KRNT-TV AGAIN Sweeps Ratings!

DES MOINES TELEVISION
KRNT-TV
Channel 8 in Iowa
KRLD-TV Channel 4

PRESENTS 14 OUT OF THE TOP 15 ONCE-A-WEEK SHOWS IN THE DALLAS METROPOLITAN AREA.

Dallas is served by four television stations, but most television homes in this booming metropolitan area are tuned more of the time to KRLD-TV, Channel 4. Alert local programming, plus stellar CBS presentations frequently build for Channel 4 more audience than the next two stations combined, and at times more than all three put together.

KRLD-TV Channel 4

DOMINATES THE COMBINED TELEVISION AUDIENCES OF THE DALLAS AND FORT WORTH METROPOLITAN AREAS

The combined Dallas and Fort Worth audience of KRLD-TV is greater than any other station’s during 45 of the 72 quarter-hour periods from 6 a.m. to midnight weekdays.

KRLD-TV dominates 30 out of the 68 Saturday quarter hours in this four-station market, and 42 of the 68 Sunday quarter hours of telecasting. On Sunday evenings, when the largest TV audience of the week gathers before Dallas-Fort Worth sets, more people watch Channel 4 than any other station 90% of the time... often more than all three other stations put together.

KRLD-TV Channel 4

COVERS MORE AREA THAN ANY OTHER TV STATION IN TEXAS

The lower the channel, the greater the power and the higher the tower, the farther a station can project television satisfactorily. Channel 4 is the lowest in Dallas or Fort Worth, and this far-reaching signal is beamed at the maximum power allowed by the Federal Communications Commission from atop the second tallest man-made structure in the world... 1,685 feet above average terrain.

KRLD-TV goes clearly into nearly 600,000 television homes in Texas and Southern Oklahoma, reaches more than one-fourth of all the people in Texas... one-third of all Texas Television sets.
SOME OTHER TIME • FCC indefinitely deferred action on proposed changes in station multiple ownership rules after discussing last Friday confidential memorandum of Roscoe L. Barrow, director of Special Network Study Staff. Barrow report urged FCC to postpone multiple ownership action until final report of his staff is ready—presumably by June 30—but made no secret of his personal feelings that present rule limiting tv ownership to five vhf and two uhf stations be kept or even tightened. (For full story of Barrow report, see page 27.)

ONE of broadcasting's toughest problems—standard circulation measurement—faces NATB directors Feb. 6-8 at Hollywood Beach, Fla., with reports to be made on unpublizized radio and tv projects. Field work in four-year tv circulation study will be reviewed late this month by special subcommittee. Similar radio group, still in early stages of developing standard formula, will go over list of proposed plans for all-industry radio measurements.

RE-RUN IN OKLAHOMA • One name being mentioned prominently as candidate for 1958 Democratic nomination for governor of Oklahoma is cattleman-broadcaster (president and 25% owner of KWTW TV Oklahoma City) and former Governor Roy J. Turner. He reportedly is strongly considering making run and, if successful, would become first person ever to serve two terms as chief executive of Oklahoma, which has constitutional provision prohibiting a governor from succeeding himself. Mr. Turner, governor from 1947-51, made unsuccessful attempt to unseat Sen. Robert S. Kerr (O-Kla.), also former governor and president and just over 50% owner of WEEK-AM-PM Peoria, Ill., in 1954 primary election.

IN CONTROVERSY over WGN-TV Chicago's decision to cancel "Martin Luther" film—and not reschedule it—may be factor not generally publicized. It's understood actual decision was made at top level of parent Chicago Tribune and that Ward L. Quaal, vice president and general manager of WGN Inc., was merely carrying out wishes of newspaper licensee.

ISLAND HOPPER • FCC Comr. Robert T. Bartley leaves Jan. 18 for Hawaii on official mission which will include implementation on Conelrad system to conform to continental pattern of operation, wherein radio silence is imposed except on two Conelrad frequencies. While strategic Hawaii has alerting system, geography has prevented coordination with U.S. pattern. Comr. Bartley also will participate in Coast Guard safety-of-life communications sessions and return to Washington Feb. 4.

PITCH FOR PLYMOUTH • Several advertising agencies understood to be soliciting Chrysler Corp. for Plymouth Motors Div. account, now serviced by N. W. Ayer & Son, Detroit. Agencies reportedly pitching for automaker (whose broadcast billing is said to be highest of all Chrysler divisions) are Grant Adv., Detroit (Dodge Div. agency which last fall assumed responsibility for Plymouth's share of Ray Anthony and Lawrence Welk shows on ABC-TV); D'Arcy Adv. (which resigned Packard Motors Div. of Studebaker-Packard Corp. last October); Cunningham & Walsh (which under recent expansion, looms large among top 15 agencies, with $30 million billing), and Brooke, Smith, French & Dorrance (which in December resigned Hudson Motors after 22 years continuous service to resolve "potential competitive account"). Possible agency switch is attributed to Plymouth's new "management team" and its desire to edge Buick out of number three auto supremacy position.

WHILE color tv is not entirely conspicuous by absence from this week's National Appliance & Radio-Tv Dealers Assn. convention agenda, it seems to have taken back seat. Despite situation, NBC-TV Chicago color authorities are convinced, with predicted slackening of 1957 monochrome set sales and small profit margin of portable tv, dealers eventually will climb bandwagon as simple dollars-and-cents consideration.

RELIEF RECORD • All-network Hungarian Relief program Christmas Day may go down in records as most successful campaign fund raising effort in broadcast and other annals. Red Cross has reported that immediate and dramatic response to show resulted in "more than $1 million" in contributions within 24 hours of broadcast and that goal of $5 million is being exceeded. More than 365 tv stations and 1,300 U.S., Canadian and overseas radio stations carried relief program. "This should make the program the greatest one-time combined broadcast in history," reported George Wolf, vice president and director of radio and television of Ruthrauff & Ryan, voluntary agency for program.

IN MOVE aimed at diversification of activities, National Telefilm Assn., New York, understood to be completing plans for entering theatrical distribution field. NTA presumably will begin with package of feature films acquired when it bought Rainbow Pictures from Paramount, obtaining all rights to such films as "Bells of St. Mary's," "Gulliver's Travels," "Encore" and "Trio" and subsequently intends to obtain other features for theatres. NTA completing negotiations to employ well-known theatrical distributor to head new operation.

WARNER Set to Start Work On $600,000 Expansion Plan

WARNER BROS. will start early next month on $600,000 construction of first building at Warner Bros. Studios, Burbank, Calif., as part of major building program to provide additional office space and production facilities for its growing total of tv activities. Jack L. Warner, president, announced Friday.

Initial building, located in northeast section of vast studios and fronting Warner Blvd., will have four floors, consisting of 130 offices, 26 fully equipped film editing rooms and four complete projection rooms. It will accommodate independent producers of filmed ABC-TV programs and provide added facilities for studio's own tv division. No only producing Cheyenne and Conflict tv series.

Warner and AB-FT have working agreement for use of facilities.

KERO-TV will be under direction of George Whitney, vice president and general manager of Warner-Alvarez; Art 26-cen, manager of KERO-Alvarez station in San Diego, will be general manager of KERO-TV, and Gene De Young, president of Kern County Broadcasters, present owner of station, will remain as executive director. No change in KERO-TV personnel contemplated.

KFMB-TV, Keen Backed

RULING that a tv reporter is in same category as a newspaper in rights to freedom of press, California First District Court of Appeals at San Bernardino Tuesday made permanent order requiring Superior Judge John A. Hiewicker to allow all news reporters or their agents to take notes in courtroom [BWT, Jan. 7]. Writ restraining Judge Hiewicker from barring taking of shorthand notes was sought by KFMB-TV San Diego and Harold Keen, newscaster on station, after Judge had twice refused Mr. Keen permission to have stenographic aides take shorthand notes of testimony and other proceedings in Ruth Latham kidnap trial.

BING'S AVAILABLE

IS IT TRUE that networks will neither sing nor sign with Bing? Bing Crosby bid, through agent, reportedly got nowhere with NBC for either tv guest or one-shot appearance. Only ABC took Bing. Executives felt Mr. Crosby's talents would not fit network's current needs; tv executives did not have openings for guest or specials. ABC has been approached, has made no decision. Mr. Crosby's radio contract, which ran out with CBS on Dec. 20, 1956, was not renewed.

Levitt Elected President Of Calif. Nat'l. Productions

ELECTION of Robert D. Levitt, vice president-general manager of California National Productions Inc., to president and board member announced Friday at NBC subsidiary's board meeting.

Mr. Levitt, with CNP since July 1956, has been operating head since Oct. 23, 1956, when he was named chief executive officer succeeding Alan W. Livingston, who became head of NBC-TV programs originating on West Coast. He joined CNP as general manager after having been director of national sales at Screen Gems. His background also included vice president and director of Hearst Publishing Co. (1951-1955) and executive posts with Hearst promotion enterprises and Selznick productions.

CNP, according to Mr. Levitt, concentrating on supplying first-run film series for world syndication, with production in Hollywood starting on The Silent Service and arrangements being completed in England for Capt. Horatio Hornblower series.

WSFA Changes Call, Now WHHY

NEW call letters for WSFA Montgomery, Ala. sold by WKY Television System Inc. for $175,000 to Charles W. and Connie I. Holt and Robert N. Robinson [BWT, Dec. 10, 1956] - is WHHY. Mr. Robinson, 1956 owner, has taken over as manager.

IS IT ALL THERE?

IN PROJECT to determine how much of transmitted picture is seen on average home tv screen, WRCA-TV and Screen Gems, both New York, will cooperate in special test on WRCA-TV Thursday (6:30-6:45 a.m. EST). Test will consist of transmission for 15 minutes of lined and numbered charts, outer edges of which represent limits of areas scanned and telecast by station. Interested viewers will be invited to participate in test by dropping card to WRCA-TV listing numbered limits of their particular picture.

Peter Keane, Screen Gems technical director, who is credited with having stimulated interest in project, will analyze returns to determine if steps are needed to avoid pictures and credits which bleed off screen. Work, if information now is needlessly crowded into middle of screen.

Late-breaking items about broadcast business; for earlier news, see ADVERTISERS AGENCIES, page 29.

DIRECTORY SPOTS • General Telephone Corp. (telephone system), to promote directory, is preparing radio and television spot announcement campaign in about 30 radio and 10 tv markets, starting Feb. 25. Contract for 26 announcements will run for four or five weeks. H. B. Humphrey, Alley & Richards, N. Y., is agency.

FARM CAMPAIGN • Armour & Co., Chicago, through N. W. Ayer & Sons, N. Y., planning radio spot announcement campaign near early morning farm shows, starting Feb. 4 for 13 weeks in about 14 markets, on behalf of product for animals.

BEHIND THE STORY • There's more than meets eye in National Board of Fire Underwriters decision to go into radio and tv on paid basis (early story page 45). It's largely test effort in each medium, though perhaps more so in television (10 stations) than radio (116 stations). Radio Advertising Bureau and Television Bureau of Advertising, working separately, figured prominently in NBFU's decision to invest in their respective media. Tvm campaign pegged at $300,000. No figures out on radio.

L & N FOR BORDEN • Borden Food Products Div., Borden Co., N. Y., Friday appointed Lennen & Newell to service new product, which client and agency both decline to name.

BUY'S ON ABC • Grant Co. of Chicago (M-O-Lens, woolen fabrics, cleaners) buys 10 5-minute segments weekly on ABC Radio's My True Story, When A Girl Marries, and Whispering Streets, all for 13 weeks effective Feb. 23. Grant's agency is Leeds & York, Inc., Chicago.

'CRISSIS' IN FOR 'ARK' • Noah's Ark, sponsored by Chesterfield and Max Factor of Hollywood in Tues. 8:30-9 p.m. spot on NBC-TV, will be replaced by Crisis starting in February and running through September, it was learned late Friday. Chesterfield agency is McCann-Erickson; Max Factor is Doyle Dane Bernbach (see early story page 38).

C & C to W & G • C & C Super Corp. has appointed Weiss & Geller, N. Y., to handle advertising for all divisions effective immediately. William F. Vinicombe, C & C advertising manager, moves to W & G agency as account executive.

MAY CHANGE MIND • C. H. Masland & Sons (carpets), Carlisle, Pa., which only few months ago declared it was going solely into print media, may change mind. Last in broad- casting 15 months ago (as participating sponsor of Garry Moore Show on CBS-TV), Masland

NCAA KEEPS ITS TIGHT GRIP ON FOOTBALL TV

ESTIMATED 350-400 NCAA delegates in St. Louis Friday adopted resolution for continued television football controls and association's TV committee report, marking seventh straight year of restrictions (see earlier story, page 88). Lone dissenter during convention floor vote was U. of Notre Dame (Fab). TV program becomes effective for 1957 with approval by main referendum of two-thirds of schools voting.

National Opinion Research Center Report No. 8 released by committee showed 5% gain in 1956 college football attendance, over a half million tickets sold and total paid admissions over $15 million for first time since 1950 (within 2% of pre-television levels). "Harmful effects" of TV "unmeasured," said report, but figures suggest they are being neutralized by prosperous, growing economy, committee concluded.

Average Nielsen rating for eight national TV dates hit 30.5 in 1956 compared to 28.4 previous year, and NCAA games showed sectional coverage factor of 97.4%, report said. Total of 177 stations carried games on five occasions; peak of 179 hit for one contest. NCAA permitted nine telecasts under "sellout" rule and four under 400-mile provision, plus closed-circuit rights to Notre Dame, Yale and Ohio State. Committee reported 150 separate team exposures and 67 participating schools in NCAA program.

TV committee also felt, despite lack of definite developments on toll TV in 1956, it can become actuality within a relatively short period if authorized by FCC and will have far-reaching effects on university and college athletic programs.

NCAA control program survived sixth successive year "without adverse legal incident," it was noted, and committee felt NCAA need not worry as long as it provides "reasonable" program. TV committee each year proceeds on assumption United States antitrust laws are applicable to NCAA operations, committee observed.

Other TV committee conclusions: (1) Games facing no TV competition have 8% better attendance than games facing TV competition or non-regional TV competition; (2) regional TV "hurts the most" with average attendance off 16% from average game facing no TV; (3) attendance at games facing local TV is high but number of games are few and are generally most attractive contests. Patterns hold true for both large and small colleges, report said.

Slenderella Set to Sign Deal For Tex & Jinx Radio Series

SLENDERELLA International (figure proportioning chain), Stamford, Conn., expected this week to announce signing with NBC Spot Sales to sponsor syndicated Tex and Jinx (Fallenburch) McCrory strip of New York Close-Up 10-minute programs on four NBC Radio affiliates (Closed Circuit, Dec. 24, 1956). Deal, through Management Assoc. of Connecticut, Stamford, reportedly calls for strip of McCrory celebrity interviews (condensed version of McCrory's nighttime WRCA New York programs) to be placed Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings for 13 weeks starting Jan. 21 on WRCV Philadelphia, WMAQ Chicago, KSD St. Louis and KOA Denver. Slenderella also was granted exclusive option for placing Close-Up in 35 other markets.

It also was understood that new Tex & Jinx syndication office, headed by former executive producer Jerome M. Landay, will offer shorter, five-minute "interview nuggets" to stations outside Slenderella advertising orbit. Gewen, of these shows—integrated or separate—would be limited to advertisers in non-Slenderella markets only.

Friends Not Party to WGBS

FCC Chief Hearing Examiner James D. Cunningham Friday denied petition by Friends of Good Music to intervene in protest hearing on sale of WGBS Washington to RKO Teleradio Pictures Inc. on grounds Good Music is not interested party (story page 74). Also denied was Good Music request to postpone hearing to Jan. 20. Hearing began as scheduled before Hearing Examiner Herbert Shriftman. Sale has been protested by minority stockholder Lawrence M. Smith.

Group Asks ASCAP Probe

GROUP of nine composers and publishers Friday asked congressional investigation of operating processes of American Society of Authors & Publishers, complaining that ASCAP regulations "penalize" new writers and small publishers by permitting more money to be collected for replaying old songs than for creating new ones.

Group, represented by Arnold Malkaun, New York lawyer, presented complaint to Rep. James Roosevelt (D-Calif.), member of House Small Business Committee, asking for legislation to change a "weighted" voting system in ASCAP which they feel gives too much control to big publishing firms.

Rep. Roosevelt asked the group for additional information and said he would review it and submit it to Small Business Committee.

CALL TO FREEDOM
NBC-TV's Project XX played Beethoven last Monday night. It lost.

In attempting to give its audience a nutshell history of Austria, from the Hapsburgs to the Fügts—a 440-year period—by interlacing newsreel and feature film footage with on-stage shots of the Nov. 5, 1955, performance of Beethoven's "Fidelio" at the rebuilt, $10 million Vienna Opera, and punctuating this with overly-poetic narration by Alexander Scourby, Project XX came up with an interesting—but often tasteless—souffle for collapsed for lack of sufficient cohesive ingredients.

Whereas a 90-minute tv presentation of Beethoven's great opera would have evoked our most enthusiastic reception, "Call to Freedom" as a "departure in visual journalism" left us stunned by its ineptness. Henry Salomon & staff simply couldn't make up their minds whether to give us opera or history or both, and the result was indeed a sad one. Sad, because we had come to expect so much from Project XX that last Monday's venture was a keen disappointment.

Operatically, Project XX should be credited with skillful work during the actual "Fidelio" sequences and for bringing to television the voices of Dermota, Moedl and Seefried. But on the other hand, it should be held liable for some of the worst juxtaposition in the history of documentary film which, in its abruptness, confused not only the issue but the audience as well. To quote humorist Peter De Vries: "Each film should have a beginning, a middle and an end." This one did.

Production costs: Approximately $175,000.

ODYSSEY
ALTHOUGH its initial offering—a visit to fabulous Virginia City, Nev.—occasionally slowed the pace of a prairie schooner, there were more than enough compensating factors to give promise of a bright future for Odyssey, which premiered Jan. 6 on CBS-TV.

Among plus values as the story of the lusty western boom town unfolded was general technical excellence, particularly evident in the special effects department and in the skillful interweaving of live and filmed sequences. Add to this some standout performances, notably Beatrice Kay's portrayal of Lily Langtry and Charles Collingwood's stilt as the narrator, and it is easy to overlook the fact that the script sometimes dwelt too long on seemingly unimportant matters and too briefly on the more exciting elements in the history of the Nevada silver mining community. Lacking, too, was a clearcut explanation of Virginia City as it is today, despite the fact that there was a brief appearance by Lucius Beebe, the bon vivant, who currently owns the local newspaper.

Odyssey in future performances will continue to deal with man's outstanding adventures from prehistoric to modern times. The series should be a welcome addition to a somewhat lackluster TV season of new shows.

Production costs: Approximately $55,000.
Sustaining on CBS-TV, Sun. 4-5 p.m. EST.
Narrator: Charles Collingwood; producer: Charles Romine in cooperation with American Assn. of Museums; assist. producers: Frank de Felita, Ted Sack; director: Roger Engleander.

YOU'RE ON YOUR OWN
THERE apparently is no end to the number of quiz shows that the Barry & Enright team can create. The latest entry, You're On Your Own, borrows from other successful programs but incorporates at least one new wrinkle: the contestant need not know much about a particular subject, but he should know where to find the answer.

The contestant has access to a large number of reference books on this program and also may call on anyone he knows who may provide the answer. It has a This Is Your Life touch as contestans are described by an off-stage voice who mentions little-known facts about their life. Since participants must search frantically through books, hastily telephone friends or relatives or perform some chore (like measuring a necktie to ascertain its length), it tends to resemble several audience participation shows. Though Steve Dunne is a likable master of ceremonies and the program sequences are amusing on occasion, You're On Your Own appears to be "lightweight" in dramatic content as compared to several other successful quizzes.

Production costs: Approximately $25,000.
Sponsored by Hazel Bishop Inc., through Raymond Spector Inc. on CBS-TV, Sat., 10:30-11 p.m. EST.
Producer: Barry & Enright Productions; matter of ceremonies: Steve Dunne.

BLONDIE
BACK in June 1949, NBC Radio performed a real public service when it yanked the Arthur Lake-Penny Singleton Blondie series and assigned it to limbo. Almost seven years of peace ensued, a period that must now be viewed as merely a truce, since Blondie is back with us again on NBC-TV.

From what we were able to gather during the initial Hal Roach Jr. program a week ago last Friday—just the gathering wasn't easy considering the amount of noise emanating from the Bumstead household—age hasn't improved Blondie's klan one bit. They are just as loud, childish and frantic as ever.

Here is a visual burlesque that leaves absolutely nothing to the imagination. Mr.

SEEN & HEARD

CBS-TV's Air Power series let go with a blockbuster a week ago Sunday. The eye-opener: how the U. S. Army Air Force committed one of the most tragic blunders in the history of military aviation in the first of four massive sorties against the Rumanian oilfields of Ploesti.

Telling the Ploesti story may not have been good public relations or the sort of stuff that recruiting drives are made of, but it was public service at its best, and we salute Air Power producers Perry Wolff and Jim Faichney for having managed to lift a 13-year-old security blackout off film.

Incidentally, sharp-eared broadcasters in the audience may have spotted the voice of the briefing officer as that of Tex McCrary, then an Air Force intelligence colonel, now part of the highly-successful Tex & Jinx husband-and-wife team on WRCA-AM-TV New York.

Radio Hero of Fire

EDITOR:

Radio rendered heroic service during our recent Malibu brush fire.

Always radio was first with the latest, hours ahead of the daily press, ahead of tv. Radio reporters were on every front, 24 hours a day. What they saw and heard was on the air within one to 15 minutes.

It was largely due to radio that there was no panic during the five or six days of suspense when thousands of homes in an area of more than 300 square miles were on the alert. Instead of abandoning their homes to potential looters and chalking the highways with civilian traffic, homeowners, with their radios on, stood by their guns, confident that, in a crisis, radio would get a warning to them in time.

'Queen' is Morgan's

EDITOR:

In your Jan. 7 issue you mentioned that Queen for a Day was "an Edwards production." This seems to be slightly in error, because I originated Queen for a Day myself and have been producing the program for the past 11 years.

Ralph Edwards is a great guy and I give him all the bows for Truth or Consequences. But when it comes to Queen for a Day, that's Raymond R. Morgan.

Two Cents on Hooper

EDITOR:

I can't resist putting my two cents in concerning the 1956 Nielsen survey controversy. It is my opinion that Nielsen's methods were out of date even in 1952.

Back in the 30's most medium sized communities had but one station, and that station's call letters were synonymous with the name of the city.

Today, Grand Rapids has four regional stations and two locals. But in the outlying areas, listeners who tune to any of these Grand Rapids stations are still most likely to report that it's WOOD, because WOOD has been here twice as long as any other station. This is not supposition. Hooper finds that in many areas up to 50% of the people surveyed report the wrong station prior to rechecking their tuning dials. This point up the fact that you can't get accurate information by correspondence.

I don't know of anyone that listens to any station "by the day." Most people listen to several stations every day. This is borne out by the latest Hooper Share of Audience Reports (November-December 1956). According to this report, the station that Nielsen indicated having three times as many listeners as any other station ranges from second to fourth place in the various time categories. Two-year-old WMAX, which trails all others according to Nielsen, leads all competitors by as much as 11% in some time categories according to the Hooper survey.

Both surveys can't be right, but I believe that Hooper's methods are most likely to produce authentic data.

One Man's Way

EDITOR:

It looks as though the clear-channel situation may come to a head shortly, and the question becomes whether the big monopolies will become even bigger or if the pressing need for local radio frequencies (already scarce as a hen's tooth) will be met. As a solution to the problem, I propose the following:

Twelve of the 24 1-A clear channels would be boosted to 750 kw, being selected by their geographic location. The other 12 1-A's would become 1-B's and would be absorbed in with the current 21 1-B's, diagonal antennas used where necessary. To eliminate the daytime skywave "problem" (which actually is not as serious as the clearance makes it), no further daytime grants would be allowed on any of the 1-A or 1-B channels. Of the 12 evacuated 1-A channels, six would be used as local frequencies (250 w) and the remaining six would be used as regional frequencies, but with 1 kw as maximum daytime power, and 500 w maximum at night.

The FCC no doubt must realize two important developments. Firstly, the early necessity for clear channels to serve the public has long been eliminated by the development of local radio, and secondly, the importance of nighttime radio has been radically reduced with the development of television. Furthermore, radio today is effective and a public service primarily on the local level. It no longer can compete on a purely entertainment basis, for television more adequately serves that function. Today radio means local news, local sports, and local activities in general. It is this personal service that gives radio its contemporary importance and allows it to compete effectively with television, as well as supplement television.

I must admit the above proposed plan for frequency alteration would create a spectacular battle among the clear-channel stations, particularly over the decision as to what 1-A's would become superpowered and which would become relegated to 1-B status. It would take all the strength and integrity a government agency could generate to innovate such a plan, but it could be done!

Radio Enters the Act

EDITOR:

I'd like to answer Mr. Arch Crist of BBDO [OPEN MIKE, Dec. 10, 1956] another way.

It may be true that the reader can be exposed to all of the newspaper ads...but what cost per one thousand for the firm advertising? In Flint, using Starch's Readership Study, it's $2.209 per one thousand.

With radio station WDFD, and the paper's own coverage, it's $1.51. Newspaper (Flint Journal) covers 73.2% of homes in our trading zone, according to ABC figures; radio covers 98.6% and reaches out many times further in the hinterlands. Also remember the auto listeners and you can reduce radio's cost by 20% more.

Thus while listening or viewing is only a small segment of the entire programming, the firm using these media can buy multiple spots for the same money and get many, many times the impressions with radio or tv, i.e., in the Flint Journal one full page is noted by 18,105 (11%) of the homes, while for the same expenditure on WDFD, our message will be heard 297,060 times in this same area (60 spots each heard 4,951 times).

To each his own, depending on the separate kinds of services offered. Papers are catalog sheets and used as such by the reader.

Radio and/or tv offer persuasive messages, reaching people who are now, or may one day be, interested in your product. Thus, a customer having heard your story many times is familiar with your product or service when he is ready to buy.

I might ask Mr. Crist what advertising over the last 20 years he remembers. I'll bet not one newspaper ad; but how many Pepsi, HPC, Kools, Duz, Pepsodent, etc., jingles can he recognize? And from where but the greatest of all media--radio.

The WORLD'S LARGEST HOME FURNISHING STORE, Barker Bros., ends a two-year test of Southern California radio and finds it good.

A pioneer in the medium, Barker's had used it effectively, but never as substantially as when President Nell Petree and Advertising Director Kenneth Pelton called on Mays & Co., their agency, for radio promotion of the firm's Diamond Jubilee Year.

Using the new radio, they put jingle spots on eight major stations. (Largely responsible for the move was a survey of new suburban areas, proving nearly half the residents were not reachable by more traditional media.)

Results: "Radio has proved its usefulness to us," says Mr. Petree. "Best confirmation is our continued use." With a 1966 increase of 18%, and volume in its 15 stores still climbing, Barker's is now refining its radio techniques with tests of items, days and times.

KBIG is happy at Mr. Mays' report that "the merchandise items on your station had fine response...thanks to the boys at KBIG who have been giving the copy their own slant and adding to its 'sell.'"

Huge, sprawling Southern California is reached best by radio; KBIG plus other fine stations for complete saturation; KBIG alone for greatest coverage at lowest cost-per-thousand.

ROBERT PERRY PATRICK MOUNTAIN is the top man in radio and television at the top radio and television agency in America. As vice president in charge of broadcast activities at Young & Rubicam he directed the spending of $82 million in am and tv last year.

A towering man in all respects—he is 6'4" and weighs 214 pounds—Bob Mountain has spent his adult life unsuccessfully resisting plays on his surname, dating from the time a newspaper in Westport, Conn., reported his imminent marriage to Barbara Child as "Mountain Boy to Wed Child Girl."

With less invention perhaps, but with somewhat more personal data to document his imagery, a colleague who has known Mr. Mountain since his outdoor-advertising days puts the case squarely: "Bob Mountain is an eminence, there's no getting around it."

Indeed it was in outdoor advertising that Mr. Mountain first made his name at the agency he still serves. Joining Y&R in 1938 as manager of that department, he formalized the comparatively random operation and embarked on a study of supermarkets that for years was looked upon as the classic of its kind in the outdoor field.

Subsequently he moved indoors to the contact department of the agency, servicing Westinghouse, Owens Corning, Ansco and Jell-O among other accounts in an expanding portfolio.

In 1947 his efforts were rewarded officially with a vice presidency and stock in the organization.

In his new capacity he became supervisor of the Jell-O and Birdseye business, eventually taking over the entire General Foods account.

In October 1955 he was named by the Y&R management to head television and radio with the designation vice president and director of radio and television.

A devout convert to the newest medium, he regards his work in television as a public responsibility. He has gone on record to emphasize the agency man's obligation to keep high the quality of television programming as the best method of maintaining the medium as an effective and "beloved-in" instrument of sales.

Born in Middletown, Conn., Feb. 6, 1910, the son of a doctor, he attended Middletown High School and St. John's Parochial School there, where he was president of the class, captain of the basketball team and "one of the best altar boys ever to hear his voice change in the middle of a mass."

Stricken with tuberculosis at the age of 22, while working for the Wall Street firm of M. J. Meehan, he spent the next five years successfully fighting the disease in Saranac, N. Y.

Returning to Middletown to build his life again, he took up golf as therapy and developed into an expert player.

Strong enough to face New York again, he took work with Cavanaugh Hats, then moved to General Outdoor Advertising in sales promotion. It was there that his talents caught the attention of Chet La Roche, then president of Y&R, who offered him the newly-created post of manager of the agency's newly-created outdoor advertising department.

The television department under Mr. Mountain's stewardship billed $74 million last year to lead the nation and increase its own previous year's total by $14 million.

In the area of tv spots, Young & Rubicam shared supremacy with an outlay of $30 million, an advance of 14 million over its 1955 figure.

Currently Mr. Mountain averages a monthly trip to California, where half of the Y&R properties originate.

Among the accounts and programs which Mr. Mountain oversees for the agency are: Bristol-Myers Co.'s Alfred Hitchcock Presents; General Electric's Broken Arrow; Goodyear Tire's Goodyear Playhouse; General Foods' I Love Lucy; Johnson & Johnson's The Adventures of Robin Hood; Gulf Oil Corp.'s Life of Riley; General Foods' Adventures of Hiram Holiday, and General Electric's The 20th Century-Fox Hour.

No longer a golfer, Mr. Mountain, characteristically defying the traditional cycle, now is a rabid tennis player, as well as a salt water fisherman. He also is a do-it-yourself man of the paint and garden persuasion and a frustrated pianist who sings better than he plays. He has won several cups in swimming.

He and his "Child bride," Barbara, a former fashion designer, share the rearing of four children, Elizabeth, 16 years; Suzan, 14; Robert, 12, and Charles, 10. The family lives in Wilton, Conn.

on all accounts

ACKNOWLEDGED as one of the outstanding farm broadcasters in the country, Dix Harper is now working the other side of the street—he handles the International Harvester Co. account and also is radio farm director at Aubrey, Finlay, Marley & Hodgson Inc., Chicago.

Mr. Harper is responsible for copy, contact and merchandising on IH, which currently uses spot radio on 85-plus stations to promote its farm products. Overwhelming majority of programs and spots utilize services of—quite naturally—radio farm directors, of whose organization (NATRFD) Mr. Harper is still a member.

“We use RFDS because of the respect they have built up with farmers over the years, the priceless asset of their personalities and the enthusiasm and confidence they inspire in Harvester products,” he explains.

Dixon L. Harper was born Nov. 29, 1922, on a farm near Ames, Iowa. As a youth he was engaged in farm and 4-H activities. Mr. Dixon’s schooling at Iowa State College was interrupted by military service; he enlisted in the Air Force in 1943.

Out of service, he farmed for two years, then majored in agricultural education at Iowa State College. At WOI Ames he was sports announcer, continuity writer and disc jockey. In 1947, on a farm radio scholarship, he became assistant to Chuck Worcester, farm director at WMT Cedar Rapids, and moved to WIOU Kokomo in 1948 and WIBC Indianapolis in 1951 in RFD capacities. He joined WLS Chicago on Jan. 28, 1953, remaining for three years before joining AFM&H.

Mr. Harper has been prominent in NATRFD circles for years (retired secretary-treasurer, former editor of its “Chats”) and is a member of its Sales Promotion Committee. Additionally he has won awards from the National Safety Council and Ohio State U’s Institute for Education by Radio-Television and is currently active in civil and other groups, including board membership in National Farm City Week.

Mr. Harper lives with his wife, the former Shirley Thevenin, and their two children, Sue, 5, and Tod, 3, in Wheaton. His hobby is photography.

BARROW WARNS FCC OF TV MONOPOLY

- Study staff's confidential report sees concentration of control
- Recommends Commission hold off on multiple ownership rule changes
- Poses possibility that limits should be tightened, not lifted

THE DIRECTOR of the FCC's Network Study Staff last week submitted his first report—a confidential memorandum which added up to a warning against growing concentration of power in television station ownership.

In the memorandum, Roscoe L. Barrow, who has headed the special FCC staff in addition to his duties as dean of the U. of Cincinnati Law School:

- Urged the Commission to defer consideration of changes in the existing multiple ownership rules until the Network Study Staff has completed its final report. This is expected by next June 30, when the staff's $221,000 appropriation runs out.
- Traced recent trends in multiple ownership, including the acquisition of stations by "large interests" such as investment banking firms. Dean Barrow also spoke of major film producers who "are now laying plans to enter the television industry."
- Predicted that unless the FCC imposed limitations, "there will be substantial problems of undue concentration of control" leading to a transformation of telecasting into a "multiple unit industry" and the loss of community identification of stations.
- Said the solution to the problem "may well require further limitation, rather than relaxation, of the existing rules."

Dean Barrow closed his report by quoting testimony of Victor Hansen, assistant attorney general in charge of the Antitrust Div. of the Dept. of Justice, before the House Antitrust Subcommittee last September. Dean Barrow pointed out that Mr. Hansen said that liberalization of the FCC's multiple ownership rules "would definitely be inconsistent with antitrust objectives" and had recommended that the rule should be, if anything, "tightened, not relaxed."

The Barrow memorandum was considered by the FCC last Friday at a meeting devoted to discussion of possible changes in the multiple ownership rules. Several commissioners were understood to have looked upon the report as a proposal for radical cutbacks in station ownership limits. Others felt the report charted a moderate course.

The latter viewpoint was held by those who would prefer to retain the present rule limiting ownership to five vhf and two uhf stations or tighten it to lower limits.

Here are the main points in Dean Barrow's report, which consisted of 30-odd pages of single-spaced text plus several tables.

Dean Barrow recommended deferment of multiple ownership changes because his study of networks, which are multiple owners, was not complete. "Network ownership of stations," the report said, "is so interwoven with the study of networks and their relations with stations that it is not feasible to 'spin off' this aspect of the multiple ownership problems for consideration isolated from the basic body of the study."

To extend a multiple ownership rule-making proceeding to ownership of stations by networks "would of necessity open up the major questions which are the focal points of the overall network study," he said. Hence, he asked the Commission to await his final report before going on with the ownership question.

Dean Barrow reviewed past FCC decisions and policies favoring local ownership of stations and diversification of control. He said, however, that "the basic principle of maintaining the local institution aspect of broadcasting and telecasting has been compromised with other objectives of the Commission. In comparative hearings a proven record of past performance has frequently been given preference over the factor of local ownership."

This, he said, had led to growth of multiple station ownership since "past performance" in television must perforce have been obtained in markets other than the one involved in the comparative hearing.

"Indeed," the report said, "in most large markets the image of a single-station owner with strong local ties giving his individual attention to a particular community is more myth than reality."

"... In terms both of FCC policy statements and in actual fact, the community institution concept has been seriously eroded if this latter concept is defined to mean that television stations are usually locally owned and operated, devote themselves principally to serving local advertisers, and follow a program schedule which affords ample opportunity of access of local entertainment talent and other participants."

It is clear that the present industry structure and operation does not conform closely with this definition of the local institution concept, although the present combination of policies may, in the Commission's opinion, offer the highest probability that individual stations will render the best practicable service to the community reached.

In any event, a re-examination and re-statement of the individual station's responsibility to the community served is needed in connection with any reappraisal of the multiple ownership rules."

Dean Barrow said a "statistical profile" of the growth of multiple ownership in television "clashes with the Commission's policies of the community institutional character and diversity of ownership of stations."

As of last Nov. 3, he said, there were 468 tv stations. Of these, 203 were controlled by 81 multiple owners and 265 controlled by single-station owners. Of the 81 multiple-station owners, he said, one owns seven stations, three own six stations each, four own five stations each, five own four stations each, 22 own three stations each, and the remaining 46 own two stations each.

"Probably more multiple owners would have reached the maximum ownership of stations" he added, "were it not for the current unattractiveness of the uhf stations. Five multiple owners have the maximum number of vhf stations in the continental U. S., the bulk of which are located in the top 100 markets."

In big markets, he said, tv stations are "typically — almost entirely — multiply owned."

Multiple ownership also extends into other communications media, Dean Barrow said.

"The one multiple station owner that controls seven tv stations and has a radio interest also has an ownership interest in newspapers," he said. "The three six-station owners include one ownership interest in motion pictures, the four five-station owners include two newspaper interests, one magazine interest and one motion picture interest; the five four-station owners include one newspaper interest and two magazine interests; the 22 three-station owners include seven newspaper interests and two magazine interests; and the 46 two-station owners include 17 newspaper interests, one magazine interest, and one motion picture interest."

"In total, the 81 multiple tv station owners control 203 tv stations and represent 28 newspaper interests, 74 radio interests, six magazine interests and three motion picture interests. All the multiple-media owners, except for six of the 28 newspaper and 19 of the 74 radio interests, are those who operate in the top 100 markets. The 58 multiple tv station owners in the top 100 markets account for 155 tv stations and represent 22 newspaper, 53 radio, six magazine, and three motion picture ownership interests."

Dean Barrow said that about one out of three multiply-owned stations has been acquired by its multiple owners through purchase rather than original application. He stressed the growth of multiple ownership in the past two years (from 86 to 119 stations in the top 100 markets) and said that "significant increases in station ownership ... were by firms having other media interests."

What are the effects of multiple ownership on competition?

"The advantage accruing to multiple owners is sufficiently important to place single owners, in the same markets, in an unfavorable competitive position with respect both to network and spot business."

He added: "Among the more important competitive advantages obtained by some of the larger and more significant multiple owners are those in the area of network relations."

"These may include obtaining a primary affiliation with CBS or NBC, a more favorable basis of compensation from the network, a higher station rate for network sales, network representation in the national spot field, or inclusion in the network's must-buy list."

Dean Barrow said that some multiple owners are able to obtain national representation at low commissions by combining their stations to achieve high volume. Commissions to representatives are frequently based on a sliding scale which decreases in proportion to increases in total volume."

"At least five of the largest multiple owners have the maximum number of stations multiply owned."

FCC Chairman Sees Tiv Growth

As Virtue of Free Enterprise

The growth of television as an example of the virtues of a free enterprise system was stressed last week by FCC Chairman George C. McConnaughey in a speech to the Committee of 100 of Miami Beach, Fla.

"In a little more than 10 years, Mr. McConnaughey said, tv has grown from zero to almost 39 million receivers—75% of the people. Tv can be received by more than 90% of the American homes he said and this is nearly 80% of the world figure. Figuring out of five cities homes and half of the farm homes have tv sets, he said."

Color tv is the next great advance, the FCC chairman prophesied. He spoke of predictions that within the next 20 years there will be regular, world-wide all color telecasts.

The FCC chairman also said that the FCC is doing all in its power to encourage the development and use of equipment that will make more tv channels available to the public. He added: "We are confident that in time the great inventive genius of our fellow Americans will make it possible for more and more communities to have their own television stations as they have local radio stations."

"He said, "are able to combine their stations for compensation purposes. How important this competitive advantage may be is indicated by the fact that the saving to these owners was close to 25% in 1955."

He said that although "it cannot be established conclusively" that multiple owners can buy film on a more favorable basis than single-station owners, there is "a strong presumption in this direction."

"While none of the foregoing discussion of advantages of multiple owners has been considered in the context of the Sherman [antitrust] Act or the Robinson-Patman Act," he said, "it is interesting to note that the assistant attorney general, Antitrust Division, stated to the Antitrust Subcommittee, House Judiciary Committee, that 'Ownership of a large number of stations by a single interest raises antitrust problems' because multiple owners are in a position 'to use tactics similar to those of Griffith, Schine and Crescent motion picture circuits by capitalizing on mass purchasing power and by combining their outlets in single-station markets with their outlets in multiple-station markets.'"

What are the merits of multiple ownership?

Dean Barrow could find few.

It is argued, he said, that multiple owners constitute a countervailing force to the networks' power to bargain. However, he said, the remedy for undue exercise of power by networks "would seem to lie in changing the terms of the network-affiliate relationship rather than through a relaxation of the multiple ownership rules."

It is argued, he said, that multiple owners are in a better position to provide better program service than single-station owners. "These are sweeping assertions which by their nature are not susceptible to empirical proof," he said.

Perhaps one of the most persuasive arguments that has been made on behalf of multiple owners, Dean Barrow said, "is that such combinations offer the only available outlet for the development of the uhf portion of the spectrum."

The fact is, however, that relatively few of the large multiple owners (NBC, CBS and Storer) have acquired uhf stations and some of the multiple owners that acquired uhf stations have already disposed of them or are in the process of doing so.

In summary, said Dean Barrow, "There has been little evidence adduced which confirms the proposition that multiple owners, per se, serve the public interest with greater effectiveness than do single owners."

Dean Barrow turned then to the two principal suggestions which have been advanced for changes in the existing rules.

The suggestion to base an ownership limit on population coverage: Not feasible, said Dean Barrow. The 25% of total population which has been proposed in Congress [BT, Jan. 7] would result in a substantial increase in the number of stations multiply owned.

Excluding the first five markets, a multiple owner could own stations in the next 20 markets and be within 25% of the total population. Even with considerably smaller population percentage limits, say 10%, the opportunity for increases in the number of stations to be multiply owned would exist. Also, population changes would create problems of eventual divestiture for owners with stations in expanding markets.

The suggestion that the multiple ownership be determined case by case. Full of problems, said Dean Barrow. "Given meaningful standards, the full factual background provided by an administrative hearing, and the personnel necessary to inquire thoroughly into the issues, such a rule should be workable. . . . In practice, however, the tendency has been to rely on the numerical limitation, hearings have been few, and no application by a multiple owner for the television station has been denied on the ground of undue concentration."

If the present numerical ceiling were eliminated, he said, the case by case procedure could not work effectively without hearings in "substantially all cases."
AMANA SAYS NETWORK UNFAIR, DROPS PHIL SILVERS SPONSORSHIP

WHAT appeared to be the first public instance of a national advertiser dropping a network tv property after network billing and discount disclosures by the Cellar House Antitrust Subcommittee was disclosed in Chicago last week amid charges of high tv costs and alleged rate card inequities involving discount systems.

George C. Foerstner, executive vice president of Amana Refrigeration Inc., charged that network discount methods used to which advertisers have expressed concern over network rate methods under which advertisers receive varying discounts, depending upon the particular plan and other business placed with the network involved. He said he felt conformance with established rate cards "is no defense," and hinted Amana may "take action" on the discount issue.

In New York, a CBS-TV network spokesman said that "Despite Mr. Foerstner's statement, the Phil Silvers Show continues to be one of the most popular on television. Such astute advertisers as R. J. Reynolds, J. B. Williams, and Procter & Gamble immediately purchased the alternate week periods relinquished by Amana."

"CBS-TV advertisers can earn discounts on the terms and conditions set forth in CBS-TV's published rate cards. These terms and conditions are applied uniformly to all CBS-TV advertisers."

While not citing the Cellar House disclosures per se, Mr. Foerstner made plain that release of the figures "probably brought it (Amana's decision to cancel) to a head." He said his complaint was based on the proposition that R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. had paid 20% less for the same package (Silvers Show) because of discounts it enjoyed with CBS-TV and felt this was "illegal."

He said he arrived at the 20% figure based on the basis of data published in BT last fall [BT, Nov. 19, 1956], which showed Reynolds receiving a 25% discount and Amana 5% for the period January-June 1956. The data was submitted by the networks, released by the Cellar House and published by BT as public record.

Mr. Foerstner said he had some knowledge of the discount variances last October, before their public disclosure, but did not know the exact amount of the discounts. He claimed that CBS-TV's rate cards are complex and noted some advertisers have received as much as 25% discounts under different rate plan provisions, which he described as "confusing."

Multi-product advertisers enjoy substantial discounts which are unfair, he declared. As an example, he cited Toni and Paper Mate, which he said receive larger discounts because of their absorption by Gillette Co. Mr. Foerstner reported the cost of the Phil Silvers Show had risen from $170,000 per month in 1955, when the company first bought the series, to $270,000 per month when Amana dropped it.

If Amana were to follow network practices within its own industry, Mr. Foerstner added, the company would find itself "hauled up before the Federal Trade Commission for violation of the Robinson-Patman Act." Amana may return to television this fall, he said, but intends to increase its print advertising in 1957.

Amana is a relatively small company, Mr. Foerstner pointed out, with an annual advertising budget of about $4 million. Rather than continue spending $3 million of that sum in network tv, he said, Amana will intensify its magazine and newspaper advertising.

In the past, Amana has sponsored NCAA football and basketball on television and purchased participations in other programs. Its products include freezers, refrigerator-freezer combinations and air-conditioners. Amana agencies are Maury, Lee & Marshall for tv and MacFarland, Aveyard & Co. for consumer and trade magazines.

Weiss Named President In LW&S Realignment

A TOP-LEVEL executive realignment at Lewin, Williams & Saylor Inc., New York and Newark, moving up Executive Vice President Sidney Matthew Weiss to presidency of the agency, was announced Thursday. Mr. Weiss' election had been expected for several weeks after A. W. Lewin announced that he would resign the board chairmanship [CLOSED CIRCUIT, Dec. 31].

Mr. Lewin has been succeeded by Walter T. Pollock, formerly senior vice president, who now becomes executive vice president. Daniel J. Connolly, secretary and assistant treasurer was named treasurer, and Wray D. Kennedy, a vice president and account supervisor, was elected secretary-assistant treasurer. At the same time, the board announced that Mr. Kennedy and Leonard Newsteder, vice president and general manager of the Newark office, have been added to the board. In another move to broaden LW&S management and ownership, the number of stockholders was increased to provide ownership to more than 20% of the agency's employes.

In an unrelated step, Lewin, Williams & Saylor also last week announced overseas affiliation with a British agency, Dudley Turner & Vincent Ltd., London.

Mr. Weiss joined A. W. Lewin Co. in 1941 to establish the New York operations, and was elected executive vice president and treasurer in 1950. Mr. Pollock came to the agency the following year, when Williams & Saylor Inc., of which he was a principal, merged with the Lewin organization. He became senior vice president in 1955. Mr. Kennedy, a vice president since 1954, joined LW&S in 1947 after an association with J. Walter Thompson Co. Mr. Newsteder has been with the agency since 1944 and vice president and general manager of the New York office since 1947.

According to Mr. Weiss, the agency's billing has grown "tenfold" since 1941, with 1956 representing a 20% growth of that of 1955. He expects the agency to reach the $10 million category this year.

RADIO-TV ASSESSED AT NRDGA MEETING

- Three groups hear tv pitch
- Store men compare media

THREE separate retail buying sessions held in conjunction with the 46th annual meeting of the National Retail Dry Goods Assn. in New York last week heard a Television Bureau of Advertising message that "television is a must-buy medium for retailers."

The speaker making the rounds of the individual retail buying groups—Workwright Buying Office, Frederick Atkins Buying Office and the Independent Retails Syndicate—was Howard P. Abrahams, director of retail sales at TVB. Among those attending the sessions were sales promotion and advertising directors and store managers as well as the retail buyers.

Mr. Abrahams reminded the retailers that tv as a "must-buy" was of particular importance not only in reaching "in-town" customers but also those moving to the suburbs in increasing numbers. He said, "the department stores' best customer—the young housewife, large-family household—it, happily, television's largest consumer as well."

He also pointed to tv's flexibility and use for special events, sales and other promotion, but emphasized that "tv should be used on a continuing basis to be most effective."

In a strike against the "myth" of "complexity" in tv commercials, Mr. Abrahams declared: "this plain just ain't so. With available materials and tools, with available talent anybody in advertising can successfully develop hard-hitting, effective television commercials."

Department store tv success stories, case histories and a demonstration of how the finished tv commercial develops from its rough beginning on storyboard, completed
At the NRDGA convention, William J. McLaughlin, sales promotion manager of McCurdy & Co., Rochester, N. Y., and chairman of NRDGA's sales promotion division, speaking on cooperative advertising, emphasized that an item in a store's co-op plan could be featured on radio or television.

He suggested:

"Let each store form its own cooperative advertising policy. Let each store carefully compute all production costs plus line age establish a total cost. Once you have set the true total cost, put it in writing. Your resource will recognize your honest efforts to work with him in complete harmony. He will have a comprehensive picture of your promotional program."

A. H. Kindler, treasurer and controller of G. M. McKelvey Co., Youngstown, Ohio, told a group of controllers and sales promotion executives at the session, of the rising cost of newspaper line age. He noted that as of Dec. 31, 1956, retailers were paying about 38% more per milline than ten years earlier.

"Now when you compare that," he asserted, "with the movement of department store advertising, you, department store entrepreneur, can understand that if the controller does develop a too serious case of slide rule amnesia, somebody else is going to develop insomnia. Department stores do have stockholders. They have been pretty patient about retail profits, which have been too low too long."

Switching quickly to tv, Mr. Kindler observed:

"We have another fellow fighting for a share of the budget—Mr. Tv. Controllers won't argue the case for or against tv. Undoubtedly it has its place, but only that. As a general proposition, I have seen little in the nature of retail tv that quite measures up to newspapers in displaying a panoramic personality of the store. Good as it is in item or event promotion, it is still supplementary, often providing good interference for the guy carrying the ball, your faithful paper boy!"

Radio got a brief but favorable shake from Paul Jenkins, a silk fabrics buyer of Jordan Marsh Co., Boston, who spoke at a piece goods session. He reviewed the buying of piece goods for the branch store.

In suggesting that the branch be included with the main store in advertising, Mr. Jenkins pointed out that larger city newspapers and radio stations are generally read and listened to "quite extensively" in suburban areas.

Turning to local newspaper and/or local radio for placement of suburban store advertising, radio received Mr. Jenkins' most favorable recommendation.

"Our experience," he said, "has shown that local newspapers, some of their limitations, have not met with desired results. We use them occasionally, but in most cases just to notify of special events and store hours.

"On the other hand, local radio has proved to be quite effective and is used frequently."

EAST MEETS WEST FOR AD WEEK COMMERCIAL

ADVERTISING is a two-way street—it's important to the listener-viewer as well as to the advertiser.

That's the theme of commercials which have been prepared by Cunningham & Walsh for use on tv and radio stations throughout the country during Advertising Week, starting Feb. 10. C&W is the task force agency for Advertising Week, which is co-sponsored by Advertising Federation of America and the Advertising Assn. of the West. Thomas D'Arcy Brophy, board chairman of Kenton & Eckhardt, is chairman for the observance.

The tv spot, financed by the three national tv networks and said to be the first ever produced for Advertising Week, is a 30-minute commercial which combines live-action and animated film in such fashion that the animated portion introduces the live sequence and also may be used separately throughout the year by itself as a 20-second commercial.

The animated segment features a little girl and her doll house in illustration of the accompanying jingle: "Life is the easiest, housework the breeziest, foods are the freeziest, prices the pleasiest—living standards rise, when products advertise—for your home."

The live-action portion features Hit Parade dancer Cynthia Scott in choreography to illustrate the theme, narrated by announcer Cy Harrice, that advertising "makes you the best prepared shopper in the world because it keeps you alert to the best features of any product... ."

C&W's radio-tv department, under vice president Ed Mahoney, conceived the tv commercial and supervised production; Tv Spots Inc., Los Angeles, designed the animation, and Elliot-Unger-Elliott filmed the live-action portion in New York. The sets were designed by Manny Girard to retain the flavor of the animated "introduction": Tom Hanson of Hit Parade handled the choreography, and Jean Vaughn, costume designer for "Inherit the Wind," designed Miss Scott's costume.

C&W's Tom De Huff, writer-producer; Dave Garner, writer; Martin Nodell, art director, and Pete Eterson, Hollywood tv representative, served as supervisors and contact man. Music was arranged by Ralph Burns for a 14-piece orchestra and two female voices.

C&W's radio-tv vice president Mahoney traced the coast-to-coast genesis of the commercial:

"Beginning with Cunningham & Walsh on the East Coast, the creative phase of writing and storyboarding was followed by musical scoring. Representatives of the west coast animation firm, and the east coast live producer, were present. Storyboard and track then went to the west coast where Sam Nicholson and the creative animation staff of Tv Spots Inc. drew their ideas from the musical track. A style was developed and forwarded to the East Coast where E.U-E's studio scenic designer, costume designer and cameraman evolved live backgrounds based on the animation. When the live portions had been filmed, the answer print was screened in the presence of both west coast and east coast firm representatives and the track re-mixed and edited to complete the print.

"The success of this east coast-west coast supervision project that there need be no conflict or problems on trans-continental commercial production—provided that the agency sets up pre-production planning with both companies and maintains continuous production control."

For radio, C&W produced nine announcement scripts—two 60-second, three 30-second, three 14-second, and one 9-second announcement—all pointing up advantages the public gets from advertising (including the benefits of radio itself). These were written by Messrs. De Huff and Garner of C&W, and recorded by Mr. Harrice.

Because the tv commercial was financed by the tv networks, it is being distributed by them to their affiliates and is available to independent stations, at no cost, upon request to Jim Proud, campaign coordinator, Advertising Federation of America, 250 W. 57th St., New York 19. Scripts of the radio commercials, and one transcription containing all nine spots, are being offered by AFA and AAW to radio stations at $1.50 per platter, to defray the cost of the transcription.

DRY GOODS DOLLARS

VOLUME of the typical department store last year was 5% above 1955 in dollars and 1% above in sales units, according to a National Retail Dry Goods Assn. survey in which approximately 300 department and specialty stores throughout the country took part. Dollar sales for the first half of this year should increase about 3% over the corresponding period of a year ago, with dollar operating profits expected to hold steady.

NRDGA in compiling survey data found 23% of the 300 stores covered intend to spend more for radio and tv this year; 54% will spend the same, while another 23% will spend less. In other media: newspapers—26% more; 58% same and 16% less; direct mail—27% more, 62% the same and 11% less, and display—25% more; 68% the same and only 7% less.

Alan Sidnam and William R. Hesse, both vice presidents of Benton & Bowles, New York, have been appointed executive vice president and senior vice president, respectively, Robert E. Lusk, president of the agency, announced last week.

Mr. Sidnam has been with the agency since 1945 and a vice president since 1950. Mr. Hesse has been with the firm one year and before that was with BBDO, New York, for eight years as a vice president and account supervisor.

Grove Labs Tries New Tack With 'Reason Why' Commercials

GROVE LABS, St. Louis, obviously believes in practicing what its executives preach.

Two months after its marketing vice president, Gene K. Foss, told that city's sales executive that the drug industry's commercials were missing the boat by stating their advertisements full of generalities, failing to explain the "reason why" [B&T, Nov. 12, 1956], Grove has revamped its copy and devised an approach to proprietary drug advertising that it describes as "not only unusual, but radical, too."

It is making direct reference to a specific medical journal article which reaffirms what Grove has been saying all along about its new Citrof bioflavonoid compound.

In the cold preparation's current TV spot campaign, placed by Dowd, Redfield & Johnstone, New York, last week in about 95 coast-to-coast markets and scheduled to run through the end of March, announce Milton Cross cites the 1,600 clinical case studies conducted by Grove on office and industrial workers and quotes Industrial Medicine and Surgery, a medical trade journal.

Credited with this new copy approach are Edmund F. Johnstone, DRJ's executive vice president, Gene McMasters, account executive on the Clayton Labs Div. of Grove, and Mr. Foss' marketing team.

Duffy Still on Critical List

BEN DUFFY, president of BBDO, New York, who was stricken with a cerebral hemorrhage early in December, was still on the critical list at Harkness Pavilion in New York last week. His doctors said he was no longer in a coma and was progressing as well as could be expected.

In the above summary, the monitoring occurred the week ending Nov. 3, 1956.

The Hooper Index of Broadcast Advertisers is a measure of the extent to which a sponsor's commercials are seen or heard. Each commercial is assigned a number of "commercial units," according to its length. This number is then multiplied by the audience rating attributed to that commercial. When each commercial has thus been evaluated, the results for all commercials of each sponsor are added to form the HIBA. For further details of preparation, see the basic reports published by C. E. Hooper Inc., Broadcast Advertisers Reports Inc. and American Research Bureau Inc. Above summary is prepared for use solely by Broadcasting * Telecasting. No reproduction permitted.

"Commercial Units": Commercials are taken from the monitored reports published by Broadcast Advertisers Reports Inc. A "commercial unit" is defined as a commercial exposure of more than 15 seconds but usually not more than one minute in duration. Four "commercial units" are attributed to a 30-minute program, and in the same proportion for programs of other lengths. A "station identification" equals one-half "commercial unit."

Audience ratings for television, both national and local, are obtained from American Research Bureau Inc. Those for radio are the ratings of C. E. Hooper Inc. in the case of stations broadcasting the average of the ratings for the preceding and following time period is used wherever feasible; otherwise, the rating is that of either the preceding or following time period, normally the preceding."

Advertising to Help Increase Food Sales 50%, Says Strouse

A 50% INCREASE in food sales was predicted by Norman H. Strouse, president of J. Walter Thompson Co., New York, in an address before the annual sales meeting of the Minneapolis Star and Journal in Minneapolis.

He told the group that a $15 billion advertising volume will be necessary to sell the output of a $600 billion gross national product which is generally predicted for 1965 or shortly thereafter. This would represent a ratio of 2.1% of national advertising to personal consumption.

"There is one question but that we can produce the goods and services to meet this goal," he said. "The challenge to us engaged in selling is to maintain the velocity of consumption. The next eight years will represent the most critical test of our talents. If we succeed, it may well represent the finest contribution to American democracy we will ever have the opportunity to make."

In order to increase food sales by 50%, Mr. Strouse said that within the next 10 years the problem is to teach people to want not more but better foods. Three factors, he said, will determine the success or failure to attain this objective: (1) innovation, which brings out of the research laboratory new and exciting products to make housekeeping an art rather than a burden; (2) personnel, planned well in advance and (3) advertising, harnessed strategically to the growth plans of companies, building a fundamental asset into the corporation just as real as plant facilities."

Geyer Names Happ to Post

LEWIS H. HAPPACTING media director and senior buyer, Geyer Adv., has been appointed media director of the agency's New York, Detroit, and Dayton offices, Sam M. Ballard, Geyer president, announced last week. Media directors in the local offices will continue, and will report to Mr. Happ. With Geyer since 1954, Mr. Happ previously served in various media posts with Lynn Baker Inc., BBDO, Pedlar & Ryan and other agencies.

BUYS AND BUYERS

TOP TEN’S COMBINED GROSS SURPASSES ALL OTHERS IN OCTOBER

HOW much of a dent in total network tv billing do the so-called “top 10” national advertisers make? According to figures based on Publishers Information Bureau reports, the answer in rough statistics is staggering.

Procter & Gamble last October spent more than $3.8 million gross in the medium, Gillette’s outlay that month was more than $2.5 million, or, a combined total of over $6.3 million. This sum is nearly $3 million under the total in network tv placed that month by all advertisers of toiletries and toilet goods, only a little over $1.5 million less than all expenditures by network tv advertisers of food and food products.

It was almost double the total chalked up in the medium by smoking materials advertisers and, in fact, a higher expenditure than that made in total for each of any of the other product categories. The 10 top advertisers combined spending in total represents roughly 35% of the more than $45.5 million gross billing in network tv by all advertisers in the month of October. Each of the main product categories showed great advances in time purchases over the Jan.-Oct. period, the most noticeable exception being smoking materials, nearly $1 million under. Some of the comparative gains were tremendous. For example, drugs and remedies bounded ahead from about $18.1 million to more than $31.6 million; automotive was up over $10 million, foods increased by more than $7 million, household equipment by nearly $3 million, soaps by a whopping $13 million and the toiletries category chalked up a healthy increase of over $7.8 million.

BARDACH AIRS TIMEBUYER GRIPES; HURLBURT ANSWERS FOR STATIONS

A SESSION dealing with the "gripes" and needs of agency timebuyers was featured in New York Tuesday at the timebuying and selling seminar held at the Shelton Hotel by the Radio & Television Executives Society.

Speaker was Peter Bardach, broadcast account executive, Foote, Cone & Belding, New York, substituting for Ruth Jones, broadcast media supervisor at J. Walter Thompson, New York, who was unable to attend.

Mr. Bardach ran through a collection of complaints and suggestions he had gathered from other timebuyers. They covered ratings, rate cards, rate increases, availabilities, post-buy practices, merchandising, calls to clients, and projecting a buy against competition.

Randy Hurlbut, director of tv sales promotion and research, Peters, Griffin, Woodward, as director of the session presented the stations' viewpoints or "gripes."

This week (tomorrow), a luncheon session is slated to explore "Network and/or Spot," with George Abrams, vice president of Revlon Inc., the speaker scheduled.

Summed up, these were the high points of Mr. Bardach's discussion:

Rating services: Time salesmen should be aware that when an agency subscribes to a service other than the one the salesman or the station it represents uses, the timebuyer is following the decision of the research or media head. Thus, a representative or station manager is wasting time if he is selling against the rating figures of the timebuy.

He also warned against salesmen using "outdated" ratings and a "negative" approach.

Rate cards: As rate cards—particularly in radio—become "more complicated," time salesmen should be well acquainted with the changes and keep the timebuyer informed, especially wherein the rate change can be of advantage to him. Stations ought to publish all special packages and discounts. Buyers should be told of rate increases—if he has a schedule on the station, drop him a personal note.

Availabilities: Timebuyers prefer a listed, typewritten sheet of availabilities, but not "cluttered" with extra information (the latter can be attached). When a certain number of availabilities is sought, don't come up with the exact number or too many—approximately double the amount sought is preferable. Let the timebuyer know when his schedule adjacency or program changes. In any event, avoid "old" or "non-existent" availabilities.

After the buy: The timebuyer ought to be informed on possible improvements of his schedule. The better offers should go to those already with accounts on stations rather than to new clients. Unfortunately, some timebuyers do not hear from stations again until it is time for renewal. A must: Notify the agency of any "discrepancies" in the schedule, that is, omissions, make-goods etc.

Merchandising: Timebuyers today are primarily interested in "a good media buy." Merchandising is considered secondary, though buyers would "like to know about it." Radio, in particular, can be sold well on the basis of media efficiency. When the timebuyer is promised something via merchandising, however, the station ought to report on results. Merchandising was one of the ways radio fought back during its "decline"—and now has remained as a "hangover" from those years.

Calls to agency and client: While agencies practice an "open-door" policy to sellers, the seller at least should call well in advance of his appearance. Direct sales calls on clients are okay with the agencies, but the agencies ought to be told about it by the caller rather than be informed about it later by the visited client.

Against competition: It shouldn't be necessary for the seller to project his pitch against the competition. If he has the best buy, why not tell the story?

Mr. Hurlbut teed off with statements that took the form of questions: Do timebuyers know their stations? Do they visit them? Is there more a failure of "communication" between agency and station rather than selling "faults" alone? Are not agencies too prone to cancel on the basis of rating only?

He also emphasized that the broadcast business "is as perishable [a commodity] as a bunch of bananas." Mr. Hurlbut deplored an agency practice of demanding a quick list of availabilities and then failing to come through with an answer to the station representative with comparable speed.

He was critical, too, of an attitude among some agency people of "looking down the nose" at station executives.

Near the session's conclusion, Mr. Bardach took a critical swipe at "too much" marketing data sent by stations to the agencies. He suggested broadcasters concentrate on "what they are selling: circulation and personalities." Market information so far as selling time, while of some interest, actually can be considered to be "superfluous." Many a timebuyer's file literally "bulges" with such data, he said.

Gillespie Named K&E Director

DAVID J. GILLESPIE, vice president and senior account executive in the Detroit office, Kenyon & Eckhardt, has been elected a director of the agency and has been named manager of the Detroit office. He started with K&E in 1936 as office boy, broke into media the following year as a space buyer and successively rose through various other departments. In 1954 he transferred to Detroit.

HOT OFF THE GRIDIRON

DESPITE head-shaking that "it can't be done," Doherty, Clifford, Steers & Shenfield successfully tackled the problem of televising an on-the-scene, live commercial at a "bowl" football game.

With ex-gridiron star Doak Walker (extreme right above) and sportscaster Bud Palmer (with him) set to deliver Vitalis commercials during the Cotton Bowl game Jan. 1 DCSS felt the spots would attract stronger viewer interest if done directly from the Dallas, Texas, event.

Facilities were the big headache—how to get power lines and tv cables into the bowl for the commercials. DCSS's TV Producer Russ Armbruster and Account Executive Payson Fairchild studied the stadium for the best sites, technically and photographically, and chose one at the rear of the great sunken arena. Then a complete remote unit was rented from WBAP-TV Fort Worth solely for use on the commercials.

Thus millions of viewers of NBC-TV got their Vitalis message with real Cotton Bowl atmosphere as Texas Christian beat Syracuse by one point on New Year's Day.

New Trademark Drive Set by Chesterfield

LIGGETT & MYERS Tobacco Co., New York, which last week launched a heavy schedule in newspapers and magazines for its new king-sized Chesterfield trade-mark character, “The Chesterfield King,” last week signed for three programs in the Hey, Jeannie situation-comedy series on CBS-TV (Sat., 9:30-10 p.m. EST) to introduce the “King” to the tv audience. Procter & Gamble Co. (through Compton Adv., New York), regular sponsor of Hey, Jeannie, will step aside for these three shows only—reportedly Feb. 9, 23, and March 2—and is expected to return to fulltime sponsorship March 9.

Liggett & Myers, through McCann-Erickson, New York, will also supplement print media ads featuring “King Chesterfield” with a special 13-week radio announcement campaign starting Feb. 4 in more than 100 markets. No budget figures were disclosed.

Undecided was the fate of Noah’s Ark, the filmed color series on NBC-TV. Officials of both agencies concerned—McCann-Erickson for Chesterfields, Doyle Dane Bernbach for Max Factor of Hollywood (cosmetics)—met late in the week with their clients to decide whether to beach Ark. Though no decision had been made on Friday, the program probably will be dropped either after the Feb. 26 telecast or midway in the second cycle. In any case, however, indications pointed to retention of the Tuesday, 8:30-9 p.m. EST time slot by the present sponsors. It was learned that one of the programs under study as a possible replacement is a new packaged 30-minute filmed suspense program originally titled Impact and redubbed Crisis.

U-I Begins Tv Spot Campaign

UNIVERSAL-International (Universal Pictures Co., N. Y.), through its agency, Cunningham & Walsh, last week began what it termed its “largest tv spot campaign” to sell “Battle Hymn,” a new Cinemascope color motion picture on the life of Col. Dean E. Hess, the “flying parson” of the Korean war, which premieres today (Monday) in Marvin, Ohio.

The campaign, running through Feb. 2, calls for a lineup of 260 spots in 19 coast-to-coast markets. Copy is slanted for appeal to woman audiences.

Ford Maps Campaign for Edsel; Plans to Use $12-15 Million

NETWORK tv, possibly a series of four or five shows, figures in 1957 advertising plans of the Edsel Div., Ford Motor Co., which is expected to introduce its new medium-priced automobile next fall.

Edsel and its agency, Foote, Cone & Belding, are currently mapping advertising strategy for a media campaign to be set in motion a few months before the new car is unveiled. Under study is a series of special programs on a once-a-month basis, it was understood. Specific media plans have not been formulated yet. Edsel is expected to spend approximately $12-$15 million on advertising during the 1957-58 season, with a sizable sum for broadcast media.

Discussions were held in recent weeks by Edsel, FCB & ABC-TV for possible alternate-week sponsorship of the new Frank Sinatra series this fall but fell through. Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co. (Chesterfields) and Lambers-Hudnut Div. of Warner-Lambert Pharmaceutical Co. are now set as co-sponsors.

Meanwhile, Foote, Cone & Belding is presently in the process of staffing media and other departments in its new Detroit office, which it opened last summer.

Carroll Adv. Formed in Texas

A NEW advertising agency with more than 20 clients, Carroll Adv. Inc., has been formed in San Antonio, Tex., with Brooke Carroll as president and general manager. Other principals include Ernie Brant, account executive and marketing director; Catherine O’Neill, creative director; John Nord, art director; Estelle Gindorf, media director, and Frank Weinbold, auditor. All formerly were associated with Thomas F. Conroy Inc., also San Antonio.

Media Plans Not Affected By Latest Chrysler Change

NO “pronounced” increase or change in advertising placement or media emphasis is anticipated by Chrysler Corp. as a result of its decision to abandon dealer co-op programs assessments and absorb the costs of all national and local advertising, according to a company executive.

Assumption of direction of all advertising by Chrysler for its four divisions—Dodge, Plymouth, Chrysler and DeSoto—became effective Jan. 2, with the factory eliminating co-op contributions and revising upward the cost of automobiles to its dealers.

James Cope, vice president in charge of public relations for Chrysler, told B&I the new practice of administering national and local advertising monies would merely “simplify bookkeeping and increase efficiency in placing copy.” He said it’s unlikely there will be any substantial boost in amount of actual advertising placed through agencies.

Mr. Cope declined to say, however, how particular media would be affected, if at all, by the dropping of dealer co-op programs—or specifically whether this presages a reappraisal of national vs. local media and network-spot vs. local radio-tv. The plan is expected to have little effect on various large city automotive dealer groups which place their own advertising with relative autonomy.

Chrysler spokesmen indicated that “no substantial change” in media emphasis between national and local is foreseen. However, station representatives contacted by B&I in Chicago reflected the general reaction that national media, including radio-tv and particularly spot, would benefit in the long run. They pointed out that local co-op money traditionally has been uncontrollable by station representatives.

Notwithstanding the new policy, Chrysler reportedly will maintain separate national and local co-op funds for advertising at the factory level and add local costs (formerly contributed by dealers) to the final price of each car delivered to its dealers. General Motors instituted a similar plan last December: Ford Motor Co. and others are expected to adopt some variation in the months ahead.

TWO-HOUR SPECTACULAR

GENERAL MOTORS reportedly is considering the sponsorship of a two-hour spectacular on NBC-TV next fall that would be used to introduce the 1958 model of one of its automobile divisions. The report comes shortly after release of NBC-TV’s analysis showing that its spectaculars and special one-shot programs have been enjoying higher ratings this season than either last year or the year before (B&I, Jan. 7). Show under consideration for GM is “Annie Get Your Gun.” NBC-TV’s file is said to be negotiable for Mary Martin to play the lead role. No date for the program has been set as yet.
He's the WHAS-TV Channel 11 figure, reminding viewers in this instance of WHAS-TV's popular 6:00-6:15 pm, Monday through Friday interview program, "Small Talk". At other hours he addresses a typewriter and becomes a sportscaster to promote another WHAS-TV production, "Sportraits".

Many local and national advertisers recognize the value of participating schedules on these and other well-produced WHAS-TV shows. The Channel 11 figure constantly reminds viewers of WHAS-TV's excellent programs.

NATIONAL Board of Fire Underwriters, New York, will make its first use of spot broadcasting on a paid basis for 13 weeks starting March 1. Through J. M. Mathes Inc., New York, NBFI—which has about 220 capital stock member insurance firms—will blanket 116 markets (using 116 radio and 10 tv stations) with the message: “Do you have sufficient fire insurance?”

The campaign was formulated by Lewis A. Vincent, NBFI general manager, Lan Miller, public relations committee chairman of the National Assn. of Insurance Agents, James R. Mathews, NAIA assistant manager, and David C. Gibson, Mathes vice president and account executive.

Larus’ New Holiday Campaign Slated For Test Down East
LARUS & BROTHER Co., Richmond, Va., will market-test in New England beginning Feb. 4 a new premium and filter campaign on behalf of Holiday cigarettes. The drive, using radio and tv spots in addition to print, will be used nationwide after the regional test.

According to Charles Dallas Reach, board chairman, Reach, Yates & Mattoon, New York and Newark, N. J., agency for Larus, the premium gift plan is based on the installment theory. Gifts will be obtained after a downpayment of 15 Holiday coupons (one to a pack) with the balance paid there-after by the smoker in additional coupons.

Along with this premium offer, Holiday will take on a new look. The cigarette has been redesigned with a “jet flow” filter and is packaged in a king-sized, flip-top box.

Gold Seal Co. Reports
New Record for Sales
WITH a tip of the hat to television’s selling prowess, Gold Seal Co., Bismarck, N. D., last week reported company sales in November 1956 were 178% greater than in the same month of 1955, setting an all-time record.

In addition, incomplete compilations on last month show it to be nearly 30% ahead of December 1955, according to Gold Seal President Harold Schafer.

Sales of the firm’s Glass Wax (cleaner) was the principal reason for the surge, he said, pointing out that an idea worked out with its agency, Campbell-Mithun Inc., to use Glass Wax with Christmas decoration stencils provided the greatest impetus.

After testing the stencil idea in certain markets before Christmas 1955, a full-fledged campaign was laid out for last Christmas. Stencils were promoted on the NBC-TV Perry Como Show for six weeks and on the ABC-TV Mickey Mouse Club commencing Nov. 28. All this was supplemented by tv spots in New York, Chicago, Los Angeles and Detroit over a six-week period.

Anheuser-Busch, for New Beer,
Buys KMOX Baseball Package
ALL BASEBALL games of the St. Louis Cardinals will be broadcast this year on an 11-state radio network of about 90 stations, keyed from KMOX St. Louis. Busch Bavarian, new beer being introduced by Anheuser-Busch, that city, will sponsor half of the package. Last year the company’s Budweiser beer sponsored the full package.

All broadcasts will be live. Announcers will be Harry Caray, Joe Garagiola and Jack Buck. The contract marks the third year KMOX has carried the Cardinals. KTVI (TV) St. Louis will teletcast Cardinals road games, also under Busch Bavarian sponsorship. Agency for Anheuser-Busch is Gardner Adv. Agency, St. Louis.

Spot Report Changes Format;
Product Grouping Offered
CHANGE in format of the Spot Radio Report, effective with the January issue, was announced last week by Executives Radio-
TV Service, Larchmont, N. Y. The most notable change will be that the spot radio schedules of advertisers will be grouped alphabetically under specific product categories, whereas previously the information had been listed under individual advertising agency headings.

The new format, according to James M. Boerst, publisher, will “greatly facilitate the finding of specific product listings and make the report considerably more useful to advertisers, agencies, stations and station representatives.” The monthly report contains approximately 400 listings of spot radio advertisers, as provided by a total of 87 advertising agencies active in radio and television.

Maturity makes haste slowly.

We like quick sales, too. But if...from our years of experience...we feel too hurried action endangers future success, we say so.

We've found it pays to help clients choose between hasty decisions...and wise ones.

'Requiem For A Heavyweight' by Rod Serling presented last night on 'Playhouse 90' was a play of overwhelming force and tenderness... an artistic triumph."

"A dramatic knockout."
— New York Daily News

"A masterful contribution to TV Drama."— Broadcasting-Telecasting

"'Playhouse 90' in its opening month produced four plays of distinct merit and under-proving freakiness."
— Newsweek
As television ended its first decade two programs eloquently testified to its boundless vitality: the regularly scheduled weekly dramatic series Playhouse 90 and the hour-and-a-half one-time special broadcast, "The Secret Life of Danny Kaye."

Each presented a great actor in a stunning performance, won vast audiences and unstinted praise as a major television contribution, took infinite pains to produce. One yielded its producers tangible financial reward; the other nothing but critical acclaim.

It would be difficult to say which was more profitable to television.

In these two programs the medium again brilliantly demonstrated its unique capacity to respond to the varied needs, interests and aspirations of the American people. Broadcast on CBS Television, they were produced with the enthusiasm and imagination that characterize the entire program schedule of the network.

This kind of programming for profit helps explain why Americans spent more time watching television during 1956 than during any previous year, and why they spent as much time watching CBS Television as the other two networks combined.

Seaboard Plea Denied In Franco Litigation

A MOTION by Seaboard Drug Co. (Merci- cin), New York, to vacate a $45,000 warrant of attachment placed against it by Carlo Franco Assoc., New York, in the agency's $356,718 breach of promise suit, was "de- nied in all respects" Thursday by New York Supreme Court Justice Vincent A. Lupiano.

The drug manufacturing concern is charged with having broken, without notice, a one-year contract that was due to expire next July 3. Its present agency, Grant Adv., New York, is accused of promoting the al- leged breach. Franco seeks $200,000 from Grant [B'T, Dec. 10, 1956, At Deadline, Dec. 24, 1956].

This second motion by the defendant, filed Dec. 7 by Seaboard President Harry Patterson (the first, calling upon Franco to put up a $200,000 bond to protect Seaboard's interests and stockholders, was de- nied Dec. 2) asked that the court vacate the $45,000 warrant of attachment or reduce it to $3,000. In his affidavit, Mr. Patterson said, "even if we were to assume for the purpose of argument that plaintiff was not properly dismissed for cause . . . it is ap- parent that (he) could be dismissed without cause, at any time, upon 90 days notice."

Franco Assoc., which seeks to recover from Seaboard 13% of the more than $1 million in billing that would ordinarily have been placed between the time the contract was breached and its actual expiration date, Mr. Patterson said, was "willfully and ma- liciously" setting forth "fabrications to create theoretical damages to (itself)." All Franco could demand, Mr. Patterson asserted, was 15% of the billing that would have been placed in the 90-day period following noti- fication of dismissal. Thus, instead of the $156,718 demanded by the plaintiff, Mr. Patterson continued, only 15% of $125,000— or $18,750—could be asked.

Chirurg Promotes Costello, Welch

SCOTT COSTELLO, account executive at the James Thomas Chirurg Agency, Boston and New York, has been promoted to gen- eral manager of the Boston operations and becomes a vice president, and Hillard W. Welch, also a Chirurg account executive, has been named supervisor of technical ac- counts of the Boston office.

Mr. Costello was associated with the Gris- wold-Eshelman Co., Cleveland, Ohio, and with Mumm, Maltay & Nichols, Inc., Colum- bia, Ohio, before joining the Chirurg agency in 1954.

Mr. Welch joined the agency in 1951 after several years with a candy manufac-
Now eight months after the introduction of VHF competition into this formerly all-UHF television market, the Nov. 1956 ARB proves the audience flows with the shows and not to any one particular type of transmitting equipment. Habit and top programming again keep KJEO in a dominating first position with station B (also UHF) in second place and the VHF following the pack. (The three former surveys during this eight month period also showed the same UHF dominance).

“MOST MEMORABLE CHARACTER IN AMERICAN FICTION” NOW FOR TV

Television’s first “Eastern”, Hawkeye and the Last of the Mohicans, based on James Fenimore Cooper’s famed Leatherstocking Tales, is the new action drama available to TV sponsors. Hawkeye, called by The Cambridge History of American Literature, “the most memorable character American fiction has given to the world,” faithfully recaptures for TV the melodrama of the early Eastern frontier days. It was filmed on location in authentic French-Indian war territory.

Heralded by amusement critics as having excellent “potential for all ages,” (Billboard, December 22, 1956), Hawkeye and the Last of the Mohicans presents a hero who is known and loved by all ages, described by The Saturday Review as “the most famous character the world over, in American fiction.” Because of the TV series’ attention to historical detail and its adult scripting, it is critically acclaimed as all-family fare, “not a juvenile show, but a good show for youngsters.”

It stars John Hart as Hawkeye and Lon Chaney as his faithful Mohican friend, Chingachgook, and is distributed by TPA (Television Programs of America, Inc.), 488 Madison Avenue, New York City.

Goodson-Todman Plans Entry Into Film Field

GOODSON-TODMAN Productions, New York, which has been exclusively in the live television packaging field until recently, last week announced plans for production of two half-hour and one one-hour tv film series. G-T's initial venture into the film field, centers around The Web, currently being produced in association with Screen Gems.

In line with the company's expansion into tv film activity, Bill Todman, partner, left New York for Hollywood last week for a two-week stay to iron out production and casting details on the one-hour Landmark (dramatizations around historical landmarks, such as Plymouth Rock) and the half-hour Ethan Allen and Buckley (adventurers of a sophisticated butler). Mr. Todman will confer with CBS-TV executives in Hollywood, according to a G-T spokesman, since both Ethan Allen and Landmark are planned as co-production projects with the network.

Tv-Movie News Service Firm Announced by Bruce Balaban

AS an outgrowth of the current high interest in feature films on television, Bruce Balaban, former tv film producer, last week announced the establishment of Tv-Movie News Service to provide stations free of charge with information and supplementary program materials on feature films and their stars. Mr. Balaban said he has "the closest cooperation" on the project of the major Hollywood studios.

Tv-Movie News Service will provide stations with background information on their own feature films libraries (stills, production notes), short films on current releases of major studios, records from current movies, information on feature films to be released each month so that stations can arrange for sale of spot time and for merchandising tie-ins.

Mr. Balaban has set up headquarters at 219 E. 44th St., New York, and will distribute his program materials through Modern Teleservice Inc. facilities in New York, Chicago and Los Angeles.

Falstaff Show in 71 Markets

FALSTAFF Brewing Corp., St. Louis, will begin sponsorship this month of MCA-TV's new half-hour film series, State Trooper, in 71 markets within the advertiser's distribution area. Dancer-Fitzgerald-Sample, according to MCA-TV, managed to clear 91% Class A time for the series despite "pre-emption of prime time by feature films and new network blockbusters."

Marx to MGM Tv Production Post

SAMUEL MARX, former 20th Century-Fox tv executive, last week was named to the post of executive in charge of all tv production at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. He will report to Charles (Bud) Barry, vice president in charge of tv operation for MGM.
CBS Foundation Inc.
News and Public Affairs Fellowships for 1957-1958

CBS Foundation Inc. announces the establishment at Columbia University in New York of a group of one-year CBS Foundation Fellowships, to begin in September 1957, for eligible persons engaged in news and public affairs in the radio and television field. The Fellows will have all University expenses paid and in addition will receive a stipend designed to cover living and other necessary costs during the fellowship year. Eight fellowships are offered for 1957-1958.

Purpose of the Fellowships
CBS Foundation Inc. has established the fellowships to offer a year of study for men and women engaged in Radio-TV news and public affairs who show promise of greater development and who seem most likely to benefit from the study year provided.

The fellowships make it possible for a holder to pursue credit or non-credit courses of his own choosing from the wide curriculum of Columbia University. The courses chosen should be those which, in the opinion of the Fellow and with the advice of a University representative, can contribute most advantageously to a broadening and strengthening of his background for continued work in news and public affairs. The courses would not, therefore, be limited to any general field; they might range across such varied fields as diplomatic history, economics, modern languages, Far Eastern affairs, political science, labor relations, nuclear science, etc.

In addition to the study program, CBS Foundation Fellows will meet from time to time as a group to hear invited speakers on subjects related to the news and public affairs field and to discuss these subjects with them; and they will be invited from time to time to observe and discuss news and public affairs programs and techniques at CBS Radio and CBS Television studios in New York.

The Fellowship Year
While Fellows will be expected to meet the attendance standards of the courses in which they enroll, no final examination or paper or report will be required. The year is intended to be one in which promising people can, through detachment from their routine work, find both formal and informal opportunities to build up their knowledge of particular subjects and, at the same time, increase their understanding of the potentialities of radio and television as media for news and public affairs programming.

The first year of the fellowships will be the academic year 1957-1958, starting in September 1957.

Address request for an application or other correspondence to:

WILLIAM C. ACKERMAN
Executive Director, CBS Foundation Inc.
65 Madison Avenue, New York 10, N.Y.

Applications must be received not later than March 1, 1957.
The Selecting Committee will announce its selections about May 1, 1957.

Requirements for Applicants
1. Qualification in one of the following categories:
   A. News and public affairs staff employees of (1) the CBS Radio Network and its six owned stations; (2) the 197 U.S. stations affiliated with CBS Radio, but not owned by it; (3) the CBS Television Network and its five owned stations; (4) the 184 U.S. stations affiliated with CBS Television, but not owned by it.
   B. Regular members of the staffs of non-commercial radio and television stations licensed to colleges and universities who are engaged for a substantial portion of their time in news and public affairs programs.
   C. Teachers of courses in radio and television news and public affairs techniques at colleges and universities.

2. A statement by the applicant's employer promising the applicant his present job, or an equivalent job, at the end of the fellowship year.

3. A statement covering the applicant's personal history; educational background; experience in news and public affairs; and the studies the applicant desires to pursue and the relation of these studies to work performed or contemplated.

The Selecting Committee (for 1957-1958)

On Behalf of the Public:
LEWIS W. DOUGLAS, former American Ambassador to Great Britain; former Member of Congress and Director of the Budget; Chairman of the Board, Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York.
JOSEPH E. JOHNSTON, President, Carnegie Endowment for International Peace; former Professor of History, Williams College; former officer of U.S. Department of State and adviser to U.S. delegations to the U.N.
BYRON PRICE, former Executive News Editor, Associated Press; Assistant Secretary-General, United Nations; U.S. Director of Censorship, World War II; awarded special Pulitzer citation for creation and administration of press and broadcasting wartime codes (1944).

On Behalf of Columbia University:
DR. JACQUES BARKIN, Dean of the Graduate Faculty
DR. JOHN A. KNOUT, Vice President and Provost

On Behalf of CBS Foundation Inc.:
SIG MICKELSON, Vice President in Charge of News and Public Affairs, CBS, Inc., and a member of the Board of CBS Foundation Inc.
EDWARD R. MURROW, News and Public Affairs broadcaster

The Selecting Committee will consider, among other factors, whether the stipend offered each applicant will be sufficient to meet living and other necessary expenses to the applicant. In cases where an applicant has above-average living expenses because of the size of family or above-average travel and transportation expenses because of the distance of his city or town from New York, consideration will be given to the possibility of a special allowance. All expenses at Columbia University (including tuition and special charges in connection with the fellowship program) will be paid in full for each Fellow.

Mr. Lawrence said that the studios and production staffs will remain separate, with the consolidation only on the administrative level. Loucks & Norling, he added, has produced more than 1,000 industrial motion pictures over the past 30 years, and its 1956 clients included Bell Telephone, Reynolds Aluminum Co., Revere Copper & Brass, American Cyanamid and numerous government agencies.

RADIO-TV STILL HIGH ON AGENDA AS 85TH CONGRESS CONVENCES

TWO bills of interest to or affecting broadcasters and the FCC were part of a four-bill package introduced last week by Chairman Emanuel Celler (D-N.Y.) of the House Antitrust Subcommitte, which held hearings in the last Congress in a hunt for alleged monopolistic activities among networks.

HR 2142, called by Rep. Celler the “Primacy of Free Enterprise Bill,” would amend the Sherman Antitrust Act by inserting a “declaration of policy” aimed chiefly against government regulatory agencies, which, Rep. Celler says, have made rulings and decisions which “unduly expanded exemptions from the antitrust law.” The courts, he said, have “withheld their powers in these cases out of deference to superior technical experience, commonly referred to as ‘expertise,’ of the regulatory agencies.”

The bill, identical to HR 9762 introduced by Rep. Celler in the 84th Congress, held new significance to broadcasters because of the subcommittee’s hearings through last year up to September and testimony regarding the respective jurisdictions and roles of the FCC and the Justice Dept. in enforcing the antitrust laws, and especially since the Antitrust Division has brought an antitrust suit against RCA-NBC for a transaction approved earlier by the FCC.

The question of whether an FCC decision might preclude subsequent action unfavorable to the decision by the Justice Dept.’s Antitrust Division was brought up at hearings before the House Antitrust Subcommittee and the Senate Interstate & Foreign Commerce Committee, with both the FCC and the Antitrust Division testifying on the subject.

Rep. Celler’s second bill, HR 2141, would exempt from income taxes all amounts recovered, in excess of damages sustained, from the sale of property under Chapter 11 of the Clayton Act, including pending suits. This means a private litigant, who is entitled to treble damages when injured in business or property by a person or firm in violation of the antitrust laws, would not have to pay income taxes on two-thirds of the amount recovered.

Among pending suits to which this bill would apply, if enacted, is the suit by the Songwriters of America, a group of 33 members of ASCAP who in November 1953 asked $150 million damages and disposal of broadcast-owned stock in Broadcast Music Inc., charging broadcasters with entering into a conspiracy to keep all but BMI music off the air [BWT, Nov. 16, 1953].

Rep. Celler’s “Primacy of Free Enterprise Bill” declared that it is the U.S. policy that all government officials and agencies shall discharge their statutory responsibilities in a manner to give maximum effect to the policy of free private enterprise embodied in the antitrust laws.

No agency authorized to approve arrangements involving exemption from antitrust laws shall approve such an exemption unless the agency finds it impracticable to discharge its statutory responsibilities in a manner consistent with the antitrust laws, the bill states.

Where Congress has authorized an agency to “restrict entry into an industry,” the agency shall use its authority in a way to give maximum effect to antitrust law objectives, it continues. The declaration concludes:

“Unless any provision of law expressly provides otherwise, no proceeding instituted by the United States in the courts of the United States charging violation of the antitrust laws shall be barred or stayed for the reason that any official, agency, board, or commission has jurisdiction or is exercising jurisdiction over some or all of the activities included in the alleged antitrust violation.”

Justice Dept. Antitrust heads have testified both before the Celler subcommittee and the Senate Commerce Committee that the department is restricted to some extent in enforcing the antitrust laws by the FCC’s decisions [BWT, Sept. 24, March 5, 1956].

RCA-NBC has answered the Justice Dept.’s civil antitrust suit on the Westinghouse Broadcasting Co.-NBC Cleveland-Philadelphia radio-tv stations swap by saying that RCA-NBC should not be prosecuted because the transaction was approved by the FCC [BWT, Dec. 10, 1956].

The FCC, in a letter to the Senate Commerce Committee revealed last week (see story page 68), said the Commission takes the stand that its grants in the broadcast field do not insulate such transactions “from further challenge by the (Justice) Department under the antitrust laws,” although FCC admits certain “rulemaking powers” authorizing certain activities “might make the successful prosecution of such an action more difficult.”

Seeks A Guide

In discussing the bill, Rep. Celler said its purpose “is to establish a guide for administrative agencies, regulatory bodies and the courts in the exercise of their powers over business and arrangements involving exemptions from the antitrust laws. It creates a presumption in favor of free enterprise which will assure that our antitrust policy favoring competition is not subordinated unless this is found necessary to attain other objectives established by Congress. The bill makes it clear that Congress, in authorizing administrative bodies to regulate business and industry, intended such regulation to supplement and not to supersede our system of free competitive enterprise.

“Rulings by administrative bodies and judicial decisions have unduly expanded authorized exemptions from the antitrust laws,” he added.

Rep. Celler said courts have declined to give relief against “allegedly unlawful restraints of trade” under the doctrine of “primary jurisdiction,” where agencies have been given authority to approve “some or all of the activities challenged as illegal,” with the result that the Attorney General “has been ousted from his prescribed duty to enforce the antitrust laws.” In regulated industries, he said, business firms involved in activities illegal under antitrust laws have been given “a greater immunity than intended by Congress.”

Bills Affecting Broadcasters

Re-Introduced During Week

BILLS and resolutions which affect broadcasters, and which have been introduced in the 84th or previous Congresses, were re-introduced last week. Among the thousands of bills which hit the legislative hopper as the new 85th Congress went into gear.

Below, in capsule form, are bills of broadcast interest:

HR 265, Rep. Kenneth Keating (R-N.Y.)—Prohibit broadcasts of gambling or lottery information. Identical to House and Senate bills introduced in 84th Congress.

HR 284, Rep. Kenneth Keating (R-N.Y.)—Prohibit simultaneous broadcasting of horseracing on a regular basis, allowing broadcasts of such races only as special events, but allow broadcasts of one race per day on a delayed basis. Similar to House and Senate bills introduced in 84th Congress.

HR 369, HR 370, Rep. Joseph P. O’Hara (R-Minn.)—Amend the Daylight Saving Time Act to prohibit the use of any but Standard Time throughout all time zones and to make Standard Time the measure of time for business in interstate and foreign commerce. Identical to his HR 6721 and HR 5341 respectively, 84th Congress.

HR 586, Rep. Emanuel Celler (D-N.Y.)—Prohibit charging of a fee to view telecasts in the home (pay tv). Identical to his HR 6899, 84th Congress.

HR 1913, Rep. E. Y. Berry (R-S.D.)—Require the FCC to license tv booster facilities and vhf tv translators. Identical to his HR 10,944, 84th Congress.

HR 2015, Rep. Carroll D. Lears (R-Pa.)—Reduce the federal excise tax from 10% to 5% on tv sets capable of receiving 50 or more uhf channels. Identical to his HR 10-424, 84th Congress.

HR 2225, Rep. Don Magnuson (D-Wash.)—Identical to HR 1913 above and to Rep. Magnuson’s HR 10,944, 84th Congress.

HR 2242, Rep. Tom Steed (D-Okl.)—Authorize auxiliary network of “ham” radio operations for military radio operations. Identical to his HR 11,278, 84th Congress.

H Res 22 and 84, Rep. Emanuel Celler (D-N.Y.)—Authorize House Judiciary Committee to conduct investigations and studies for 1957 and provide $200,000 for that purpose. (House Antitrust Subcommittee spent about $50,000 in its probes last year, including hearings on alleged monopoly among tv networks.)

Investigation of Boxing Proposed by Rep. Lane
A PROPOSAL that the House Judiciary Committee investigate boxing to determine if the sport has been taken over by persons in the illegal narcotics trade and racketeering was made last week by Rep. Thomas J. Lane (D-Mass.).

Measures Proposes Ending Hotel Music Royalty Fees
THE reception of radio and tv programs and the playing of phonograph records in hotels would not be considered "performance for profit" under the provisions of a bill (HR 673) introduced last week by Rep. Robert Hale (D-Me.). This would exempt such performances from royalty fees.

Rep. Hale's staff said he had received complaints from rural resort hotels in his state that they are undergoing hardships by the requirement that they pay royalties for such broadcasts and performances.

Sen. Hennings Would Amend Law Enacted in Year 1789
FEDERAL executive departments which want to keep information from the public by leaking on a law originally enacted in 1789 will have to get another leg to stand on if Sen. Thomas C. Hennings Jr. (D-Mo.) and Rep. John E. Moss (D-Calif.) have their way.

Both announced last week that they are introducing bills to amend Title 5, United States Code, Sec. 22, which gives authority to the head of each federal executive department to prescribe rules for the "custody, use and preservation" of official records. They also intend to introduce bills to revise Title 5, U. S. Code, Sec. 1002, the public information section of the Administrative Procedure Act, which, Rep. Moss says "many federal agencies have claimed as

Before entering the Senate, he served four terms in the House (1947-54) and earlier was a member of the New Hampshire House of Representatives where he served one term as majority leader and one as speaker. SCHRIFELD PLOTS WAY OUT OF SEC. 315 MUDDLE

A WAY OUT of what broadcasters consider to be the lamentable Sec. 315 muddle—at least as it concerns presidential elections—was suggested last week by Arthur W. Schrifeld, a partner in the Washington communications law firm of Schrifeld & Baron.

Mr. Schrifeld’s suggestion was a paragon of simplicity when compared to the numerous other measures which have been offered in Congress to alleviate the rigidly imposed by the “equal political time” requirements of Sec. 315.

Why not, Mr. Schrifeld wrote the Special House Campaign Expenditures Committee, amend the present Sec. 315 (a) of the Communications Act to define a “legally qualified candidate” as one subject to the direct vote of the electorate?

“This would, of course, exclude presidential elections from the direct impact of Sec. 315 (a) since the President is selected by the electoral college rather than by the direct vote of the electorate,” Mr. Schrifeld said. He continued:

“While presidential campaigns are undoubtedly the most important single campaign of all, they constitute the greatest problem under Sec. 315 (a) of the Communications Act because of the so-called fringe or splinter-party candidates. Direct application of Sec. 315 (a) leads to the absurd result of requiring broadcast time for every minor, self-appointed or even lunatic fringe candidate with the resulting restriction on the time made available to the major candidates.”

To exclude presidential campaigns from Sec. 315 would not relieve broadcasters of their responsibility to provide a fair and balanced presentation of controversial issues, Mr. Schrifeld declared. As such issues are presented during presidential campaigns, nominees for President could call on stations for use of their facilities, with stations determining to whom they would have to give time under the public interest mandate of the Communications Act. Stations would follow the policy established by the FCC through decisions and “policy-making investigation and report.” This would give ample assurance of full discussion of public issues in presidential campaigns, Mr. Schrifeld said.

The Washington attorney even felt Sec. 315 (a) could be “administratively and judicially interpreted to exclude presidential ‘candidates,”’ but thought it seems “expedient” at present to accomplish the result by amending the law.

It was Mr. Schrifeld’s opinion that there is no expression on record of congressional intentions regarding applicability of Sec. 315 (a), or its prototype, Sec. 18 of the Radio Act of 1927.

He felt that although it could be maintained Congress was aware from the beginning that party nominees are not actually “candidates” and that Sec. 315 applies only to candidates elected by direct vote, it is “unlikely” that the FCC or the courts would interpret it that way at “this late date” because such an interpretation apparently has not been urged since the Communications Act was adopted in 1934.

No date had been set last week for the committee’s first meeting.

Others, all members in the 84th Congress: Democrats: Sens. John O. Pastore (R. I.), chairman of the Communications Subcommittee, and A. S. Mike Monroney (Okl.), George A. Smathers (Fla.), Price Daniel (Tex.) and Alan Bible (Nev.).

Republicans: Sens. Andrew F. Schoeppel (Kan.), John M. Butler (Md.), Charles E. Potter (Mich.), William A. Purcell (Conn.) and Frederick G. Payne (Me.).

An additional Democratic vacancy will be created on the committee tomorrow (Tuesday) upon the resignation of Sen. Daniel to become governor of Texas. He won the office in the 1956 elections.

It has been understood present Gov. Alan Shivers, before leaving office, will make an appointment to fill the vacant Senate seat until an election sometime in the spring. It also was understood Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, broadcaster-publisher with her husband W. P. Hobby (Houston Post-KPRC-AM-FM-TV Houston), was slated to be the Shivers appointee. She was wartime commander of the Women’s Army Corps (WAC) and was the first Secretary of Health, Education & Welfare. It is uncertain whether she would be appointed to the Senate Commerce Committee vacancy.

Rep. Oren Harris named New Chairman of House Commerce Committee

DEMOCRATIC members of the House Interstate & Foreign Commerce Committee were appointed last week, but Republican appointments were not made.

As expected, Rep. Oren Harris (D-Ark.) succeeded the late Rep. J. Percy Priest (D.-Tenn.) as chairman. Whether Rep. Harris also will retain his chairmanship of the group’s Transportation & Communications Subcommittee was not announced. He headed the subcommittee in the 84th Congress and is known as a congressional expert on broadcast legislation.

The committee’s next-ranking Democrat, Rep. John Bell Williams (Miss.), who presided at some of the subcommittee’s sessions on broadcast matters in the 84th Congress as next-ranking Democrat on that unit, would be the most likely choice to head the subcommittee in the event Rep. Harris does not take the post.

Six additional Democrats were appointed to the full committee, bringing the Democratic membership to 18 with the 12 holdovers who served in the 84th Congress, an increase of one over the 17 Democrats who served in 1955-56. GOP will name 15.

The Democratic holdovers: Reps. Harris, Priest, Robert F. Mack Jr. (III.), Kenneth A. Roberts (Ala.), Morgan M. Moulder (Mo.), Harley O. Slaggers (W. Va.), Isidore Dollinger (N. Y.), Walter Rogers (Tex.), Martin Dies (Tex.), Samuel N. Friedel (Md.), John J. Flynn (Ga.) and Torbert H. MacDonald (Mass.).

FCC Names Miller Conelrad Head; Sloane Succeeds as Bartley Aid

THE FCC last week announced the appointment of Kenneth W. Miller, engineering assistant to Comr. Robert T. Bartley, as U. S. supervisor of Conelrad, effective Feb. 15. He will succeed Ralph J. Renton, whose promotion to FCC assistant chief engineer was announced last November [BT, Dec. 3, 1957].

Mr. Miller will be succeeded on Comr. Bartley’s staff by Horace E. Sloane, assistant chief in charge of engineering for the Office of Opinions and Reviews.

Both Mr. Miller and Mr. Sloane joined the FCC in 1940. Mr. Miller took time out for war service and rejoined the Commission in 1946.

FTC, AFTER 'TRIAL' MONITORING,
GETS AGENTS SET FOR REAL THING

- Staff of 125 investigators will comb U. S. commercials
- Object: To spot fraud, crack down on misleading ads

The Federal Trade Commission has completed a month of "trial and error" monitoring of radio and tv commercials in three geographical regions. It now is working out instructions for its 125 attorney-investigators in eight regional offices in preparation for the "imminent" inauguration of the monitoring system on a nationwide basis.

T. Harold Scott, who heads the FTC monitoring unit as legal adviser and assistant for radio-tv advertising to the chief project attorney, Sherman Hill, declined to reveal the three FTC regional offices where the trial monitoring setup has been in operation a month. But he indicated results have been so satisfactory that it "soon" will be put into operation in all eight regional offices.

Concurrently with the FTC's revelation last week that it has had the trial system in operation, Harry Babcock, director of the agency's Bureau of Investigation, served notice that the Commission is not going off half-cocked.

"The principal monitoring will be done by the public," he explained.

Mr. Scott said that during the trial period most of the stations which have been monitored are those that have carried commercials which were the subject of complaints from listeners and viewers. This is the policy the FTC intends to follow when monitoring goes into full nationwide operation, he emphasized.

Complaints to the FTC about false, misleading and deceptive radio-tv commercials have increased "very substantially" since creation of the commission's new monitoring plan has been publicized, Mr. Scott said. The radio-tv unit was set up in the FTC last October [B+T, Oct. 15, 1956] after criticism of deceptive radio-tv advertising arose last year on Capitol Hill and among other high-placed government officials.

The matter came up at one point last year during the Senate Interstate & Foreign Commerce Committee's hearings on uhf-vhf allocations problems, when several senators criticized radio-tv commercials [B+T, Feb. 27, 1956]. Sen. Warren G. Magnuson (D-Wash.), chairman of the committee, was instrumental in restoring a $100,000 cut from the FTC fiscal 1957 budget in his capacity as chairman of a Senate appropriations subcommittee with jurisdiction over funds for independent federal agencies and commissions. The latter group restored the

Latest Bell System control units speed accurate network switching

Network switches can be set up in advance and double-checked, thanks to new Bell System control units.

Ten or 15 minutes before actual switching time, buttons representing incoming and outgoing circuits are punched on the control panel. Then, at the appointed split second, one master button is pushed and all switches are performed at once.

The first new operating center utilizing the control unit began operation in Chicago during the summer of 1956, followed by similar installations in Los Angeles and New York. In the near future, operating centers will be added in Des Moines, Dallas and Washington, D. C.

This development, which makes switching faster and more accurate, is another example of how the Bell System is constantly finding new and better ways to serve the broadcasting industry.

may be harmless the visual part is deceptive or misleading.

Reports on all commercials recorded, whether the regional office considers them questionable or not, are forwarded to the radio-tv unit in Washington. Here they are re-examined and those felt "worthy" are transcribed and assigned to a project attorney for "preliminary consideration." The FTC has not yet issued a complaint as a result of its new monitoring setup.

In the unit headquarters, these studies of reports are assigned to one of Mr. Scott's staff of four attorneys, who are the FTC's experts in spotting deceptive or misleading advertising claims, or to one of the 12 other attorneys who work in antideceptive practices under the chief project attorney, Mr. Hill. After these studies, the FTC issues complaints against those advertisers it believes are engaging in fraudulent and misleading advertising on radio-tv.

Mr. Scott feels that this system also will cover network commercials, since the attorney-investigator in the field will be monitoring any and all commercials on affiliate stations, including those on network programs. This will provide evidence that a given network commercial is being "disseminated" to various parts of the country, Mr. Scott said.

Discussing some of the reports turned in from regional offices during the month trial period, Mr. Scott said one attorney-investigator reported on 14 radio or tv commercials, of which five were "of interest" to the FTC. Of another report on 12 commercials three were "of interest" and a third report on 10 commercials turned up six "of interest" to the FTC, he said.

This does not mean the commercials "of interest" will result in FTC complaints. The complaints the FTC considers most significant, Mr. Scott says, are those which come from a listener or viewer who has bought the product advertised and had an "adverse experience" with it.

Although the FTC has a regional office in Washington, Mr. Scott and Charles J. Connolly, senior project attorney in the radio-tv monitoring unit, have done all the monitoring in the District of Columbia because of their interest in the new program. Their monitoring has been confined to local Washington stations, he said.

Meanwhile, the monitoring unit continues to examine two full days' scripts of commercials furnished each year at FTC request by every commercial radio and tv station in the country. Dates are staggered for the scripts from each station and are requested for a date specified in advance by the FTC.

Mr. Scott said the radio-tv monitoring unit will be expanded, although he did not reveal how much, with new attorneys taking over the script-reading tasks from the present crew, which then will give more time to examining the radio-tv monitoring reports from regional offices. This four-man group also examines magazine, newspaper and other advertising.

Attorneys from the FTC's Wool and Fur Labeling Act administrative offices in Boston, Dallas, Philadelphia and St. Louis also are available for monitoring in their respective areas upon request, Mr. Scott said.

Mr. Scott said the FTC realizes that radio-tv stations cannot go over commercials "with a fine-tooth comb" to weed out fraudulent and deceptive advertising. Broadcasters, he said, are a "fine group of people" and the FTC hopes to have good relationships with the industry.

Value Not in Numbers

The FTC realizes, he said, that "our value is not measured by the number of complaints we can issue." He felt that broadcasters, with help from the FTC's monitoring unit, will be able to "clean their own house."

The FTC, of course, can take no action against a station if it broadcasts fraudulent commercials. Complaints are directed against the advertiser.

Sen. Magnuson has asked the FTC to exchange information with the FTC in a liaison effort to detect those stations which might accept for broadcast an excessive number of fraudulent and misleading commercials. The FCC reluctantly agreed to set up such a plan in cooperation with the FTC, its main objection being that it has no authority to censor either programming or commercials. No announcement has come from either agency on when a liaison system will be inaugurated. Mr. Scott said last week the plan still is being formulated by the FTC and FCC staffs.

FCC Itrates Defense On Station Swap Stand

THE FCC stuck to its guns last week in defending its position in approving the NBC-Westinghouse Broadcasting Co. radio-tv station swap and in stating its policy regarding liaison with the Justice Dept.'s Antitrust Division.

The said the letter represented the Commission's official views, with the exception of Comr. Robert T. Bartley, "who was unable to approve this letter," and Comr. John C. Doerfer, who was absent when the letter was written.

The Commission statement said the FCC believes "in general" that the fact Justice is holding a separate investigation "does not necessarily make advisable the holding of a hearing by the Commission before it takes any formal action in any antitrust proceeding." In this obvious reference to the FCC's approval of the NBC-WBC transaction without a hearing, the Commission said this is particularly true where Justice's investigation concerns conduct by a proposed or existing licensee which is "not directly related to their operation as a licensee ... but ... might have a significant relationship to their character and other qualifications to be a Commission licensee." But even if Justice's study is "more directly related to the communications field," FCC said, "we do not believe that a separate Commission hearing is always necessary or even appropriate."

FCC said Justice's probe of the NBC-WBC transaction was begun on information initially furnished by the Commission. After Justice brought suit, FCC was faced with NBC's proposal to acquire a uhf station in New Britain, Conn. The Commission determined a grant to help uhfs would serve the public interest and that approved processing "might be gained by conducting a hearing on antitrust questions that would duplicate proceedings "more appropriately heard by the District Court," or in deferring FCC approval until the antitrust questions had been resolved. FCC made clear, however, the letter said, that its approval of the transfer was made without prejudice to any action arising out of the antitrust case.

The FCC said it did not believe a Commission adjudicatory action in the broadcast field "insulates" the transaction from "further challenge" by Justice under antitrust laws, since the Communications Act makes all antitrust laws applicable to broadcasting. It was acknowledged that "express" authorization of certain types of activities by rule-making under Sec. 303 of the Communications Act, "while not precluding Justice from adopting a "contrary position" in an antitrust action, "might make the successful prosecution of such an action more difficult."

Consequently, in this rule-making area, FCC always seeks the advice of Justice and other interested government agencies before taking action, the FCC letter explained.

FCC saw no need for "working out or publishing" a policy of liaison between the Commission and Justice and felt that such action would be "unwise" because certain situations might develop in future situations that would not fit "preconceived categories." The FCC saw no need for legislation on the subject and asked that the status quo be maintained.

The FCC letter said the recognized overlap of responsibility on antitrust and other monopoly questions between Justice and the Commission, assuming proper liaison, should not deter either agency from fulfilling its respective obligations. Noting its belief that great strides have been made in coordination between the two in recent years, FCC said the Commission's and Justice's "dual responsibilities" should be carried out more fully than if either had the entire responsibility. Justice can handle some problems better and the Commission others, the letter continued.

The FCC general counsel's staff maintains liaison with Justice's Antitrust Division, with the general counsel keeping the Antitrust Division informed on matters of interest to the FCC and Justice. If either staff has or believes problems might exist, it will inform the other staff.

Once liaison has been established on a particular proceeding, however, the general counsel needs approval by Commission members, but will keep Justice advised of future developments as they occur, the FCC explained. The Commission added that while it is impossible to determine at what stage in an FCC proceeding information on antitrust questions is made available to Justice, every effort is made to pass along the information early enough so that Justice can intervene in the Commission proceedings if it so desires.

But even when Justice is advised of possible antitrust questions, the FCC does not believe this is grounds for deferring Commission action any more than it believes Justice should defer an investigation or court action pending the outcome of an FCC proceeding, the letter stated.

GOP Wants Tv Set Excise Tax To Be Continued Beyond April 1

THE Republican Administration and GOP congressional leaders announced last week they will seek to continue beyond the April 1 expiration date about $3 billion dollars in excise and corporation taxes. This would include the 10% federal manufacturers excise tax on all television and radio sets.

This move was discouraging to broad-

The GOP stand was announced at the White House by Senate Minority Leader William F. Knowland (R-Calif.) as having high priority in the Republican program. No announcement was made of any proposed exceptions to the excise tax stand. Treasury Dept. officials have opposed removing the tax on tv sets.

Meanwhile, the 11-man House Select Small Business Committee headed by Rep. Wright Patman (D-Tex.) announced that it is recommending repeal of all excise taxes imposed during World War II and the Korean War. This would include the tv set tax. The five GOP members of the committee dissented from these and other committee recommendations.

The committee also is asking, in its final report for the last session of Congress, for amendment of laws to provide that the members of the FCC and other government regulatory agencies select their own chairman instead of having him named by the President, and that such agencies make requests for appropriations directly to Congress instead of submitting requests to the Budget Bureau. These two recommendations were contained in the committee's report on hearings in the 84th Congress by its Evans Subcommittee [B&T, Jan. 7].

National Airlines Tv Bid Worries Sen. Monroney

SEN. A. S. Mike Monroney (D-Okla.) has asked the FCC to defer action in the contested Miami ch. 10 case in which, he said, he understands "there is a strong likelihood of a grant of a television license . . . to National Airlines."

Sen. Monroney made public, for release today (Monday), a letter he wrote Dec. 28 to FCC Chairman George C. McConnaughey. In his letter the senator said grave problems would be created by the grant of a tv permit to an airline.

He asked that the FCC defer action until the Senate Commerce Committee's Aviation Subcommittee, of which he is chairman, could investigate. The subcommittee, he said, would solicit the views of the Civil Aeronautics Board as to the propriety of an airline operating a tv station.

"National Airlines through a wholly owned subsidiary, Public Service Tv Inc., is one of four applicants for ch. 10 Miami. The others are L. B. Wilson Inc. (WCKY Cincinnati), North Dade Video (group of Miami businessmen) and WKAT Miami. An FCC examiner in an initial decision favored WKAT.

"Certificated airlines present a far different type of business setup than is found in the usual corporation," Sen. Monroney wrote Chairman McConnaughey. "Certainly, no one could complain if the FCC saw fit to grant to a stockholder of the airline or to a separate corporation such a license, but whether it could properly be a part of a business operation of a certificated airline is open to question."

"All certificated airlines enjoy the security of a guarantee of a fair return on their investment—whether they are now in a position to require subsidies or not. Fortunately, the National Airlines is not in a subsidy position, but the guarantee of a fair return still is available in the event of a decline in air traffic."

"In such a case, the combination of the operation of extraneous business enterprises, disassociated from the job of handling air passengers, could present a troublesome problem with which to deal and could endanger the system of guaranteed earnings of the schedules airlines."

Sen. Monroney also spoke of intensifying competition between airlines.

"Certainly," he wrote, "the ownership of a television station by one airline would eventually lead either to the insistence on the part of its competitor that it be given a television license or that it might find it necessary to make an expensive investment to purchase an existing one to maintain its competitive position."

Sen. Monroney said he did not know "whether the law permits the operation of a television station as part of the business of an airline." The question, he said, ought to

Dr. Town Takes Over As TASO Director

A VERMONT Yankee—college professor and practical electronics engineer—has been officially enscounced as executive director of the Television Allocations Study Organization.

Dr. George R. Town, on one-year leave of absence from his post as associate director of Iowa State College's Engineering Experimental Station and professor of electrical engineering at the same institution—and erstwhile manager of engineering and research, Stromberg-Carlson Co., Rochester, N. Y.—was established last week with an office and a staff (one girl) in Room 808, Warner Bldg., Washington.

There last week he prepared to supervise a $50,000 study of uhf's potentialities, underwritten by broadcasters and manufacturers in answer to an FCC plea for both an evaluation of uhf and its potential as compared to vhf.

TASO was organized in answer to a plea last year by FCC Chairman George C. McConnaughey for a "crash" study of uhf's future—with particular emphasis on the possibility of upgrading transmitters and receivers.

Founders of TASO include NARTB, RETMA, Assn. of Maximum Service Telecasters, Committee for Competitive TV, and the Joint Council on Educational Television.

At a TASO board meeting last week, a final draft of objectives and procedures was formalized. It was agreed, it was learned, that five panels would be established. These are: transmitting equipment, receiving equipment, field tests, propagation, and an analysis and theory group to evaluate the results submitted by the four working groups.

Dr. Town was chosen for the $25,000 a year job last month.

Examiner Heears Citizens' Bid To Intervene in WGMS Protest

HEARING on a request for intervention in the protest hearing on the $400,000 sale of WGMS-AM-FM Washington to RKO Teleradio Pictures Inc. was held last Friday before FCC Hearing Examiner Herbert Sharpman. Making the request to intervene was the Friends of Good Music, Washington, which also asked that the hearing be postponed until Jan. 30 as "the earliest possible date that would permit effective presentation of our position."

The Friends of Good Music, composed of Washington area devotees of classical music, was organized to insure that WGMS "honors its explicit commitments to the Commission to continue to provide and expand its good music services to our area." The group, which has over 3,000 petitioners, stated that it did not care who owns WGMS as long as the station continues to carry classical music.

The WGMS sale had been approved by the FCC last spring but the Commission now ordered to reassign the station to its original owner by the Court of Appeals, Washington, last November. The sale was protested by minority stockholder Lawrence M. C. Smith (16.9%) on the grounds that another buyer offered a better price, that Washington listeners would be deprived of the good music format and an arrangement with majority stockholders M. Robert Rogers and wife (who with Pierson Underwood own 83.1% of station). Mr. and Mrs. Rogers are to be retained by RKO as general manager and station manager, respectively, at $30,000 a year for five years.

Meanwhile, Mr. Smith returned to the agency last week seeking a ruling that all of WGMS be returned to its original owners. It is claimed that a leasing agreement—whereby RKO Teleradio owns the equipment and leases it to the original owners—does not follow the court's decision ordering reversion of the station's ownership. The FCC turned down this contention, and the appeal and motion is from this Commission decision.

$333,154 KALB-TV Transfer Tops Six FCC Sale Approvals

THE $333,154 sale of ch. 5 KALB-TV Alexandria, La., from Alexandria Bcstg. Co. to Lanford Telecasting Co. was the largest of six station sales approved last week by the FCC. Others included WINR-AM-TV Binghamton, N. Y., WFTC Kinston, N. C., WHRV Ann Arbor, Mich., WBLR Batesburg, S. C., and KENL Arcata, Calif.

Principals in Lanford are T. B. Lanford, president and 51% owner, and Bill L. Fox 49% owner. Mr. Fox is general sales manager of KFMB-TV San Diego. Mr. Lanford owns KRM-D-AM-FM Shreveport, La.: 98% of KRRV Sherman, Tex.; 3313% of KPLC-AM-TV Lake Charles, La., and 13.8% of WSLA-WTTV (TV) Jackson, Miss. Mr. Fox's family owns KSYL Alexandria and the sale is conditioned on Mr. Fox disposing of this interest.

Mr. Lanford owned 99.2% of Alexandria Bcstg. and the sale is the result of a merger agreement between the competing applicants for ch. 5. KALB-TV has been operating with all three networks since 1954.

WINR-AM-TV was sold by Southern Tier Radio Service Inc. (Donald W. Kramer, president 27.6% owner) of Binghamton Press Co. for $165,000. The new owner is a wholly-owned subsidiary of General Co. (WENY Elmira, WHDL Olean, WEHE-AM-TV Rochester, all N. Y., WDAN-AM- TV Danville, Ill., and New York state newspapers).

Town & Country Worldwide Productions Inc. received Commission approval for the purchase of WFTC from Kinston Bcstg. Co. (J. Harold Vester and associates) for $145,000. Town & Country is 100% owned by Country Worldwide Productions Inc.

FCC Clarifies Its Position On AT&T Transmission Rates

THE FCC has informed the Senate Commerce Committee that the Commission is not warranted at present in acting to reduce AT&T tv transmission service charges, "based on our reviews and analyses" of studies submitted by AT&T and "the level of earnings indicated thereby."

The conclusion was contained in a letter, dated Jan. 3, to Committee Chairman Warren G. Magnuson (D-Wash.), in answer to a letter from Sen. Magnuson dated July 19, 1956, regarding testimony by J. W. Boler, president of North Dakota Broadcasting Co. (K B M B-T V Bismarck, KCJB-AM-TV Minot, KXJB-TV Valley City and KSIB Jamestown, all N. D.). Mr. Boler asked that tv stations be allowed to build and maintain their own private relay systems, regardless of the availability of common carrier facilities.

The FCC said that for "some time" it has been granting applications by tv broadcasters to build and operate their own relay systems where common carrier facilities are not available and where it is shown the broadcaster "can more quickly provide such facilities for himself." This has enabled small stations to obtain network programs on an economical basis, FCC said, adding that the Commission intends to continue making such authorization case-by-case pending outcome of its rule-making proceeding (Docket 11164) on the question.

The Commission said it has no "first hand" knowledge of Mr. Boler's "alleged difficulties in dealing" with AT&T regarding his application for a private relay from Minneapolis to Fargo, but it is "presently contemplate" the authorization of private systems only where common carrier facilities are not available.

Triangle's WLBR-TV Purchase Argued Before Full Commission

ORAL ARGUMENT was held before the FCC on January 8, in the hearing in the case of ch. 15 WLBR-TV Lebanon, Pa., by Triangle Publishing Co. The company is the owner of The Lebanon Daily News, a daily newspaper, and of WFPS-FM Philadelphia, 50% of WHGB Harrisburg, WFBG-AM-TV Altoona, Pa., WNPC-AM-TV New Haven, Conn., WNBF-AM-TV Binghamton, N. Y., Philadelphia Inquirer and several magazines, purported overal overlap of coverage between WLBR-TV and WFIL-TV and that WLBR-TV would be operated as a satellite of WFIL-TV. In denying the charges, lawyers for WLBR-TV and Triangle asked for an immediate ruling to provide the people of Lebanon (population 28,000) with local tv service.

Fisher Throws Another Wrench Into Storer's Salem V Plans

MORE TROUBLE in Storer Broadcasting Co.'s quest for FCC approval of its purchase of ch. 3 KSLM-TV Salem, Ore., and its move closer to Portland, Ore.: Last week C. H. Fisher, Oregon broadcaster, resubmitted his application for the Salem, Ore. facility, asking also that the FCC revoke the 1953 ch. 3 Salem grant to Glenn E. McCormick because no construction has begun. Mr. Fisher first submitted his application for the vhf channel in Salem last spring. It was refused by the Commission last July on the ground that an application could not be filed for a facility already granted.

Storer has bought the Salem facility for $27,277 and has asked FCC to waive the multiple ownership rules to permit it to own six vhf television outlets. Present rules limit single ownership to no more than seven tv outlets—not more than five of which may be in the vhf band. Storer also has asked permission to move KSLM-TV nearer Portland, where Storer owns ch. 27 KPTV (TV).

Also opposing Storer's request for a waiver of the rules—actually this is the second such request (the Commission denied Storer's petition for a waiver last November) was KGTV-AM Portland, Ore.

It is believed that the Storer petition for reconsideration of the Commission's November denial was to be taken up at the FCC Friday session on ownership rules.

Approval of Sale Applications Sought by KVDV-TV, KOAT-TV

AGREEMENT for sale of ch. 22 KVDV-TV Corpus Christi, Tex., by Gabriel Lazano [AT DEADLINE, Jan. 7] was filed with the FCC last week disclosing names of two of the purchasers. They are E. J. Healy and Hubert Schmidt, who, with other local businessmen, are buying NBC-affiliated KVDV for $156,000 including $100,000 in liabilities. Following the drawing up of a contract, an application will be filed, listing all buyers.

Also filed with the FCC last week was the sale of ch. 7 KOAT-TV Albuquerque, N. M., to Clinton D. McKinnon.

It is planned to call in all outstanding stock and issue new shares in the amount of $156,000 for them. Mr. McKinnon will then purchase stock in the amount of $12,500 and assume obligations for the debentures and about $550,000 in liabilities.

KOAT-TV, one of three Albuquerque vhf outlets (others are ch. 4 KOB-TV and ch. 13 KGGM-TV), showed total assets of $544,622 (31,351 current); total current liabilities of $176,887; deficit to Dec. 31, 1955, of $366,824, and loss for 1956 of $192,883. Balance sheet was as of Oct. 31, 1956.

Mr. McKinnon owns 75% of weekly San Diego North Shore Sentinel; 51% of weekly Coronado (Calif.) Journal, and holds 25% interest in KVOA-AM-TV Tucson, Ariz.

RADIO, TV NETWORKS CLEAR WAY FOR FULL INAUGURAL COVERAGE

- Seven networks, staff of 350 will put events on air
- Pre-emptions will set chains back $380,000 in revenue

RADIO AND TV networks last week were in the midst of completing extensive arrangements for comprehensive coverage of President Eisenhower's inaugural ceremonies in Washington next Monday.

ABC, NBC, CBS and Mutual planned to assign up to a total of 350 employees to capture for radio and television audiences the pomp and pageantry of various activities of the day, including parades, motorcades, ceremonies, addresses and balls. Although schedules varied from network to network, television coverage will run approximately four hours and radio coverage about three hours.

Networks reported a total of more than $1 million in pre-emptions as a result of scheduling inaugural proceedings in place of regular programs. CBS-TV headed the list with $250,000, followed by NBC-TV, $110,000; CBS Radio, $20,000 and Mutual, $2,200. ABC Radio, ABC-TV and NBC Radio reported they were able to reschedule programs and avoid pre-emption losses.

Sponsored CBS-TV programs pre-empted and their advertisers are: Strike It Rich and Big Payoff (Colgate-Palmolive); Search for Tomorrow, Guiding Light and As the World Turns (Procter & Gamble); Valiant Lady (Standard Brands); Love of Life (American Home Products); Art Linkletter's House Party (Campbell Soup and Lever Bros.) and Bob Crabby Show (Brown & Williamson Tobacco). CBS Radio shows dropped for the inaugural broadcasts are: Howard Miller Show (Wrigley); Wendy Warren and the News (Tide and Slenderella); Backstage Wife (Colgate-Palmolive); Romance of Helen Trent (Lever Bros., Scott Paper); Our Gal Sunday (Colgate); Young Dr. Malone (Lever, Campana); Road of Life (Salada, Listerine).

NBC-TV pre-emptions include Price Is Right, Truth or Consequences, It Could Be You, Tie Me Dough, Tennessee Ernie, NBC Mattinee Theatre and Tonight, all of which are presented on a multiple or participating sponsorship basis.

Mutual reported that two news programs, sponsored by Kraft, would be pre-empted for inaugural coverage.

The only sponsorship arrangement for the inaugural broadcasts was made by CBS-TV, which announced last Thursday that Maybelline Co. (toilet preparations), Chicago, had signed for coverage of the inaugural balls (11:15 p.m.-12 midnight). The agency is Gordon Best Co., Chicago.

Approximate time-table of the coverage is as follows: 11 a.m.-12 noon pre-inauguration ceremonies, including following President Eisenhower to the Capitol and the platform where the oath is to be administered; noon-12:20 p.m.—administering of the oath; 12:20-12:45 p.m.—inaugural address; 12:45-1 p.m.—pickup of crowds and dignitaries as President enters the Capitol for lunch; 1 p.m.-1:30—cut-ins for news reports or for color commentary on ceremonies; and on crowd; 1:30-3 p.m.—parades and motorcades reviewed by President from the reviewing stand; 3-4 p.m. (where scheduled)—interviews with dignitaries and local citizens and parade color commentary; 11:30-12 midnight—inaugural balls.

Television networks intend to install cameras at various vantage points to provide panoramic scenes of Washington, overview views of the parade and the presidential reviewing stand, scenes in and around the Capitol and a detailed picture of parades. In the evening the camera will visit the inaugural balls, being held simultaneously around the city.

To enable network coverage of the inaugural events, AT&T will set up 60 microwave dishes at key points around Washington (including 25 microwave systems and 25 amplifiers borrowed from Bell companies from as far as Los Angeles). Other facilities required for the coverage: 50 tv circuits, 28 miles of special television cable, 150 radio channels, 350 central office lines, 12 switchboards, 125 private lines, 30 tie lines and 700 telephone instruments (requiring 1,500 miles of exchange wire). To activate the equipment, AT&T said, 200,000 individual wire connections will be necessary.

NBC's tv coverage will run from 11 a.m. through 3 p.m. EST and from 11:30 p.m. until midnight and on radio from 11:30 a.m. until 2:30 p.m. EST. Overall supervision will be by William R. McAndrew, director of news for the network. Julian Goodman, manager of NBC news and special events for Washington, is in charge of production.

David Brinkley will serve as anchor man for NBC. Other reporters and commentators assigned to tv coverage include Chet ABC COVERAGE: (1) (2) Cameras on presidential party leaving White House. (3) Cameras at Treasury Rose Garden (H) At Evening Star Bldg. (4) At 4th St. & Pennsylvania Ave. (5) (6) Cameras covering swearing-in ceremonies. (7) Roving camera. (8) Mobile unit to join parade.

CBS-TV's mobile transmitter goes through its paces in preparation for next Monday's inaugural coverage (newsman Bill Downs is holding microphone). The self-contained unit is complete with camera, transmitter and power generator. Its microwave dish (between the technicians) will relay signals to a series of pickups as the unit moves ahead of the President's automobile up Pennsylvania Ave.

CBS-TV will be on the air from 11:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. and from 11:15 to midnight for the inaugural balls and CBS Radio 11:30 a.m.-1 p.m., 1:30-2 p.m. and 11:30 p.m.-midnight. Sig Mickelson, vice president in charge of news and public affairs, will direct activities for the event. Paul Levi- tan. CBS-TV director of special events, will be executive producer for television. Robert Skedgell, executive producer of news, CBS Radio, will supervise radio production.

Walter Cronkite will be anchor man for CBS-TV coverage. On-the-scene reports will be provided by Edward R. Murrow, Charles Collingwood, Douglas Edwards, Charles Von Fremd, Richard C. Hottelet, Bill Downs, Bill Schadel and Dallas Townsend. Anchor man for CBS Radio will be Robert Trout, with commentary by George Herman, Griffling Bancroft, Eric Sevareid and Wells Church.

John Daly, ABC vice president in charge of news, sports, special events and public affairs, will direct inaugural coverage, assisted by Thomas Velotta, administrative vice president for news. Don Coe, director of special events, will supervise production.

Mr. Daly will serve as anchor man on radio and television. Other ABC newsmen who have drawn inaugural ceremony assignments are Richard Rendell, Paul Harvey, John Secondari, Ted Malone, Arthur Van Horn, Edward P. Morgan, Quincy Howe, Erwin Canham, Martin Agronsky and John Edwards.

John D. Whitmore, director of news for Mutual, will serve as executive producer and director of Mutual's inaugural broadcast activities. He will be assisted by Jack Gerz, Washington White House coordinator. MBS newsmen who will describe the ceremonies are John B. Hughes, William Hillman, Ce- dric Foster, Fulton Lewis jr., Robert Hur- Leigh, Bob Siegrist and Mr. Whitmore.

Although networks had intended to broadcast the "private" inaugural oath ceremony for President Eisenhower this Sunday, the White House last Wednesday cancelled plans for television and radio coverage. It was explained by Press Secretary James Hagerty that requests to attend the ceremony in the East Room of the White House were excessive, and it was decided to revert to the original plan for a private oath-taking.

NBC RADIO'S NEW PROGRAMMING READY TO GO DESPITE OBSTACLES

NBC RADIO officials reported late last week they were all set to go into operation today (Mon.) with their revitalized program schedule—including the controversial five-minute newscasts on the hour.

Despite objections of Station Representatives Assn. and a number of affiliates, network officials said they had a "more than adequate" number of station clearances to put the newscast plan into effect under the shared sponsorship of Bristol-Meyers and Brown & Williamson.

They had maintained almost from the beginning they were assured of enough station acceptances even though spokesmen for a number of major-market affiliates said privately that for both economic and programming reasons they would not clear the time [B&T, Dec. 10, 1956, et seq]. Chief opposition was on the ground that station time NBC wanted cleared for the newscasts is much more profitable in local and national spot sales.

These objectors were still holding to their guns late last week, though conceding NBC probably was in position to proceed with the plan on schedule. It calls for five-minute newscasts on the hour, 7 a.m. to 11 p.m., Monday through Friday.

At least some cigarette advertisers, like the hold-out stations, also were concerned about the effects of the plan. On many stations now carrying three or four tobacco commercials within an hour—in early-morning time, for example—normal protection of the Brown & Williamson business on NBC would bump one or two of the competing spot advertisers out of their current position.

William Esty Co., for R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., was known to have cautioned a number of station representatives last week that if the Bond business on NBC bumped any Reynolds spots, then the Reynolds schedule would be cancelled—unless the bumping led to even better positioning for the Reynolds business.

Estimates of the number of affiliates that have cleared the strong station periods for NBC—the 7, 8 and 9 a.m. periods especially—were neither clear-cut nor official. Some sources estimated it as low as 50 to 75 stations.

NBC spokesmen said they were in no position to give such a breakdown—that is, the number which had cleared early-morning periods—at this time. But overall, they reiterated, they would start the newscast series with clearances representing better than 78-80% of the rate card, and predicted this would be up to 90% by June 1. They acknowledged there are "problem areas" where stations have long-standing local and spot contracts that cannot be moved immoderately, but repeated they had affiliates' assurances that these would be cleared up as soon as possible.

A situation involving one of NBC's own stations might typify these "problem areas": O&O WRC Washington has been carrying a 7-7:15 a.m. newscast for some time under sponsorship of Bond Clothes three times a week. While NBC was developing the hourly newscast project, WRC faced renewal of the Bond contract—and renewed it for 13 weeks, effective the first of the year. But NBC spokesmen said its station was "more than adequate" for the Bond business on NBC.

Another NBC station, WOR New York, was forced to extend its 6-6:30 a.m. newscast when NBC began its five-minute newscast period there at about 6:30 a.m. WOR's newscast, it was reported, was cleared by sponsors who "would not allow it to be threatened by the NBC service.

In addition to the hourly newscasts, NBC Radio for several weeks has been maintaining a direct wire to all affiliates for immediate "Hot Line" newscasts that will interrupt local programming, if necessary, when news of major importance breaks.

Other program phases of the network's overall blueprint for revitalizing NBC Radio, announced last November [B&T, Nov. 12, 1956], will go into effect today with none of the controversy that has surrounded the hourly newscasts. Where the network heretofore has been silent from the end of the two-hour Bandstand program at 12 noon until 3 p.m., the midday silence now will extend only from the end of the noon newscast to 1 p.m.

Starting today (Monday) the Bill Goodwin variety show goes in, Monday through Friday, at 1:05-2 a.m. (EST). True Confessions, a new dramatic series, will run from 2:05-2:30. Woman In My House, moved up from 4 p.m., will go into the 2:30-4:45 period, and Affairs of Dr. Gentry, a new series starring Madeleine Carroll, will follow at 2:45-3.

In addition, NBC Radio will start a new feature tonight: George Marek with Classical Music for People Who Hate Classical Music. The weekend Monitor service, which heretofore has started on Saturday morning, will be extended to include part of Friday night. Every fourth Friday night, in cooperation with Sports Illustrated magazine, NBC Radio plans to present a sports feature on this Monitor segment.

NOTE TO FLATBUSH

Perhaps baseball's stars of 1977 will cultivate their voices to salute the bleachers in high C. According to NBC President Robert W. Sarnoff, writing on "New Horizons for an Old Art" in the January issue of Opera (theatre arts magazine), Americans in another 20 years will be spending more money to attend their favorite opera performances then they will to attend baseball games. The article details the story behind the NBC Opera Co. (both on tv and on its tour of major U. S. cities).

DOMINANCE

There are all kinds, and anyone interested in syndicated film dominance knows where to look in Southern California.

ARB says, month after month, that KTTV carries 8 or 9 out of the top 10 syndicated film shows in Los Angeles! And remember, Los Angeles is a 7-station market.

Couple this with KTTV's acknowledged lead in feature films—the nightly MGM Million Viewer Theatre, the Colgate Theatre (No. 1 in L.A. Nov. Pulse among all programs, local or network) and 20th Century-Fox Theater.

Add the extra strength of KTTV's local selling personalities and its unmatched News and Special Event coverage.

It adds up to dominance . . .

Yes, Southern California is different, and the difference is KTTV!

ABC EXECUTIVE CHANGES MADE

- Appointments, promotions, resignation are involved
- Shifts include Mitchell, Wyatt, Cohen, Abry, Aubrey

ABC went through another series of executive changes last week, encompassing appointments, promotions, resignations.

- John H. Mitchell, vice president and special assistant to Leonard H. Goldenson, president of the parent ABPT, was named general manager of ABC-owned KGO-AM-TV San Francisco, taking over immediately from Vice President James H. Connolly [Closed Caption, Jan. 7].
- Eugene C. Wyatt, formerly with ABC and other radio-television organizations but more recently in private business in Tennessee, was named to the newly created post of ABC-TV national program sales manager in an appointment being announced today (Monday).
- Harold D. Cohen resigned as director of business affairs for the ABC legal department to join Ashley-Steiner, New York program and talent agency, and Charles R. Abry resigned as ABC-TV national sales manager.
- James T. Aubrey Jr., named head of ABC-TV programming and talent last month [B&T Dec. 17, 1956], was elevated to vice president in charge of programming and talent.

In announcing the appointment of Mr. Mitchell to succeed Mr. Connolly in San Francisco, Mr. Goldenson said there would be "close cooperation" between Mr. Mitchell in the bay city and Earl J. Hudson, vice president in charge of the ABC western division and the ABC-owned KABC-TV Los Angeles. "This intensified cooperation will make possible a greater interchange of local programming between our Los Angeles and San Francisco stations and will give added strength to ABC's regional television network on the West Coast," he asserted. "The appointment of Mr. Mitchell in no way affects Mr. Hudson's position or responsibilities for our television and radio network headquarters in Los Angeles or for the operation of KABC-TV and KABC . . . ."

He said operation of the San Francisco stations under Mr. Hudson will continue to be "autonomous and independent of divisional headquarters in the area."

Mr. Hudson, he said, will have supervision of the "extensive $10 million expansion plan of ABC's network television center in Los Angeles, scheduled for completion within the next three years."

Messrs. Hudson and Mitchell both "have been associated as executives with United Paramount Theatres, prior to the acquisition of ABC by UPT in February 1953, and both fully understand my plans and hopes for expansion of our west coast stations and the regional television network," Mr. Goldenson asserted.

Mr. Connolly's plans were not disclosed. It was understood he would receive substantial severance benefits.

Mr. Mitchell joined the ABPT (UPT) organization through Balaban & Katz in 1931. After several years in the theatre end, he was named general manager of Balaban & Katz' WBKB (TV) Chicago in 1948. With the UPT-ABC merger he was named vice president and general manager of WBKB. He transferred to New York in mid-1953 to head ABC's WABC-TV and subsequently became vice president in charge of ABC-TV, the post he held until Oliver Treyz was moved into that slot in the top-level reorganization last October.

Mr. Wyatt, newly named ABC-TV national program sales manager, will assume his duties March 4, according to the announcement by Slocum Chapin, sales vice president. Mr. Wyatt currently is president of Midstate Inc., an appliance firm in Dickson, Tenn., but has had wide experience in broadcasting.

He was one of ABC-TV's first account executives, serving from 1948 to 1951, and is credited with some of that network's pioneer sales.

Mr. Cohen, who resigned as the legal department's business affairs director, will be agent and negotiator of talent contracts for Ashley-Steiner, starting Jan. 21. A veteran of some seven years in talent representation, he was with Ashley-Steiner before joining ABC in February 1956.

Mr. Abry, resigning as ABC-TV national newsman . . . .

He formerly was with the DuMont tv network and, before that, was associate producer of Young America Films.

Mr. Aubrey's election to a vice presidency was not unexpected. Four Elected to Represent ABC Radio Affiliates Districts

RESULTS of balloting in four districts for representation on the ABC Radio Stations Affiliates' Advisory Board are being announced today (Monday) by Edward J. DeGray, national director of station relations for ABC Radio.

J. P. Williams of WING Dayton, and T. B. Lanford of KALB Alexandria, La., were re-elected as representatives of Districts 2 and 4 respectively. J. S. Younts of WEEB Southern Pines, N. C., was named to succeed A. D. Willard Jr. of WGAN Augusta, Ga., in Dist. 8, and William C. Grove of KFBC Cheyenne, Wyo., was elected to succeed Frank C. Carman, KLUB Salt Lake City, in Dist. 6. The elections are for two years ending Dec. 31, 1958.

Representatives of uneven numbered districts were chosen a year ago, also for two-year terms. They are: Simon Goldman of WJTN Jamestown, N. Y., Dist. 1; Ben A. Laird, WDUZ Green Bay, Wis., Dist. 3; C. B. Locke, KFDM Beaumont, Tex., Dist. 5, and James W. Wallace, KPQ Wenatchee, Wash., Dist. 7.

NBC-TV Syndication Of 'Project' Pondered

NBC-TV, pleased by the sales success at the local level of its Victory at Sea filmed "elementaries," is looking into the possibility of syndicating its Project XX series in somewhat similar manner, B*IT learned last week.

California National Productions, the NBC subsidiary handling film production and distribution including the Victory series, is considering the distribution of six of the Project XX programs to local stations for participating sponsorship. The six are "Nightmare in Red," "The Twisted Cross," "The Great War," "The Jazz Age," "Call to Freedom" and the as-yet-to-be network-exposed "The Thirties," which will complete the "Great War-Jazz Age-Thirties" trilogy. Cost of the series would probably be determined market-by-market, it was reported, with kick-off date planned for late this year or early next year.

The idea of syndicating Project XX, according to the staff's programming and promotion director, James Nelson, would be to prove that so-called "prestige documentaries" can prove to be saleworthy at a very low cost to stations that would ordinarily not be able to afford high-priced programming. "In effect," Mr. Nelson notes, "low-budget stations could then go after local business with a network caliber program."

The Project XX series, heretofore shown on NBC-TV under sponsorship of such clients as Armstrong Cork Co., RCA Victor and North American Philips Co., is currently being placed in such foreign markets as Denmark, Holland, Sweden, Japan, Austria, Germany, Australia and Italy through NBC's newly-established International Div., headed by Romney Wheeler of London.

Much of the syndication planning now underway, however, hinges on several previous considerations. Among them: the possibility that NBC-TV may take five of the Project XX programs and repeat them as a continuing summer replacement series or under additional network sponsorship. "The idea," said Donald Hyatt, Project XX's associate producer, "is to get as much network mileage out of the series as possible."

ABC Said to Be in Line To Get Wallace's Services

THE STATUS of Mike Wallace's future in television became the tic-tac-toe diversion of the entertainment business in New York last week.

Mr. Wallace reportedly is signing with ABC-TV after having achieved nightly tv success on Night Beat, program on WABD (TV) New York featuring Mr. Wallace's lively interviews of celebrities [CLOSED CIRCUIT, Jan. 7].

ABC withheld official comment, but it was understood Mr. Wallace's contract would call for his exclusive services to the network. News articles last week hinting that Night Beat along with Mr. Wallace would go over to the network (ABC owns and operates WABC-AM-TV in New York) brought a "clarification" Wednesday by Ted Cott, vice president and general manager of DuMont Broadcasting Corp. (WABD).

Mr. Cott stated Night Beat was "conceived and created by the staff of WABD" and was DuMont's property. He explained that Mr. Wallace has been under a two-year contract since October 1955 and was "selected for this program." Producer is the station's news and special events department headed by Ted Yates Jr.

The contract, which also includes Mr. Wallace's handling of a 7 p.m. news show, calls for his services on Night Beat for another five months. "In recent weeks," Mr. Cott said, "there has been a great deal of interest in Mr. Wallace's services, and Mr. Wallace is free to discuss his future with any organization, subject to his present commitments to WABD."

Mr. Cott said WABD intends to continue the program on the station with Mr. Wallace if he chose to remain, or with some other "personality."
RAB SALES CLINICS START JAN. 21

A SERIES of area sales clinics for member stations of the Radio Advertising Bureau will get underway Jan. 21 and conclude March 1, with six bureau executives conducting sessions in 32 cities across the country.

In announcing the 1957 clinics, RAB predicted that more than 2,500 radio salesmen from 600 local stations would attend the cross-country swing.

On the clinic tour will be RAB President Kevin Sweeney, John F. Hardesty, vice president and general manager; Sherrill Taylor, vice president and director of promotion; Arch L. Madsen, director of station services; James H. Shoemaker, manager of membership, and Warren J. Boorom, manager of promotion.

A six-part program, including case histories, a basic presentation, a "station sales manual," success stories, a treatment on 'local level selling and a presentation on "What Is RAB?," has been scheduled.

Two clinics will be held on Jan. 21—one in Miami, Fla., and the other in Raleigh, N. C. The clinics are scheduled to end on March 1 with sessions that day at Phoenix, Ariz., and Seattle, Wash. The full schedule, dates and cities, follows:

FOOTBALL TV LIMIT STAYS, RULES NCAA

- Tv unit favors '56 plan
- Approval considered sure

CONTINUATION of controls over the nation's college football tv diet seemed assured Thursday on the basis of recommendations by the outgoing television committee of the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. at its annual convention in St. Louis.

Prospect of a restrictive tv program for the seventh consecutive year negates only the formality of a conventional tv vote Friday to become a reality. If adopted, a new tv committee will work out actual details of the plan, expected to be similar to that in operation last fall which called for national and regional tv playing dates.

Possibility of opposition by the Big 10, and perhaps other conferences, failed to materialize Thursday, though a Western Conference representative said that the Big 10 will seek changes once the new committee is installed. The conference formally will press one restriction by NCAA within the framework of general controls—a limitation on number of appearances (3) by any one school, whether national, regional or local. According to William Reed, assistant Big 10 commissioner, schools or conferences would be free to negotiate their own rights with tv networks [AT DEADLINE, Dec. 10, 1956]. The combination national-regional plan has been in effect the past two years.

Expresses Satisfaction

The 1956 NCAA tv committee reported it was generally satisfied with the football tv program this past year and recommended that all "forms of possible programming should be explored." It also urged the new committee to study closely new developments involving pay television and closed-circuit television and give them serious consideration. Recommendations and conclusions are virtually the same as those made by the 1955 tv unit. Howard Grubbs, Southwest Conference, headed the 1956 group.

In its report, the committee concluded that "sponsor reaction upon completion of this fall's series was "most favorable" in terms of games selected for the schedule and "methods of presentation." The "absence of complaints" was taken by the committee to mean that NCAA's control program made "good progress" this past year, the committee added.

The group also claimed public acceptance of the 1956 plan to an even greater extent than was the case for NCAA programs in previous years. The public recognized the need for controls, liked the schedule and accordingly approved, the committee claimed. The schedule comprised eight national and five regional Saturday telecasts.

The new NCAA tv committee was to be appointed this past Saturday, setting the wheels in motion for a mail referendum vote, creation of the 1957 plan, committee hearings for member schools and discussions with networks on rights and scheduling of games.

Another NCAA committee reported its conclusion that "there doesn't seem to be any need" for controls over televising basketball.

Systems Dept. Formed By RCA; Jolliffe Head

RCA has established a special systems and development department devoted to the planning and development of broad electronic systems for future military needs, it was announced last week by Theodore A. Smith, executive vice president, RCA Defense Electronic Products. Dr. C. B. Jolliffe, vice president and technical director, has been named manager of the new department.

Others appointed to executive posts in the new unit are A. W. Vance, chief systems engineer; G. L. electronic projects; G. C. Gay, manager, projects engineering, and Dr. E. W. Pritchard, administrative engineer.

The new department, Mr. Smith said, will embrace systems engineering groups of the David Sarnoff Research Center, the general engineering development section of the Defense Electronic Products organization, an RCA advanced development engineering group which has concentrated on new electronic techniques and on mechanical and optical devices associated with electronics.

Mr. Smith pointed out that RCA long has maintained groups devoted to such electronic projects as airborne fire-control and missile launching systems, communications and data handling and said the special systems and development department will enable RCA to "continue its research and development activities in these areas and to increase significantly its capabilities for new electronic systems of an advanced nature."

Dr. Jolliffe has been active in electronics engineering for many years, and served early in his career as acting chief, radio section, U. S. Bureau of Standards and as chief engineer of the FCC. He joined RCA in 1935 and progressed to such posts as chief engineer of the RCA labs, executive vice president and in charge of RCA Laboratories. In 1951, to vice president and technical director. He also is a member of the board of directors of RCA, NBC and RCA Communications Inc.

Aerojet-General Produces Film, Sponsors First Station Showing

AN UNUSUAL arrangement was made known last week whereby a manufacturer that produced a series of film TV programs is sponsoring the first 13 weeks on a Washington, D. C., station and then releasing the films for general sponsorship throughout the country.

Aerojet-General Corp., Azusa and Sacramento, Calif., maker of rocket engines (and a subsidiary of General Tire & Rubber Co.), Akron, Ohio—which in turn owns RKO Teleradio Pictures Inc., is the company. It produced a 13-episode series entitled On Guard, on the military services which it is sponsoring on Ch. 9, WTOP-TV Washington, D. C. The series began yesterday. After the initial series has completed its run on WTOP-TV it will become available for sponsorship on other stations throughout the country. The films (each costing from $20,000 to $25,000) were made under the direction of W. H. Taft, Aerojet-General advertising manager. Narrator for the series is Lowell Thomas Jr.

According to Mr. Taft, if the Washington showing seems to indicate sufficient viewer interest, a second group will be made by Aerojet.

Aerojet's president is Dan D. Kimball, former Secretary of the Navy (1950-53).

TelePrompTer, GPL Sign Large-Screen Contract

TELEPROMPTER Corp., New York, has arranged a long-term contract with General Precision Labs amounting to more than $1 million for large-screen, closed-circuit TV projection equipment, it was announced last week by Irving B. Kahn, TelePrompTer president.

TelePrompTer entered the closed-circuit field recently with the acquisition of Shertan Closed-Circuit Television Inc. The contract with GPL calls for the purchase of 100 units immediately and additional units to be procured by TelePrompTer at a later date. The companies also concluded a separate transaction under which TelePrompTer will become the only national distributor for the GPL projection systems and allied closed circuit equipment.

GPL's large screen projection systems are scheduled for delivery beginning this week.

Functional Video Sets Star at Chicago Show

INNOVATIONS in functional design of receivers, with emphasis on portable radio-TV set models, were of major interest at the International Home Furnishings Show in Chicago last week as manufacturers unveiled their new lines.

A current trend toward furniture styling in receivers and increased interest in high fidelity combinations also was evidenced at the market, which opened in the Merchandise Mart last Monday. Set-makers seemed to agree the tv set has moved from the decorative to the functional stage, partly because of remote control devices. Transistor radios also captured public fancy along with the new RCA Whirlpool electronic kitchen.

With refinements and new developments came predictions that tv set sales will hold up well, if not sensationally, during 1957.

Color tv received its highest exposure yet for any Home Furnishings Show in Chicago, with five set manufacturers receiving direct closed-circuit feeds from NBC-owned WNBJ (TV) and buyers viewing actual network and local programming. Special service was fed to showrooms of RCA Victor, Motorola, General Electric, Westinghouse Electric Corp. and Admiral Corp. Service was coordinated by Howard W. Coleman, manager of WNBJ color sales development, and equipment was installed by RCA Service Co. Fees are being made from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily during the 12-day show.

L. C. Truesdell, vice president in charge of sales, Zenith Radio Corp., told a news conference that present TV inventories are overly heavy but will be reduced this year. He claimed set prices are at 10% too low now and will be upgraded with the benefit of hard selling. He reported a rise in sales of high fidelity equipment.

Mr. Truesdell also charged that the Dept. of State is building up industries in foreign countries with American money to the detriment of U. S. firms, particularly in the case of fm receivers.

Over-production and price-slashing resulted from actions of some manufacturers who failed to operate in a "mature" manner, Mr. Truesdell further observed, pointing out that well over a dozen companies creased tv production last year.

Distributors to Hold Seminar

Galvin Expects Portables, Color
To Boost Motorola 10% in '57

MOTOROLA Inc. expects to improve upon its $220 million sales peak by about 10% in 1957, with emphasis on portable radio-television receivers and stimulated color television activity, President Robert W. Galvin told a distributors meeting in Miami Beach Jan. 4.

Claiming that Motorola held its own in TV sales during 1956, Mr. Galvin predicted his company would have a "strong program in portable television" this year, perhaps ahead of the industry trend. Portables will account for some 2.5 million of a total 6.8 million receivers (slightly down from the 7.1 million in 1956) in 1957 and last year's 150,000 color set sales will be doubled, he estimated.

"Motorola is producing and moving color sets daily," he reported. "We can build to the market demand as it grows. I expect that our production will be in the thousands during the winter months."

Olympic Reports Sales Increase

OLYMPIC Radio and Television Corp. announced last week that sales in 1956 were approximately 22% over those in 1955, and attributed the increase to expanded distribution and to concentration on units that are profitable to dealers.

Morton M. Schwartz, Olympic vice president in charge of sales, explained that in 1956 the company directed its sales efforts toward the sales of large radio-television-phonograph units and to three-way combinations. Based on the company's growth to date, he continued, the target for 1957 is sales amounting to from 20 to 25% over 1956.

To Editors and Commentators:

Subject: TAX RELIEF WITHOUT LOSS OF TAX REVENUE

An official of the United States Treasury Department was asked at a Congressional hearing on December 10 whether his department would oppose any reduction in federal taxes in 1957. He replied, "Involving a net loss of revenue, yes."

There are two taxes which could be repealed without substantial net loss to the government and with even the possibility of a net revenue gain. These are the excise taxes on transportation which add 10 per cent to passenger fares and 3 per cent to freight charges. These taxes — levied during World War II, partly to discourage the use of overburdened public transportation facilities — are on the users of transportation, not the carriers.

The taxes now yield about $700 million annually in revenue. This does not mean, however, that the government collects $700 million more than it would if the taxes were repealed because:

1. A major part of the transportation taxes is deductible as business expense and hence reduces the amount which the government would otherwise collect through income taxes.

2. The transportation taxes are a heavy drag on commerce, reducing the flow of business and thereby decreasing further the amount of net income subject to income tax.

What the government would gain in tax revenue as a result of the benefits to the entire economy which would come from repeal of these taxes cannot be estimated exactly. These benefits would be cumulative in their effect. They would be felt in lower mark-ups and prices at each stage of the movement of goods, through production, wholesaling and retailing. They would flow from the act of simple justice in removing the manifold discriminations inherent in these taxes — discrimination against the shipper and passenger who must use public transportation and in favor of those who can provide their own; discrimination against the long-haul shipper seeking to compete with the short-haul shipper in common markets; discrimination against United States shippers and in favor of foreign shippers, to whom the tax does not apply.

While these taxes bear unevenly upon some, they are paid, directly or indirectly, by all. Their repeal would, therefore, benefit more people than almost any other conceivable form of tax relief.

Repeal of the taxes on transportation is supported, through the National Conference for Repeal of Taxes on Transportation, by all forms of transportation, by shippers and travelers, and by numerous other national, regional, and local groups and organizations. It is a measure that is truly in the best interest of all — truly deserving of the support of all Americans.

Sincerely yours,

William T. Faricy

'OLD, FAMILIAR SCORE' REPLAYED
IN AFM PETITION ON TRUST FUND

THE SAME arguments advanced by the recording companies in the late 1940's against the then-new demands of the American Federation of Musicians for royalty payments made not to recording musicians but to a union trust fund were heard again last Thursday in Los Angeles Superior Court. The text was the same. The only difference was that this time the source was not employers but a group of AFM members.

The case, being heard by Judge John J. Ford, concerns the petition of a group of members of AFM Local 47, Hollywood, that a temporary injunction be granted and a receiver appointed to prevent royalty payments by recording companies and motion picture producers from leaving California until after a trial has been held to determine whether these payments should continue to go to Samuel R. Rosenbaum, trustee of the Music Performance Trust Fund, or should be paid directly to the musicians who made the records and films, as plaintiff contends.

Arguing for the rebel Hollywood musicians, attorney Harold A. Fendler stated that the basic principle of collective bargaining is that the employer has an obligation to bargain with his employees or their representatives, but under no circumstances is he required to bargain with non-employees. Similarly, the bargaining agent of the employees must bargain for them alone and not for others. So, Mr. Fendler argued, when the AFM required the recording and motion picture companies to make payments into a fund for all musicians, including the great majority not employed by those companies, it was violating its responsibility to the musicians who were the company's employees.

The total employment of musicians adds up to 53,000 man years, Mr. Fendler said, yet musicians employed in recording and motion pictures total only 1,700 man years, or less than 3%. The total income of all musicians from musical services is $253,000,000 a year, of which only $11,000,000 goes for services in recording and films, again less than 3%. Yet, Mr. Fendler declared, AFM as bargaining agent for this less than 3%, requires employers to make substantial payments for the benefit of those who are employed elsewhere in music. The contention of the Hollywood musicians who make the records and films, he asserted, is that if a benefit arises from services performed, it belongs to the man who performs the services.

'Neutral Defendants'

Argument that the Los Angeles court has "no jurisdiction to proceed in these actions until Samuel R. Rosenbaum, trustee, is personally served in California or until he voluntarily appears," was presented at the opening session of the hearing on Tuesday by Homer Mitchell of O'Melveny & Myers, attorneys for CBS, NBC, RCA, California National Productions, Paramount Pictures and Capitol Records. These companies are all so-called "neutral defendants" in the suit, which seeks to halt the payment of fees for the use of theatrical motion pictures on television to Mr. Rosenbaum, as trustee of the Music Performance Trust Fund, on the ground that they properly should be made to the musicians who performed for the films.

Calling Mr. Rosenbaum an "indispensable party" to the case, Mr. Mitchell's memorandum states that "to proceed without him would violate the rights of the defendant companies under the 14th amendment to the United States Constitution for it is conceivable that this court might render judgment in favor of the plaintiffs and that a New York court, in an action brought by Rosenbaum against the defendant companies [B.T, Jan. 7], might render judgment in favor of Rosenbaum. Then the defendant companies would be required to pay twice. "If there is to be a contest between plaintiffs and Rosenbaum as to which is the obligee under the contracts wherein defendant companies are the obligors, then.

ABC's of ABC

There are more than 3,740 members of ABC—the Audit Bureau of Circulation. Its job: To verify the accuracy of publishers' statements of paid circulation.

About 10% of the membership is made up of specialized business publications.

Broadcasting • Telecasting is the only news magazine specializing in radio-television coverage with membership in ABC.
both plaintiffs and Rosenbaum must be parties to the contest," the memorandum says, suggesting that the proper place to litigate the question as to whether payments should be made to Mr. Rosenbaum or to the Local 47 members employed by motion picture companies is New York, "where the plaintiffs can make personal service on Rosenbaum and on most, and probably all, of the defendant companies."

The memorandum notes that "the plaintiffs have attempted to impute dishonesty to the union in negotiating this type of an agreement. If such is the fact, then their cause of action is against the union. They certainly cannot transfer this alleged dishonesty into a contract for their benefit and sue to enforce it. The provisions for payments to Rosenbaum, as trustee, were not for the benefit of the plaintiffs."

Yet, the argument continues, "the plaintiffs seek to have this court make radical changes in these contracts. They want this court to require the defendant companies to pay plaintiffs instead of Rosenbaum as trustee. They want this court to permit plaintiffs to use these funds as they please rather than to devote them to the use to which Rosenbaum agreed to put them."

"In other words, plaintiffs want this court to impose upon the defendant companies obligations to which they have not agreed. This is not permissible in an action for declaratory relief. Moreover, plaintiffs do not state any facts upon the basis of which this court could 'reform' the existing contracts to impose obligations upon the defendant companies which they have not agreed to assume."

The hearing is the second to be held by Judge Ford on the dispute between Local 47 and its parent organization. Last month [BT, Dec. 10] Judge Ford granted the Hollywood rebels a temporary restraining order prohibiting phonograph recording companies from making payments into the Music Performance Trust Fund in excess of the basic recording royalty. In addition to the injunctive relief, the plaintiffs in that action also seek "recovery" of $8,587,900 alleged to have been "diverted" by AFM President James C. Petrillo to the trust fund. The action concerning fees on motion pictures made originally for showing in theaters but subsequently released for TV use, also seeks to acquire for the Hollywood musicians $4,668,950 already received by the trust fund in payment of fees for old movies here-fore released to television.

"Neutrals" Seek Dismissal
Affidavits filed on behalf of other "neutral" defendant companies, including NBC, California National Productions, CBS, Paramount Pictures, Warner Bros. Pictures and 20th Century-Fox Film Corp., ask to be dismissed from the suit on the ground that they have not agreed to make any payments into the trust fund and are not signatory to the four agreements with which the action is concerned. These are the television film labor agreements of 1952 and 1954, which called for payment of $25 to each musician in the making of a theatrical film at the time of that film's release to television; the Hollywood film trust agreement, stipulating that the trust funds shall be paid 5% of the gross time charges or gross take of stations or networks broadcasting such films, and the 1955 letter amendment to the labor agreement transferring the $35 payments from the individual musicians to the trust funds. That change, effected by President Petrillo and the AFM International Executive Board, is considered the prime motive of the Hollywood local's revolt.

In line with the arguments of the defendant companies for dismissal as not proper parties to the action, an affidavit submitted by Leo Cluesmann, AFM International secretary, states that of 100 such companies named as defendants, only 11 have entered into agreements to make payments to the trustee. Since June 1955, he says, payments to the trust fund instead of to individual employees have amounted to less than $125,000. On the other hand, he said, since the trust fund started making disbursements for live music in 1950, the earnings of Local 47 musicians have increased progressively. Figured at minimum scale, their combined earnings from all musical services have risen.

Te GROEN MISQUOTED JIMMY

JOHN te GROEN, former president of AFM Local 47, testifying in Los Angeles Superior Court Thursday admitted that he had misquoted AFM President James Petrillo in a statement made last May before a special investigating committee of the House Committee on Education and Labor [B&F, Nov 28, 1956]. Describing a phone conversation he had had with Mr. Petrillo, Mr. te Groen testified that the union president had actually said that "it was a mistake to have paid the money to the men in the first place." But in his testimony before the House Committee, te Groen said, he had misquoted Mr. Petrillo as saying it was a mistake to take the money away from the men after having once given it to them.

Writers Guild to Vote On Post '48 Film Deal

SCREEN Writers Branch of Writers Guild of America, West, will vote on the guild's recent deal with Matty Fox and C&C Television Corp., on a group of post '48 pictures released to tv. The vote will be taken at a special membership meeting to be held Jan. 24 in the Beverly Hilton Hotel, Los Angeles.

Mr. Fox reportedly has offered lump sums of $235,000 each to the Screen Directors Guild and the writers organization for the release of 82 RKO feature films and about 50 short subjects for tv [B&F, Dec. 24, 1956]. General question of a formula for the right fees for writers on post '48 films also will be considered.

The Writers Guild board is studying the first draft of a new tv film contract with networks, while contracts with the major film tv subsidiary companies and the alliance and independent tv film producers are about ready for signing.

The television-radio writers branch of the Writers Guild is voting on a proposal of the guild's council that a previously adopted regulation on the apportionment of residuals between screen and tv writers, where their combined work is involved, be rescinded. This move is being made so that the problem of residual sharing may be considered on an overall basis regarding radio, screen and writers of live as well as film tv programs.

AFTRA Strike Against KROW Marks Third Bay Area Dispute

KROW Oakland, Calif., last Tuesday became the third of four Bay Area independents to be struck by AFTRA announcers. Previously KSFO and KYA San Francisco were struck by the union. With KLX Oakland, the four stations are bargaining as a unit through Lawrence P. Corbett, Oakland attorney. The unit is called Bay Area Independent Broadcasters Assn. [B*T, Dec. 31, 24, 1956].

J. G. Paltridge, KROW vice president-general manager, told B*T Thursday the station had lost one account and gained six new ones during the first three days of its AFTRA strike, bringing $1,600 added revenue.

The strike developed after management refused to accept what was described as a package including a fee system, health-welfare benefits and other clauses that could bring pay for staff announcers up to around $275 a week ($165 weekly base pay). AFTRA contended it merely wants parity with the new network-tv contract operative at seven Bay Area stations since Nov. 1. Basic wage scale for announcers at the four independents has been $1.50 under a one-year contract that ended last Nov. 1.

TIME SELLS KOB-AM-TV STATIONS

- $1.5 million cash purchase is made by KSTP Inc.
- Clears way for Time acquisition of Consolidated

STANLEY HUBBARD'S KSTP Inc. bought KOB-AM-TV Albuquerque, N. M., for $1.5 million cash from Time Inc. and KOB President Wayne Coy last week, as Time cleared the decks for its $15,750,000 acquisition of the Consolidated Radio & Television Broadcasters properties [B*T, Dec. 24, 1956].

The sale, like Time Inc.'s purchase of the Consolidated properties from President Harry M. Bliner Sr. and other stockholders, is subject to the customary FCC approval. Neither application has been filed yet, the filing in the Consolidated case awaiting Consolidated stockholders' final approval of the sale.

The projected new owner of the Albuquerque stations also owns KSTP-AM-TV St. Paul-Minneapolis and has a 23% interest in KWK-AM-TV St. Louis (which in turn owns WGTQ Haines City, Fla.). Since one of the properties Time Inc. is buying from Consolidated is WTCN-AM-TV Minneapolis, buyer and seller in the KOB transaction will be direct competitors in the Minnesota market. KSTP is on 1500 kc with 50 kw and KSTP-TV is on ch. 5 with NBC, while WTCN is on 1280 kc with 5 kw day and 1 kw night and WTCN-TV is on ch. 11 with an ABC affiliation.

By selling the KOB stations, Time Inc. assured itself of compliance with FCC's multiple ownership requirements when it takes over the Consolidated properties. But the Albuquerque transaction does not depend on the Consolidated deal going through.

In addition to KOB-AM-TV, which it owns equally with Mr. Coy, former FCC chairman, Time Inc. owns CBS-affiliated KLZ-AM-TV Denver and has 80% of NBC-affiliated KDYL and KVT (TV) Salt Lake City. In the Consolidated transaction it is acquiring WBFB-AM-TV Indianapolis and WOOD-AM-TV Grand Rapids as well as WTCN-AM-TV, plus two Consolidated subsidiaries, Lansmore Corp. (real estate firm) and Artists Inc. Since all six of these tv stations are vhf, one had to be dropped in order to meet FCC's multiple ownership requirements.

Mr. Coy, who has been president and general manager of Albuquerque Broadcasting Co., licensee of the KOB stations, will continue to serve Time Inc. as a radio-tv consultant, according to their joint announcement of the sale. It had been expected that Mr. Coy, who in the past had moved to Indianapolis as head of WBFB-AM-TV, would continue the effort that he had made in the NBC market. He is now out of NBC.

Mr. Hubbard's financing—which a loan from Mellon National Bank & Trust Co., Pittsburgh—was negotiated in the same fashion. The Mellon bank had backed Mr. Hubbard with a loan several years ago when he bought control of KSTP, in which he held a majority interest.

Mr. Hubbard's yacht off the Florida coast—KBK-TV, which went on the air in 1948 and claims to have the highest transmitter in the U. S. (atop Sandia Mountain, 10,833 ft. above sea level), is on ch. 4 and is affiliated with NBC. The radio station, on the air since 1921 and also an NBC affiliate, is on 770 kc with 50 kw day and 25 kw night. Time Inc. and Mr. Coy acquired them in 1952 for $900,000 from T. M. Pepperday (Albuquerque Journal).

Under Orders to Delinealize

At the present time KOB is under orders to delinealize its 770 kc transmitter to protect Class 1-A WABC New York. KOB has been operating under a temporary FCC authorization on 770 kc since 1941 and has been engaged in litigation with ABC since that time over its use of 770 kc. A Washington, D. C., federal court recently ordered a solution be found for its situation. KOB officially is licensed on 1030 kc.

Mr. Hubbard said that a thorough investigation of the Albuquerque-Santa Fe market potential had been made. The market study was made by Stanley E. Hubbard Jr., vice president in charge of research and development for KSTP Inc., and Dr. Hugh Francis, U. of Minnesota research consultant to KSTP Inc.

"Both KOB radio and tv have been leaders in southwest broadcasting and have grown steadily with the booming economy of the Albuquerque market," Mr. Hubbard asserted. "We feel that our experience and record of public service programming in Minneapolis-St. Paul will help us in maintaining and strengthening the tradition of commu—nity service which Time Inc. and Wayne Coy have established at KOB."

Roy E. Larsen, president of Time Inc., made clear that the Albuquerque sale was not conditional on FCC approval of the Consolidated transaction. "However," he pointed out, "The sale of KOB will enable Time Inc. to conform with the FCC's multiple ownership regulation limiting a company to five vhf stations."

Andres, Dodson Assume Posts As WKY, WSFA Station Managers

TWO top management promotions were announced last week by P. A. Sugg, executive vice president of WKY Television System and manager of WTVT (TV) Tampa, Fla. Hoyt Andres, manager of WSFA-AM-TV Montgomery, Ala., was named manager of WKY-AM-TV Oklahoma City. Eugene B. Dodson, acting manager of WKY-AM-TV, moves to WSFA-AM-TV, replacing Mr. Andres as manager. Promotions are effective in February.

Mr. Andres joined WKY in 1946 as radio program manager, becoming assistant manager in 1951 and moving to the Montgomery post when WKY bought the stations in February 1955. Mr. Dodson joined WKY in 1949 as promotion manager, moving up to the post of assistant manager and being named acting manager in July 1955.

KOSA-TV Maximum Power Switch Planned to Take Place Tomorrow

TOMORROW (Tuesday) is the date set by ch. 7 KOSA-TV Odessa, Tex., for its switch to maximum power (316 kw), with a complete new set of remote equipment on tap, according to an announcement by Cecil Trigg, president-general manager. The station says it has spent almost a quarter of a million dollars to upgrade its wide-area service. KOSA-TV has bought a 50 kw GE amplifier and component parts, a new custom GMC truck for remotes, carrying two new GE field camera chains and related equipment to send the signal home via a new color-corrected microwave relay link. The KOSA-TV antenna reaches 1,000 ft. above average terrain.

Unauthorized Music Use Charged to Two Stations

SUITS were filed last week by members of the American Society of Composers, Authors & Publishers against Federal Broadcasting System Inc., owner of WSAV

Rochester, N. Y., and Mid-Atlantic Broadcasting Co., owner of WMID Atlantic City, charging that copyrighted songs were performed by the stations without authorization.

The suits against the two stations sought to have the outlets "restricted from publicly performing the songs in the future and to award damages of not less than $250 for each unauthorized performance, together with court costs and attorneys' fees." The suit against Federal Broadcasting was filed in the U. S. District Court for the Western District of New York and the one against Mid-Atlantic Broadcasting in the U. S. District Court for the District of New Jersey.

The songs involved in the suit against Mid-Atlantic and the plaintiffs are "True Love," (Buxton Hill Music Corp.); "I've Got You Under My Skin," and "It's All Yours" (Chapell & Co.). The suit against Federal Broadcasting involves the following songs and plaintiffs: "Ain't Misbehavin'" (Mills Music); "Yesterday" (T. B. Harms Co.); "Skylark" (George Simon Inc.); "If I Loved You" (Williamson Music Inc.); "Sunnyside Up" (DeSylva, Brown & Henderson Inc.); "There Goes My Heart" (Leo Feist Inc.); "Have You Ever Been Lonely" and "By The Beautiful Sea" (Shapiro, Bernstein & Co.); "On The Street Where You Live," "I've Grown Accustomed to Her Face," "Get Me to Church on Time" and "Wouldn't It Be Lovely" (Alan Jay Lerner and Frederick Loewe).

FCC PROTEST POSED IN 'LUTHER' RHUBARB

- Protestants criticize WGN-TV
- Say Catholics swayed station

CHARGE that WGN-TV Chicago violated its public interest responsibility by permitting "de facto censorship" in the cancellation of the "Martin Luther" film will be the basis of a formal protest to be filed with the FCC by a Protestant action committee.

Promising a last ditch fight to have the motion picture rescheduled, the committee authorized the action and voted to retain Frank Ketcham, Washington, D. C., as its counsel before the Commission and to consult with Chicago attorneys. The committee also will explore other channels of public opinion for filing protests and "to inform appropriate congressional committees." The Church Federation of Greater Chicago, whose executive vice president heads the action group, and other inter-church agencies were urged to mobilize their members over the alleged "threat to freedom" involved in cancellation of the film. It was not immediately known when the protest would be filed with the FCC.

The Protestant action committee stated it intends to establish the principle that all television stations shall interpret their federal licenses to broadcast in the public interest, convenience and necessity; to require them to conform to the First Amendment of the Constitution, providing freedom of expression in religion as well as in politics. The group charges that WGN-TV cancelled the motion picture as a result of Roman Catholic pressure [B&T, Dec. 24, 1956, et seq.].

Charges Moral Obligation

Lutheran Church Productions Inc. producer of the "Luther" film served notice it will "pursue to satisfaction the ultimate television showing in Chicago and throughout the nation" because of public response. The organization noted that "while any station ordinarily is completely free to accept or reject those motion picture titles it would broadcast, the station made its decision only after careful deliberation and, as a result, has a moral obligation to fulfill its originally announced intentions."

Announcement that WGN-TV "has no present intention" of rescheduling the controversial film was made Tuesday by Ward L. Quaal, vice president and general manager of WGN Inc., after meeting with representatives of the Church Federation of Greater Chicago and National Lutheran Council. He stated:

"We acted in good faith originally in cancelling the showing of this film during the Christmas holiday and we are acting in good faith now in an effort to prevent further misunderstanding, ill will, or controversies from being injected into the homes of families we are licensed to serve by the Federal Communications Commission."

Lutheran Church Productions originally was authorized by its board to sell the feature film in Chicago only with the purpose of making "an evaluation" as to whether it should be extended to other cities, Robert A. E. Lee, executive secretary of LCP, told B&T Wednesday. Eventual objective is to obtain "general and comprehensive coverage" throughout the nation, he added.

Mr. Lee said Lutheran Church Productions has been considering such coverage on a local station-to-station or network basis or perhaps "putting the film on the shelf for a couple of years."

No thought has been given by Lutheran Church Productions to actually buying time for the motion picture, because of the fact it originally was a theatrical release, Mr. Lee said. He said WGN-TV initially bought the film on the basis it had been a "successful dramatic motion picture" shown in theatres during 1953-54. Mr. Lee noted that many stations, including WGN-TV, maintain a policy of not offering purely religious programs for time sale but schedule them as public service features. He felt "Martin Luther" did not fall in this category.

After the meeting Tuesday Dr. Harms described the issue as one of "freedom and the committee intends to press for recognition of this basic American issue on Chicago airways." The Rev. V. C. Rickman, of St. Philip's Lutheran Church, Chicago, an action committee member, felt Mr. Quaal had given a "pre-determined decision."

Westinghouse Combines Charity in Marking Ownership of WIND

AGENCY and client executives were feted by Westinghouse Broadcasting Co. last Wednesday at a reception marking its new ownership of WIND Chicago [B&T, Dec. 24, 1956].

The Off-the-Street Club of the Chicago Federated Adv. Club shared in proceeds raised during a special ticket promotion at the Ambassador East Hotel. Acting through Donald H. McCannon, its president, WBC donated more than $1,000 in company tv-radio receivers and appliances for a prize drawing. Free tickets accompanied each invitation to the reception. WBC and WIND matched, dollar for dollar, all proceeds raised from sale of additional tickets, with the entire fund contributed to the Off-the-Street Club.

A similar reception was held for civic officials, broadcasting and newspaper executives and radio-tv entertainers Thursday.

STAKES OF BUSINESS!

Smokestacks have always been a symbol of activity in our Ohio River Valley. They came to us first aboard the picturesque sternwheelers that opened this region to phenomenal growth. They stayed to multiply and multiply above busy mills and factories whose industrial worth today — in the Huntington-Charleston heart alone — exceeds one billion dollars!

Nowhere in America is there such a panorama of business under full steam as in the 100-plus counties served by the four-state span of WSAZ-TV. NBC Rechristens WKNB-TV To WNBC(TV) West Hartford

CEREMONIES today (Monday) will mark the change in call letters of NBC’s WKNB-TV to WNBC (TV) in West Hartford, Conn. Ownership of the uhf ch. 30 station, which went on the air Feb. 11, 1953, was assumed by NBC on Dec. 13, 1956. Studios are located in West Hartford and the transmitter at Farmington, Conn.

A 20-minute telecast, featuring Tex and Jinx McCrary, will be seen on both WNBC and WRCA-TV New York. Following this telecast, a 10-minute local program will include the presentation of the new call letters from Thomas B. McFadden, vice president of NBC owned stations and NBC Spot Sales, to the station’s general manager, Peter B. Kenney. Also scheduled are brief talks by government and civic leaders, including the mayors of communities in the area. A portion of the ceremonies will be shown on NBC-TV’s Today tomorrow morning. Charles R. Denny, executive vice president of operations, will be among the top NBC executives on hand.

A luncheon for 200 advertising agency executives and civic leaders will follow at the studio building. Along with the ceremonies, an extensive promotional campaign will get underway including air announcements, newspaper advertising and displays in tv stores.

The WNBC call letters first belonged to a radio outlet in New Britain, Conn., and from November 1946 to Oct. 18, 1954, was used for NBC’s flagship stations in New York (now WRCA-AM-TV).

IT MAY take some persuasion before visiting British Member of Parliament Peter Smithers makes another advance radio interview. During the course of discussing Anglo-American relations ("Rotten," said Mr. Smithers), the M. P. confided that "Anthony Eden probably won't resign as Prime Minister." The show went on the air at 8:30 p.m. EST. Around that time, KYW carried London's dispatch on Mr. Eden's resignation.
Paramount Announces Pact For Acquisition of Dot Records

PARAMOUNT PICTURES Corp. is acquiring Dot Records as a wholly-owned subsidiary, according to an agreement announced last week by Barney Balaban, Paramount president, with Randy Wood, president of the record company. Upon consummation, Mr. Wood will continue to direct the operations of Dot Records and will be elected a vice president of Paramount.

Purchase price is reported to be around $3 million.

According to Paramount’s announcement, Dot Records led the recording industry last year in sales of single records, its gross business in 1956 exceeding $6 million. Paramount does not expect to make any structural personnel changes in the company.

In addition to its motion picture activity, Paramount has interests in electronics (principally substantial stock in Allen B. DuMont Labs), in tv stations—KTLA (TV) Los Angeles is wholly owned by its subsidiary, Paramount TV Productions Inc., and Paramount hold substantial interest in DuMont Broadcasting Corp. (WABD [TV] New York and WTTG [TV] Washington)—color development via its Chromatic Television Labs and pay tv, through International Telemeter Corp., also a Paramount subsidiary.

Olmsted Sees More Tape Shows, Increased Automatic Operation

An increase this year in the number of radio shows wholly or partly recorded in advance is predicted by Richard Olmsted, executive vice president-chief engineer, Olmsted Sound Studios, New York. Mr. Olmsted also sees a rise in semi-automatic radio stations which use automatic tape machines for continuous transmission, one machine broadcasting music, the other announcements, station breaks and commercials.

Pointing out that more than a million homes in the U. S. now have their own tape recorders, Mr. Olmsted looks for still new developments in the field of home taped music and entertainment. Also on the immediate horizon, he predicts, is taped background music in transportation—trains, ocean liners and planes. In his year-end preview, Mr. Olmsted asserted that the year ahead appears to be “another banner year” for audio achievements.

'S 56 Advances Cited
By Columbia Records

COLUMBIA RECORDS Inc., subsidiary of CBS Inc., which a year ago set for its dealers a new long-range program, themed "Your Future is Sound," last week reported "the future came more quickly than we anticipated."

In a yearend report, CRI President Gordon Lieberson indicated that 1956 was a "boom year" for the record and phonograph firm, outstripping even earlier predictions of steady growth "leading to a volume increase of 50% in five years," to achieve "more than its 50% sales increase in just one year—1956."

Mr. Lieberson said long playing records (first introduced by CRI just eight years ago) accounted for 60% of all world wide record sales, Columbia alone last year realizing an 107% sales gain over 1955. Though it cut back production of single shellac discs last year, CRI reports that three of its popular cuttings—by Doris Day ("Quy Sera"), Johnnie Ray ("Walking In The Rain"), and Guy Mitchell ("Singing The Blues")—released toward the end of 1956, each achieved 1 million (unit) sales totals, with the Mitchell disc alone exceeding 2 million copies. Columbia's phonograph division, which manufactures the "360" set line, exceeded its 1955 sales volume by 32% in 1956; it was reported. Also making "a notable success" was Columbia Transmission Service's orders for merchandising and product publicity as in the case of Gillette Safety Razor Co.'s use of over 1 million seven-inch discs containing excerpts from CRI's Greatest Moments in Sports album, which served as a premium for Gillette razors last year. Other hot items in CRI's stable: the album of "My Fair Lady" which topped in sales the actual dollar intake of the play's boxoffice sales.

Story of Hungarians Told in 25-Min. Film

TV STATIONS in the U. S. and Canada will be contacted by the United Nations Radio & Television Section, Dept. of Public Information, in the near future on behalf of a 25-minute, black-and-white film on Hungarian displaced persons, titled "Out." At a special screening last week in New York, it was disclosed that the film was scheduled to receive its first nationwide showing on Omnibus (ABC-TV) last night (Sunday).

The film, a documentary study of the dilemma faced by Hungarian exiles, was produced by the U. N. and written by novelist and former Life and New Yorker war correspondent John Hersey. It was filmed on the Austro-Hungarian border and in the Austrian refugee camp at Traiskirchen.

U. N. Production Supervisor Thorold Dickinson said that while his organization was not looking for funds, the "prohibitive cost" of making the film would not allow free distribution of prints. Mr. Dickinson added the U. N. will leave it up to each station to decide what it would want to pay for the film. Eventual theatrical release also is contemplated.

S. and Italian bridge teams from New York's Biltmore Hotel Friday (9-10 p.m. EST). Since contestants played in an isolation booth, the J. Walter Thompson Co. television workshop used its projection system to enable the audience at the hotel to view proceedings on a large screen.

The entries could be anything but useful. The contest drew 234 entries and is credited by the station with increased interest and listenership for WTMJ-TV in general.

KTTV (TV) SHOWS ITS METTLE IN COVERING FIRE DISASTER

WHELING its cameras onto the fire-fighters' line, KTTV (TV) Los Angeles provided dramatic live coverage of the holocaust that devastated large areas of Southern California a fortnight ago. Following the outbreak of the forest fire at Malibu, KTTV telecast a film report at 11:15 a.m., Dec. 26—a "first" among the Los Angeles tv stations, according to station spokesmen. For more than 24 hours the station pre-empted regular programming to broadcast interviews, bulletins and public service notices. At 4:15 p.m. Dec. 26, mobile equipment began on-the-spot telecasts using a tv relay atop 2,500-ft. Mt. Castro. Four times the relay unit prepared to abandon the position in the face of menacing flames, but each time the wind shifted at the last moment. On one occasion, flames surged to within 10 feet of the KTTV mobile unit. Quick playing of hoses on equipment and men saved the unit.

When heat caused air inversions that frequently bent the tv signal away from the receiving dishes, KTTV engineers established a special relay unit at a Venice pier. Signals went over water along the coastline and then were relayed back to the station's Mt. Wilton transmitter site. At one point during the firefight the station's remote generators supplied power to fire department headquarters when flames destroyed power lines in the area.

The special telecasts were presented on KTTV by General Petroleum Corp., as a public service.

State and local authorities joined viewers in lauding KTTV's effort.

KAYO's New Year's Resolutions

KAYO Seattle recently sent a list of its programming resolutions for the new year to local agencies and national representatives. The station resolved: that there shall be no double spotting of any sixty-second commercials (the first person to catch it breaking this resolution will be given $100); better music will be heard; to deliver the finest local news coverage that has ever been featured by Pacific Northwest Radio, and more music, more news, more sales, and more public service in 1957.

Daniel Webster vs. Fire

WHEN the Daniel Webster Special, making a test run with members of the press, caught on fire just outside of New York, WBZ-TV Boston's news supervisor, Francis W. (Dinny) Whitmarsh and news cameraman, Al Kaye were aboard the train. Mr. Kaye was the only photographer in the group of news men. He filmed the fire and WBZ-TV aired it the same night on its 11 p.m. news program.

NBC-TV Revives 'Vic & Sade'

WNBQ (TV) Chicago revived an oldtime NBC Radio daytime serial, Vic And Sade, Jan. 10 as a regular weekly live color series. Art Van Harvey and Bernardine Flynn, who played the featured roles on the network radio series from May 1932 to September 1944, have returned for the tv adaptation, which is written by Paul Rhymers, author of the original series. The program is telecast on Thursdays (10:30-45 p.m., CST), with David Barnhizer as director.

NBC Plans 'True Confessions'

THE radio version of real-life romances from True Confessions magazine will be the substance of NBC Radio's True Confessions, a new daytime drama series which the network begins today (Monday) at 2:05-2:30 p.m. to serve as a companion program to Five Star Matinee (Mon.-Fri., 3:05-3:30 p.m. EST). The program is packaged by Roy Winsor Productions. Mr. Winsor was radio-tv vice president of the former Biow Co.

CBS-TV Carries Hockey Telecasts

CBS-TV Network has started a weekly telecast of the National Hockey League games, said to mark the first time that big league hockey games have been carried by tv on a nationwide scale. The games, which are presented on Saturday afternoon from 2 p.m. to conclusion, are described on tv by commentators Bud Palmer and Fred Cusick. The telecasts will be carried through March 9.

From Baton Rouge to Ceylon

WHCN Baton Rouge, La., made an offer to award a ten-minute long-distance call to the local mother whose child was the farthest from home, it did not realize what the results would be. The station's disc jockeys conducted a search during the Christmas holidays for the winner and came up with people in China, Germany, the South Pole and various places around the world. The mother of a boy attending St. Michael's College in Batticaloa, Ceylon, got the prize.

RAB Mails Testimonials

FIFTH in a series of first-person testimonials on the effectiveness of radio advertising has been sent by Radio Advertising Bureau to member stations, representatives and networks. The mailing contains the talk made at RAB's national radio advertising clinic last November by Fred M. Jordan, manager of advertising and sales promotion for Richfield Oil Co., on the Richfield Reporter, 26-year-old regional network program (West Coast).

CHARLES McCoo (c) vice president of the City National Bank & Trust Co., Columbus, Ohio, looks at a reel of one of the 13-week series of Warner Bros. feature films which the bank will sponsor over WTVN-TV Columbus. With him are Jim Kelso (L), Byer & Bowman Advertising, and Bill Zimmerman, WTVN-TV sales staff. The films will be run without interruption on Saturday evenings.

CBS Expands 'Amos 'n Andy'

CBS Radio has added Saturdays to its current daily (Mon.-Fri., 7-7:45 p.m. EST) schedule of Amos 'n Andy Music Hall. The strip replaced Romance, a weekly dramatic series. Howard O. Barnes, vice president in charge of network programs, CBS Radio, noted that this was the second recent expansion for the program, the first being an increase from a half-hour to 45 minutes.

'REPORT FROM ALBANY'

WHIL Hempstead, N. Y., last week launched a weekly Report From Albany series (Sat., 12:45-1 p.m. EST), featuring interviews with state legislators from Long Island on important legislative developments of the past week and on upcoming bills that may affect the Long Island area. The series will continue through the current session of the New York state legislature.

RCA's Pilferage-proof Sets

HOW can retailers sell their customers on transistor radios and still insure against pilferage of the tiny sets? RCA Victor Radio & Victrola Div., Camden, N. J., seems to have come up with an answer to that problem by perfecting a 16x9 inch coral and grey counter display stand that actually locks the radios into place, but allows the prospective customer to hear, touch and examine them closely. The "pilferage-proof" stand is now being made available to RCA dealers throughout the country.

CFGPs Sells 'Theatre News'

CFGPs Grande Prairie, Alberta, has a nightly program Theatre News, which gives lists of showings in 20 small town theatres in its rural listening area. Since most of these towns have only weekly newspapers or no newspapers, listeners depend on CFGP for theatre news. The station charges the theatres for the announced listings.
HOT PROPS
PROPS left over from the old NBC-TV Atom Squad show got a good going-over in the studios of WRCV-AM-FM-TV Philadelphia after a phone-caller warned that a bomb had been planted in the building.

The bomb scare, which spread from New York to other cities, hit Philadelphia Jan. 2 at night when the WRCV switchboard operator received an anonymous call warning that a bomb had been hidden in the NBC building. Police and newspaper reporters swarmed over the building, while local shows went on as scheduled. A two-block area was cordoned off by police as the building was painstakingly searched.

However, after hours of nerve-wracking search throughout the night the police declared the building bomb-free and labeled the telephone call a "crank episode."

Viewers Versus Censorship
AS an aftermath to the controversy stirred by the motion picture, "Baby Doll," NBC-TV's Home program (Mon.-Fri., 10-11 a.m. EST) last week invited viewers to participate in a contest on the subject of censorship or guardianship of public taste with regard to films. Viewers were asked to express their opinions in a letter to their neighborhood theatres and to send a carbon to Home. First prize is a trip for two to Stockholm.

From Horse Race to Wildcat Hunt
NBC RADIO reported last week it will devote 110 minutes to sports news and features on its Monitor program every fourth Friday, starting this week. In conjunction with Sports Illustrated magazine, NBC Radio will fill the 8:05-9:55 p.m. EST segment of Monitor with such sports features as a horse race from the San Antonio track, intermittent live reports of basketball games, and transcripts of a wildcat hunt in Maine. Westbrook Van Voorhees and Don Russell will be the communicators on the Friday night segment.

Explores British Commonwealth
SIX quarter-hour programs on various aspects of the British Commonwealth are being carried by Canadian stations. The series, which started Jan. 13 on CBLT (TV) Toronto, consists of interviews with a number of prominent British and Commonwealth personalities. It is designed to bring Canadians up to date on events and conditions in Great Britain and various parts of the Commonwealth. The series includes such items as the British atomic energy developments, town planning, Southeast Asia, and developments in other countries of the Commonwealth similar to Canada. The series was prepared for the Canadian Broadcasting Corp. by the United Kingdom Information Service in London, England.

BRITISH BROADCASTING, by Burton Paulu. U. of Minnesota Press, Minneapolis 14, Minn. 100 pp. $6.95
SCHOLARLY but not pedantic, sympathetic but not prejudiced, Dr. Paulu's report on radio and television in the United Kingdom as they are, how they got that way and what the results have been is guaranteed to provide one or more evenings of interesting reading for any American broadcaster. If nothing else, he will learn enough facts to bolster up his arguments for the competitive system of broadcasting and will unemployment some beliefs about broadcasting in Britain that, although widely held, just aren't so. For instance, the Independent Television Authority, although commercial, is "nothing but policy controls" as tax-supported BBC and although both are licensed and closely regulated by the government, neither is in any sense a government department, any more than AT&T (like BBC, a monopoly with government consent).

Dr. Paulu's section on technical broadcasting in England does not make a U. S. station operator, no matter how disgruntled with Sec. 315 or state libel laws, want to change places with his British confrere. But here, as elsewhere is this volume, he'll be amazed and fascinated at how differently two democracies have approached their mutual goal of guiding the development of broadcasting in the best interest of the general public.

American broadcasters—and critics of broadcasting—will also be interested in Dr. Paulu's careful conclusion that "the standards of discrimination among listeners and viewers in the United Kingdom were no higher after 30 years of monopoly operation by the BBC than they are in the United States with its competitive system of broadcasting."

In both countries, most people pick programs that are light and entertaining in preference to those that are serious and demanding. The BBC schedules seriousness talks and full-length symphonies at top evening hours, yet the audience for that sort of programming is proportionately no larger than in the U. S., where prime time is commercial time. The evidence indicates, he says, "that the problems of building audiences for serious programs are not necessarily any easier with a public-service-minded monopoly than with a competitive system which has many commercial and a few educational stations."

MORGAN BEATTY'S YOUR NATION'S CAPITAL. Farrar, Straus & Cudahy, 101 Fifth Ave., New York 3, N. Y. 234 pp. $3.50

SINCE Farrar, Straus & Cudahy is a successful publisher, presumably not given to spending money on elaborate practical jokes, it can hardly have been deliberate sabotage that led the firm to issue a guidebook without one illustration, to bind it in a dull brown cover and to wrap it in a bilious tan jacket of the type that used to enclose third grade arithmetic books. Yet it's hard to imagine any other reason for the excessively unattractive manner in which Mr. Beatty's detailed descriptions of Washington's historic shrines and other tourist attractions have been packaged. An excellent reference book, it will tell you something about what you want to see or afterwards what you have seen, but it's better left home while you're rubbernecking.

GORE VIDAL tells in a six-page chapter how he turned from novelist to tv playwright on "discovering" the medium in 1953 and has written or adapted 30 plays for tv in two years. This came about after the $4 novel was "stunned" by tv and the flood of paperback books. Mr. Vidal finds tv a challenge to the writer who can't say what he wants to on the medium and thus must say it by indirect and association. Adapting is as tough as original writing, he finds, and good play-writing not necessarily literature but a form of cleverness: the writer's wish to on the medium and thus must put on a satisfying tv drama. He'd like to see a tv repertory system for redoing good tv plays and thinks subscription tv may give the writer his "own" audience instead of that of an advertiser.

VISIT TO A SMALL PLANET and Other Television Plays, by Gore Vidal. Little, Brown & Co., 34 Beacon St., Boston 6, Mass. 278 pp. $4.

THE eight plays included in this volume were telecast during 1954 and 1955 on such major dramatic series as Studio One and Goodyear Playhouse. They were telecast live and are collected in book form, the author writes, "in the parental hope that eventually . . . certain plays will be done again from time to time, saving one's efforts from total oblivion."

USING the word "press" as a generic term for all media of mass communications, this scholarly volume examines four types of presses. First and oldest was the Authoritarian theory that truth is the product of a few wise men. Functioning from the top down, this was a strictly controlled press, used by the rulers to tell the people what the rulers thought they should know. Then came the Libertarian theory, conceiving man as a rational being capable of discerning between truth and falsehood and the press as a partner in the search for truth. The Authoritarian press was a tool of the press, the Libertarian press a check on government.

In recent years, as rising costs of media ownership tended to concentrate control of communications into the hands of the economically powerful, a new theory arose, the Social Responsibility theory, that "the power of an unregulated monopoly press of media impose on them an obligation to be socially responsible, to see that all sides are fairly presented and the public has enough information to decide; and that if the media do not take on themselves such responsibility it may be necessary for some other agency of the public to enforce it."

As, in the United States, the Social Responsibility theory of the press grew out of the Libertarian theory that was written into our Bill of Rights, so in Russia, the Soviet Communist theory evolved from the Authoritarian theory. Operating as a tool of the state, the Soviet Communist press is probably the most tightly controlled the world has ever known, "yet Soviet spokesmen think of their press as free because it is free to speak the 'truth' as the Party sees the truth." These theories of press are not truly free, the Soviets say, because it is business-controlled and therefore not free to speak the Marxist 'truth'.

These four theories of what the press should be and do are examined in four essays by three authors. Fred S. Siebert, who describes the Authoritarian and Libertarian theories, is director of the U. of Illinois School of Journalism and Communications. Theodore Peterson, who writes on the Social Responsibility theory, is associate professor of Journalism and Communications at the U. of Illinois. Wilbur Schramm, who tackled the problem of the Communist theory, was formerly dean of the U. of Illinois Communications Div. and is now professor of Journalism and Communications at Stanford U.

Four Theories of the Press demands concentrated study of its readers, but anyone who is seriously interested in the communication of information and ideas and in the modern media of communication will find this study a rewarding experience.

WRITTEN for servicemen and calling for no more than high school mathematics, this book begins with the basic principles of tv, then describes in detail the operation of the various sections of a tv receiver, concluding with three chapters on (a) complete circuit analysis of three commercial monochrome sets, (b) color tv theory and receiver circuits, and (c) uhf tuners.

THIS is a friend's version of the life of Maj. Armstrong, as strongly sympathetic as the sub-title implies. It is in the classic Greek tradition—the indomitable hero, the inexorable series of events which ends, as all tragedies do, in destruction.

Edwin Howard Armstrong was an inventive genius in the American tradition of Benjamin Franklin, Thomas Alva Edison, Alexander Graham Bell, Samuel F. Morse and others whom Mr. Lessing equates with the "inspired artisans and tinkers" of earlier years. It is for this kind of scientist that Mr. Lessing strikes his most significant blows, individual vs. corporate research team.

In these pages the author paints a vivid life story of Armstrong—the attic tinkerer, the inventor of the feedback circuit, the World War I major, the developer of the superheterodyne circuit and the father of fm. It is the story of a dedicated scientist who found himself haled for his inventions by engineering colleagues, but felt himself jilted by commercial interests and by some fellow scientists. By far the most graphic writing is the account of the historic feud between Maj. Armstrong and Lee DeForest and, in later years, between him and RCA.

SCATTER PROPAGATION by Ira Kamen and George Doundoulakis; Howard W. Sams & Co., Inc., Indianapolis 5, Ind.: 197 pp. $3.00.

WE'RE going to be hearing a lot about scatter propagation in the next few years and it is good that the Sams organization has put its talents to an explanation of this phenomenon which is on the threshold of major usage. Geared for the technician, as are most Sams publications, this book brings down to the practical level the more abstruse dissertations on scatter which have been in the past year or more filled the journals of professional societies. The phases of scatter are detailed here, as are its drawbacks. The book is well illustrated and should be in the library of every serious technician, professional or otherwise.

1957 OFFICIAL Registry of Radio Systems in the Industrial Services, Communication Engineering Book Co., Radio Hill, Mon terey, Mass. 152 p. $5.

It was not many weeks ago that the FCC in its yearend report indicated how many non-broadcast transmitters are on the air (342,000 to 7,000). Those who have an interest in who these operators are and what their frequencies and powers are can turn to the registry put out by Communication Engineering Book Co. (Milton B. Sleeper, publisher). The latest in this series is the 1957 registry of radio systems in the industrial services—a 152-page listing of all users by category (power utility, special industrial, petroleum and gas, low power industrial, forest products, relay, communication, marine, education, and vhf maritime). Not only are the names and addresses of licensees given, but also such other information as location of each fixed transmitter, number of mobile and portable units, and make of equipment.

Federal Fly-Specking Commission

We are impressed by the news that 125 Federal Trade Commission investigators will soon be busy monitoring radio and television commercials for evidence of fraud. Considering the admitted scarcity of complaints against broadcast media, it is intriguing to think of such a large staff (roughly one for every 3.8 tv stations and one for every 24 radio stations on the air) assigned to find violations.

Considering that these 125 are backed by a $100,000 appropriation which must be justified, we should not be surprised if they find something to report.

This journal has previously [Oct. 29, 1956] expressed its concern that the FTC might indulge in “fly-specking” to prove to Congress that it has needs of such funds to investigate broadcasting. We do not suggest that there are no abuses to be found; we do aver that their incidence is small, scattered and infrequent. And we are especially concerned about the possibility that the new monitoring—in concert with the FCC liaison to be established—may veer toward censorship.

ASCAP Rules the Waves

“...the networks have become the arbiters of the audible and the viceroys of the visual.”

Thus alliterated Stanley Adams, immediate past president of ASCAP, in charging before the Celler Antitrust Subcommittee last September that the networks, through Broadcast Music Inc., dominate the music of America.

Other ASCAP spokesmen picked up Mr. Adams’ tune (which, with all deference to Mr. Adams’ creativity, could be traced back at least 10 years with no help from Sigmund Spaeth). Billy Rose, former shorthand champion, transcribed Mr. Adams’ theme and presented variations in a lower key: Most BMI songs are “junk” and many are “obscene junk pretty much on a level with dirty comic magazines,” testified Mr. Rose, an expert on many things. Networks and stations, he continued, are to blame for the “low level of our popular songs these days.”

Now see what’s happened. The Office of Research Inc., an independent organization in New York, has come out with its annual Peatman Survey of songs played most often on the radio-tv networks [BTN, Jan. 7], and the ASCAP witnesses are shown—once again—to be off key. Of the 35 hit songs most often played on the networks in 1956, 24 were ASCAP, 11 BMI.

A ratio of less than one in three is a curious proportion by which to “dominate,” and if the level of our popular songs is “low,” these figures put the ultimate blame on ASCAP far more than BMI. Oh, yes—among the most played standards in 1956, ASCAP had at least 33 out of 35.

The only thing new in all this, of course, is that the Peatman list demonstrates again howASCAP music in 1956, as in previous years, dominated BMI on the networks. All this has been said before (to paraphrase an ASCAP title, we’ve grown accustomed to its face) and we don’t really expect ASCAP to change its tune now. ASCAP propagandists have never paid much attention to facts. But the new information does point up that when the ASCAP chorallers cry “monopoly” at BMI, they do so with something besides music in their hearts.

Fire Canon 35

The courtroom travesty in San Diego, where an irked judge has taken advantage of his robes to inflict personal vengeance on KFMB-TV newsmen, is reviving interest in the somewhat dormant effort to attain equality with other media in reporting court trials.

While broadcaster groups such as the NARTB Freedom of Information Committee are making progress in the scattered moves to gain equal access to the courtroom, the American Bar Assn. itself shows little sign of changing its long-range opposition to audio and visual reporting—an attitude that some of its members refer to as a “holding action” against broadcasting as well as newsreel and still photographers.

Appointment of an ABA Bar Media Committee in 1954 was greeted as the first sign of progress in the move to amend the anti-broadcast language of Canon 35, which governs the policy of most courts. Two years have passed but not much has happened—not even a joint discussion of the problem by the committee and representatives of electronic media. A new committee chairman—Circuit Judge Walter M. Bastian, of the U.S. Court of Appeals, District of Columbia—was named last autumn, but a committee request for a small budget to call a meeting of its three members has not yet been granted.

We suggest that radio, television, newspapers and other media of journalism take the initiative, through their trade associations. They should call and underwrite a conference that would include a spokesman for each medium, with the three ABA committee members as participants. The conference should include, in addition, representatives of another ABA committee on revision of Canon 35.

One of these days, or years, the two ABA committees are likely to get together on a recommendation covering revision of Canon 35. They should have the benefit of a calm portrayal of the media side of the story, presented in the familiar manner of the judiciary.

Concededly, the courts are slow to change centuries-old customs and are loathe to recognize communications progress. But certainly the case of electronic reporting vs. archaic court customs must not be lost by default.

Half-Measures Not Enough

An amendment to the political broadcasting law, exempting Presidential candidates from its provisions, has been proposed by Arthur W. Scharfeld, Washington attorney.

Mr. Scharfeld has suggested that Section 315, the political broadcasting part of the Communications Act, be revised to define "legally qualified candidate" as one subject to direct vote of the electorate. This, of course, would exclude Presidential candidates, for Presidents are chosen by the electoral college.

Mr. Scharfeld's proposal contains promising features. Many of the broadcaster's political problems arise in Presidential races. If Mr. Scharfeld's advice were followed by Congress, the difficulties of coping with equal time requests from the splinter-party or self-appointed candidates for President would be removed.

Unhappily, however, Mr. Scharfeld's suggestion is only another in the long list of minor cures for Section 315 which have been proposed through the years. As we editorialized last Dec. 24, none of these half-way measures has attracted appreciable support either among broadcasters or legislators.

We're for a campaign to kill Section 315 and thus give broadcasters their deserved right to exercise their own judgments in political campaigns. We hope some progressive legislator will introduce a bill to repeal Section 315, and introduce it soon.
