“Knowing” the Nashville market area means more than adding up buying power...it also means keeping in touch with the dealers who sell the products they hear on the air.

Today, as always, WLAC maintains regular monthly direct mail contacts with many leading retailers...among them are 350 druggists and 450 grocers.

The WLAC promotion department stays on the job, war or no war, building extra sales for WLAC-advertised products!

Dear Sir,

I assure you it will be a pleasure to post the poster in my front window or to do any favor you may ask of me.

Very truly yours;

Today, earth-shaking crises, following each other in rapid succession, are reported promptly, accurately, and in full detail, on WBZ. Boston's most powerful station presents no fewer than eighteen news-broadcasts and commentaries daily, by New England's ranking analysts and ace NBC reporters.

Notable for news throughout New England, WBZ is also depended upon, by the same discriminating audiences, for the finest in radio entertainment. Expertly produced local programs vie with outstanding presentations by NBC, "The network most people listen to most."

Boston has contributed many "firsts" to American history. Currently, 50,000-watt WBZ stands first in Boston as the Hub's powerful and influential station. It rates first in consideration by the time-buyer desiring top coverage in New England.

Among locally popular news-personalities heard exclusively on WBZ are:
- Nelson Bragg, at 7:30 A.M.
- World News Round-Up, at 8:00 A.M.
- Carl Caruso, at 8:30 A.M.
- Marvin Behrens, at 12:05 P.M.
- Morgan Beatty, at 1:45 P.M.

Upcoming

April 30: International communications merger hearings before Senate Interstate Commerce subcommittee.

May 1: WAYS Charlotte, N. C., oral argument on labor dispute with IBEW before NRLB, Washington.

May 8-10: NAB Sales Managers Executive Committee, Gunter Hotel, San Antonio.

May 16-17: NAB Board of Directors, WOW board room, Omaha.

May 9: Deadline for briefs and appearances, proposed FCC regulations on financial reports, contracts, ownership, and station personnel. (Oral argument May 21.)

Bulletins

Petition for extension of time beyond April 27 to permit filing a rehearing request and reorganization of licensee corporation was filed late last week with FCC by George O. Sutton, WOKO Albany counsel. Station had been ordered deleted effective April 27 by FCC on hidden ownership aspects involving Sam Pickard, former CBS vice-president and Commissioner, now on overseas duty with the American Red Cross [Broadcasting, April 2].

EIGHT CHICAGO stations propose that BMB report only station circulation figures based on number of listeners to each station at least once a week, and not issue maps of primary, secondary and tertiary coverage for Chicago market. BMB board will take it up at its next meeting, probably early in May. Proposal is similar to that made by Craig Lawrence, manager of WHOM New York, for handling the New York metropolitan area figures.

ARTHUR J. CASEY, executive assistant to Lt. Col. Frank Falknor, KMOX St. Louis general manager, has joined WOL, Cowles station in Washington, as executive assistant to Merle S. Jones, station general manager and Cowles vice-president. Mr. Casey, formerly was Mr. Jones' assistant at KMOX. At WOL he will direct administrative sustaining operation and public relations. Other WOL additions will be made soon.

NEXT TUESDAY'S Words at War, NBC, 11:30 p.m.-midnight, will dramatize the life of Ernie Fyle, with Karl Swenson in the title role.

Business Briefly

BRISTOL-MYERS PLANS • Bristol-Myers Co. will sponsor Correction Please with Jay C. Flippen on NBC Fri., 8:30-9 p.m. as summer replacement for Duffy's Taverns, off June 8-Oct. 8 when Ed Gardner on Time to Smile is being produced, the sponsor continues Time to Smile, NBC Wed. 9-9:30 p.m. through summer minus Eddie Cantor, who will tour veterans' hospitals. Agency, Young & Rubicam, New York.

NEWS JOINS THE PARADE • Coca-Cola Victory Parade of Spotlight Band, Blue-ABC, will open with four minutes of news of the San Francisco United Nations Security Conference every night, beginning April 25, with Ray Henle, David Wills and Vincent Sheehan broadcasting from conference headquarters.

WHK SELLS OWL HOURS • Burt's Inc. will begin sponsorship in early June of the entire 12 midnight-5 a.m. period on WHK Cleveland, six days a week. Company now sponsors 9½ hours of station time weekly, and with additional time will be sponsoring 39½ hours weekly—at a record in Cleveland.

THWARTS HOOKEY PLAYERS • Enos Aircraft Corp., College Point, New York, has purchased half-hour on WINS New York on V-E Day for special program designed to reduce absenteeism in the plant the following day. Agency, Cowen & Denger, New York.

OPERA SPONSORED • Lombardo Wine Co., Chicago, April 29 begins sponsorship of weekly hour recorded opera series on WCLF Sundays 5-6 p.m. CWT. Contract for 55 weeks. Agency, Charles Edson Rose Co., Chicago.

NEW D-F-S OFFICE • Dancer-Fitzgerald-Sample, advertising agency, will open new office in Toronto, Canada May 1 with Gilbert Munns, formerly of J. Walter Thompson, and Locke, Johnson, Toronto, in charge.

MAXON EXPANDS FORD • Maxon Inc., Detroit, has been appointed to handle radio, newspaper and outdoor advertising for Ford dealers in F sales region, comprising nine southern and southwestern states. New Maxon office has been opened in New Orleans under direction of Walker Saussy. Another is planned in Dallas.

Summer Letdown

At least 34 network commercial programs are slated to go off during summer. Total may reach 40 or more by the time all decisions are in on suspension or replacement. Of these about 10 are taking a hiatus, another 10 already set with subtitutes, 10 or more advertisers still looking for replacements, and probably a few more still undecided on plans. Season is noted for scarcity of suitable low-budget summer talent, earlier and several extra-long summer schedules, three or four running 15-17 weeks, compared to the traditional 8-13 week period.

Not hundreds but THOUSANDS . . .

Not only hundreds, but now thousands of West Virginians are able to enjoy the concerts of the Charleston Symphony Orchestra, Antonio Modarelli conducting. In line with our policy of all-out public service, we have cleared valuable Sunday afternoon time in order to share with thousands, not just hundreds, the music of the Charleston Symphony Orchestra. Pictured above is a shot taken at one of the first broadcasts in the Charleston Municipal Auditorium. You can’t see the hundreds of music lovers in this picture, but you can visualize them AND the thousands listening at home . . . listening to WCHS, the station that performs REAL public service.

WHEN an advertiser rounds out a full 20 years in a youthful business such as radio, there is cause for celebration.

Week in and week out since 1925 the Bristol-Myers Company has held the pleased attention of America on NBC—at first with the Ipana Troubadours worn red and yellow costumes to identify them with "the tooth paste in the red and yellow tube,"—spurred Ipana sales with such tunes as "If You Knew Susie."

The Ipana Troubadours wore red and yellow costumes to identify them with "the tooth paste in the red and yellow tube,"—spurred Ipana sales with such tunes as "If You Knew Susie."

Two stations—WEAF New York and WOC Philadelphia—broadcast the first Ipana program on April 8, 1925.

Mr. Lee H. Bristol, now Vice President of Bristol-Myers, expressed his confidence in the new advertising medium.
20 YEARS ON NBC

Troubadours and now with Eddie Cantor, Mr. District Attorney and Duffy's Tavern. That's 20 years of leading millions to the famous Smile of Beauty and the Smile of Health!

WOE TO THE MAN who asks Mutual's Don Bell "Don't you know there's a war on?" Back in 1941 he was the first to broadcast an eye-witness account of the bombing of American territory. He spent 27 months in Santo Tomas Prison Camp. When he was released, he resumed reporting and was in a navy patrol bomber off China when it was shot down.

In a Mutual broadcast from a hospital in Chungking, Mr. Bell told what happened. "I got out of the plane somehow because the pilot saw my head bouncing up and down in the water a few inches from the burning wing. Well, he couldn't very well ask me to get away although the plane might explode. I was still out. So he climbed over to within 10 inches of the burning plane.

"He grabbed me... dug my head out of the water so that I could breathe air instead of gasoline and oil. Well, I began to understand things then."

"Then the co-pilot climbed up alongside; I dragged an arm out of the water, threw it over his shoulder. I watched the pilot swim again toward that burning bomber. "He yelled, 'I found a raft.' He snagged the raft over to us, got it inflated. They both left me to look for the rest of the boys. About 200 yards away, the aft-gunner came swimming up. A little later after that the co-pilot came back, bringing two men with him.

"Then the plane captain crawled into the raft, feeling very mad at himself because my Mae West hadn't worked. You see, my life jacket was his responsibility. I'm very carefully pointed out the big hole in my Mae West and then he felt better. Well, after ten minutes of hell there, the seven of us who survived the shelling, the crash and the bombing were in our life raft. [Six men were killed.]

"We took stock of what we had. In the life raft were seven of us, one jumbo pack, 2½ rubber paddles, 1 revolver with 6 cartridges only, not much defense but we were determined to fight it out if we had to."

And they had to. They were shelled, chased by a Jap motorboat and two Jap planes dropped bombs near the small boat.

NO SPARSER OF ENERGY is Duncan Tallmadge, radio director and timebuyer for Little & Co., Los Angeles agency.

He had tried his hand at a variety of business lines before that spring day in 1927 when he walked into offices of KVOA Tucson, Ariz., to explore radio's possibilities. King Whyte, then general manager of KVOA, was convinced that he could sell time.

Duncan was born in Summit, N. J., on Nov. 16, 1911. Because his father was agent for manufacturers of crude drugs, he went to school in Wyoming, New Jersey, Chicago, Cristobal, Canal Zone. He graduated from New Trier township high school, Winnetka, Ill., in 1929. At state university, Madison, Wis., Duncan plunged into a curriculum of business administration, with a wary eye on either a newspaper or advertising career.

In the spring of 1934 he worked for a year with Carnation Milk Co. as an executive trainee to learn the business.

Coming to Arizona for his health in 1936, Dunc joined the Tucson Citizen as advertising solicitor and remained until 1937. Then he became account executive of KVOA. When KTAR Phoenix bought out KVOA that year, Jennings transferred to KTAR program department as copy writer. Later he was shifted to KTAR sales. Next Dune stepped into an executive post with Logan & Rouse, Los Angeles agency, on Jan. 1, 1940. He continued this affiliation for approximately two years, joining A. S. Boyle Co., Los Angeles, as assistant to the sales manager in September 1941.

In the fall of 1942 KTAR was depleted by loss of manpower, sent out an S.O.S. and Duncan responded. As continuity editor, he began what amounted to "commuting" between Los Angeles and Phoenix, for five months. On Feb. 1, 1943, he joined Little & Co., Los Angeles, in his present post as radio director, time buyer and account executive. Emphatic about the servicing job which he believes is an agency's primary responsibility, Dunc currently buys time for such accounts as Adolph Milk Farms, Gilbert C. Wilson Labs., Denton, Texas (dehydrated foods). Kenu Products and Keen Products Inc. (industrial cleansers).

He married Dorothy Elton Cutting of Oquitoa, Sonora, Mexico, in April 1940 and they make their home in Los Angeles. With a day's work done, Dunc enjoys his surplus energies in outdoor activity such as hiking and gardening.

"Mr. Blunk says he's walking on air! But I can't do it!"

- If you'd let F&P help you as much as we help a lot of other agency-men and advertisers, Thistlewaite—maybe you would walk on air!

Shouldering other men's troubles just naturally happens to be part of our line of work. The myriad details that accompany spot broadcasting aren't exactly duck soup—even for us, after nearly thirteen years in this business. But naturally they're a lot easier for us than for almost anybody else. So how about letting us lighten your weary burden, Sir?

Since May, 1932

LITTLE MORE than a week ago, President Truman said in his first news conference that Leonard Reinsch, a broadcaster, would assist him in radio and press matters.

The press corps of Washington did not know Leonard Reinsch—any more than broadcasters knew Steve Early 12 years ago.

Nevertheless newspapers throughout the nation announced that Mr. Reinsch was the successor to Steve Early. This was not technically the fact, although it was ostensibly the fact. Mr. Reinsch moved into Mr. Early's office.

Mr. Reinsch conducted daily news conferences.

He arranged news conferences for the President.

He released official White House announcements.

He performed the duties of press and radio secretary. He did not occupy the vacancy, because the vacancy could not exist until the reorganization was completed.

Until last Friday, Mr. Reinsch was, then, to all intents and purposes, press and radio secretary. His hold on the job was tenuous, because some of the hoary-headed among the Washington press corps, recovering from the shock of discovering Mr. Reinsch in Mr. Early's office, did not want a radio man in that job.

Among these were some of the bylines you have seen frequently out of Washington, appearing over stories exhorting against "political pressures", against arbitrary Government actions. These were men who, so frequently, had held high the shining escutcheon of truth and fairness; these were those noblest of all men, the protectors of honesty and good will.

"The protectors of honesty and good will . . ." Say that again! Off mike—against a background of soft music, in a hushed voice.

These great protagonists of the commonweal "got" Leonard Reinsch. They set out to do so, using all the invidious tactics they had condemned in others, and they did it. They turned pressure on the Democratic National Committee. They turned pressure on the White House.

Through their insistence, they moved Mr. Reinsch out of the secretariat to which he was entitled and to which he had been assigned. Actually, the double-shuffle of Mr. Reinsch, whose capabilities are undeniable, is secondary. He himself accepted the announcement with equanimity. Mr. Reinsch is a self-sufficient man in or out of the White House. The affront to the broadcasting industry is not to be taken so lightly, however.

This backstage scenery-shifting was undertaken, for the most part, by elder stagehands. The working press, meeting with Mr. Reinsch, seemed to find him affable and helpful. They held the sword, but did not turn the blade against him.

Most of those who trod faithfully on their appointed rounds were newspapermen more recently turned public-office-holders. Perhaps they were abetted by some among the press who find it necessary to be beholden to certain key officials.

So, all right. Forty-six million Americans heard President Truman speak last Tuesday night. They'll hear him many times again. Check your local newspaper for time of broadcast.

Bond Series Slated By Stock Exchange

Discs Made Available to Some 550 Member Firms

THE NEW YORK Stock Exchange and its member firms will sponsor a transcribed series boosting the Seventh War Loan Drive, probably the first such private concern to take the initiative in building and distributing nationally a local program. Tied in with the Treasury Bond campaigns, Treasury Dept., which has originated a number of shows for broadcast locally as sustainers or under sponsorship, has had nothing to do with the stock exchange series, beyond giving formal approval, it was said.

Bond Benefits

Titled It Happened in 1955, a quarter-hour, 13-week series, the program illustrates how maturing War Bonds will enable families to buy a new house, auto or washing machine in ten years. Personal buying plans for the series are told through family skits or individual discussions; postwar advances in various industries are outlined by guest speakers, including Maj. Alexander de Greaves on air travel, and Randolph Burgess, president of the American Bankers Assn., on opportunities for small business.

New York Stock Exchange starts the series on WOR April 24, and was beginning to receive last week from its 550 member firms throughout the country, answers to a letter offering them the series for local placement. Several had already requested the series, and by the end of the week a number of definite acceptances were expected. Financial arrangement was not disclosed but was understood to provide for sharing of production costs on a cooperative basis, with individual members buying time locally. Series is produced by Trans-American Broadcasting & Television Co., New York. Agency is the New York office of Gardner Adv.

Pan-Am Broadcasts

STARTING May 6, Pan-American Petroleum Corp., New Orleans, will sponsor Edward R. Murrow’s Sunday 1:45-2 p.m. broadcasts on nine southern stations of CBS. Stations to be used are: WAPI WREC WCBC WLAG WCOY WWL WKKH WODX WNOX. Contract, handled by the Fitzgerald Advertising Agency of New Orleans, is for 15 weeks.

Brown Cooperative

MUTUAL is now offering Cecil Brown’s commentaries for sale on a local cooperative basis on over 160 stations Monday, Wednesday and Friday, 9-8:15, Bayuk Cigars Inc., Philadelphia, sponsors the program on 93 other MBS stations.

WHDH Seeks Contracts

For New York Pickups

WHDH Boston, an independent outlet after June 15, termination date for its affiliation with Blue-ABC, is lining up pickups by direct wire from New York independent stations. There is a possibility tie-ins with stations in other markets.

Immediate plan is to sell advertisers with distribution in Boston as well as in New York on sponsor advertisements on both stations to cover two areas without duplicate talent costs. Advantages to the station of strengthening programming, to offset lack of network affiliation for June, is believed a factor.

Second of two advertisers already signed, the Summerfield Furniture Store Co., Boston, on April 16 started Bob Howard, WHN announcer, to work on a 5 a.m. to 8 a.m. program on WHDH, Monday through Friday 6:45-7 p.m. on the station, sponsored by WFRK and WUML, last Feb. week. WHD is heard on the Boston station through Sterling Adv., New York.

BLUE SERIES USING SPONSOR PER WEEK

FIRST five sponsors for We Live Again, a specially-produced half-hour Blue-ABC series to be heard on Monday nights, 9-9:30 p.m.

EWT, will be International Business Machines Corp., Continental Can Co., Greyhound Bus Lines, and Arma Corp., a Brooklyn firm producing scientific instruments for the Navy. Each advertiser will sponsor one broadcast of the WHN and WHDH Monday through Friday, last Feb. week. WHD is heard on the Boston station through Sterling Adv., New York.

Program, produced in cooperation with the Army, Navy and Red Cross, will star well-known theatrical and radio personalities, broadcasting from a different military hospital each week and presenting the readjustment problems of returned veterans. Production agency is Henry Souvaine Co., New York.

Lever on WABD

LEVER Bros., Cambridge, Mass., will start a weekly half-hour television program on WABD—Dumont New York on Wednesday night, replacing the John Reid King show, Thanks for Listening. Plugging Lever’s Lifebuoy and Life Line, the program has a new type of audience participation format in which volunteers are invited to compete for prizes. Ruthrauff & Ryan, New York, is handling the account. Titled I Challenge You, program was created by Joe Cross and Ben Larson and is to be directed by Ted Husted.

OVER 900 stations will air a quarter-hour program recorded by Fibber McGee and Molly for the Cancer Institute’s Telethon program. The program was recorded with studio audience looking on following the April 10 McTeague-Molly NBC broadcast.

DOUGHOYS MISS COMMERCIALS

Hospital Ship Program With Advertising

‘Real Music’ to G.1.’s, Nurse Is Told

COMMERCIALS are so much part of America that doughboys overseas complain when they are omitted, Red Cross workers have discovered.

Tired of hearing patients “beef” Eleanor Merriman, Red Cross worker on the U.S. Army Hospital Ship Blanche F. Sigman, worked out a “commercially sponsored broadcast which went over with a bang. Clients were Lt. Spencer and Sgt. Gems, in charge of the ship’s laundry. The broadcast advertised “Spencer Gemski Inc.”

After the theme song there was a spot plug for the “company”. An Irish tenor sang “Mother Machree” and the ship’s band played. A middle-commercial was inserted between an accordion selection and native songs of two Spanish-Americans. That, the sick and wounded G.1.’s said, was the real music to them.

Another Red Cross worker, recently returned from service in an evacuation hospital near the front, said, “Ads interest the wounded as much as the feature lead.” She pointed out that the dehydrated magazines, like the food, aren’t the same because the ads are missing.

Criticism of Radio Advertising Based On Misunderstanding, Dawson Declares

MUCH criticism of radio advertising is based on misunderstanding, according to Joe M. Dawson, chairman of the executive committee of Geyer, Cornell & Newell, New York, and president of the Advertising Federation of America.

Speaking April 16 before the Scarsdale Women’s Club, Mr. Dawson praised advertising as a “force to create new demands, new opportunities and new progress.” He cited the past achievements of U. S. advertising in raising the nation’s living standard to the highest in the world and prophesied that “the power of advertising will turn the wheel to create employment and assure a lasting postwar prosperity.”

Discussing radio programming on the basis of advertising, Mr. Dawson said:

You may be one of those who condemn the daily “soap operas” that are broadcast during the day. While some of them may deserve this criticism, I believe many of us judge this radio advertising on our own terms, and forget the mass markets that these programs are designed to reach. There are tens of thousands of women from coast-to-coast who do not spend all or most of the day washing, ironing, cooking, cleaning and sewing. For many of these women the “soap operas” are the only ones they have to escape the drudgery of their daily routine—they live the glamour, drama, comedy and tragedy of these plays—and their lives are made more interesting and satisfying.

These programs are designed largely to sell such things as soap, soap powders, packaged foods and hundreds of frequent purchase items that sell in vast quantities to millions of homes. So remember that the millions who do not live a big deal most of these products do than those in your social strata.

And, too, remember that the advertisers who spend millions of dollars for these programs are hard-headed, tight-fisted businessmen who know very definitely the why and wherefore of what they are doing. It pays or they wouldn’t do it.

FCC Proposes Vast Regulatory Powers

Oral Argument to Be Heard on May 21

(Text of Order on page 26) By BILL BAILEY

EXPANSION of rules governing financial statements, contractual agreements and personnel of all types of broadcasting is proposed by the FCC in an order adopted last week and designed to give the Commission closer control over broadcasting.

Oral argument is designated for 10:30 a.m. before the Commission en banc on May 21. Deadline for filing appearances and briefs is May 9. Should the regulations be adopted, broadcasters (AM, FM, television and international) would be required to file more complete data regarding their respective incomes, stock holdings, and general financial status.

Data on Personnel

In addition the Commission would require full information regarding all "operating personnel determining station policy (such as general manager, program director, etc.)"

Echoes of Order 118, adopted in January 1944 [Broadcasting, Jan. 24, March 5, 1944] were heard in the order on the proposed rules. 1.301, 1.302, 1.303, 1.504. The FCC invited comment "as to whether any or all of the information required to be filed by proposed Rules 1.301-1.504 should be open for public inspection."

During oral argument March 1, 1944, on Order 118, which proposed Rule 1.5 to make public all financial records and contractual agreements, broadcasters strongly protested, contending that such a regulation would, in effect, make radio a common carrier and would endanger competition. The Commission took Order 118 "unanimous advisement" following the protests and the proposed regulation had been all but forgotten until the new proposal was disclosed following last Tuesday's meeting.

Rules 1.361, covering financial statements of standard stations, and 46.1 on information as to ownership, operation, interests therein, contracts, etc. would be deleted by the proposed regulations. Although much of the original language of the two rules is embodied in the proposed regulations, the Commission has gone beyond its earlier powers to require information on all stockholders, either through direct or indirect holdings.

Two proposed new forms have been issued. These forms tend to provide the FCC with data covering virtually every business operation of a station including new work service, transcription service or bulk time sales (amounting to two hours or more per day). They would give the Commission an insight into program situations as well as business practices.

Whereas Rule 1.361 requires that licensees of standard stations shall file with the Commission by March 1 each year, balance sheets and income statements, proposed Rule 1.301 embraces licensees of standard, FM, television and international stations. It requires that record be kept along with "scheduling schedules".

Under 1.302 (filing of contracts) licensees would be required to file with the FCC within 30 days of execution all documents, instruments, contracts or understandings (oral contracts to be reduced to writing for submission), amendments, supplements, changes and cancellations relating to "character of organization and identity of its officials". Ownership or control of licensees of the station, or of any of licensee's stock, rights or interests, the use, management or operation of licensed facilities, and agreements covering network, transcription and bulk time sales must be filed within 30 days.

Other Provisions

This section also includes: (1) Articles of partnership, association or incorporation; (2) bylaws affecting corporation, control, number of officers or powers of its officers or directors, the classification or voting rights of any stock; (3) any document, instrument or contract relating to or affecting ownership of licensee, rights or interests therein, its stock, or voting rights thereto; (4) any contract relating to or affecting control of general program service, contract for program management contracts, network and transcription contracts and time sales to brokers, etc.

The Commission seeks minute detail under Rule 1.303 on "Ownership Reports". To provide that data a new form, 323A is proposed. An annual ownership report shall be filed by March 1 of the preceding year, but a footnote to the proposed rule specifies that for the year 1944 (should the rule be adopted) an annual ownership report shall be filed on or before Sept. 1, showing the required information as of June 30, 1945.

Ownership Changes

Information required in the ownership report includes: Name of individual, if individual owner; names of partners and interest of each, with this provision: No change in ownership, nature thereof, may be made without prior consent of the Commission upon an application for consent to assignment of license.

In the case of a corporation or association, licensees must list capitalization, with a description of the classes of stock authorized and shares of each class issued and outstanding; name, residence, citizenship and stockholders; full information with respect to interest and identity of any person whether or not a stockholder of record, having any interest, direct or indirect, in the licensee of any of its stock; full information as to family relationship or business association between any stockholder or any more officials or stockholders.

All licensees must give the name, residence, position and date of appointment of "operating personnel determining station policy". This includes general manager, program director, etc. A list of all contracts required under 1.302, showing date of execution and expiration of each also must be filed on Form 323A, in addition to any interest which the licensee may have in any other broadcast station.

A second form, 323B, is provided for interim ownership reports, which must be filed within 30 days after a change occurs, under the proposed regulation. Information shall include "without limitation" any change in capitalization or control exercisable by stockholders in officers and directors or in operating personnel determining station policy. Thus, if a program director leaves a company and another one is engaged, the license must, within 30 days, so notify the Commission on Form 323B.

Requires Filing

The FCC would require filing of any transaction affecting ownership, direct or indirect, of licensees' stock, such as transfer of stock, issuance of new stock or disposition of treasury stock, and acquisition of licensees' stock by the issuing corporation.

In case of change in officers, directors or stockholders of a corporation other than the licensee, such changes need not be reported.

Nationwide Survey of Available Service

To Be Started

POSTPONEMENT of the clear-channel hearings, now scheduled for May 9, is expected to be announced this week by the FCC [Closed Circuit, April 16]. At the same time it was learned that a nationwide survey to determine what sections of the country are without "proper" clear-channel service, began under the supervision of a special committee on surveys created in mid-March [Broadcasting, March 19, 26]. The survey will be conducted in primary service areas of clear-channel stations.

Decision to defer the clear-channel proceedings until probably early fall was reached, it was learned, to permit the survey committee and three special technical groups to complete their studies and report findings. Formal announcement of the postponement is expected following Tuesday's regular Commission meeting.

Two other committees—No. 1 on determination of what constitutes a satisfactory signal, and No. 3 on determination of distances to which areas over which various signal strengths are delivered—met last Thursday at Commission headquarters. Committee 4 on surveys convened on Wednesday.

Authority of FCC

A proposal submitted by FCC General Counsel Rosel H. Hyde and Dallas W. Smythe, FCC chief economist and committee chairman, was accepted in principle, although industry members of the group raised vigorous objections to the proposed question: "Do the listeners in these areas receive a program no better, or particularly suited to their needs?" It was generally agreed that the Commission, under the Communications Act, would go beyond its authority by inquiring so closely into programs. A compromise question was agreed to, following considerable discussion. The question now reads: "What programs do you want that you can't hear now?" Despite heated debate, reports were that the meeting was constructive, with industry and Government ironing out their differences.

Original FCC proposals to confine the survey to homes outside primary areas brought objections from Louis G. Caldwell, general counsel for the Clear Channel Broadcasting Service. He called for a fair and unbiased survey of listeners both inside and outside of primary areas. The committee agreed to his suggestion.

Under plans tentatively adopted, 500,000 postcards will be sent out—half of them to listeners in primary service areas and the other half to listeners outside of primary and secondary areas of clear-channel stations. In addition to the mail ballots, enumerators will make 10,000 personal interviews.

Questions tentatively agreed upon for the postcard survey are these:

Cancellations Said To Approach 3 Million

CANCELLATION of commercials, rebates on talent and incidental expenses of the American broadcasting industry covering the death and last rites of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt, an event which won high praise from the press and Government leaders—is estimated to have cost between $2 million and $3 million.

Of this amount, half was believed to have been borne by the networks; the other half by outlets throughout the nation.

Floods of reports pouring into Broadcasting’s newsroom during the past week indicated that nearly every station in the nation, as well as the Armed Forces networks, some time or another in the period between President Roosevelt’s death and final rites at Hyde Park, revised all commercial schedules.

General Trend

Although exact figures summarizing cancellations on individual outlets were not available, the following network reports would indicate the general trend throughout the nation. NBC cancelled 78 commercial programs and broadcast 18 commercial commercials during the mourning period. CBS cancelled 51 commercial programs and put on 30 sponsor-identified shows. ABC cancelled 18 and put 24 on with sponsor identification only. Blue-ABC cancelled 63 programs and broadcast 29 with sponsor identification only. All networks went non-commercial shortly after the Thursday flash (5:49 p.m.) that President had succumbed. Normal schedule resumed by the networks Monday morning April 16.

Ratings on speeches made by President Truman, meanwhile, were being clouded by audience reactions to the popular speeches made by the late Mr. Roosevelt. Mr. Roosevelt’s high mark was a 65.7 Hooper rating on the declaration of war Dec. 8, 1941. Other Roosevelt audience ratings in major categories were: 1939 message to Congress, 16.3; 1940 message to Congress, 16.1; address before the joint session of Congress May 14, 1940, 22.8.

Friday morning listening on April 15, as checked by Hooper, showed sales of 36.9% between 8 and 10 a.m. and 22.8 between 10 and noon, with an average of 22.0 for the 8-12 period. Sales were off Friday morning in March 1945 by 25.9% between 8 and 10 a.m., 16.8 between 10 and noon, 16.3 average for the morning.

Rise in listening on the evening of April 12 might be compared to that of Dec. 7, 1941, Pearl Harbor day, when the Hooper organization reported the following sets-in-use figures: 41.4% 6-6:30 p.m., 43.7 6:30-7 p.m., 48.0 7:30-7 p.m., 48.8 7:30-8 p.m., 50.1 8-8:30 p.m. These figures are more than 50% higher than any comparable parable evening in November 1941. Cooperative Analysis of Broadcasting gave President Truman’s special program a rating of 34.6, highest daytime CAB rating since the inception of the 81-city sample in April 1944. The New President had 100% of all listeners checked, the CAB reported.

President Truman’s address before the joint session of Congress Monday, April 16 attained a rating of 3.2. His rating for the speech Tuesday night, conveyed to fighting fronts all over the world, was 53.6, having an estimated audience of 42 million. This latter speech was given greater distribution by the Armed Forces Radios Service and the Signal Corps Army Communications than any single broadcast made during the course of the war.

The broadcast was sent live from 32 shortwave stations in the United States and rebroadcast by 400 transmitters in the theaters. President Truman’s voice was heard in London, Paris, Manilla, Hawaii, Alaska, Finland, Milne Bay, Admiralty Islands, Otro Bay, Hollandia, Biak, Roi, Jh, Georgia, Leyte, Morotai, Cebu, the Philippines, Whittier, Whitehouse, Fairbanks, Edmonton, and in other theaters throughout the world.

The Voice of America, OWI operated, cancelled all foreign language broadcasts out of San Francisco and devoted its full facilities to all waves to carrying the President’s speech. It was the transmitters operated by the OWI which were taken over by the AFRS to make worldwide coverage possible.

The performance of radio in covering the death and final services for President Roosevelt won wide comment in the press and in Congress. The Washington Evening Star praised in an editorial which is reprinted in this issue. Other typical comments by the press were found in the St. Louis Post Dispatch, which reported containing a call for criticism against network commercial practice in relation to news broadcast. Said the St. Louis Post Dispatch, in part, “Radio deserves a vote of thanks from the American public for its superb coverage of President Roosevelt’s death and funeral. Not only was the news presentation a model of its kind, but a high level of good taste predominating through the three full days and one evening over which this tragic subject monopolized the air.” A letter to the editor reprinted in the New York age written by Charlotte Degen, noted: “Radio set the keynote for a reverent public to express its devotion.” The Sheboygan Press, Sheboygan, Wis.: “Radio throughout the country established a new high in service to the nation.” In the Auburn Citizen-Advertiser, Auburn, III., “Roosevelt, the mirabilis of this era, won new distinction and established a new high in public service during the past few days”.

Senate Commends

The Senate adopted a resolution introduced by Sen. Hatch (D-N.Il.), stating that, “Sincere congratulation is due the radio industry of the United States for the manner in which it reported the period of national mourning.” The Senator expressed its commendation and gratitude to America’s broadcasters.

Rep. Monrooney (D-Okl.) in an Extension of Remarks, read into the Congressional Record a commendation of the industry. It said in part: “All this was done at a great financial sacrifice, as almost all stations killed all commercialization of their programs to more appropriately observe the occasion. . . . If any occasion were needed to demonstrate that the radio had come of age, this certainly marked the occasion.”

Rep. Emanuel Celler (D-N.Y.), in an Extension of Remarks, said of radio broadcasters: “Their dignity and seriousness of the programs were in keeping with the solemnity of the occasion. They de-

Commentators Report With Simplicity And Dignity

By JACK LEVY

REACHING the pinnacle of its memorable coverage of the death and final services of President Franklin Delano Roosevelt in its coverage of the final and most solemn event of the three-day observance period set aside for its grief-torn audience—the burial of Franklin Delano Roosevelt at Hyde Park on Sunday, April 15, 1945.

Although not permitted to broadcast from the scene itself, the four network commentators who attended the services lost no time in getting to microphones set up at places near the Roosevelt estate to bring reports. This was done in some cases, heart-rending description of what each agreed was his most dramatic experience in radio.

Reflecting their own deep feelings at the passing of a leader they had admired and loved through long and intimate contact as they had followed him in his travels throughout the nation, the commentators reported the services with dignity and simplicity. Fresh from the muffled drums and the sad strains of Massenet’s “Elegy”, they were audibly affected as they recited to their audiences the prayers which had been given in the service set by President. As Tris Coffin, who described the event for CBS, said: “You were thinking of your audience rather than technical perfection. You’re only thought was to share the experience with the listeners.”

Repeats Requested

Baukhage, whose description on the Blue brought so many requests that the network repeated the program three times within a few hours, gave what many radio men considered his finest performance in 12 years of broadcasting. Recalling his broadcast from Hyde Park four years previously when the President’s mother died, he described the ceremony he had just witnessed as “part of the grand panorama of news that mankind time have begun, giving their lives to preserve an ideal which lived on because they were willing to exchange their own lives for it.”

Then he proceeded to read from his notes, bringing to his listeners the order of the services: “the roar of bombers overhead . . . the salute of guns . . . the low roar of marching drums . . . the slow rhythm of the Death March . . . the cairn . . . the hairbreadth minister . . . the coffin with the pallbearers . . . the wife and mother and the President Truman . . . the prayer and the poem, ‘Father in Thy (Continued on page 66)

First Multiple-Relay Video Network Dedicated by Philco

Porter Heralds 'Washington-Philadelphia Link As Forerunner of Nationwide Television'

PHILADELPHIA as the forerunner of nationwide television relay networks, the Philco Corp., Philadelphia, dedicated its multi-relay network, first in the world, between Washington and Philadelphia last Tuesday night.

FCC Chairman Paul A. Porter, Dr. Karl Taylor Compton, president of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and John Ballantyne, president of Philco, all participating in the initial telecast from the Statler Hotel in Washington, predicted that nationwide television would be made available through relay networks.

Two-Way Operation

F. J. Bingley, chief of Philco's television division, explained to members and staff of the FCC-and newsmen and women, who were Philco guests at a buffet supper and the dedication, that two-way operation between Washington and Philadelphia is planned, although at the moment Philco operates only WJZ, Dr. Porter, Philadelphia, with no station in Washington.

Chairman Porter, whose image and address were transmitted through six transmitters before returning to Philco's television receivers, referred to the multiple-relay network as "a historic milestone in our progress towards a nationwide system of television". He lauded radio as a power in a democracy and declared that "radio history was made" when the late President Roosevelt addressed the nation in his first inaugural address in 1933.

"How often, since then, in times of great emergency, have we turned almost instinctively to our radio to listen to that hallowed voice, to have our inspiration renewed, our conviction fortified," he said. "As the President came to grips with his tasks, he continued to talk directly and personally to the people. Radio became established as the most potent force in reviving our democracy. . . . Now we look forward to the same potent force in our democracy—television."

Mr. Porter declared the creation of networks is "the heart of the problem of how to expand television into a nationwide service." He congratulated Philco on its pioneer work in the multiple-relay network and field: "This demonstration is a harbinger of exciting things to come." He predicted that "television will grow into a giant capitalist industry in many ways which we do not now even comprehend."

Dr. Compton spoke of "remarkable developments of new electronic and radio devices" during the war, of "how much our whole war effort owed to television research". He declared that the new multiple-relay network "points toward the rapid spread of television broadcast after the war", predicting that the industry will grow "just as fast as its networks can expand."

He "visioned television as an aid to education, both for students and adults..." He pictured a session of Congress or a town meeting being televised and thought that with peace, the real age of television can be expected to begin. "Tonight," he concluded, "we stand on the threshold of that age, and Philco television engineers have contributed greatly to its progress."

Mr. Ballantyne said that while television has not progressed commercially as a whole, "television is tremendously in the laboratories. Great strides have been made in those phases of electronics on which all television progress is based."

Mr. Ballantyne said that while television has not progressed commercially as a whole, "television is tremendously in the laboratories. Great strides have been made in those phases of electronics on which all television progress is based."

"When peace comes, we can expect television to become a major factor in our lives, far more important in entertainment, education and service to the public than even radio has been in the past," he asserted. "To take advantage of the new research and productive facilities which will be available in electronic developments in the United States after the war, there shall need a strong, progressive television industry as well as a major radio industry."

Opportunities for Veterans

Mr. Ballantyne foresaw in television "special opportunities for thousands of our returning veterans who have trained in the radar and micro-wave electronics fields."

Mary Gay of Newsweek was televised as she talked long-distance to Larry E. Gubb, chairman of the Philco board, who was listening to and watching the program at his home in Philadelphia. Mr. Gubb reported excellent reception.

Each with 40 w power and 100-foot, 24-element antennas, are located at Arlington, Va., Odenton, Md., Havre de Grace, Md., and Honeybrook, Pa., a total distance of 152 miles. Channels 12 to 15 are used for each station, alternating on television channels 11-12 and 13-14. A double side-band system, with a 4-mc modulation, is used.

DuMont Video

ALLEN B. DUMONT Laboratories will be the next television receiver manufacturer to display its large-screen postwar models. On Thursday in New York DuMont has announced for yesterday [April 22] the first public showing of its projection receiver, with a picture 18 by 24 inches slightly larger than that given by the RCA set recently demonstrated, but postponed the showing because of "conflicting events."

Major Bowes Quits Broadcast Series

MAJ. EDWARD BOWES, one of radio's best-known personalities and the man who skyrocketed a major radio industry when he returned from Europe on the big airwaves, will retire Thursday from active participation in radio, but will continue as radio consultant to the Chrysler Corp., High Park, Mich., a spokesman in Silver Screen and the airwaves of United Artists. That leaves Mr. Bowes himself has appeared at more than 100 military posts.

Ryan in Omaha

WHEN the NAB Board of Directors meets in Omaha, President J. Harold Ryan will address a meeting of combined service clubs, sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Omaha, in observance of Kiwanis International Radio Week. Lew Avery, NAB Director of Broadcast Advertising, likely will speak May 14 at a Kiwanis meeting in Chicago. NAB plans to attend a meeting of the NAB Sales Managers Executive Committee in San Antonio May 8-10.

Made to order

There's another kind of made to order ... it's in Baltimore radio.

If ever there was a perfect pattern for covering a town that's big enough to be the 6th largest city ... it's the W-I-T-H coverage.

For it's a fact that W-I-T-H, the successful independent, delivers more listeners-per-dollar spent than any of the four other stations in town.

If you're thinking now about the old-time "buyer" market that's on its way back ... and when the fight to re-establish brands and markets really gets started ... you'll want to know more about W-I-T-H.

That's the Baltimore station that sells merchandise, and always has sold goods, in this highly competitive market.

Difficulties in Combining FM, Video

Porter Discusses Possibilities Of Mosby Plan

COMBINING of FM and television frequencies to permit the broadcaster to transmit aural programs alone during those portions of the day when no video signal is transmitted is not likely, but the use of the television sound transmitter for both FM and video sound track is a possibility, if technically feasible, in the judgment of FCC Chairman Paul A. Porter. Responding to Art Mosby, general manager of KGVO Missoula, Mont., who felt that television and FM might be doubled up on the same frequencies as an all-around measure of economy, Mr. Porter in his reply April 2 pointed to difficulties both in all FM and receiver production. It seems very likely, however, he said, that the majority of television receiver owners also will have FM receivers either in the television unit or in a separate set.

Flexible

"This should permit rather flexible programming arrangements to be worked out by broadcasters interested in both the television and FM fields, particularly in such areas as your own," Mr. Porter wrote. "For example, perhaps the television sound transmitter could be adapted for use in FM receivers licensed for use in both services."

[EDITOR'S NOTE: In past seminars and observations on dual operation, engineers have pointed to the impracticability of using a single tuner for both television and FM signals because of differences in antenna crystal and other requirements. Moreover, the FM sound track uses only a 200 kc band, whereas television uses a 6,000 kc band.]

Mr. Mosby had written Mr. Porter on March 13 that it seemed television would be transmitted no more than two to six hours per day, depending upon cost and size of community. He asked why the allotted frequencies of FM and television could not be combined to permit the licensee to broadcast audio FM on his television frequency, thus permitting "full 24-hour use of the facility if the need required it". He felt this would permit speedier development of both FM and television "because the new receivers will be of dual purpose, thus easier to sell to the public."

Present broadcast applicants could furnish FM immediately upon availability of the equipment, with television programs added as economics permitted, Mr. Mosby contended. He said he felt that television would replace audio eventually "as surely as talkies replace the silents," and he expressed support of the CBS plan of higher frequencies for television.

Mr. Porter's reply to Mr. Mosby follows in full text:

The combination of the two services appears to involve considerable difficulty, particularly with respect to receiver costs, frequency space, and broadcast coverage requirements. It is, of course, considerably more expensive to double the output of the transmitter, and the use of frequencies which would be required, if any, would be small, and whether or not they would provide for the number of megacycle broadcast channels available obviously is highly questionable. The FCC rules do not permit the use of more than six if the minimum needs of other services are to be met. The disparity of television and FM coverage is also a situation which is not likely to change. In other words, standards ten times the FM signal strength is required for television service.

Under the Commission's proposed allocation plan, the channels assigned for commercial FM broadcasting and 12 channels for commercial television. There are already more FM channels than are available in the New York City region than can be accommodated in the 26 channels, and more television applications for a number of cities than the FCC has announced in its allocation plan. Pointing this out to point out the Commission's problems in finding spectrum space for the many applicants now proposing to broadcast television, Mr. Porter asked whether programming arrangements to be worked out by broadcasters interested in television and FM fields, particularly in such areas as your own, perhaps the television sound transmitter could be adapted for use in both services.

FCC Expected To Decide FM's Place in Spectrum About May 1

ALTHOUGH the ultimate home of FM in the radio spectrum remained an enigma last week, indications pointed to moving the service to a band beginning at 84 mc, as proposed by FCC, or a compromise somewhere possibly around 60 mc, with the decision likely to be announced next month.

As yet the Commission has reached no agreement, as it considered a maze of conflicting evidence on both technical and economic phases. On one thing the FCC is reported agreed. FM must begin in the spectrum as low as possible. Since Sporadic E is held to cause interference at times as high as 45 mc,.1% at 60 mc and .01% at 84 mc, it appeared likely that the FM band would begin above 60 mc.

So far engineers still are at loggerheads over F2 layer transmission. Manufacturers likewise are split over the economic effects on the public of moving FM.

While the Commission had not reached conclusions last week, efforts were being made to meet a May 1 deadline, both for the final allocations above 25 mc and a proposed plan for the lower half of the band. The FCC already has agreed on the proposed allocations, 10-25,000 kc, and its proposal is in the hands of the Interstate Commerce Department's radio committee. Should IRAC assent, the proposed allocations will be ready for release about May 1. If not, a delay would result while IRAC and the Commerce Department iron out their differences.

At any rate, indications were both reports—the final above 25 mc and proposed below 25 mc—would be released somewhere around May 4.

Letter Shows Lack Of Blue NAB Posts

Johnston Urges Election of ABC Affiliate to Board

DISCOVERY that not a single district director-designate of the NAB is a Blue affiliate and that only one Blue station manager has been nominated for a director at large led Henry P. Johnston, executive vice-president of WSGN Birmingham, to bring this to the attention of Blue affiliates in a letter last week.

Observing that this situation was probably purely accidental, Mr. Johnston nevertheless felt that a network of the status of the Blue certainly should be represented on the industry-wide trade association. Only C. T. (Swannie) Hageman, general manager of WTCN Minneapolis-St. Paul, has been nominated for a director-at-large by the board itself. In writing Blue affiliates, Mr. Johnston said he had nothing against any man running for director-at-large, but urged stations to support Mr. Hageman so that there would be at least one Blue spokesman on the new board, or at least one Blue in the annual meeting if one is held, or by mid-1945.

NAB Advised

Mr. Johnston also called the condition to the attention of NAB President Harold Ryan. He pointed out the NAB board has nothing to do with district directors or station managers but that the board did have a lot to do with the nomination of directors-at-large. "I think the board erred in not nominating at least one representative of each of the four major networks in each of the three classifications [large, medium and small stations]."

Analyzing a NAB bulletin he had received April 11, Mr. Johnston told Blue stations that of 16 representatives thus far elected to the board, only one is Blue, a small one. NBC, four with CBS, four with MBS and none with Blue. District 5 (Ala., Fla., Ga., Puerto Rico), he pointed out, has not yet elected a representative, but indications are it won't be a Blue station, because no manager has indicated a desire to serve. Of directors-at-large, only one is Blue, three CBS, four Mutual, one independent and one Blue, he added.

"The board nominated these 16 men, not the stations," he said. "So it seems the Blue was almost entirely passed up."

War Boosted Newscasts, Survey Shows

Agency Checks Time Allotted News By Networks

EFFECT of war on news programs is illustrated by a survey just completed by Duane Jones Co., radio advertising agency. In addition to programs for package goods manufacturers who are among the country's largest users of newscasts, this agency purchased all broadcasts used by the B. P. National Committee in last year's Presidential campaign, amounting to approximately a million dollars for radio time in the newscast category.

With imminence of Germany's collapse and with Pacific activities growing in intensity, news programs are hitting a new high in public interest, the data reveal. Since the beginning of the war sponsors have been cashing in on radio news through national and regional networks as well as on individual stations. This has caused a tremendous upsurge in news broadcasts, according to figures released by network research departments for the survey. Where available, figures begin with 1937.

Percentage of time devoted to newscasts available for NBC and Blue-ABC, show that in 1937 NBC devoted 2.8% of its total program hours to news. By 1940 the volume of newscasts had jumped to 7.2% and by 1944 it reached 20.4% of NBC's total time on the air. Blue-ABC newscasts also took 2.8% of the total time in 1937, climbing to 16.7% in 1944. Due to differences in records similar percentage figures are not available for CBS and Mutual.

The constant expansion of news programs has not been confined to networks alone. The growth on local and regional newscasts has been also amazing, although there is no immediate way of making an accurate survey of this field. Some of the heaviest news program purchasers specialize in local news broadcasts as an integral part of their marketing plans.

Among Duane Jones' clients using local news programs are Manhattan Soap Company, currently sponsoring 275 newscasts weekly on 80 stations. C. F. Mueller Company, macaroni products, now have local station deals with a staff of 12 top newscasters in 18 major cities east of the Mississippi, with 58 weekly newscasts. Mennen Co., a newcomer in the field, is now broadcasting news from nine stations, in addition to a large schedule of spot broadcasts. Others include Grocery Store Products Sales Co., Curline Brothers Co., Hudson Pulp and Paper Corp., Megowen-Educator Food Co., and Pierce's Proprietaries Inc., all important radio advertisers.

Should the war in Europe end soon, it is reported that newscasts will continue their popularity because of the war with Japan, the survey states, and even with the end of hostilities in all theatres, programs for total war will until decomposition is complete.

U.S. Shows Lead

AMERICAN network shows continue to lead the evening time popularity chart. According to the April national rat- ing report for evening time issued by Elliott-Haynes Ltd., Toronto, Radio Theatre leads the poll for the first fifteen programs with an average rating of 39.2, followed by Fibber McGee and Molly with 34.6, and Charlie McCarthy, Bing Crosby Music Wall, Treasure Trail (Canadian origination), Bob Hope, Album of Familiar Music, Aldrich Family, Waltztime, Frank Morgan, Green Hornet (Canadian origination), Reader's Digest, Alan Young, Jack Carson and The Lone Ranger (Canadian origination). The first five French-language programs for April evening time were Le Raislement du Rive with a rating of 35.7, Secret of the Moranges, Le Coeur au Treas, Ceun qu'on Aime, and Nasaire et Barnave.

NLRB Sets Hearing On Ways Dispute

NATIONAL Labor Relations Board last week scheduled oral arguments for May 1 on the dispute before WAYS, Charlotte, N. C., and the IBEW over the station's refusal to bargain with the union as the representative of its transmitter technicians. The hearing will be held in the full Board in Washington at 10:30 a.m.

In an intermediate report Nov. 29 [Broadcasting, Dec. 11], a trial examiner for the Board recommended that the station desist from refusing to recognize the union and take affirmative actions to negotiate with it. The examiner found that the IBEW local became the exclusive representa- tive of the transmitter employees last May 3 and that rearrangement of operations and personnel since that time resulted in loss by the union of its majority status. He charged the union with interfering with collective bargaining and engaging in unfair labor practices.

The station admits that it made certain unauthorized changes at its transmitter but explains that its refusal to bargain is based on the grounds that the transmitter employee by themselves do not constitute an appropriate bargaining unit. It takes the position that it should not be required to bargain with IBEW as long as it does not represent a majority of the transmitter employees and further contends that a majority of its transmitter employees are not now members of the union [Broadcasting, Jan. 1].

Only Part of War Will Be Won V-E Day, OWI Reminds Those Planning Programs

ANSWERING inquiries on V-E Day programming, the OWI has set forth first suggestions on how radio is to handle the job. The main thing must be the realization that only part of the war is won and there can be no time for relaxation of effort until Japan, too, is defeated.

No special schedule is being prepared for V-E Day. Instead of many different campaigns, a single informational theme—the job of defeating Japan—is suggested by George Ludlam, chief of the Domestic Radio Bureau, in a letter to persons concerned with scheduling.

The key to observance of V-E Day, Mr. Ludlam declared, will be the continuing war and "apparently in agreement with this thinking, sponsors, agencies, networks, and stations have asked the Radio Bureau for guidance in handling their programs on V-E Day, assuming that the fighting in Germany comes to so definitely datable an end." Some advertisers have offered to substitute government messages for commercials, he revealed, and all correspondents indicate that suggestions from the Radio Bureau may be helpful.

As a substitute for commercials or for other purposes a special "V-E Day and After" fact sheet accompanies the letter but otherwise the OWI hopes scheduled assignments will be adhered to closely, perhaps with the re-writing of messages to include pertinent copy slants on Japan.

"Additional information or specific V-E Day assistance," Mr. Ludlam reminds, "will gladly be given" by OWI field representatives or direct from Washington.

New Mutual Program

MUTUAL network will start another new program to be aired April 20, as part of the network's general revamping of its daytime schedules. A novelty participation program, Queen for a Day, with Bud Williamson as m.c., will be heard from 2:30 to 3 p.m. EWT five times weekly, it was announced by Phillips Carlin, vice-president in charge of programs. Produced by the Raymond R. Morgan Co., Hollywood, the new show features daily selection of a "queen" who gets to realize her secret ambition...anything from a visit to the Stork Club to a date with her favorite movie hero. Besides newly-scheduled programs already revealed by Mr. Carlin [BROADCASTING, April 9], the network last week announced time changes for several sustaining Mutual shows.

Wire-Recorder, Receiver Combination Announced

MAGAZINE of the Lear Home Radio and wire recorder combination is held by William F. Lear, president, Lear Inc., at a special preview.

A COMBINATION magnetic wire-recorder and home radio set, developed by the radio division of Lear Inc. at Grand Rapids, Mich., was given its first public demonstration April 10 before a gathering of the press at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in New York. Its uses in recording and playing back radio programs in home and studio, home produced entertainment, office dictation and phone conversations were outlined by William F. Lear, founder and president and illustrated by skits featuring Ole Olsen and his colleagues.

The wire recorder will be marketed by Lear after the war as part of a Lear home radio, adding about $75 to the set's cost, as a separate unit, to be used with present sets, for the same price. Public is being surveyed on their interest in the device through a questionnaire included in a pamphlet offered in a series of national publication ads released this month through Arthur Kudner Inc.

Lear's innovation, according to the president, is the built-in recording wire, a "cartridge" or magazine which can be snapped easily into the front of the panel, and operated by a simple switch. Heretofore the operators have had to handle the wire, risking breakage.
"SOLDIERS OF PRODUCTION"
A Public Service Dramatization

With Chicago the second largest war production district and always a critical area, WJJD has moved shoulder to shoulder with the Production Urgency Information Committee when manpower crises threaten output.

To emphasize manpower need, "Soldiers of Production" has been broadcast consistently five afternoons a week featuring returned war heroes, and officials of the Urgency Information Committee.

This program is one of many WJJD Public Service features that make up 18% of WJJD's licensed operating time.

PROPOSED FCC RULES FOR ANNUAL REPORTS

TIGHTER CONTROL over ownership of stations, policy personnel such as program directors and business practices is foreseen in proposed rules and regulations making mandatory the filing with FCC of annual financial statements and other data affecting broadcasting.

Attached to the order, issued last Wednesday, were two proposed forms. No. 323A would require the listing of all stockholders whose interests are held directly, or indirectly through other corporations; names of all operating personnel "such as general manager, program director, etc."; data on licensee's capitalization; names of officers and directors and stockholders; all contracts; interests in other stations held by licensee.

Form 323B is an interim ownership report on changes in officers and directors and transactions relating to ownership of stock. Both forms must be notarized.

Text of the order, which embraces standard, FM, television and international stations, follows:

In the Matter of Promulgation of Rules and Regulations Concerning the Filing of Financial Ownership and Other Reports of Broadcast Licensees. Docket No. 676.

ORDER
At a meeting of the FCC held at its Office in Washington, D.C., on the 17th day of April 1945,

WHEREAS, the Commission is of the opinion that public interest, convenience and necessity may be served by the deletion of Rules 1.361 and 43.1 and the substitution therefor of the following rules:

FINANCIAL OWNERSHIP AND OTHER REPORTS OF BROADCAST LICENSEES

1.361 FINANCIAL REPORT—Each licensee of a broadcast station (standard, FM, television, and international) shall file with the Commission not later than March 1 of each year (on Form 324 or such other form as the Commission may prescribe, together with supporting schedules), a balance sheet showing its financial condition as of Dec. 31 of the preceding calendar year and an income statement for said calendar year. Each such form shall be subscribed as provided in Sec. 1.121 of the Commission's regulations.

1.362 FILING OF CONTRACTS—Each licensee of a broadcast station (standard, FM, television, and international) shall file with the Commission within 30 days of execution thereof of all documents, instruments, contracts (the substance of oral contracts or understandings shall be reduced to writing for submission) together with amendments, supplements, and changes therein and cancellations thereof relating to character of organization and identity of its officials; ownership or control of licensee's station; or of any of licensee's stock, rights or interests therein; the use, management, or operation of licensed facilities; and agreements relating to network service, transcription service or bulk time sales (amounting to two hours or more per day); including but not limited to:
1. Articles of Partnership, Association, or Incorporation;
2. By-laws affecting character of organization, control, number or powers of its officers or directors, the classification of voting rights of any stock;
3. Any document, instrument, or contract relating to or affecting ownership of any corporation, any person owning, or in any way having or exercising control over said corporation, or the organization and identity of its officials; any and all stock or voting rights therein, or any rights of any person owning, or in any way having or exercising control over said stock;
4. Any contract relating to or affecting control of any general program service of the station (such as management contracts, network and transcription contracts, and time sales to brokers, etc.);
5. Any ownership report or any other form as of which is attached an annual ownership report and shall show the following information as of Dec. 31 of the preceding calendar year:
   1. In the case of an individual, the name of such individual;
   2. In the case of a partnership, the names of the partners and the interest of each partner;
   3. In the case of a corporation or association:
      a. Capitalization, with a description of the classes of stock authorized and the shares of each class issued and outstanding;
      b. The name, residence, citizenship, and stockholdings of officers and directors, and stockholders;
      c. Full information with respect to the stock and voting interest of any person whether or not a stockholder of record, having any interest, direct or indirect, in the licensee or any of its stock.

For example: Where A is the beneficial owner or the stock held by B, the same information should be furnished for A as is required for B.

Where X corporation holds stock in the licensee, the same information should be furnished with respect to X corporation (its capitalization, officers, directors, and stockholders) and the amount of stock in X held by each as is required in the case of the licensee, together with full information as to the identity and citizenship of the person authorized to vote licensee's stock.

The same information should be furnished as to Y corporation if it holds any stock in X and as to Z corporation if it holds any stock in Y, and so on back to natural persons.

D. Full information as to family relationship or business association between two or more officials and/or stockholders.

4. In the case of all licensees:
   A. The name, residence, position and date of appointment of operating personnel determining station policy (such as general manager, program director, etc.);
   B. A list of all contracts required to be filed with the Commission by Sec. 1.362 showing the date of execution.

For the year 1945, an Annual Ownership Report shall be filed with the Commission on Form 323A on or before Sept. 1, 1945, showing the information required by Sec. 1.360 as of June 30, 1945.

The provisions in partners nor in their rights may be made without prior consent of the Commission upon an application for consent to assignment of license.

Topping the Toppers!

Whatever the radio test, you'll find WOAI "topping the tops." For example, WOAI carried nine of the thirteen NBC shows that won radio "Fame-Motion Picture Daily" radio poll, and for eight of these nine shows WOAI's local Hooperatings exceeded national Hooperatings.

Again, WOAI's nighttime audience was 27.1% greater than the average for NBC stations in 1077 cities, as established by NBC's 1944 Nationwide Survey of Listening Habits.

Its consistent record of "topping the tops" is one of the reasons why WOAI sells more merchandise to more people in Central and South Texas than any other station—at a lower cost per sale!

Capehart Would Probe Foreign Radio Patents

FEAR of cartels and the action of the Philips Incandescent Lamp Works Co. in cancelling its license to RCA prompted the resolution be introduced to investigate foreign ownership or control of radio patents [Broadcasting, April 16], Sen. Capehart (R-Ind.) said Wednesday.

While nothing overt actually has been done by Philips, he said, it anticipates its emergence as a new and strong competitor in the U. S. radio field. American manufacturing interests and patents must be protected from cartel," he added. "Philips has prospered on a world market. Now they come over here and seemingly get privileges even our own people cannot secure."

Sen. Capehart said he expects Committee action on the resolution, submitted jointly with Sen. Wheeler, within the next three weeks. He mentioned the possibility that the Interstate Commerce Sub-committee concern of the international merger hearing might also handle this investigation. In addition, foreign manufacturing activities of RCA and TPT will be investigated and probably every radio manufacturer in America will be asked to testify, Sen. Capehart added.

opinion that it will best conduce to the proper discharge of business and to the ends of justice that all interested persons be given an opportunity to file briefs and to appear before the Commission to argue orally why the above proposed rule should not be adopted or why it should not be adopted in the form proposed in this Order.

NOW, THEREFORE, IT IS HEREBY ORDERED, That upon the written request of any interested person, oral argument be held, before the Commission, on May 21, 1945 at 10:30 a.m. as to why the above proposed rule should not be adopted or why it should not be adopted in the form proposed in this Order. Such requests for oral argument shall be filed on or before May 6, 1945, by all persons desiring to appear and each such request shall be accompanied by a brief. Particular attention is invited to proposed Sec. 1.301(c). If any person is of the opinion that this section should specify the exceptions contemplated by the rule, specific suggestion should be made as to the form in which the exception should be expressed. Comment is also invited as to whether any of all of the information required to be filed by proposed Rule 1.301-130 should be open for public inspection.

Coverage of Truman Address Is Marred By Tight Quarters and Crowd Noises

RADIO was on the job as usual last Monday when President Truman made his maiden speech before Congress and to the people of the United States, but the commentaries on the Blue-ABC, Mutual and NBC following the address caused no little headache.

Doors slamming, off-mike shouts, talking and general confusion spread into the commentaries of William Hillman of Mutual, Baukhage of the Blue and Morgan Beatty of NBC. The reason: They were crowded into the small House radio gallery office—just big enough to accommodate Acting Superintendent William Vaughan and an assistant, but jammed to the door with spectators.

Really Crowded

Set up in one end of the small room were Blue and NBC. In the opposite corner, hardly 10 feet away, was Mutual. WWDC Washington and WITH Baltimore, sharing facilities, also operated from the radio gallery office. CBS set up in the House library, adjoining the chamber. WINX Washington operated from the Democratic cloakroom.

Immediately after President Truman left the House chamber and while the networks were playing the National Anthem the various commentators hurried to their microphones. In the radio gallery office Mr. Hillman was first to go on the air. With his back to the spectators he did a commentary, oblivious of the noises about.

In a moment Baukhage went on the Blue. Two feet away was the NBC microphone, at which Mr. Beatty stood. Baukhage signed off at 12:20:30 and at 1:30 on the network. Commentator Beatty began his stint without benefit of levels. Since he has an unusually resonant voice he works away from the mike in the studio. Monday he had to operate at close range and hold down his voice.

A sign on the closed door, "Silence, Broadcasting," had little effect. To the contrary it seemed to serve as an invitation to the spectators who had thronged the galleries to hear the President. Superintendent Vaughan and Leo Costello, an assistant, worked feverishly to help the commentators and engineers. The crowd surged in—eager to glimpse commentators in action and hear their remarks.

The radio men didn't object. They enjoy having company. As Mr. Beatty expressed it: "The visitors maintained decorum." It was the cramped quarters plus general confusion, engineers exchanging cues and lack of levels that created the difficulties.

Work is progressing on expanded quarters on the Senate side. Five booths are being erected to accommodate the four networks and independent stations. The Radio Correspondents Assn. executive committee, of which Richard Harkness of NBC is chairman, has met informally with Speaker Rayburn of the House regarding space conditions and other conferences are tentatively set for the future.

In the meantime, however, when radio broadcasts important events from Congress—and they usually take place in the House chamber—the networks and independent stations must share the cramped radio gallery office quarters.

Seven digits and a couple of commas. That's the size of the increased moneys recently voted by the Mutual directorate, to be invested during the balance of 1945 as a clear green light for well-studied efforts to make this a more serviceable network for listeners, for stations, for advertisers, and for artists.

Since late in 1944, Mutual has been subjected to a more critical appraisal — from within — than any outside observer could conceive. We prepared detailed blueprints for improvement and presented them to the experienced owners of this network.

Today we can report to you their enthusiastic endorsement of our plans, confirmed in black and white to the resounding tune of a seven-digit increase. That adds a lot to any annual budget, but that's what it takes to put our plans to work.

Our blueprints call for marked advances in stations, in engineering, and in sales — with service underscored throughout. But most of these special dollars are earmarked for program improvements. We are determined to discover, create, and develop program fare that will win greater preference, around the entire radio clock, for the Mutual point on the dial. We are determined to build a staff equipped to originate standout entertainment, to foster the work of outside producers, and, by both means, to achieve a store of program material designed for any advertiser's need and budget.

These are truly large orders. None knows their scope better than we who drafted them. But the seven digits are already at work, as black-and-white evidence of our honest intent to fill these orders. We think you'll find Mutual more interesting to watch — and listen to — than ever before.
Security Conference to Give Insight Into Radio's Job Ahead

Promotion of Global Understanding Besides News Reporting Deemed Necessary for Lasting Peace

By JOHN SALT
North American Director, British Broadcasting Corp.

Radio's wartime record is good. It is freely admitted that from the earliest days of the war radio has contributed considerably toward the victory that now seems so near. How will radio meet the challenge for service in the postwar world?

Mr. Salt

At the World Security Conference in San Francisco radio will get its first big opportunity to see clearly the job ahead when the shooting stops. It will be radio's mission to help contribute toward a better understanding of the events at the San Francisco conference without which treaties, no matter how perfect, cannot succeed.

But radio's role at the conference must go far beyond the conventional news gathering, reporting, news analysis and reports by some of the delegates. The lasting peace for which we struggle will depend on a large measure on understanding between the peoples of the world. For example, it is necessary for the people of Great Britain to know the reaction of the people of the United States to the decisions of the conference and why they feel as they do.

Because of the geographic position of Britain, the BBC has been drawn particularly close to the European War. The front lines in the battle for a lasting peace, however, will be at the doorstep of every nation; at the doorstep of every home. The radio organizations of all nations will be able to make their full contribution. The San Francisco conference will be a challenge.

The BBC has organized its resources so that it may begin at once to play as important a role in the fight for a lasting peace as it has since 1939 in the fight for victory.

Global understanding will guide the work of the special team being sent to San Francisco. We will have six men in San Francisco to handle the flow of news, special features, talks by delegates for transmission to London and from there for use on the home, European, Latin-American and other BBC services.

Anthony Wigan and Alistair Cooke will be in charge of all news dispatches from our News Division. W. M. Newton, who heads BBC's Chicago offices, will handle all talks by British delegates as well as foreign language broadcasts for the European Service. From Mexico City, Thomas P. Gale, will come to take charge of news and talks for the BBC's Latin-American Service.

American Reaction

BBC's weekly American Commentary will originate alternately from San Francisco and Chicago to give British listeners a cross-section of American reactions.

We are planning to make available to United States broadcasters a special program which will bring to American listeners a round-up of opinions and reactions to events at San Francisco from many countries in Europe.

Listeners to the Mutual Network are already hearing a special series of reports by BBC's A. J. Cunnings, in which he presents the hopes and views in England and Europe. The series, which began March 26th, will continue until the opening of the conference.

The contact with European opinion we hope will help to create a closer alliance between the people of the old and new world; through which will come a deeper understanding of the problems of peace.

This old type of vehicle outside an entirely up-to-date hotel shows the contrasts of Quebec Province. The radio program through which you expect to reach its 3½ million people must be equally adapted to this very individual province. We specialize in planning and producing programs for Quebec as well as elsewhere in Canada—in either English or French. Let us prove to you that it pays to plan for Quebec.

Kempton to Head Radio Relations

McGrath Helping McDermott Handle Correspondents

WILLET KEMPTON, chief of the OWI Domestic Radio Bureau station relations division, has been loaned to the State Dept. as radio relations officer for the United Nations Security Conference in San Francisco, opening Wednesday. Mr. Kempton arrived in San Francisco Thursday to make preliminary arrangements for coverage of the Conference.

He will work as a special assistant to Michael J. McDermott, press chief of the State Dept., who heads the entire United Nations information staff as Chief Press Relations Officer. Mr. Kempton's duties will be to facilitate accredited radio correspondents in contacting the various delegations.

McGrath on Hand

D. Harold McGrath, superintendent of the Senate Radio Gallery, who has been handling the accreditation of radio men from the first, also is in San Francisco as Mr. McDermott's assistant in charge of radio correspondents. As their first step, correspondents were to contact Mr. McGrath at the start of this week for their accreditation cards. Several other assistants including Harold Beckley and William Donaldson, superintendents of the Senate and House Press Galleries, have been named to the Conference press staff.

Each delegation at the Conference will have its own press and radio officers in addition to the general staff for the whole body. Comdr. Lloyd Dennis, on loan from the Navy, will be radio officer of the American delegates.

Radio and press relations headquarters have been established on the first floor of the Veterans' Memorial building. Information officers of the Conference, together with most radio men covering the event, will stay at the Palace Hotel. Overall cost of installing studios was $10,891, with the four American networks paying $1,295 each, the British Broadcasting Corp., Canadian Broadcasting Corp. and Australian Broadcasting Corp. lumped into a smaller amount and the independents sharing the remainder.

About 200 radio men and women are in San Francisco to cover the Conference. Among independents carrying direct pickups will be KSFO San Francisco, linked with KPAS Los Angeles, for a daily summary. KYO San Francisco will feed to KFWF Hollywood, featuring John B. Hughes, Sam Balter and Mrs. W. Averill Harriman, wife of the ambassador to Russia. KMTR, KMPC and KFI also plan spot broadcasts.

The official opening will be aired by all networks at 2:00 p.m. (PWT) Wednesday. Plenary sessions will be open to broadcast during the Conference.

Francis C. McCall, NBC manager of network operations and news and special events, has been assigned by William F. Brooks, director of news and special events, to supervise NBC coverage of the Conference. With Stanley Richard--

The George Foster Peabody jury put on its woolsock the other day and looked over the radio performance of 1944 throughout America.

And then it reached into the CBS galaxy of rare and varied and wonderful entertainment and laid hold on a star who was temporarily trying to hide from sight. He gave the jury a slight scuffle, but was hauled, skeptical and grumbling, into the light.

Dusted off, he turned out to be a comedian. F. Allen, of Allen's Alley. Allen of the Texaco Star Theatre on CBS. The same Allen who took a holiday last summer to go make a motion picture, and who isn't quite so sure it was a holiday. The same Allen for whom the CBS latchstring dangles—for whom millions of loyal CBS fans are keeping that candle twinkling in the network's window.

As he blinked in the glare of the jury, its composite voice, through a loud speaker said:

"Mr. Allen, willy or nilly, you now get the George Foster Peabody Radio Award for 1944. It's the highest one we can confer. You get a medal with it. You get it for Outstanding Entertainment in Drama. You get it for comedy. You get it for comedy unexcelled over a period of twelve years."

"Thank you" said Mr. Allen. "Let's leave Willy and Nilly out of this. I'll cherish the medal myself."

Durable excellence isn't an accident on CBS. It's no accident that more Peabody awards and citations for 1944 went to CBS programs and stations than to any other network; no accident that CBS radio has won a total of 20 out of 52 awards and citations since the Peabody Awards were first established. Excellence is the CBS target always.

But no winner on any network ever deserved it more. In plain words, this couldn't happen to a nicer guy than Allen. We congratulate him, and the jury of the George Foster Peabody 1944 Radio Awards on its perception and daring.
Striking leadership is no accident!

1 A few weeks ago two CBS affiliate-stations, WTAG (Worcester) and WJR (Detroit), won both major duPont Awards for outstanding service to their communities in 1944.

2 Variety's “Showmanagement” survey, made by the editors, gave 4 major awards out of 7 to stations of the Columbia Network; recognized for either award or special “high-light” comment 19 stations on CBS.

3 Now the George Foster Peabody jury, reviewing 1944 accomplishment, honors

   WTAG, Worcester, for "Outstanding Public Service by a Regional Station of More Than 1,000 Watts" (A CBS affiliate)

   WIBX, Utica, for "Outstanding Public Service by a Local Station of 1,000 Watts or Less" (A CBS affiliate)

   KMOX, St. Louis, a special citation for regional excellence in public service (A CBS station)

   KOIN, Portland, a special citation for regional excellence in public service (A CBS affiliate)

   WFBL, Syracuse, a special citation for regional excellence in public service (A CBS affiliate)

   WCAU, Philadelphia · WBT, Charlotte · WGAR, Cleveland · WJR, Detroit · WBBM, Chicago

   KLZ, Denver · KQW, San Francisco

   Thus, in the span of a few recent weeks, the public spirit and technical performance which characterize the typical station on this single network have been forcefully demonstrated not once but three times by representative and impartial juries. With more than 20 of our stations blushing in the pleasant limelight, we need point out simply that this overwhelming evidence of station strength of character is not an accident. It is the direct and well-earned recognition of a philosophy shared by every CBS station between the oceans, and out in Hawaii and down in Puerto Rico: “He best serves himself who best serves his own people.”

Nobel Prize Group

AMERICAN NOBEL CENTER, New York, is forming a "One World" Prize Committee to select the three 1946 winners in radio, press and films, for the greatest contribution to international peace and understanding.

Prizes will be conferred next February. Among those in the radio industry who have already agreed to serve are James R. Angell, NBC public service counsellor; C. B. Joliffe, RCA Victor Division; and, from Mutual, Edgar Kobak, president; Robert D. Swezey, vice-president and general manager; Tom Slater, director; and Paul Jonas, assistant director of special features and sports.
EVER since 1701 when Yale was founded to fit young men for "Publick Employment in Church & Civil State," the life of the University has always run close to contemporary problems. Today it touches modern life at many points.

In this traditional spirit of public service the cooperative program between WTIC and the University was initiated. "Yale Interprets the News" is designed to provide a better understanding of world events by drawing upon the full intellectual resources of the University.

Sounds like something that would appeal only to the intellectual few? Quite the contrary. Now in its fourth year, "Yale Interprets the News" is listened to regularly by more residents of Southern New England than any other program at the same hour.

WTIC is proud to be associated with one of the great educational institutions of our country in order to bring to the people of Southern New England this important series of public service programs.
Press News Elects
SEN. W. A. BUCHANAN, Lethbridge Herald, has been elected president of Canadian Press and its subsidiary, Press News Ltd., with Roy Thompson, CKGB Timmins, CJKL Kirkland Lake, and CPCH North Bay, as vice-president of PN. AGREEMENT has been signed by Arch McDonald (i) veteran WTOP Washington broadcaster, and Clark Griffin, president of Washington Senators, to report 1945 home games of the Senators for F. L. Orilland Co. on WOL (day games) and WWDC (night games).

ALLAN JACKSON, CBS newscaster, has taken over the WCBW news and analysis telecast formerly handled by EVERETT HOLLES, now news chief of WBBM Chicago.

R. S. BRYDEN has been appointed news editor at the central news bureau of the CBC, Toronto. He was formerly senior English editor of CBC Montreal. LAURENCE DUFFY, formerly of CBC and CBL, replaces him at CBL.

DON FAIRBAIRN, former CBC farm commentator at Toronto, has been reported in a hospital in Holland after being wounded during RCAF operations over Holland.

ERIC SEVAREID, CBS correspondent just returned from a year in Europe, presented a pessimistic view of the European situation in an informal talk at a press luncheon given in his honor April 17 by CBS. He has been assigned to the staff that will cover the San Francisco Conference for CBS.

HENRY CASSHER, part-time news and picture editor of television of WCCB New York, has been placed on a full-time basis. He continues as assistant director of the CBS listening station.

Radio President II

IN HIS FIRST full week in office President Truman demonstrated to Washington's two most critical bodies—Congress and the radio and press corps—that the country is in good hands. And in the eyes (more aptly the ears) of the common man, he proved himself a worthy successor to his fallen chief.

For radio there were momentous developments. In successive days the new President turned to the microphone to tell a waiting world in clear, unvarnished, sincere terms of his determination to carry out the war and peace policies of his illustrious predecessor. This was a radio debut.

President Truman paid radio magnificent tribute in selecting J. Leonard Reinsch as his news secretary (radio, press, newreels and movies). Still in his 36th year, Leonard Reinsch is a veteran of 21 years in radio who came up through the ranks.

That appointment establishes a new and laudable precedent. It is in cadence with the radio's role for radio journalism via the electronic printing press. Radio is recognized on equal footing with the printed media.

Mr. Reinsch, like his chief, has demonstrated his capacity to perform any assigned task. Because of innate fairness he will give all media equal treatment, just as his esteemed predecessor Steve Early, steeped in the tradition of the press, always has given radio an equal break. Leonard Reinsch is a broadcaster's broadcaster. Newspapering, however, is no novelty to him because for 11 years he has been identified with the newspaper-owned stations of the Gov. Cox organization.

For radio as a whole the Washington outlook couldn't be better. If anything, the hand of Chairman Paul A. Porter of the FCC is strengthened. He has known Mr. Truman well since the Presidential campaign last year. He brought Mr. Reinsch into the political firmament by naming him his radio director on the Democratic Committee, when he served as national publicity director. The liaison between the FCC and the White House — of the highest order during the few weeks Messrs. Early and Porter were on the same man at the same time — certainly isn't weakened.

President Truman is no radio neophyte either. He sat on the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee during the White-Wheeler hearings in the winter of 1943. That's where he first met Leonard Reinsch in what was the beginning of a fast friendship. But President Truman already has made it clear that he expects his departments and agencies to function in pursuit of their Constitutional and Congressional mandates.

Just as President Roosevelt was his own Secretary of State, he in some measure conceived and moulded national radio policy. His devotion to radio often was reflected in zealous efforts to protect it. That newspaper divestiture crusade was a bold example. Perhaps certain aspects of the network-monopoly regulations germinated at the White House.

Under President Truman, whose leanings are right rather than left of center, the FCC, along with other independent agencies, will have its head to a greater degree than ever.

Adjudging the swiftly moving events of the last 10 days, we believe they bode safer and saner days for radio.

William Barlow Quarton

WILLIAM BARLOW QUARTON is no ordinary time-peddler. Since 1931 when he emerged from a kaleidoscopic background to enter the radio field his enthusiasm and hatred for procrastination have given WMT, Columbia's eastern Iowa station with studios in Waterloo and Cedar Rapids, a top national sales record.

Born in Algonia, Iowa, in 1903, Bill left his home state at 19 after three semesters at the U. of Iowa. A good civil service rating got him a job in Washington, D. C., where he enrolled in night classes at George Washington U. There, he displayed energy, enthusiasm and leadership. He managed a full-time job, attended classes, served his chapter of Sigma Chi fraternity as counsel, and acted as president of the inter-fraternity council. Each summer vacation he set out to see the world. Once he sailed to Europe on the Leviathan as an ordinary seaman.

His activities won the admiration and also the concern of Senator L. J. Dickinson, a family friend from Bill's home town. "Put all that energy and ambition into one pursuit, and nothing can stop you," the older man prophesied, as he continually urged Bill to "settle down."

But Bill hadn't found his niche. After a year in law school, he tried salesmanship, a job in a bank, another with Procter & Gamble and an on-the-side whirl with the stock market. Bill points ruefully to his prematurely silver top when he talks about his 1929 job with a California stock broker. In 1931 he was in New York, watching a web of radio antennas blanket Manhattan's rooftops.

Back in Iowa Bill's older brother, Sumner, had caught the radio bug and assumed management of the Register and Tribune 100-watt KWCR in Cedar Rapids. Bill began culling New York broadcasting manufacies for Sumner. After several months of this self-appoint ed Samaritanism, Bill received a cryptic message from his brother, "If you're so good, come on."

When Bill, hit Cedar Rapids a few weeks later his brain children found no immediate acceptance. Conservative merchants, prejudiced by the part-time station's conglomeration of static, strained tenors and the ideas of a former, snake-collecting promoter-owner, were no pushovers. The local newspaper, fighting its rival Des Moines paper, refused to print schedules, publicity or even the call letters.

But Bill, graduated from salesman to con mercial manager, kept plowing in one groove and winning. In 1934, the Cowles brothers pur-
VETERANS' BULLETIN BOARD
...IS KOIN's NEWEST PUBLIC SERVICE PROGRAM

Purpose of this series is to replace "question marks" that greet returning servicemen and women head on, with official answers to guide them to their rightful place in civilian life. To "voice" this series, KOIN recruited one of its most successful broadcasters, Newsman JIM WYATT—himself a veteran of World War I. Jim delivers "Veterans' Bulletin Board" nightly at 10:15, right after signing off Five-Star Final to the largest established news audience in Northwest radio.

It takes teamwork to win a war and build a future

No mere shot in the dark, VETERANS' BULLETIN BOARD is one of the most carefully planned programs this station ever brought out of the blueprint stage. In KOIN'S home county, there are 36 federal, state, county, city and community agencies set up to aid returning servicemen and women. However, there existed no centralized information outlet to acquaint the public with their respective services. KOIN saw here a community problem. VETERANS' BULLETIN BOARD was the result. Scripted and "leg-worked" by News Editors Les Halpin and Dale Denny, this series funnels official information to veterans already returned, and the family members preparing for that glad day when their "Johnny comes marching home again".

Results...!

"In addition (to veterans) I wish to acknowledge already evident results to all civilian disabled and handicapped individuals who have heard the broadcasts and have realized they are eligible for our Service... It is very evident there is great future value being built up through these broadcasts as well as the obvious immediate results."

chased Waterloo’s WMT from Harry Shaw (one of the founders of Broadcasting Magazine) and began broadcasting from both Iowa cities over one transmitter located between Cedar Rapids and Waterloo. The station gained power, prestige, listeners and sponsors.

Bill’s most successful campaign came in 1934. Attractive Elnora Bierkamp owned and managed The Little Flower Shop on a prominent Cedar Rapids corner. Aware of her personal charm and undaunted by the store’s puny advertising budget, resourceful Bill concocted an idea. He sold Art Shepherd, second announcer in the United States to hit the street with an inquiring microphone, to an off-the-beaten track company. Then he posted Art in front of Elnora’s shop, supposedly because of its central location. Every noon thousands of listeners tuned in for the “Man on the Street, coming to you from in front of The Little Flower Shop through the courtesy of . . .” and they began buying Elnora’s floral arrangements as well as the sponsor’s product. Bill was proving that he could use listeners, sponsors, and Elnora—Mrs. Quarton since 1935.

Bill helps put over civic campaigns with the same enthusiasm he gave to his job as two-term chairman of the NAB Code Committee, War bond campaigns, Community Chest drives, the Chamber of Commerce (1944 president), the Pickwick Club (1943 president) all can depend on him.

Ambitious Bill Quarton has had no difficulty in “settling down” in Iowa. He lives quietly with his wife and four-year-old Diana in an attractive home on Crescent St. In 1943 he became manager of WMT, now owned by the American Broadcasting Stations Inc. By concentrating on one objective—radio—he has hit the stride prophesied by Senator Dickinson.

Radio, Cable Rate Cut

FCC has authorized a 20-cent word basic rate on full-rate messages to Europe, Central America, West Indies, South America and the Philippines by RCA Communications Inc. and to Europe only by the Commercial Cable Co. and Mackay Radio and Telegraph Co. The new rates will go into effect May 1. Present rates to Europe range from 23 to 36 cents a word and to Central, South America and West Indies points are as high as 45 cents a word. Corresponding reductions in code, deferred and night letter messages will go into effect.
AMARILLO, TEXAS—the "beef bowl" of America! This thriving market in the great Panhandle will chalk up over 41 million dollars this year in cattle sales alone. This isn't small stuff, is it?

It's the circulation of substantial earnings that makes KGNC listeners above-the-average prospects for your products. And it's KGNC's mass audience that reduces your sales costs in this market.

THUMBNAIL FACTS

KGNC's primary has 440,600 people. The per capita income is $900, or $3,420 per family. The total effective buying income is $354,597,850.00 (based on 1943 income). Wheat, oil, cattle, cotton, potatoes, onions, and war industries are principal sources of income in KGNC's area.
KUTA Buys Site

KUTA Salt Lake City, operated by Utah Broadcasting & Television Co., has purchased 50,000 square feet on Salt Lake City's South Temple Blvd. where the station plans to build a two-story structure. The building will contain four studios, auditorium, offices and FM and television facilities. Investment is expected to be about $300,000.

A. E. (Tony) Schepfer, managing director of the Retail Grocers Food Show at the Cincinnati Zoo for 28 years, has been named administrative assistant to James L. Blumen, vice-president of the Croxley Corp. in charge of broadcasting, and Robert E. Dunville, general manager of WILC Cincinnati.

BILL Ware, general manager of KWFC Hot Springs, Ark., for three years, and prior to that commercial manager of KTBS Hot Springs, May 1 joins North Central Broadcasting Co., Chicago, as account executive.

REX PREIS, account executive of KTSA San Antonio, is now assistant manager of the station.

CBS Net Down

CBS and its subsidiary companies had a gross income of $14,791,784 for the first quarter of 1945, an increase of 1.5% from the gross of $14,577,656 for the same period of 1944. Net income for the first quarter, according to a consolidated income statement issued April 18 by Frank K. White, vice-president and treasurer, was $1,126,545, a decrease of 3.3% from the net of $1,165,347 earned in the same time last year. Earnings per share for the quarter were 66 cents this year, compared to 68 cents last year.

N. Fletcher Turner Jr., member of the WABC New York sales staff, is the father of a boy.

Sgt. Robert Wood, former account executive in the Chicago office of WOR New York, now in the Army, has returned from Europe and is now at U. S. General Hospital in Camp Butler, N. C., for treatment of leg wounds. He has received the Infantry Combat Medal and the Purple Heart.

W. Russell Dawson, formerly of Seabrook & Co. is now controller of WCAC Philadelphia.

CHMI, Hamilton, Ont., has appointed Adam J. Young Jr. as United States representative, effective May 1. Station operates with 1,000 w on 960 kc.

HAROLD WINTER, former media director of Raymond Spector Co., has joined the New York office of Spot Sales as an executive capacity. Mr. Winter was previously a salesman for the Katz Agency.

COL. HILL IS GIVEN ARMY PRESS POST

COL. LUTHER L. HILL last Monday assumed the post of deputy chief of War Dept. Bureau of Public Relations under Maj. Gen. Alexander D. Surles. On leave as executive vice-president of the Iowa Broadcasting Co. (now Cowles Broadcasting Co.), Col. Hill for two years has been commanding officer of Redistribution Center No. 2 in Miami.

He replaces Col. Frank A. Rardin as BPR deputy chief. [Broadcasting, Closed Circuit, Apr. 9]

In 1918 Col. Hill was graduated from West Point after World War I was with the Army of Occupation in Europe. He went on inactive status as captain in 1923, and in 1936 became vice-president and general manager of the Iowa Broadcasting Co. He returned to active duty with the Army as a major three years ago this month.

Here at the Blue Network we've made some interesting progress recently in one specific phase of this radio business. We seem to have been able to influence more and more people to hear the shows our advertisers are putting on.

It started a few months back. We had some new ideas we wanted to try. From the experience many of us had in selling products, we thought it might be well to approach the selling of entertainment the same way. So we believe we've added some new thinking to sound promotion effort.

In place of routine promotions, we set out on Planned Promotions. We coordinated the efforts of our 196 stations the way a manufacturer coordinates dealer effort.

It was obvious that the impact of 196 stations, working with agencies and advertisers, would deliver many more listeners to the Blue.

The Sunday Night Promotion

First—we charted a Sunday-night-on-the-Blue promotion. It was only an experiment. Nobody knew how it would come out.

The individual stations took the plan, enhanced it with their own ideas and their own enthusiasm, and here's what happened:

6,800,000 more family impressions were attracted to the Blue on Sunday night... this in spite of well-organized previous promotions by the two other major networks.

The Morning Promotion

Well, it worked once. So it was tried again. Next came the Morning Promotion. Headquarters formulated the Plan. 196 stations put it into effect. The results?

In the first two weeks we added 13,976,320 impressions per week to our morning audience! And of course this increase came to us from the other networks.

The advance Hooper reveals that for March the Blue was the only network to lift its Share-of-audience while the other three networks dipped. And, as you know, the Blue's average rating of all morning programs is the highest of the four networks.

This is just a beginning

With progress like this, naturally we're planning other promotions. We're confident we're going to get the same kind of results with them, too. It's given us a promotional philosophy that can be summed up in two sentences—FIRST, YOU HAVE TO HAVE GOOD SHOWS TO OFFER THE PUBLIC (and ours are getting better all the time). SECOND, YOU HAVE TO LET PEOPLE KNOW ABOUT THESE SHOWS (and it looks like we've hit on a good way of doing this).

All this adds up to a pretty important thing to radio advertisers: Now's a good time to get your franchise on the Blue!

WDSU is proud that it has been selected exclusively for the first regular sponsored daily broadcasts by the New Orleans States direct from the home of the Times Picayune Publishing Co.

Each afternoon at 2:15 PM the listeners of South Louisiana and the Gulf Coast will now hear "Stand by for the States" presenting latest news, interviews, and features by the staff of this pioneer newspaper of the South.

This will mean greater service to our audience which has just designated WDSU first* in average daytime listening in New Orleans; and follows its recent special citation by the DuPont Radio Award Committee for public service.

GARRIGUES LIKES 1,050-LINE VIDEO

The French 1,050-line television images are better than 1,200-line pictures demonstrated by RCA, Pierre Garrigues, chief of the bureau of special programs for the French government television station, told Broadcasting last week.

Both were laboratory demonstrations, he said, and the RCA subject was a film while the French subject was a live girl, he said, so perhaps the comparison was not completely fair, but he stated that the French picture was "more perfect, clear and continuous".

Interviewed a month after his arrival in this country to study American radio and video techniques and programming, Mr. Garrigues said that in quality of pictures actually telecast in both countries, the American 325-line image is superior to the 450-line picture broadcast in France.

Mr. Garrigues said that he saw little difference between the 525-line and the 1,200-line images demonstrated by RCA. He said that the eye is "quite satisfied" with 600, 700, 800 or 900 lines.

Existence of a "10-year plan to equip all France with television" was revealed by Mr. Garrigues, who said that it was a government plan, well down on paper, calling for establishment of transmitters in Toulouse, Remis, and several other points.

Kesten Seeks to Clear Up the Record
On Testimony Given at WOKO Hearing

EDITOR BROADCASTING:

Some time ago you carried a story about the WOKO case in which you quoted statements, made by the attorney for the station, which involved the name of Mr. Paley, as president of CBS.

These statements very completely and very unfortunately misrepresented Mr. Paley, both as to the facts and as to the record before the Commission. In effect, the attorney alleged, as your story stated, that Mr. Pickard had concealed his stock ownership in WOKO at the request of Mr. Paley—all this years ago when Mr. Pickard was in Mr. Paley’s employ. In fact, Mr.

Paley never made such a request, and neither Mr. Pickard nor any other of the interested parties ever testified to this effect.

Since this completely false allegation was made to the Commission during Mr. Paley’s absence in the armed forces, Ralph F. Colin, Mr. Paley’s attorney, has fully informed the Commission of the inaccuracy of this accusation in order to correct the record at the Commission. In the same spirit, I am addressing this note to you in the hope that you will publish, in whatever way you see fit, the facts of our denial, for the benefit of readers who saw the earlier story.

PAUL W. KESTEN,
Executive Vice-President, CBS, New York.

SENATE RESOLUTION ASKS PATENT PROBE

REVIVING Senatorial interest in foreign held radio patents, a resolution has been introduced to authorize the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee to make a full investigation of the relationship of foreign interests to radio and other communication in the United States with particular reference to patents owned or controlled by foreign interests and to agreements made by such parties.

The resolution, introduced jointly by Sen. Wheeler (D-Mont.), chairman of the committee, and Sen. Capehart (R-Ind.), first term senator who has had experience in radio manufacturing as head of the radio receiver and phonograph company bearing his name, is coincident with the termination of Phillips Incandescent Lamp Work Co., licenses issued by RCA under U. S. patents.

A report on the investigation would be made to the Senate together with recommendations. The resolution also asks power to subpoena whatever witnesses or evidence it may require.

KDYL typifies NBC leadership!

1. KDYL...a powerful link in the Western Division chain!

A look at the above map will show how KDYL covers the most profitable area within the State of Utah, where most people dwell — and where most money is spent.

And below...KDYL’s modern transmitter...5000 watts of power and up to the minute, unequalled radio facilities for radio broadcasting at its best!

2. And the kind of programs that earn citations from War Dept.!

“Salute to the Civilian Soldier”—a dramatized, on-the-ground program conducted in the busy, bustling war plants in and around Salt Lake City. It was one of five Radio features across the nation that won this citation from the War Department: — “The award is made for contribution to higher morale and increased production on the home front.”

3. KDYL is ready with its post war plans ... and television!

As far back as 1939 KDYL was planning for television. Pictured above on the television stage— is the prize bull televised at the last Utah State Fair. NBC joins the people of Utah in the fact that it is both happy and proud to have an affiliate of the character of KDYL — a station that its citizens will hear, and eventually “see” more of as time goes on.

A SERVICE OF THE RADIO CORPORATION OF AMERICA
Coverage Wins High Praise

serve the highest commendations". The New York Times, in a news story reviewing radio’s performance, stated: "The greatest coverage radio ever gave to a news story ends this morning (Monday, April 16) for the broadcasting stations and networks."

Rep. Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex.) also spoke before the House in praise of radio.

CBS Cancels

The networks organized their entire program structures through the weekend to accommodate numerous special productions. Commercial were dispensed with entirely. Programs that had been in the works for weeks were discarded and new ones built to meet the solemnity of the occasion.

On CBS, special prayer services, sacred and serious music, messages of condolences from the nation’s leaders and allied diplomats and details of President Truman’s swearing in at the White House were included in programs Friday. The first four hastily written broadcasts of the President’s passing were presented by John Daly, Ned Calmer, Maj. George Fielding Eliot and Bob Trout.

CBS correspondents throughout the world supplemented these with comments of their own. Relayed were condolences by Prime Minister Churchill, King George of England, General Charles de Gaulle, Premier Stalin. Dramatic and recitative tributes were performed by well known radio, stage and screen stars and a special prose tribute was composed by Norman Corwin.

On different programs appeared Playwright Robert E. Sherwood, special assistant to the late President, Helen Hayes, Raymond Massey and others.

Clerics of all faiths were heard. Ceremonies at Hyde Park were broadcast by Tris Coffin, who previously had spoken from the White House grounds during rites there. Others participating for CBS during the period of mourning were Bill Henry, Gunnar Back, Bob Evans, Cliff Allan and Arthur Godfrey.

A special Sunday evening program, Closed Ranks, brought tributes from the late President’s neighbors in Hyde Park and comments by leading public figures throughout the nation. Frederic March was narrator.

NBC, featuring comments by Carleton Smith, general manager of WRC Washington and dean of presidential announcers, devoted 3½ days to the story of the President’s death and events leading up to his interment. All commercial broadcasts were suspended when word of the President’s death reached NBC’s studios in New York. They remained suspended until Friday, April 13 at 6 p.m. when only sponsor identifications were permitted for those programs which could be presented in keeping with the occasion. In a special broadcast Monday morning April 18 Clarence L. Menser, NBC vice-president in charge of programs, reviewed the network’s coverage of the mourning period, and committed NBC to support of President Truman. The first bulletin broadcast announcing the chief executive’s death was given by Thomas O’Brien, one of the network’s youngest announcers, who was on duty in the NBC newsroom at the time. Participating thereafter in a series of broadcasts were H. V. Kaltenborn, Robert St. John, Richard Harkness, Don Goddard, Morgan Beattie, Don Hollenbeck and correspondents in war theaters.

Smith Covers

Mr. Smith, with Ray Henle of the Blue-ABC network, was chosen to attend funeral services at the White House and subsequently reported for the Blue-ABC network.

As was required in many program categories, the Saturday night NBC program, Curtain Time on Broadway, was altered feverishly just before broadcast to become one of the network’s most compelling dramatic programs in the commemorative series honoring the late President. Script for the show was completed minutes before air time. Top performers in all branches of the theater were heard from all sections of the nation. Dr. Frank Black, network musical director and his assistants, prepared special music throughout the time of mourning. Among guests heard were Tallulah Bankhead, Walter Hampden, Canada Lee, Franchot Tone, Maj. Meredith Wilson, John Charles Thomas and practically all of the regular complement of NBC stars. Niles Trammell, president, appeared Friday.

SENIOR TIME BUYER:
When selecting a New York station, always line it up with the product to be advertised.

JUNIOR TIME BUYER:
Do you mean that different stations appeal to different groups of listeners?

SENIOR:
That's it. For instance, some stations can deliver a non-duplicated market of adults with a taste for better products.

JUNIOR:
Is there such a station in the New York City trading area?

SENIOR:
Yes, it so happens that WLIB is just such a station, and they have all the figures to prove it. And besides, they can show that housewives are 75% of their total audience.

JUNIOR:
And can we get full coverage on a low cost per listener basis from WLIB as well?

SENIOR:
Yes, you'll find that WLIB's coverage map and Hooperatings prove that.

JUNIOR:
I'm glad of that, because I listen to WLIB and I love their music.

SENIOR:
I always catch WLIB's "Luncheon Musicales" show from 12:00 to 12:55 p.m. Sunday myself.

V-E Day From BBC
BBC HAS OFFERED to American networks and independent stations a schedule of V-E Day programs including man-in-the-street interviews from all parts of Britain, a thanksgiving service for the American forces at Hyde Park, a service from St. Margaret's Church at Westminster, broadcasts by political and military leaders, Scottish celebrations, a feature program paying tribute to the British Commonwealth, a Shakespeare victory program with top theatrical and movie talent, Stephan Fry, program manager of BBC in North America, cautioned in releasing the schedule that "because conditions under which V-E Day will be announced are necessarily unpredictable, all plans are subject to last minute change."

ried from Washington, with Raymond Swing, Earl Godwin, Backhage, Albert Leitch, Martin Agronsky, David Mills, Mr. Henle and Jack Shumaker participating. Other Blue-ABC executives speaking on the network in commemorative statements were Chester J. LaRoche, vice-chairman of Blue-ABC, and Mark Woods, president. Dave Driscoll, news chief of WOR New York, Mutual key station, first broadcast at 5:49:30 the flash announcing the death of the President. MBS, on orders of Edgar Kobak, president, immediately eliminated all light musicals, dance bands and presentation of any commercials, permitting only sponsor identification.

At 7:15 p.m., April 12, Walter Compton, news chief of WOL Washington, attempted to broadcast a tribute to the late President from the White House but was cut off by order of guards. He returned one minute later with apology and continued the tribute.

Friday morning at 11:15 MBS picked up from Kansas City the story of President Truman as reflected in statements made by friends and neighbors, including an interview with a cousin, a major general in the U.S. Army. Arthur Primm and Larry Meier, recently returned foreign correspondents (Pacific), were heard in a special tribute broadcast at 12:10 p.m. Friday from San Francisco. An exclusive statement by Mme. Chiang Kai-shek was broadcast over this network at 1:30 p.m. Friday.

Active in arranging the coverage, along with executive heads of MBS were Tom Slater, John Whitmore, Adolph Opfinger, Henry Viscardi, Robert Nobak and Floyd Mack, operating under the direction of Phillips Carlin, vice-president in charge of programs. Mutual's broadcast from Hyde Park, at 10:58:12 a.m. Sunday, April 15, was the first network program broadcast from that location. Other network broadcasts from Hyde Park were scheduled as follows: Blue-ABC 11:05 a.m., NBC, 11:10 a.m., CBS, 11:12 a.m.

The networks, without exception, cancelled commercials completely between 5:49 p.m. Thursday, April 12 and 12 p.m. Sunday, April 15. Complete reports of programming by stations were not available but among noteworthy examples were these:

However, a mere presentation of audience leadership is not the purpose of this message, for a Hooper survey is but one measurement of a station's true worth or effectiveness. WFBL does not believe in programming for audience ratings, but offers a balanced broadcasting of sustaining educational, religious and news features in line with the station's long-established policy of truly serving the community and rendering a public service. This, combined with WFBL's greater listening audience, makes it the Number One station in Syracuse, N. Y.

SuperSuds, SuperSuds, lots more suds...

To any modern youngster or her Mommy, the Super Suds jingle is as familiar as the works of Mother Goose. In two years, this merry snatch of song has proved itself a commercial with "super-do"—lifting its way into the musical memory of America, and, incidentally, selling a whacking big heap of suds.

Super Suds "spots" are cut on PRESTO discs.

Most important transcriptions are. For recording engineers know that PRESTO discs give finer results with less margin for error—actually perform better than most of the recording equipment on which they are used. That's why you'll find, in most large broadcasting stations, recording studios and research laboratories, the standard recording disc is a PRESTO.

in the interim report unless that corporation directly or indirectly owns 25% or more of the voting stock of the licensee. Any change in officers, directors or stockholders of a corporation other than the licensee, which results in a change in control of the licensee, must obtain the Commission's consent under Sec. 310(b) of the Communications Act, the Order points out.

Where information is required with respect to a corporation having more than 50 stockholders, the licensee may request a modification of the requirements "so far as applicable to the particular case". The Commission defines its various terms as follows:

"Stock" shall include any interest, legal or beneficial in, or right or privilege in connection with stock; "officer" or "director" shall include the comparable officials in unincorporated associations; "contract" shall include any agreement (including, without limitation, an option, trust or pledge) or any modification thereof, express or implied, oral or written. The substance of oral contracts, arrangements, and understandings shall be reduced to writing.

In its order the Commission directs "particular attention" to proposed Sec. 3.103(c) covering exceptions to the ownership reports of corporations of more than 50 stockholders, "if any person is of the opinion that this section should specify the exceptions contemplated by the rule, specific suggestion should be made as to the form in which the exception should be expressed," said the order.

The Commission also invited comment as to whether "any or all of the information required to be filed by the proposed Rules 1.301-1.304 should be open for public inspection."

Newsmen Awarded

CECIL BROWN and Frank Singiser, MBS commentators, are to receive awards from the United Businessmen's Assn. of Philadelphia, at a dinner April 26. Mayor Bernard Samuel will present an award to Mr. Brown "for being the outstanding commentator on the air", and to Mr. Singiser "for excellent presentation of news" and outstanding preparation of broadcast material.

DAVID H. HARRIS, program director, WTAG Worcester, Milti Kornets, Virginia Cassello, Loretta Charon were guests of honor at a luncheon given April 11 in New York by the United Nations Information Board in appreciation of their "constructive and far-reaching services during the "Worces ter and the World" series" for which the previous evening WTAG had received its third Peabody Award.

May Cost $125,000

Cost of the survey has been estimated at from $125,000-$150,000. The FCC invited networks and stations to share the expense, although no decision was reached. Mr. Smythe told the committee, however, that the FCC will conduct the listener survey in any event but that the Commission hopes to make it more useful through industry participation "from start to finish."

The survey committee will meet again in a fortnight to adopt formally a list of questions. It appeared likely that the Bureau of the Census would conduct the survey, inasmuch as that agency is set up for such operations. Attending Wednesday's meeting, in addition to Messrs. Hyde and Smythe, were:

Garth H. Owen, assistant chief, Broadcast Division, FCC engineering Dept; J. B. Sheridan, FCC economist; Edward F. Evans, Blue-ABC; Hugh Petta, BMB; Grant A. Whitmore, KUTA Salt Lake City, representing independent stations; C. Mauricio Welling, National Council; of Farmer Cooperatives; Mr. Caldwell, J. O. Leonard Reinsch back. When we gave our content, we never had sufficient confidence of the tremendous tasks ahead of radio in connection with television, frequency modulation, and what not. On specialized occasions, for your personal use, similar services could be available of without embarrassment to us. It might not seem a patriotic impulse which prompts this message, and yet, I am sure on reflection you will see it is justified.

Mr. Reinsch told Broadcasting afterward that he would be pleased to serve the President in any capacity desired and that he would handle all radio affairs on a call basis. Thus, he will carry on in virtually the same capacity in which he has performed since Mr. Truman's nomination last summer as Vice-President.

But among radio folk on the Washington scene the move was regarded as a moral victory for Washington's spad-and-cane press corps—the uppercrust boys. Rank and file newspapermen covering the White House appeared enthusiastic about the original Reinsch appointment and didn't see eye to eye with their superiors.

Radio newsmen, jubilant when the President first announced Mr. Reinsch's appointment, were indignant over the turn of events. The Radio Correspondents Assn. was prepared to take up the issue and there was spontaneous talk of memorializing the President to appoint a radio secretary (obviously Mr. Reinsch) in addition to a press secretary. Mr. Ross, was named simply the press secretary, with the radio assignment presumably to be handled via the "on call" procedure.

Radio reporters have been clamoring for better facilities both at the White House and in the Congressional galleries. In the Tuesday Reinsch appointment they saw a recognition of radio which removed any vestige of news distinction between the media. When the Friday announcement came, they knew the powerful old-line press, which has steadfastly refused to recognize radio news parity, had won.

President Calls Cox

Mr. Reinsch actually had assumed his new duties without portfolio only hours after the tragic death of Mr. Roosevelt. He has been at the White House practically continuously since April 12, occupying the private office next to the President's Oval Room office. He moved to the Early-Daniels office last Tuesday.

The 36-year-old Reinsch (he will be 37 in June) was appointed by President Truman in one of his first official announcements at his Tuesday news conference. It happened even before Gov. Cox, Mr. Reinsch's chief for the last 11 years, knew about it. President Truman, it is reliably understood, called the Governor at his Miami home a couple of hours after the appointment to ask for the young broadcast executive. Thus, Mr. Reinsch, by Presidential fiat, had severed his association with Gov. Cox as managing director of the three Cox stations—WIOD, Miami, WSB Atlanta, WHIO Dayton. But all that changed after the press pressure group piled in.

There was another radio face in evidence at the White House, too. At the elbow of Mr. Reinsch during the first news conference was Dr. Frank N. Stanton, energetic CBS vice-president and an oldtime friend and associate. He was there at Mr. Reinsch's behest to advise him on certain aspects of public relations work. Dr. Stanton journeyed back to his Madison Ave. duties following the Tuesday night address of President Truman to the troops which, incidentally, hit a rating of 53.8, or an audience of 45,000,000.

If the White House appointment had stuck, Mr. Reinsch would have relied on the Cox stations connection but also membership on the NAB board of directors as a large station director, to which he was elected about last March, as well as his directorship on the board of Broadcast Music Inc., a post he has held since last year. He was on the NAB's Legislative Committee and, among his other radio attainments served as president of the Ohio Broadasters Assn. while manager of WHIO.

All those in Washington radio beamed over legislative and regulatory prospects. They saw in President Truman's initial pronouncements the steering of a steadier legislative course. They foresaw a less cut-rate fixture of the radical fringe, which long has sought to tighten the Governmental grip on the medium.

With Chairman Porter at the FCC and Mr. Reinsch on call at the White House, as radio advisor, the old Democratic team is reestablished. No overnight miracles are expected, but brighter days are foreseen in contrast to the situation which obtained only months ago. Then with James Lawrence Fly as chairman of the FCC and Mr. Early at the White House, there was no eye-to-eye appraisal of radio regulation. It was an open secret that Mesara. Fly and Early didn't like each other and didn't get along. But Mr. Fly had the Presidential ear on radio.

President Truman made a 10-

(Continued from page 78) strike at his initial news conference—the biggest of record, with 348 newsmen present. He answered all questions tersely and to the point, or he put them off with no comment. He retained the Roosevelt rules on no direct quotation without specific authority and no attribution on background observations.

There will be one news conference a week—not the Tuesday and Friday sessions of the past. The conference will be held whenever the President has something to say—Tuesday, Wednesday or Thursday. He will use a turnabout system, alternating the time to give morning and afternoon releases even breaks.

President Truman first announced the appointment of Matthew J. Connolly as his confidential assistant—but his role will be that of appointment secretary, succeeding to the duties of the late Maj. Gen. Edwin M. Watson. Then he said Leonard Reinsch would help him on press and radio matters and pointed out that he had been the radio expert of the Democratic Committee. He added he was most efficient.

The newsmen jam-packed in the Oval Room were in a dither. They couldn’t get the name or the spelling. Some news reports questioned his appointment on press matters, strongly inferring that a press secretary would be named and that Mr. Reinsch would confine his activities to radio. Mr. Reinsch signed his first letter as administrative assistant to the President.

Almost Forgot

President Truman almost addressed Congress last Monday without formal introduction by Speaker Rayburn. The networks were on the air, each describing the President’s entry into the House chamber. Various announcers told the millions listening in that Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex.) would introduce the President. But President Truman, a veteran of the Senate and “at home” with his former colleagues, reached the rostrum and began: “Mr. Speaker.” The off-mike voice of Speaker Rayburn was heard to say: “Just a minute, Harry, wait’ll I introduce you, will you?” The President replied with an informal “Okay, sure,” and the Speaker gave the usual: “It is my privilege to present the President of the United States.” When the ovation subsided Presi- dent Truman once more addressed the Speaker and Sen. McKellar (D-Tenn.), president pro temp of the Senate, and began his speech.
Where our armed forces march with guns, there go NBC War Correspondents with microphones—bringing listeners right to the front lines . . . to the fighter's side. NBC men broadcast from no Ivory Tower.

Nor is NBC's complete, on-the-spot news service planned only from the tower of New York's RCA Building. It results from the careful, painstaking fieldwork of such men as William F. Brooks, Director of the NBC News and Special Events Department—the first network news head to visit both Allied headquarters in the Pacific and in the European Theater of Operations.

Recently returned from a ten-week trip to Pacific and European battlefields to survey and expand NBC's coverage of the war, Brooks conferred with Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, high-ranking Army Generals, Brendon Bracken, British Minister of Information, and other United Nations' leaders.

Upon his return Brooks said: "Every Army group now has facilities to transmit directly or by relay into our network at home. Every officer with whom I talked deeply appreciates the value of getting news home quickly and accurately."

Skilled, on-the-spot comprehensive planning and direction, plus the initiative, self-sacrifice and courage of NBC War Correspondents moving in the front lines, plus the facilities and cooperation of the Army, the Navy and Marines and foreign commercial radio companies—these are the elements of the superlative service that makes NBC The Network Most People Listen To Most—For News, Too.

BMI-ASCAP SUITE MAY BE DISMISSED

DECISION in the court dispute be- tween ASCAP and BMI, involving performing rights to the Edward B. Marks Music Corp. catalog, is expected April 25 in the New York Supreme Court by Justice Fer- dinand Peora.

Started as a test case in June 1941, the action by BMI against ASCAP may be dismissed by Jus- tice Peora, because within just a few days of the trial of the case, the Justice indicated Monday and Tuesday, when counsel for both sides sum- med up their cases, Justice Peora asked BMI counsel to submit briefs showing cause why the case should not be brought before a Federal court as an infringement suit.

Suit centers around ownership of performing rights to several thousand songs listed in the Marks catalog which were bought by BMI in December 1939, at one million dollars, when Mr. Marks, like many of his songwriters, was a member of ASCAP. In January 1941, Mr. Marks withdrew from ASCAP by not renewing his five-year con- tract. Three Marks songs, all writ- ten by ASCAP members except one which was done in collaboration with a non-ASCAP writer, were selected for the test case.

Godfrey Goldmark, representing BMI, asked a declaratory judgment awarding BMI ownership of the performing rights to the Marks catalog on the basis that those rights were as- signed to ASCAP by Mr. Marks during his ASCAP membership but when Mr. Marks did not renew his contract, to the re- searcher, Louis D. Froligh, attorney for ASCAP, and John Schulman, representing the individual song- writers, who also charged BMI with conspiracy to destroy ASCAP, citing the million dollar sale of the performing licenses rights to BMI as proof of its bad faith. BMI asked for a dismissal of the case on the grounds that it belongs in a Federal court.
Network Tributes Paid Ernie Pyle

ERNIE PYLE, whose GI copy from the field won the respect and devotion of readers around the world, turned down a $3000-a-week offer to put his dispatches on the air just before he left for the South Pacific, where he was killed by a Jap machine gun bullet.

The offer, made by a New York advertising agency, was presented in the interest of Westinghouse E. & M. Co. The company planned to give the proposed programs nationwide distribution.

Disc Series

Mr. Pyle, a Scripps-Howard writer, was asked to transcribe, in the field, three columns a week. The transcriptions would have been shipped back to the States for processing and broadcast. This offer, one of many radio proposals made to the distinguished correspondent, interested him more than others, but like the others was rejected.

Mr. Pyle wrote often in his dispatches that he was not interested in offers outside the pale of his chosen profession—columning. He said that his job of reporting GI activities took up all his time. He maintained that his broadcast voice was very poor. Only three weeks from his resolution was to author a book—which, in fact, was but a compilation of his columns—and to permit the movies to dramatize his wartime role.

All networks broadcast special tribute programs in Ernie’s memory last Wednesday, with war correspondents, service men and officials of the Washington Daily News and Scripps-Howard organization participating. Mrs. Raymond Clapper, widow of the late Scripps-

GLEESON ATTACKS NEWSPAPER CRITICS

CALLING the campaign against middle commercials on newscasts an "organized move on a national scale" by "newspapers and some newspaper-owned radio stations" to force newscasts off the air, W. L. Gleeson, president of KPRO Riverside, Calif., and of the Radio and Television Stores Inc., has written to J. Harold Ryan, president of the National Association of Broadcasters.

"This campaign," Mr. Gleeson continues, "is only the opening gun. Once they scare radio stations into giving in, the next move will be that there should be no sponsored news on the air." Making news programs unprofitable, the broadcaster believes, will cut down their number and give newspapers their former advantage in the information field.

"Let’s not fail for it," he pleads. "It will lead in time to the greatest set-back in... progress of radio and free speech ever to befal the American people. The Riverside station never uses middle commercials," he continued.

Howard columnist and Mutual commentator, also killed in the Pacific, took part in a Blue-ABC program. In a story to his station last Friday Milton Chase, W.LW Cincinnati correspondent on 1e Shima, said he was the last fellow-correspondent to see Ernie alive and talk to him. Ernie and Milt sat on a bluff watching landings on the beach. They talked of the horrors of mine fields—Ernie’s greatest fear—of Albuquerque, his home. Milt left for headquarters ship to file copy. Ernie elected to remain. They shook hands and Ernie called out: "I’ll see you guys in some other area."

WOW CHALLENGES GOVERNMENT CONTENTION

OPPOSING a brief submitted by the Government to the Nebraska Supreme Court, that the Nebraska Supreme Court decision on WOW Omaha be held in abeyance until settlement is arranged by the parties involved [Broadcasting, April 2] the station entered a two-year lease for headquarters offices at 270 Park Ave., New York. New York will take occupancy first week in May if remodeling is complete.

Instead, the brief requests that the petition be heard to resolve the situation since it also sets aside the license and closes down an essential public service.

CBS MEASURES STATION EFFECTIVENESS

CBS last week distributed a listening area and circulation map which shows station effects for the network and independent stations. They are: primary, all counties in which it is listened to by at least two-thirds of all radio families one or more times a week; secondary, counties in which the station is listened to by at least one-third of all radio families each week; tertiary, counties where station is listened to by at least 10% of all radio families three or more times weekly. Information is based on CBS controlled-mail ballot on which the network received 75% return on 250,000 ballots.

TOWER SITES DISCUSSED

DISCUSSIONS were to have been held over the week-end by St. Paul-Minneapolis Airport Commission to proposed locations of WTCN and WLOL Minneapolis antenna towers south of the air field "because of hazards to planes," Representatives of Civil Aeronautics Authority, FCC and station officials were to discuss matter in Minneapolis.

FREE TO TALK

THERE'LL BE NO censorship of the discussions by wounded veterans on the Army-Navy-Red Cross series starting on Blue-ABC May 2, according to an official release. Clifton Fadiman, m.e. until June 25, will continue unless plans for USO tour of Information Please materialize. First three programs will feature Bob Hope, Bing Crosby and Fred Allen, calling long distance to hospitals from Hollywood. Title changed from We Live Again, to The Road Ahead.

OHIO TIME CHAOS

SEVERAL Ohio broadcasters who for two years have been alternately on Standard time by State of Ohio and Eastern time by local option, return to Eastern Time Sundays, April 29, necessitating almost statewide revision of schedules. Eighteen cities returned to War Time April 1.

ASCAP RETURNS

GOV. DWIGHT GRISWOLD of Nebraska has signed a bill passed by the State Legislature repealing the anti-ASCAP law passed in 1937 and permitting ASCAP to resume operations in the state. Action taken last Thursday.

BMB GETS OFFICES; CRITES ELECTED TO BOARD

LOWRY H. CRITES, media director of General Mills, has become a member of the BMB Board, replacing A. N. Halvorsen, media director, Procter & Gamble Co., as one of the ANA representatives on the board.

BMB executive committee on Friday signed a two-year lease for headquarters offices at 270 Park Ave., New York. Will take occupancy first week in May if remodeling is complete.

over whether the Newark Evening News will become operator of WBYN Brooklyn, which it has contracted to purchase, or WHOM Jersey City was heard last week. Gardner Cowles Jr., president of Cowles Broadcasting Co., said a number of proposals had been made for WHOM but no decision had been reached. If WHOM is sold it is presumed that it will be for the same net that Cowles paid less than a year ago—$350,000, plus adjustments. The paper obviously could not acquire both outlets under the FCC's duopoly regulations.

M'DONALD BLAMES NETS

IN A TELEGRAM Friday to every Member of Congress Comdr. E. F. McDonald Jr., president of Zenith Radio Corp., Chicago, called for immediate Congressional action to prevent the FCC from moving FM upward in the spectrum. Mr. Coffman uses its influence to promptly urge FCC to abide by the 7-1 preponderance of the technical evidence, the question ceases to be a technical one and becomes an economic and institutional issue and I believe the networks will be successful in their efforts to delay their new competitor, FM," wired Comdr. McDonald.

HEAVY CONTRIBUTION

AMERICAN business supported the Government's controlled-information programs by contributing $305,245,775 worth of advertising, the War Advertising Council estimated in a report on its third year of activity made Friday in New York. The figure represented a 6% increase over the previous year's estimated total of $284,888,441 and marked a new high.

IT&T GROSS UP 50%

INTERNATIONAL Telephone & Telegraph Corp. and subsidiaries had gross earnings of $199,096,015 in 1944, a gain of more than 50% over the 1943 gross of $73,037,396. Company's net income was $7,808,745 in 1944, up 33% from the previous year's net of $5,664,396. Federal Telep. & Radio Corp., manufacturing company of IT&T, had sales of $90,788,199 in 1944, of which 95% was equipment for use by allied armed forces.

TWO-WAY FM

RADIO INTEREST SOARS

AN INCREASE of 95% in enrollment in radio classes at Cleveland College, downtown center of Western Reserve U., is reported. Five of six courses are conducted at WGR and WHK studios, all giving credit toward degrees. Lawyers, factory workers, secretaries, teachers and housewives among students, ranging from 18-50 in age.
In the Distribution Decade,

Advertising Must Help Create Many New Industries

ADVERTISING faces many responsibilities—and opportunities—in the Distribution Decade, after Victory. Among these will be the creation of new markets for new industries. And after these markets have been opened, Agency men must assume the task of accelerating Distribution.

For, after Victory, the Nation must not only produce, but sell 40% more than in 1940. Money, manpower, production facilities and materials will be plentiful. Distribution—making possible the speedy conversion of goods into dollars—will be the problem.

Just as all forward-looking Agency men are actively studying this problem, we are examining its application to the great 4-State market that is WLW-land. We’ll have some interesting things to report to you when the time comes.
