined him to produce Blackie And The Rodeo King. Classic material, should be enjoyed by an international audience. (CD reviewed) -WG

VARIOUS ARTISTS - Rock/Dance
Gladiator - Soundtrack
Sony Music - CT 52434-H

This is an inconsistent album in terms of both music quality and selection. First, the good news. Clivilles and Cole, the masterminds behind C&C Music Factory, do an interesting take of U2's Pride (In The Name Of Love). The song's combination of techno and a gospel choir-influenced chorus has taken it to #1 on the RPM Dance chart. Rap music from different perspectives comes via 3RD Bass' swaggering Gladiator and P.M. Dawn's For The Love Of Peace. Latin Science combine English and Spanish lyrics, Latin and calypso rhythms, scratching, and an excerpt from David Bowie's Fame in their danceable Da Me La (Fama). After that, it's all downhill. Tony Terry makes an innocuous attempt at soulful dance music with Hold On Tight. Martin Page supplies a dull power ballad in Count On Me. Gerardo (the guy to blame for last year's Rico Suave) bastardizes Santana's Oye Como Va while rapping about his prowess as a Latin lover in Latin Till I Die (Oye Como Va). For some reason, Warrant gets two songs: a heavy version of Queen's We Will Rock You that thankfully doesn't go into We Are The Champions; and, a song called The Power which is supposed to inspire but merely bores. What is Cheap Trick still doing around and playing on this soundtrack? Answer: Sounding a little too much like Warrant. (Cassette reviewed) -SM

SKYWALK - Instrumental/Jazz
Larger Than Life
Bluemoon - R2 79173-N

This is Skywalk's fifth album, but their first on Bluemoon. On it, these six talented Vancouver session musicians, songwriters and producers continue to play self-composed, jazz influenced, contemporary instrumental music. When they're not playing in Skywalk, many of these players may be familiar to you through other projects. Bassist Rene Worst has recorded with David Bowie and Chet Baker. Percussionist Jim McGillveray is a touring member of Spirit of the West. And sax player Tom Keenlyside has performed and recorded with Aerosmith and Motley Crue -- two of the last bands you'd associate him with judging by his soothing contributions to this album. The production by Bill Buckingham and the band is very clean and precise. Larger Than Life's 10 songs average about five minutes in length and the velvety groove throughout should have you relaxed before the album's even half completed. This music would be perfect background for Night Ride, Global TV's mellow video tour of downtown Toronto which nightly enraptures insomniacs at 3 a.m. (CD reviewed) -SM

JOANNA PETTY - Pop
Silhouettes & Shadows
Homestead - HD3-9110

Here's a radio station, Edmonton's 96K-LITE, that had the balls to finance and stand behind a local talent, and what a talent. Petty's musical theatre and band experience comes full circle here with a production that says it all, from smoky ballads to up tempo incursions into dance and rock. The song material is very important and Petty projects great lyric interpretation on Silhouettes And Shadows, written by Rick Brown and Frank Stachow and Colour Me Blue, a Paul Wood original. Very effective acoustic cover of The Mamas and The Papas' California Dreamin' with a superb choral backing by Joanna and Rosalyn Petty, Lori Diamonte, Mark Puffer, Jerry Woolsey and Gary Brisebois. Don't overlook the classic Al Dubin and Harry Warren penning of I Only Have Eyes For You featuring saxman Paul Lamoureux. Obviously, the producers, Allen James Music, have the inside track on Edmonton's best session people, particularly keyboardist Darcy Phillips and guitarists Eddie Patterson, Louis Sedmak, Bobby Cameron and Barry Allen on acoustic guitar (Surrender Your Love). Allen recorded the album at Edmonton's Homestead Recorders. (CD reviewed) -WG

TEENAGE FANCLUB - Rock
Bandwagonesque
Geffen - DGCD-24461-J

"She wears denim wherever she goes, says she's gonna get some records by the Status Quo." The opening line of this album, from the song, The Concept, neatly summarizes what these Glaswegians are all about: a scruffy, no frills appearance and a guitar-oriented sound which often harkens back to early '70s rock and pop. The band receives great press in Britain and Spin magazine named Bandwagonesque the best album of 1991. I wouldn't go that far, but What You Do To Me, Star Sign and Sidewinder are all melodic, classic-style pop songs that could gain airplay. Satan is 80 seconds of feedback and guitar chaos which shows the band's darker side. Their current North American tour and recent appearance on Saturday Night Live should gain this quartet a wider audience. (CD reviewed) -SM

COUNTRY

Cindi Cain has just come through a pretty disappointing year. But the new year is beginning to look up. Cottage Records in London, England, have picked up her next album, scheduled to be released sometime in June. Don Grashey, who heads up Golden Eagles of Thunder Bay, Ont., produced. A past multi-nominee in her home province's country music awards, and a multi-winner over two years, Cain only managed a Female Vocalist nomination this year. # Charts

by Tim Evans

No small move! This move is so big, they called it Mister. Going all the way from No. 7 to the top of the Hit Tracks chart is Mr. Big's To Be With You. The last song to make a bigger jump to No. 1 was Elton John's I Don't Wanna Go On With You Like That. It hit the top all the way from No. 8 in August of 1988.

Let's test your skill. Mr. Big's To Be With You becomes the third song to hit No. 1 from an artist beginning with Mr., Mrs. or Miss. Name the other two songs.

Back and forth . . . Nirvana's Nevermind edges back into the top spot on the Albums chart. Bryan Adams' Waking Up The Neighbours had replaced Nirvana at No. 1 just last week. The two are very close and we could see them flip-flop again.

Party time . . . excellent! There's is often a strong relationship between the success of a movie and the success of a soundtrack. Such is the case with Wayne's World. The soundtrack to the No. 1 box office hit blasts onto the chart at No. 19. The last albums to debut higher both came on Nov. 30 of last year. That's when Genesis' We Can't Dance entered at No. 10 and U2's Achtung Baby bowed at No. 14.

A one-hit wonder? The group with the No. 1 song also has this week's biggest jump on the Albums chart. Mr. Big's Lean Into It climbs from No. 78 to No. 25. Also making a move of note is the Cowboy Junkies. The group hits No. 10 with black eyed man. That's one spot higher than their previous album peaked.

A change out west. There is a new music director at K-97 in Kamloops, B.C.. Brant Zwicker has left and is being replaced by Donovan Richards.

A little sneaky. Maybe it was a bit sneaky, but it would have been too easy otherwise. The only two songs to hit No. 1 from an artist beginning with Mr., Mrs. or Miss are Mr. Mister's Kyrie (1985) and Broken Wings, also from Mr. Mister (1986).
