NEWS FROM NEW YORK

CROSBY HEADING FOR TOP TF

NEW YORK, Wednesday. The fabulous disc career of Bing Crosby looks like being revived.

It's been quite a while since Bing has had a hit single record but it looks as if his latest is heading

They were cut for a children's series but disc man Dave Kapp added some instrumental time and more sound and now Crosby is personally plugging the disc with deejay phone calls.

Bing has also recruited his sons to visit disc jockeys. The record is due for early release in England on Decca.

Together again

SUNDAY was the "million-dollar night" on television.
A parade of one-night spectaculars was highlighted by a four-some of Bing, Frank Sinatra.
Louis Armstrong and Rosemary Clooney.
The show was one to be remembered. Sinatra and Crosby clowned and sang with the help of Satchmo and his band.
For one great moment. Sinatra and Crosby were joined by a surprise visitor—Bob Hope. He was visiting to plug his own TV Show.

Elvis Presley meanwhile, continues to live in another world. He never misses. His newest, "Jailhouse Rock" hit the trade charts for the first time this week in Number Four spot.

Lease Lend

The American London label has turned the tables on its British parent, English Decca, with the Will Glane disc of "Liechtensteiner Polka."
Normally, the American company releases a single after it's a hit in England.
This time the disc will be released in England after it has hit paydirt in America.
The record appears headed for the charts—in spite of an all-German lyric. Lawrence Welk has covered the tune, also featuring the German lyric.

Taking off

PEAKING of Lawrence Welk, the maestro has "made it" in another way.

He's been "covered" with a parody disc by Capitol's great mimic and comic, Stan Freberg.

The disc features take-offs on a number of Welk regulars.

Gimmick is that the Bubble machine, used to make the familiar Welk champagne sounds, gets out of control and floats out of the Aragon Ballroom into the Pacific Ocean.

A NYONE still in doubt about the real issues splitting jazz should listen to American conductor Leonard Bernstein's dispassionate appraisal of the scene on the Philips LP "What is Jazz?" (BBL 7149).

On the whole, this is a sound survey, which ranges with a fine display of impartiality through all of jazz from Leadbelly to Miles Davis.

There are a few slips

There are a few slips. Indeed it amounts to a howler to cite boogiewoogie as an example of the "more complicated jazz" which demands careful listening as opposed to "Our new jazzman plays more quietly, with greater concentration on musical values — tone quality and technique.

"As he has become 'cool' so have his listeners. They don't dance—they listen respectfully, as if to chamber music, and applaud politely at the end."

Nightmare

Where I fault Bernstein is in his reluctance to come out and deduce from this nightmare scene the plain truth that jazz is heading rapidly for extinction.

Infra dig.

And now dancing -and beating out the rhythm—is infra dig. It's only a matter of time before some bright young progressive discovers he's wasting his effete and drooping energy trying to swing at all.

And "swing" will become one more element of jazz which will be relegated to the shameful and barbaric past.

Respectability marches on!

of jazz which of jazz which are legated to the shameful and barbaric past.

Respectability marches on!

Ashamed of its origins, jazz will Every Now and Then As Then

EVERY NOW AND THEN, AS THEY SAY UP AT JODRELL BANK, A STAR IS BORN. SOMETIMES IT HAPPENS IN A BLUE FLASH: NOW YOU DON'T SEE IT, NOW YOU DO. SOMETIMES IT HAPPENS AS A RESULT OF MUCH PREPARATORY WORK BY HIGHLY PAID PUBLICITY EXPERTS.

So far as I'm concerned, the New Star in question is of the blue flash variety. It so happens that I'd never set eyes on him, never heard a note of the man's alto playing, until the Hampton concert last week.

His name is Tony Coe, and I hardly know a thing about his past. But I'm prepared to go out on a limb about his future. For Tony Coe is a great jazzman.

Just for a moment let's leave him standing there in the spotlight ("Looking like a commercial for Asian flu," said my companion at the concert, somewhat unkindly). Let's consider for a moment what a great jazzman is.

To be truly great. I suggest, he needs these requirements:

He must be the master of his instrument. A jazz player expresses himself through his instrument. If that instru-ment is holding out on him, he stands as much chance of get-ting his ideas across as an orator with an impediment in his speech

Unrestricted

Tony Coe has that mastery at least to the point at which he feels no serious restriction between his ideas and their

2. He must swing. Repeated highspot of the Hampton/Lyttelton/Dankworth concert for me was the solo work of T. Coe.

I do not subscribe to the general view that the Lyttelton rhythm section swings as a unit.

TONY COE-"I'm prepared to go out on a limb about his future," says Steve Race. "He has the five basic attributes needed by a great jazzman."

talks about TONY COE

But when Tony was playing I didn't care. Bass, drums and piano could have stopped dead in their tracks: that alto would have gone right on swinging.

3 He has to be inventive.
3 Sheer invention—originality of melodic line—is the thing which most clearly separates the merely able jazzman from the great one. It is also the least recognised of all the jazz virtues

Insincere

We are lucky that this quality of original invention is still with us. Both the New Orleans revival and the bop movement did their best to kill it, compeling one half of the players to conform to a phoney simplicity, and the other half to a complexity they did not feel.

Phrase for phrase, Tony Coe's solos are more fluently inventive than those of any British rival—including his brilliant, but now outclassed, predecessor with Humph.

with Humph.

4. He must get "the sound."
By that I mean an amalgam of both the "old sound" and the "new sound."
The "old sound" is the definitive jazz tone. Within certain fairly wide boundaries he must find a standard jazz sound which suits his playing and its environment. (Arising from this point. I would say that in a curious but positive way Jimmy Skidmore is right but sounds wrong in the Lyttelton Band.)
By the "new sound" I don't, in this context, mean some weird specimen of West Coast orchestration. I mean a musical fingerprint: a sound which will make us sit up after half a bar of solo alto and say "That's Tony Coe!"

5. He must know music. I am afraid there is still no substitute for this. The Lyttelton band still contains one man who doesn't really know his chords, and sometimes doesn't even feel them correctly.

All the natural jazz talent in the world—and Humph's band has plenty—cannot quite compensate for that blind spot.

While the modernist may think too much about chords, it is still true that the British mainstreamer (or whatever he likes to be called these days) tends to treat theoretical knowledge as his potential enemy rather than as his friend. Tony Coe knows his chords, and uses

Nursery

Tony has all those five basic requirements. and is due to become one of our leading contributors to jazz. The best nursery for his talents is the band in which he now plays: that strange, multi-period stylistic hotch-potch of a band, led so ably by its one unchanging soloist.

soloist.

It is the best band Humph has ever had and in a baffled, critical sort of way, I admire it immensely. With such an alto player in the ranks, you can put me down for the Lyttelton Fan Club—at least until the day, surely not far distant, when Tony Coe has one for himself.

acteristics of the music that preceded it. (I use the word "revolutionary" in the parochial sense—in the wider context of musical history the move is, of course, reactionary, tending to join up with "straight" music at a point which preceded the high of tags.) Christmas will be here very soon, and what better gift for yourself or your friends than Bell Accordion history the move is, of course, the process of living down the past. Jazz birth of jazz.)

It's all part of the process of living down the past. Jazz has become ashamed of its origins.

I have no quarrel with Bernstein's analysis of the change in jazz. "Jazz used to advertise itself as 'hot,'" he says. "Now the heat is off. The jazz player has become a highly serious person. He may even be an intellectual. He may have studied music at a conservatory or a university. "Our new jazzman plays more quietly, with scene the plain truth that jazz is heading rapidly for extinction.

He says as much when he points to the new jazzman's "greater concentration on musical values"—as though these values were absolute, and not simply the conventions of a quite different kind of music.

True enough, you may argue that the new jazzmen still swing (some of them, let's say). But swing is the quality in jazz which sets the foot tapping and makes people want to dance.

triumph acclaimed

CONGRATULATIONS to Johnny Dankworth on winning five different sections in the MM British Poll. No one deserves these honours more than Johnny. I have thoroughly apployed every concert, and bright of the state of the stat

Scores of letters have reached the Melody Maker. expressing pleasure at the success of Johnny Danskworth and members of his orchestra in the 1957 British Poli.

Great future

MAY I through the courtesy of the Melody Maker congratulate Alan Ganley on being voted Top Drummer in the country? I think the voters will agree with me that this is a wonderful achievement considering he has been a professional for only four or five years.

There is no doubt he has a great future—F. Emening, Morden, Surrey.

Why not first?

CONGRATULATIONS to Diz Disley on gaining fourth place in the MM Poll. But surely a gultarist like Diz should have come first! I had the pleasure of seeing him play on one or two occasions on a recent holiday in London, and his playing held me spellbound. Also, I would like to say how pleased I was to see that banjoist Eddie Smith had gained a place in the poll.—Audrey Beves, Skipton, Yorks.

Ridiculous

Ridiculous

Poes reader P. Chaney (19/10/57) realise how ridiculous his letter really is? In this, he quibbles about Presley and Gracie receiving votes
whereas Josh White and Ivor
Mairants are voted out.
He goes on to say that he never takes part in the MM Polls, But surely it is his duty as a jazz enthusiast to record a vote and thereby keep Presley and other teenage idols where they belong—
at the bottom, or out of, the Poll,
—P. A. Ireland, Pontypool, Mon.

Impostors

Impostors

A FTER watching Jack Payne's
"Off The Record" last week, and casting my mind back to recent "6.5 Specials," I feel I must protest against these impostors with the guitars slung around their "brass" necks.

As a guitar player it is just about making me sick that the majority of them stand there and pretend to play, or play the opening major chord, and the gravy is put on by the real guitar player in the background.

How many people fall for this phoney confidence trick I do not know, but surely something should be done to stop this insult to the instrument.—Terry Scott, Swaythling, Soton.

THERE'S STILL HOPE FOR TV

WHILE there are people

WHILE there are people like Kenneth Baily there is still hope for television. Proof can be found in "The Television Annual For 1958" (Odhams Press, Ltd., 10s. 6d.).

Edited by Bally, it contains a rather uneasy mixture of "puffs" ("Your Friends The Stars," etc.) and the sharper assessments of distinguished people.

Baily himself adds weight and authority with a review of the ITV versus BBC struggle. The danger to the BBC, he says, is in the Corporation forgetting its dignity and scrabbling on the floor with its junior competitor.

When bored ITV viewers turn back to Channel One, will they find the BBC still "trying to mimic the ITV funfair a little more respectably?" Ittle more respectably? "Ittle more respectably?" Stay in Television and Bernard Braden lets fly with an inspired piece of goofery subtitled "Will TV Ever Replace The Horse?"

One script he assures us, needed the sound of two coconut shells banged together. "Our producer couldn't figure out how to do it until two members of the orchestra brought a horse into the studio.

"It sounds just like coconut shells banged together. The producer was amazed. He'd never seen a horse before: he only knew about coconut shells."—

Dankworth Basie's back

BRITISH jazz lovers have never had it so good. The Teagarden men came in while Jimmy Rushing was still here. The day, after they left Hampton arrived. And now Count Basie's band is back.

Basie, incidentally, has three different faces in the band. He has been working hard on a new book—by Ernie Wilkins, Neal Hefti and Jimmy Mundy—"so we can play some new things on this trip."

New faces

All of which sounds most exciting. The new faces are those of Eddie Davis—nicknamed "Lockjaw" because his embouchure gives the impression that the tenor is locked in his mouth—Snooky Young and Albert Grey.

Davis is a strong, booting tenor who has worked with Cootie, Kirk, Lucky Millinder, Louis and Basie. In 1952-3 he was with the Count with whom he can be heard soloing on "Bread," "Bunny," "Tom Whaley," "Jack And Jill" and "Paradise Squat."

An EP under his name (Parlo GEP8587) presents him on four titles with organ and drums. His riding tenor is well displayed on "Foggy Day" and "Together."

No solos

Eugene "Snooky" Young, well known to Lunceford col-lectors for his high-register trumpet on "Uptown Blues," has previously worked with Hamp and Basie.

Hamp and Basie.

He plays on Basie's "Seventh Avenue Express" and "Mister Roberts' Roost." But even Raymond Horricks' exhaustive book doesn't reveal any Young solos while with the Count.

The final replacement is trombonist Al Grey (for Bill Hughes, who is ill). Grey has played with Gillespie, Carter and Hampton and has led his own group.

Basie says: "In the new sax set-up Frank Wess plays alto and tenor as well as flute."

Reverting to the band exchanges, it seems certain that a number of our better bands will benefit in one way or another.

All the visiting musicians and management representatives we have met have gone back favourably impressed with British jazz.

Raving

Hampton, for example, set out last Saturday mildly raving about Lyttelton and Dankworth. He intends to "talk them up"—indeed, he has already begun to do so in influential places.

The effect that Hamp had on these two bands must be considered, too.

He helped them to give a pretty monumental concert (we have not yet met cert (we have not yet met anybody who was bored by it—a most unusual thing) and everyone must have learned something from the experience. The idea of having both bands on-stage throughout worked well.

Much of the credit for the concert's success

Much of the credit for the concert's success must go to the Visiting Orchestras Appreciation Society and its secretary, Dennis Matthews. Since this column helped to found the society, we are glad to see it score a hit.

Max Jones and Sinclair Traill

● Eddie"Lockjaw" Davis (tenor sax) is back with Basie after an interval of four years.

On this new Concert model you have coupled octave and sub-octave-you can play THREE octaves simultaneously or you can employ them independently. But this coupling is not merely a mechanical trick because the tones are BALANCED for the musical ear; you have pre-set volume control in addition to the dynamic flexibility of the patented knee swell. Here is a new orchestral voice that will put your band in the spotlight. To increase your prestige and revenue see one of our agents right away or write to Selmer.

Ellington is the greatest

DUKE ELLINGTON is the greatest jazz figure of 1957, say Britain's critics.

In their own poll, the critics reversed the decision of MM readers which placed Basie above Ellington in both the Musician of the Year and Big Band categories. In addition, they acclaimed the Duke top composer and arranger.

Twenty-six critics were invited to take part and only Humphrey Lyttelton declined. Humph pointed out that touring commitments had left him with too little listening time to give a balanced selection.

Thorny task

In each section, the critics were asked to vote for their three favourites—a thorny task.

As James Asman pointed out: "Any list of this nature can hardly be regarded as satisfactory or conclusive, however careful its participants might be. I find myself constantly revising my own original list."

Tain Lang said his list was "not consistent" and explained:
"I have wavered between evaluating performers on the basis of a total career and on that of current performance."

Everyone will nevertheless agree that the individual choices above make interesting study.
Highest points in the entire poil went to Ellington altoist Johnny Hodges with 63 out of a possible 75. Nineteen of the 25 participants voted him their first choice and three of the others placed him second.

Favourites

From the final placings it seems that the winners are the old favourites. Second come the not-quite-so-old favourites with the modernists squeezed into third place.

Many of the critics left the Vocal Group section blank and several found difficulty over the clarinet choices. Explaining his failure to choose a "new star," Ken Sykora suggested that a Best New Imitator Of The Year category might be more appropriate.

British critics are often priate.

British critics are often accused of being blased against the local musicians. It is therefore surprising to find no fewer than 13 British jazzmen and three bands with votes—quite apart from the American-based Vic Feldman and Ronnie Ball. And that does not include Steve Race's choice of Maurice Burman as one of his favourite male singers!

To sum up—Britain's critics

To sum up—Britain's critics are either less progressive and more opposed to change than their readers or else they are wise, experienced men who refuse to vote for every newcomer who creates a stir with so-called new sounds.—Bob Dawbarn.

Chris Nelms is REAL!

Says BOB DAWBARN

CHRIS NELMS—president of the "Louis Armstrong Ain't God" Society—exists!

I am very pleased to state that simple fact for since Nelms attacked "British super-adulation of Mr. Armstrong" in a recent Melony Maker some of the hundreds of outraged readers letters went so far as to accuse him of being me in disguise. See what a reputation attacking skiffle can bring!

Even I began to question the reality of the man who doubted that Satchmo could even play his instrument. never mind swing, there he was in the MM office.

For the information of the various posses of

Many missives

Among the shoal of missives from MM readers was one from J. W. Denne, of Carshalton, Surrey. A simple card with flowered border, it is headed "In Sympathy" and follows:
Some things, no words can quite express But in my thoughts an outstretched hand Clasts one of yours in sympathy And I am sure you'll understand.
Inside was written "Regret your recent mental disorder whilst writing your last article in MM."

MAY I join issue with "On The Beat" of October 10? You have a perfect right to make fun of British songwriters, especially when they have invited you to do so, but need that "fun" be quite so inaccurate?

You suggest that we have left it to foreigners to write songs about our own country; how about "The London I Love." "A Nightingale Sang In Berkeley Square," "Down In The Glen," etc.? And incidentally, the song you quote as being American is of Italian origin.

I will grant you that this is, alack, the Age of Skiffle. Far be it from me to denigrate a style of composition which is making young people happy; all that I would suggest is that we should not necessarily copy it.

As a Guild, we exhort our members to think with originality and to write with care—and to remember that in their own country they have a wonderful source of "words and music."

It should, however, be remembered that in competition with ready-made hits from America, the untried British song has a hard battle to make its

BASIE KEYNOTE

Basie's cable to me on the eve of his departure for Britain. "Before," as he puts it, "we swing your way-and it can't be soon enough for me!

"We have added a good deal of new material to our library that we feel will be of definite interest," he tells me. "It's all true blues, as Jimmy Rushing would put it!

Strongly armed

"The revitalisation of our library took place while the band was on vacation last month. When we play for you, it will be the first time most of our book has been heard anywhere."

anywhere."
And he adds:
"I feel it quite appropriate that we are debuting our new look"—he has three new faces in the band—"and a few new sounds in Great Britain, considering the affection you showed for us in the recent Melody Maker Poll.
"We must come strongly armed in order to live up to and be deserving of your recognition."

Somewhere in all that (and it's not too hard to find) is one of the secrets of this band's consistent greatness over the past twenty-five years.

Jazz justified

In the British field, Johnny Dankworth's five - award achievement has been hailed not only as a richly deserved personal success for Johnny but for jazz itself.

For it establishes once and for all that an all-jazz policy on the air and on the stand is, in fact, what the great mass of the younger (and not-so-young) public wants.

reason is his consistent refusal to play anything but jazz.

EVERYBODY is full of praise

THERE'S never a dull moment in this business. And when I take refuge at my desk from the madding music world around me—there's never a dull moment either.

Yesterday I returned to find someone had sent me a candle. Moreover, they had sent it all the way from Cape Cod, Massachusetts.

the way from Cape Cod, Massachusetts.

Mind you, it's a beautiful candle. In the shape of a lighthouse. With an orange roof. And a little pamphlet telling me how to light it.

And in with the candle was a greetings card. It said:

"From Old Cape Cod with greetings from Patti Page and Michael Holliday."

Thanks, Patti. Thanks, Mike. If I didn't know you'd both recorded "In Old Cape Cod," I'd think this business was crazier than it is.

Foot in it

WHAT a pity Dave King had to take the mickey out of the Tiller Girls during his last number in "Sunday Night at the London Palladium."

Despite getting off rather on the wrong foot with a not-toostrong opening, he was building up a good impression.

The Tiller Girls, on the other hand, never get off on the wrong foot.

Cindind n

BILLY ECKSTINE has just bought two 100-mile-an-hour plus Mercedes-Benz cars. Bank book debit: over £12,000.

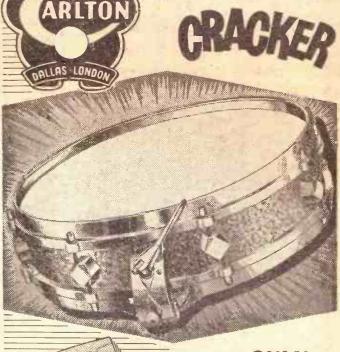

And he is dickering for a Bentley Continental. Which would set him back a further £8,000.

These factors effectively answer the question whether it still pays to be a real singer in these gimmick-ridden days.

The truth is that Mr. B. could not be otherwise. He again demonstrated this on Tuesday at the Finsbury Park Empire — his last Variety date on his fourth British tour.

In all his songs he commanded the range, control and sense of phrasing that have won him acclaim from musicians and critics alike.

YOU do not necessarily have to have a song in the Hit Parade to make money in the music business. The field of light music is another vast territory to be explored. I can name a dozen well-known writers who have not had

I can name a dozen well-known writers who have not had a song in the Hit Parade for years and yet make quite a nice llving.

If you look through your "Radio Times" you will see the names of many orchestras which play 90 per cent. light music. The rest of their programmes comprise the odd "classy" pop or a selection from a current musical show. Now light music embraces works of many different styles. Many light music publishers might almost be called back-room boys for, though they may have been serving the public for generations, their companies names are unknown to the average person.

VALUABLE WORK

SUCH a firm is Swan and Co., Ltd. No fireworks—but I'd like to have the performing fees earned by their number, "Destiny," every year. "Destiny," by the late Sydney Baines, comes under the light music heading, yet it is constantly played in both the modern and old-time ballroom. Quite a piece of property! It has earned its keep for more years than I can remember.

Ascherberg Hopwood and Crew. Ltd. have long been known as publishers of every type of music, though they seldom make an appearance in the Hit Parade. Their catalogue contains famous operas, musical comedies, oratorios, every form of light music and pops. Quite a varied selection!

As another example of the staying power of light music, consider Ronald Binge's "Elizabethan Serenade." Ron Goodwin's record was first issued in January this year and so far has had 46 airings. Can you imagine any pop record getting similar treatment?

46 airings. treatment?

REAL MONEY

BRITISH composer Jack Jordan first became known for his signature tune for Wilfred Pickles' "Have A Go." Jordan went on to write "Little Red Monkey," which began as a musical theme for an Eric Maschwitz television serial and later became a hit pop both here and in the States.

Since then Jack has turned out a dozen "pieces of music"—his latest (published by Ascherberg's) is "The Costa Brava Wedding March," just recorded by Frank Chacksfield on Decca. These "pieces of music" make real money.

I feel that any publisher who does not pay some attention to this important side of the music business in the next few years will be missing the boat badly, for the value of performance is becoming more apparent each day.

FRAN WARREN: "Just Friends"— Just Friends; Everyone Knew But Me/The Man That Got Away; Speak Low (MGM-EP617).

A MERICAN singer Fran Warren never really caught on in Britain—even in the days before the gimmick merchants monopolised the pop record market. Strange, in a way. For Fran has that emotional quality that so endeared Judy Garland to the public.

These tracks are about 10 years old, and age has inevitably withered the accompaniments somewhat—even though they are directed by Neal Hefti, Ralph Burns and Nelson Riddle. Fran is in her usual good voice, however.

Is in her usual good voice, however.

And it is interesting to note that she lends her sob-in-voice technique to a song that has become associated with Judy Garland—"The Man That Got Away."

Fran Warren first came to my attention when she recorded "A Sunday Kind Of Love" and "Don't Call It Love" with Claude Thorn hill Sorchestra.

Since then she has faded from the record sphere. This release is a somewhat sad reminder that here is a girl singer who, unfortunately, "got away."

But then—Fran would hardly away."

But then—Fran would hardly have fitted into the contemporary music scene. She had talent.

PEGGY LEE with Orchestra conducted by FRANK SINATRA: "The Man I Love; Please Be Kind; Happiness Is A Thing Called Joe; Just One Way To Say I Love You; That's All; Something Wonderful/He's My Guy; Then I'll Be Tired Of You; My Heart Stood Still; If I Should Lose You; There Is No Greater Love; The Folks Who Live On The Hill (Cap. T864).

(Cap. T864).

THE partnership of Peggy Lee with Frank Sinatra (as conductor of the orchestra) may be a good sales angle, but how much Frank contributes to the musical quality of the recording is difficult to assess. I should say that the Nelson Riddle arrangements account for a major part of the proceedings.

Yet this lush stuff going on in the background is not the best backcloth for Peggy Lee. Not when one remembers the backings she received from Dave Barbour's groups and the accompaniments on her unforgettable "Elack Coffee" LP.

Capsule reviews

BETTY SMITH QUINTET (EP) Lulu's Back In Town; Sweet Georgia Brown; There'll Be Some Changes Made (a); Little White Lies (V)

(Tempo EXA74. (a) also A163, 45A163)

I HAVE always had a soft spot for Betty Smith's tenor playing ever since I first heard her with Ivy Benson and, later, Freddy Randall. Even though this record as a whole is more nimble than novel, it hasn't lessened my liking for Betty—except when she sings!—E. J.

LOUIS ARMSTRONG AND HIS ORCHESTRA (EP)
When The Saints Go Marching In; Bye And Bye; West End Blues; Mahogany Hall Stomp, (Brunswick OE 9189)

LOUIS ARMSTRONG AND HIS ORCHESTRA (EP)
Dippormouth Blues; Save It, Pretty Mama; You Rascal, You; When It's Sleepy Time Down South.
(Brunswick OE 9190)

ALL the sides on these two in some form, but they merit another mention due to the perfection of Armstrong's trumpet and the warm-toned solos by J. C. Higginbotham. On "Dippermouth," Louis is with the 1936 Jimmy Dorsey band. He executes the traditional trumpet choruses with regal authority. Good homework for Chris Nelms!—J. H.

TONY ALMERICO'S DIXIELAND
JAMBOREE ALL-STARS
How Many Hearts Have You
Broken?; You Cooked Your Goose
With Me; I'm Saving Tonight For You; Farewell Blues.
(London REP 1019)

FOUR terrible vocals—three female, one male—are embellished by tired Dixieland sounds. Only the raises a spark.—J. H.

Reissues

FOUR FRESHMEN AND FIVE TROMBONES — Love; Love is Here To Stay; Mam'selle; Speak Low. (Prev. inc. in Capitol LP LC6812, revd. 15/12/1956.) Now also EP revd. 15/ EAP2-683.

MILT JACKSON QUINTET — I've Lost Your Love; Opus De Funk. (Prev. inc. in Esquire LP 20-042.) Now also EP EP154.

Her voice retains its attractive, smokey quality, but the tracks are too similar in treatment to sustain interest.

JOHNNY NASH: Ladder Of Love/Pill Walk Alone (HMV 45-POP402).

JOHNNY NASH'S high-pitched, emoting style may appealed. emoting style may appeal to the ooh-aah element.

LAURIE JOHNSON and his Orchestra: The Moonraker/Call Of The Casbah (HMV 45-POP404).

"THE MOONRAKER" is the galloping theme from the film of that name. Backing is the Oriental-styled piece from the TV serial "Destination Downing Street." Both are effectively played played

BUDDY KNOX: Devil Woman/Hula Love (Col. 45-DB4014).

discs

Laurie

"Cool For Cats"
gave it a send-off recently.

JOHNNY BUR-NETTE: Touch Me/Eager Beaver Baby (Vogue Coral 45-Q72283).

TOUCH ME "
is another effort featured (somewhat oddly) in the "Cats"
TV programme.
This and the reverse will wring the withers of the Presley element.
Burnette sounds

OCIE SMITH: Too Many/Lighthouse (London 45-HLA8480).

(London 45-HLA8880).

THE earthy voice of Ocie Smith swings. There's some good take-off guitar in "Too Many." The reverse, which has the merit of novelty, also swings.

NORMAN ERSKINE: Till We Meet Again/What's To Become Of Me? (Cap. CL14784). N OFMAN ERSKINE has a corny conception of how to swing, but he tries hard. And almost convinces.

NAT "KING" COLE: Stardust/Love Letters (Cap. 45-CL14787).

OLD KING COLE offers his usual smooth vocal brew in "Stardust." Gordon Jenkins—the man now accompanying Judy Garland in London—provides the svelte accompaniment.

"Letters" is an effective encore

JERI SOUTHERN: Scarlet Ribbons/
Would I (Bruns. 45-05709).

"SCARLET RIBBONS," an appealing if over-sentimental ballad, is an effective vehicle for Jeri's husky voice.
She is accompanied solely by guitar.

Reverse is a beat number. Sonny Burke's Orchestra is a joy.

THE COMEDY HARMONISTS: "Virtuosi in Harmony"—Tea For Two; Whispering/Night And Day; Auf Wiedersehen, My Dear (HMV 7EG8268).

O'NLY those with greying hairs will recall the Comedy Harmonists—a German vocal group that was the rage back in the early 'thirties.

Their plaintive version—in German—of "Auf Wiedersehen, My Dear" has yet to be eclipsed. An intriguing echo of the past.

TERRY DENE: Teenage Dream/Come And Get It (Decca 45-F10938).

RITAIN'S Terry Dene may be influenced by Presley. Still, he has a distinctive vocal quality and strong rhythmical sense. "Teenage Dream" could click.

LONNIE DONEGAN: I'm Just A Rollin' Stone; My Dixie Darling (Nixa N.15108),

The blues-styled "Rollin' Stone" is a bit of a dirge. The reverse, with its echoes of a Civil War marching song, has more life.

Donegan devotees will doubtless find no faults with either side.

RAY ANTHONY And His Orchestra:
"Ray Anthony Plays For Star Dancing"—When Your Lover Has Gone; Moon Over Miami; Autumn

In New York; Tara's Theme; C'est Si Bon; I'll Be Seeing You/Smoke Gets In Your Eyes; Thanks For The Memory; Moonlight Dreams; Sleepy Lagoon; Far Away Places; Star Dancing (Cap. T831).

WHEN Ray Anthony was in Britain I tackled him on the decline of his recordings.
What had happened to those brilliant arrangements? Recordings like "Deep Night" and "I Wonder What's Become Of Sally?"

"Not commercial," said Ray regretfully. Too true, I suppose. But a tragedy in its way.

For what have we in their place? Uninspired trumpet solos against e qually uninspired orchestral backings.

Fran Warren

dance in the manner the sleeve illustrates, these tracks should just about suffice.

DORIS DAY and FRANK SINATRA:
"Doris And Frank"—I Love The Way You Say Goodnight; All The Things You Are; My Love And Devotion; The House I Live In;
Hoop-Dee-Doo; These Foolish
Things/That Old Black Magic; I'il
See You In My Dreams; I Don't Know Why; It Had To Be You;
They Say It's Wonderful; Moonlight Bay (Phillips BBL7137).

For what have we in their place? Uninspired trumpet solos against equally uninspired orchestral backings.

And some of the section work Love And Devotion" is still one on this LP is indeed sad when compared with the precision and drive of the earlier Anthony recordings.

A great jazzman

STUFF SMITH (LP)
Judgert Sands; Soft Winds; Things
Ain't What They Used To Be; It
Don't Mean A Thing; Time And Time Again; I Know That You

(Columbia-Clef 12 in. 33CX10693) Smith (vln.); Oscar Peterson (pno.); Barney Kessel (gtr.); Ray Brown (bass); Alvin Stoller (drs.). March 1957. USA. (Am. Norman Granz.)

"STUFF" SMITH has been described by critics Inez Cavanaugh and Timmie Rosenkrantz as the "palpitating Paganini... one of the unique musicians of our time, 'completely unorthodox in style and technique; one of the great jazzmen who dared to be different." Except that it omits to mention that Stuff was a comedian who often fronted his band wearing a top hat à la Ted Lewis, it sums him up to a nicety.

Lewis, it sums him up to a nicety.

Born in 1909, in Portsmouth, Ohio, Stuff is one of the old school: Apart from one track in No. 2 of the three LPs, issued "Jazztime, USA" by Vogue Coral round about May last year, we had he ard nothing from him since the mid - thirties. At that i me Brunswick, Decca and Vocalion put out between them some dozen or so sides by Stuff Smith and his Cover Club Boys.

some dozen or so sides by Stuff Smith and his Onyx Club Boys. In those days Stuff was a down-to-earth fiddler. His flair for jazz, though unconventional, was of considerably greater credit to him than his anything but academic know-ledge of how to play the amplified instrument he generally used. For one thing, it was no exception for him to be distressingly out of tune.

tune.
Today his playing sounds more schooled—and not only as regards intonation. Stuff gives the impression of having gives the impression of having acquired a much firmer control. He bows with a muscular force that suggests the robust character of a trumpet or saxophone rather than that of the delicate violin.

His jazz sense is as evident as ever, and his whole outlook has enlarged.

Much of Stuff's feeling and fire have communicated themselves to Oscar Peterson and Barney Kessel, both of whom have solos. In "Things" peterson gives a notable display of his ability—not always recognised—to play the blues. — Edgar Jackson.

"XYOLAFUNT'S LAMENT"

USA. (Am. Rama.)

"WOLAFUNT'S LAMENT"

Was written by Bill

Graham. The other nine tunes are by one or other of the members of the group.

The best that can be said of most of them is they are adequate for their purpose. Fortunately the purpose is an excellent one: unpretentious, crisply-swinging jazz by Zoot Sims, Joe Newman and that great bass player, Oscar Pettiford.

In future would someone at EMI please translate this U.S. company's sleeve notes into English. I am still trying to find out what writer Joe Guercio means by "intrigal." — Edgar Jackson.

J. J. JOHNSON QUINTET (LP) J Is For Jazz

Naptown, USA (c); It Might As Well Be Spring (c); Tumbling Tumble-weeds (b); Angel Eyes (a); Solar (b); Overdrive (a); Undecided (a); Never Let Me Go (b); Chasing The Bird (c); Cube Steak (Philips 12 in. BBL7143)

(a)—Johnson (tmb.); Bobby Jaspar (tnr. flute); Hank Jones (pno.): Percy Heath (bass); Elvin Jones (drs.). 24/7/56. USA (Am. mbia.)

Columbia.)

(b)—Personnel as for (a), except Withur Little (bass) replaces Heath 25/7/56. Do. (Do.).

(c)—Personnel as for (a) except Tommy Flanagan (pno.) replaces Jones; Little (bass) again in place of Heath. 27/7/56. Do. (Do.).

Note.—These details differ slightly from these on elever but may ne rom those on sleeve, but may aken as correct:

aken as correct:

PHIS LP marks the end of the J. J. Johnson-Kai Winding ulliance that had lasted for close to two years, and the inauguration of a fresh one—the Johnson-Bobby Jaspar partnership.

It was so new at the time this record was made, in July. 1956, that the remaining members of the quintet were not finally liked. This accounts for the three different rhythm sections on sessions that took place within four days of each other. Jaspar, now living in America. Is well known as one of the leading European tenor saxists from his records with the Jaspar-Henri Renaud Quintet and with his own New Jazz Group and All Stars. We have, too, heard him playing flute.

On this LP he plays both tenor and flute. Though he won the "Down Beat" International Jazz Crities' new star award for tenor, here he shows up as a jazzman who still lacks a character of his own.

On flute he has a more individual style, and its genuine jazz quality is unharmed by the fact that his warm, clear tone tends towards the legitimate.

Johnson is his usual excellent self: better, perhaps, as an instrumentalist than as a writer (he arranged all the numbers). Still, he helps materially to make this varied set the relaxed but never dull proposition it is.

The rhythm departments at all times provide unassailable support, and there are good solos by Hank Jones and Tommy Flanagan.—Edgar Jackson.

STUFF SMITH—his playing, these days, is more schooled and has more control. His jazz sense is as evident as ever, however.

JOHNNY GUARNIERI SWING MEN

18/4/44. New York. (Am. Savoy.)

POUR tracks from the tail-end of the "swing era" remind us that plenty of healthy smallband jazz, not yet coloured by bop, was still being played in the earlier forties.
Guarnieri, who has recorded much graceful piano containing rich streaks of Wilson, Waller and Basie, opens with some Fatslike blues on the salute (misspelled "Salute To Fate" on this label).

After him come a masterly

label).

After him come a masteriy chorus by Lester Young, a pleasant one by Butterfield and a cool, prettily shaped clarinet solo.

D'Amico, who doubtless came up under the shadow of Goodman, again demonstrates his technical niceties and good timing on the up-tempo "Basie English" Guarnieri switches into the Basie groove, and Young falls naturally into it, playing a flowing chorus that sounds absolutely right and relaxed. Only the trumpet strikes an alien note.

"Foolish Things" has a good.

the trumpet strikes an alien note.

"Foolish Things" has a spell of soft. vibrant tenor, some clean plano, airy clarinet and straightforward trumpet.

"Exercise" is a jumper with heavy drumming, bouncing Lester, acceptable clarinet and muted trumpet, stomp plano and a final chorus shared by band and piano.

The record isn't a knock-out. but I'd buy it for Lester Young unless I was well stocked with his work.—Max Jones.

WALLY FAWKES AND HIS

Eddie Taylor (drs.). 24.4/57. London.
(Decca.)
(b) Personnel as for (a), except
Lennie Bush (bass) replaces Mahn;
Eddie Harvey (tmb.) replaces Christie.

WE have had some very presentable jazz from local musicians lately.

Now, in the Fawkes series of Deccas, come creditable sides by two six-plece pick-up groups, each featuring Wally and semi-amateur trumpet player Ian "Spike" Mackintosh.

amateur trumpet player Ian "Spike" Mackintosh.

Mackintosh cropped up for the first time (on commercial release) on the "Sandy's Sidemen album, His powerful trumpet with the Troglodytes, strongly Armstrong-like in conception and inflection, is surer in tone and swing, and he proves that he can play this kind of jazz most convincingly.

From the start, the Basie blues has a beat, and there is some beefy trumpet over the opening chorus.

Solos from Armit, Mackintosh,
Christie and Fawkes are followed by brass with clarinet answers.
Everything is capably done, and Christie's improvisation is positively ingenious.

The wistful Cole Porter tune.

Everything is capably done, and Christie's improvisation is positively ingenious.

The wistful Cole Porter tune.
"Why Can't You Behave?"—a kind of sophisticated "Careless Love"—makes an uncommon choice. This introduces Eddie Harvey's trombone in a simple, very relaxed chorus, and some appealing clarinet.

The trumpet, very big and lazily timed, is again an authoritative voice. Solos and ensembles are helped by good rhythm and well-contrived piano fill-ins. The label personnel details are

THE record début of this examateur Canadian group is sponsored by Oscar Peterson. himself a Canadian.

In his sleeve note, Oscar has plenty to say in praise of the band. But he falls to point out that, despite the combination's schooled musicianship and some promising solo work by pianist Rudi Toth and trumpeter Erich Praugott, the jazz feel tends to get swamped by Nimmons's busy writing.—Edgar Jackson.

CAMERAS TO VISIT

THE 2 I's

THE 2 I's Coffee Bar will be showcased in a 55-minute version, on November 16 of BBC-TV's "Six-Five Special." Among stars appearing will be Tommy Steele and Chas McDevitt, who were both discovered at the Old Compton Street coffee bar.

Producer Jack Good told the Melody Maker:
"We will try to see just what it is that makes the 2 I's the birthplace of stars.
"To capture the true atmosphere of the place we are screening as many as possible of the stars who have been discovered there."

Also booked are Don Lang the afternoon's musical entertainment the MM has also booked drum star Eric Delaney and his 14-piece Band as well as the Hedley Ward Trio—one of the most sought-after small groups in Britain today.

And with the Delaney band will be his singing stars Cab Kaye and Vick! Anderson.

Defending their title at the All-Britain will be reigning champions Ted Needham and his Quartet, from Sheffield.

Also competing are 1956 runners-up Ken Stevens and his Orchestra, from Cambridge, and the Jimmy Heyworth Orchestra, from Burnley.

ROSETTA THARPE NAMES

COSPEL singer Sister Rosetta tour with the Chris Barber Band at Birmingham Town Hall on November 22.

Other dates for the Tharpe-Barber package are:—Chiswick Empire (24th), Wolverhampton (26th), Swansea (27th), Cardiff (28th), Hanley (29th), Sheffield (30th), Leeds (December 1), Middlesbrough (3rd), Harrogate (4th), Bradford (5th), Liverpool (6th), Scarborough (7th), Nottingham (8th), Manchester (9th), Walthamstow (11th), Oxford (12th), Leicester (13th), Brighton (14th) and London Coliseum (15th).

EMERGENCY CALL

The Chas McDevitt Skiffle Group appears next Tuesday at the Middlesex Hospital's Annual Charity Concert at the Scala Theatre, W., in aid of the Cancer Research Fund.

Full House for for Also booked are Don Lang, the King Brothers and Mike and Bernie Winters.

HUNDREDS of Cambridge undergraduates were unable to get in to the Cambridge Union Debating Chamber on Tuesday when bandleader Johnny Dankworth and musician-cartoonist Gerald Hoffnung took part in a debate.

After supporting the motion that "This house would fiddle while Cambridge burned," Hoffnung produced his tuba and played for five minutes for five minutes.

Dankworth opposed the motion—which was carried by 239 votes to 228—and, as he sat down, his alto was produced.

After a conference with Hoffnung, who said he couldn't play jazz, the pair gave an alto and tuba duet on "There's A Small Hotel," which was greeted with wild applause.

Eula Parker signs for Australia

Singer Eula Parker has been released by ATV to fly to her home town, Melbourne, in December. She has signed a sixweek contract with the General Television Corporation to appear in the nightly show, "In Melbourne Tonight."

Six-Five Special -on Parlophone

Parlophone announced this week that they are releasing in December a 12-inch LP based on the "Six-Five Special" show.
