Consistent, predictable popularity month-after-month... this is the profile of WHO-TV's highly successful Early Show.

In just the past three months Early Show has received an almost unbelievable vote of viewer confidence. Since last November the average number of viewers per quarter hour have increased by 19% and the average homes delivered per quarter hour by 23% (NSI Survey, Des Moines-Ames Area—February, 1960).

The Early Show (Monday through Friday, 4 p.m.-6:05 p.m.) is Central Iowa's only late afternoon family television fare—cartoons* for kids, movies* for mom, news for dad. The Early Show attracts every segment of the audience.

TOYS

The Louis Marx Company of Glendale, West Virginia (5 miles south of Wheeling) is a 15 million dollar Wheeling area industry producing steel and plastic toys, anything from a complete Ben-Hur Set to a Cape Canaveral Missile Base. In this 36-county market where nearly 2 million people earn over a $2 billion dollar spendable income, Marx Toys employs 1000 people and dispenses a $4.5 million dollar annual payroll. People who earn are people who spend. Marx employees typify the folks who comprise the big and buying WTRF-TV audience. Are these folks getting your message? Are you ringing up sales in the 7500 retail outlets here?

STATISTICS
don't buy
furniture . . .
PEOPLE DO!

WJAC-TV certainly believes in statistics . . .
after all, according to both ARB and Nielsen, it's Number 1 in the Johnstown-Altoona Market. But facts and figures aren't too important if they're not backed up by concrete sales results!

That's where "people" come in . . . people who watch WJAC-TV consistently. They're the buyers! Here's the way Mr. Samuel Rapoport, owner of Penn Furniture Stores, puts it:

"It's a proven fact that by advertising on WJAC-TV, more people see our merchandise; therefore, more people buy at our stores. Very simple . . . very successful. We wouldn't be without WJAC-TV. It does the job of reaching the public . . . and that's what counts."

WJAC-TV is the "can do" station that will back up statistics with sales results . . .
for you!

Now it's MMMMBS • It's exit McCarthy, enter Minnesota Mining & Manufacturing Co. as owner of Mutual Broadcasting System. Agreement has been reached for sale of oft-sold MBS to 3M, headquartered in St. Paul, for an excess of $1.25 million, but announcement likely won't be forthcoming for fortnight. Since no station licenses are involved, transaction does not require FCC approval.

Albert Gregory McCarthy, attorney-industrialist who acquired MBS last July following Alexander Guernica debacle, dispose of his 50% as does 25% owner Chester H. Ferguson, Tampa, Fla., attorney, but 3M will acquire 100% of property, having 25% owner Chester H. Ferguson, industrialist, J&J hopes to challenge and departure. Previously Tampa, Fla., attorney, signed 100% of property from 3M.

J&J hopes to challenge and departure. It's believed McCarthy group had invested in neighborhood of $1.5 million in network.

Competition for Listerine • In deepest secrecy, television test has been prepared and is due to start today (April 18) in several markets for what may become multi-million-dollar account in short order. It's for new Johnson & Johnson mouthwash called Micrin, with which J&J hopes to challenge Listerine's long-standing supremacy. Plans for Micrin introduction were so hush-hush that, according to some accounts, samples were stored in bank vault to keep word from getting out. Even last Friday, three days before tests were to break, authorities at J&J agency, Young & Rubicam, refused to confirm or deny reports of plans (but one broadcaster who said he'd tasted Micrin pronounced it "good"). Test markets understood to include Columbus, Ohio; Portland, Ore. and Eureka-Redding and Sacramento, Calif.

Sweeney's new deal • There's been no noise about it, but Kevin Sweeney was signed more than six weeks ago to continue as president of Radio Advertising Bureau for another five years. Deal came to light after Mr. Sweeney's name popped up among those of possible successors to late Harold Fellows as head of NAB. New contract goes back to March 1, more than a week before Mr. Fellows' death, and runs to same date in 1965. Mr. Sweeney has been RAB president since January 1954. Mr. Sweeney's new base is reportedly between $35,000 and $40,000 a year, plus some $12,000 a year in deferred payments applicable after end of new contract when he becomes consultant to RAB with other financial benefits.

On the scene • For second year in row, TVB is holding its semi-annual board meeting as close as it can get to some of television's best customers. Meeting will be held at Boca Raton, Fla., Thursday (April 21), same day American Assn. of Advertising Agencies convention gets under way there. Agency officials will be guests of board at cocktail party that night.

Strategy • Observers at House Subcommittee on Communications hearings last week discerned possible legislative maneuver whereby legislation to amend Communications Act might be tacked on to non-controversial bill in hope of averting Senate hearings. Senate-passed S 1898, proposed by American Bar Assn. and dealing with procedural phases, is now before House Committee and presumably would be vehicle on which rider incorporating legislation urged by Chairman Oren Harris (D.-Ark.) would be attached (see page 66). Among other things, Chairman Harris wants reinstatement of Avco procedure, FCC hearings in field, network licensing and control, and sponsor identification with possible revision recommended by FCC.

FCC proved last week it could act upon 24 hours' notice when it was called upon. House Oversight Committee chairman, with FCC Chairman Frederick W. Ford on stand last Tuesday, asked for suggested language on Sec. 317 (sponsor identification) and FCC, on Wednesday, proposed adding of provision to section which would give it discretionary power in public interest, convenience and necessity so that literal application where hardship might be caused could be avoided. Broadcasters contend FCC's March 16 interpretation, which majority regarded as required under the law, invokes extreme hardship and is utterly impracticable.

Brown leaving NAB? • First major change in NAB headquarters staffing may be withdrawal of Thad H. Brown Jr., tv vice-president, who has been thinking of entering private practice of communications law. Mr. Brown has agreed to stay in vice-presidency during period of reorganization following recent death of President Fellows.

Study committee • It's good bet that Frank Pellegrin, H-R Television vice-president, in one of last actions as outgoing president of Radio & Television Executives Society, will appoint study committee to explore ways to carry through Brig. Gen. David Sarnoff's call for high-level symposium of opinion leaders to analyze tv's role in American life. RCA board chairman made his proposal at RTES's 20th anniversary dinner in New York month ago (Broadcasting, March 14). Group of RTES members four years ago worked out preliminaries for radio-vt conference to be held at Syracuse U., but idea failed to gain industry support.

Belk's buy • Sale of 5 kw day, 1 kw night (930 kc) WIST Charlotte for gross figure of $580,000 to Carolina Broadcasting Co. (WSOC-AM-FM-TV) (page 58) promptly triggered new negotiations for sale of existing 250 w WSOC (1240 kc) by latter to Henderson Belk for some $200,000. Mr. Belk, executive of Belk department stores in Southeast (some 400 stores in chain) personally is negotiating for station and previously had made offer for WIST.

Job open • Two names being mentioned most prominently to succeed Mary Jane Morris as FCC secretary are Evelyn Eppley, who would like to have job, and Charles Smoot, who has not said he would take it. Miss Eppley was legal assistant to former FCC Chairman John Doerfer, and Mr. Smoot is assistant general counsel in charge of legislation. If Mr. Smoot takes job, one report has Paul McDonough, Mr. Doerfer's administrative assistant, taking over legislative functions. There is strong feeling, however, that commission may bring in outsider as new secretary.

Confirmation • Appearance April 27 of FCC Commissioner Robert E. Lee and Commissioner-designate Edward K. Mills Jr. before Senate Commerce Committee does not necessarily mean swift confirmation. Committee simply gave usual "two weeks' notice" to pending nominees at its meeting last Wednesday. If nominations are construed as "routine", favorable reports promptly will ensue, but if questions arise, it's expected new date will be set for appearance of either or both nominees. Commissioner Lee, D.C. Republican, has been nominated for new seven-year term beginning July 1, while Attorney Mills, New Jersey Republican, was named to fill unexpired portion of term of former Chairman John C. Doerfer, resigned, which terminates June 30, 1961.

WEEK IN BRIEF

How Sara Lee bakes $25 million 'cake' = There are three big reasons why Sara Lee spends one-half of its $2 million budget on radio-tv: on-air personality endorsement, opportunity to demonstrate its bakery product quality and excitement potential. But there are some problems in broadcast buying too. All in all, Sara Lee since 1951 has increased gross sales from $400,000 to $25 million. Kenneth A. Harris, Sara Lee's director of advertising, tells the story in this week's Monday Memo. Page 24.

Public service can sell = And it can be sold, too. That's the consensus among almost 300 agency people in an NBC Spot Sales timebuyer opinion panel. But, say most, stations don't give agencies enough information to justify the decision to buy. Page 29.

Cigarettes, beer and toys = They have this in common: Increased use of television and a decided rise in output and sales. Page 40.

AAAA convention = Agency association's progress in dealing with "objectionable" advertising to be described in feature of three-day meeting this week at Boca Raton, Fla. Agency-client relationships, problems of the 1960's and economic outlook among other highlights. Page 42.

Man on a hot seat = New chairman of NAB tv Code Review Board, E.K. (Joe) Hartenbower, is well suited to one of the industry's toughest jobs through code experience. calm approach to problems and ability to organize. Page 62.

Does play constitute pay? = Harris subcommittee airs Harris' own and other bills, but most of the criticism in two-day hearing is aimed at Sec. 317 and the even stiffer bill to amend it. Page 66.

Brighter horizons = FTC's Earl Kintner says there are fewer objectionable ads around these days. He credits self-regulation. Page 74.

Comparative demerit? = KTVI (TV) St. Louis should get comparative demerit in any further consideration of disposition of ch. 2 deinter-mixture case, FCC associate general counsel says in labeling Judge Stern's initial decision contrary to the evidence. Page 76.

DeGray resigns; Goldenson cites expansion

ABC Radio Network lost its president last week, will replace him with vice president, but reports of severe cutbacks in network operations were denied.

Edward J. DeGray's resignation as president, effective April 29, was announced by Leonard H. Goldenson, president of parent American Broadcasting-Paramount Theatres. Robert R. Pauley, now eastern sales manager of ABC Radio, will become operating head of network with title of vice president in charge.

In making announcement Mr. Goldenson said: "ABC is in network radio to stay and we plan to expand our programming service to the millions of Americans to whom network broadcasts are a daily necessity." Planned expansion was not described.

RKO General files WHCT (TV) purchase

First step in RKO General Inc. plans to test Zenith Phonevision pay tv system was taken Friday (April 15) when RKO General asked FCC approval for $900,000 purchase of ch. 18 WHCT (TV) Hartford, Conn. (Broadcast, April 4). Actual licensee will be RKO General affiliate, Hartford Phonevision Co., which is buying WHCT from Capitol Broadcasting Co. (Edward D. Taddei, David K. Harris and Michael J. Goode).

RKO General said application for FCC approval of on-air pay tv will be filed "within reasonable time" after WHCT-purchase is consummated. This means that pay tv in Hartford still is minimum of several months away. WHCT sales contract provides that either party may cancel if FCC has not approved sale within 12 months. Application gave no indication what portion of broadcast day WHCT planned to devote to subscription viewing and what part would be on free basis, with two to be intermixed during broadcast day. Included in purchase is $150,000 for WHCT's non-tangible and non-fixed assets and lease from Capitol of tangible and fixed assets. Capitol also obtained option to purchase 10% of Hartford Phonevision for $5,000 and first-refusal rights on WHCT in event RKO General sells station.

Harold Day dies

Harold B. Day, 52, ABC-TV vice president for daytime network sales, died of heart attack in his office in New York Friday (April 15). He had been with network since 1942 and had served as account executive, manager of western division and director of daytime programs. He was elected vice president last December.

Electoral year: it's Lar Daly time again

Ubiquitous Lar (America First) Daly, perennial splinter candidate, has "put it" to networks again in endeavor to get national air time as professed candidate for Democratic presidential nomination.

Consensus of networks Friday was that Daly requests refer to news interview programs which specifically are exempted from Sec. 315 equal time requirements.

Through his attorney, Mr. Daly wrote each of three network presidents April 12 demanding equal time to answer appearances of Sens. John F. Kennedy and Hubert H. Humphrey on CBS' Face the Nation and Sen. Humphrey on NBC's Meet the Press and ABC's College News Conference.

Mr. Daly's letter related he is certified, bona fide candidate for Democratic nomination in states of Maryland and Indiana. It said Mr. Daly understood last year's amendment of Sec. 315, but was relying on network's fair play to all "newsworthy" candidates.

Admiral color sales up

Color tv has been moving "at an excellent rate" and company sales are expected to double in 1960, Ross D. Siragusa, president of Admiral Corp., told annual shareholders' meeting in Chicago Thursday. He cited upsurge in movement in color and tv-stereo high fidelity products. Mr. Siragusa predicted first quarter sales would rise 7% over same period last year. Admiral's tv sales from distributors are 33% ahead of 1959 first quarter, compared with industry increase of 16%. Major factors, he reported, are acceptance of Admiral's wide-angle 19- and 23-inch tv sets. He also saw "serious threat" in Japanese competition to American manufacturers and labor, noting over half of 5 million transistor radios sold in U.S. last year involved Japanese manufacture of components.

They like it lively

Survey conducted by Mutual among radio-tv directors of leading advertising agencies reveals agency men want radio stations to be "provocative" and comment on community affairs. Thirty-one respondents of 100 agency executives canvassed stressed discussion of vital community issues on radio, with both sides of problem aired. Only one executive said he didn't consider station's "image" in placing broadcast orders. Robert F. Hurleigh, Mutual president, will send details of survey to Mutual affiliates this week.

Collins 'down under'
Collins Radio Co. has formed subsidiary, Collins Radio (Australia) Ltd., in Melbourne for sales and service in Australia, New Zealand and Southeast Asia, James G. Flynn, Collins president, announced Friday.

KLGA sold for $80,000
Station sale announced Friday: KLGA Algona, Iowa, sold by Frederick Epstein and associates to Harry Snyder, Robert W. Behling and Robert A. Wilson for $80,000. Messrs Snyder and Behling own KHFU Fremont, Neb. Mr. Wilson is sales manager of KLEM LeMars, Iowa. Mr. Epstein and group continue to own KSTT Davenport, Iowa. KLGA is 5 kw daytime on 1600 kc. Broker was Hamilton-Landis & Assoc. Sale is subject to FCC approval.

State to sue Daley
State's Attorney Benjamin Adamowski revealed late last week he will file suit this week in Chicago Superior Court against Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley and city council for banning radio-1v coverage of proceedings. He said suit would hold that council is violating state law which, he claims, requires legislative bodies to open doors to all media (early story page 60).

NTA joins ch. 12 bids
Multiple station owner National Telefilm Assoc. Friday (April 15) became fifth applicant for new tv station on ch. 12 Wilmington, Del., when bid was filed with FCC. Other applicants for vhf facility, relinquished by Storer Broadcasting Co., are Collins Broadcasting Inc., Metropolitan Broadcasting Corp., Wilmington Tv Co. (all three of whom own other broadcast stations), and educational WHYY Philadelphia. NTA owns WNTA-AM-FM-TV Newark, WDAF-AM-TV Kansas City and KMSG-AM Minneapolis.

DuMont reports profit
Allen B. DuMont Labs., Clifton, N.J., reports today (April 18) profit of $1,315,904 and gross income of $19,467,469 for fiscal year ended Jan. 3. Fiscal year gross income for 1958 totaled $30,165,988 and loss of $9,503,698 was sustained. Sale of company's East Paterson, N.J., plant and other capital assets during 1959 resulted in gain of $1,532,929, which was partially offset by deficit from operations in amount of $217,025. D.T. Schultz, president of DuMont, said current liabilities, which were reduced by $5 million in 1958, were further reduced in past year by $6.7 million. Working capital at year end amounted to $8,392,000, he said.

WEEK'S HEADLINERS

Felix Jackson, who joined NBC last month as vp assigned to west coast program department, appointed vp NBC-TV network programs, West Coast. Carl Lindemann Jr., vp day-time programming for NBC-TV since April 1959, appointed vp, program sales. Mr. Jackson, from 1933-48 was writer-producer of motion pictures in Europe and Hollywood and later served with Young & Rubicam and CBS-TV as producer of such programs as Studio One, Schiltz Playhouse of Stars and Four Star Playhouse. Mr. Lindemann joined network in 1948 as associate producer of Kate Smith Hour and has served company continuously in various programming executive posts. Earlier, he had been with Foote, Cone & Belding, N.Y.

James B. Sheridan, appointed by FCC Chairman Frederick W. Ford as special assistant (CLOSED CIRCUIT, April 4) with particular duties of checking out major matters on commission agenda and use of FCC manpower. Mr. Sheridan moves from his post as assistant chief of Economics Div., Broadcast Bureau, immediately to assume new duties. He has been with commission since 1941, where he started as special research consultant in Economics Div. of then Office of Chief Accountant. In 1947 he became chief of Broadcast Bureau's Business Economics Branch. In 1950 he was made assistant chief of Broadcast Bureau's Economics Div. and from 1956 to 1959 was acting chief. Mr. Sheridan will be located in Chairman Ford's office.

John P. Taylor, manager of marketing plans and services for RCA's Industrial Electronics Products activities, appointed to new post of manager of marketing administration, Broadcast and Television Equipment Division of that company. He joined RCA in 1930 as engineer and has served company since that date in various posts, including sales engineer, field sales representative, section sales manager and advertising-promotion manager for broadcast division.

Wesley I. Nunn, 65, advertising manager of Standard Oil Co. of Indiana, blue chip broadcast client, for nearly 24 years, retires April 23. Robert B. Irons, assistant advertising manager, succeeds Mr. Nunn. Karl Muller, Standard district manager, replaces Mr. Irons. Mr. Nunn active with other petroleum firms (Continental, Maryland Oil) and in various advertising capacities, joined Standard in 1936. He is credited with placing substantial 16-state regional radio-tv buys during tenure. Mr. Nunn is past chairman of Assn. of National Advertisers and Adv. Federation of America; graduate director of The Advertising Council, former secretary-director of Audit Bureau of Circulations, past president of Chicago Federated Adv. Club and former director of National Safety Council. Mr. Irons joined Standard 24 years ago, rising through distribution, advertising, pr, sales and was appointed assistant advertising manager in 1957.
Time-buyer Socrates, visiting Washington, D. C., has been shown the logic of combination buying on WMAL-TV and affiliate WSVA-TV. The final piece of logic is a cocktail party, where a discussion of schedule construction segues into a discussion of martini construction. One recondite soul proposes this problem.

You have half a glass of vermouth (it might be better than nothing). An associate has another glass, twice as large, one-third full of vermouth. A bottle of gin appears. LETTER from the EDITOR and PUBLISHER

Dear Subscriber:

On rare occasions in the nearly 29 years that we have published Broadcasting have we pre-empted space for a special message such as this. We feel this intrusion is warranted because of what has followed in the wake of our full-page advertisement in the New York Times of March 30, which was reprinted in the April 4 issue of Broadcasting.

The advertisement dealt with the harsh and unjustified criticism of broadcasters by many politicians, newspapers, magazines and others. It admitted there were undesirable conditions in broadcasting, but it argued that the cures lay in wise administration from within and wise guidance from without.

The advertisement evoked many gracious messages—too many to quote in this space. There were telegrams, letters or calls from highly placed federal officials and from advertisers, advertising agencies, broadcasters and other businessmen. Thousands of reprints were requested.

Sen. Warren G. Magnuson (D. Wash.), chairman of the Senate Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee, in placing the New York Times page in the Congressional Record, commended it as "provocative reading for members of the Senate."

David Sarnoff wrote he agreed "wholeheartedly . . . on the need for indoctrinating those outside of the broadcasting industry."

Dr. Frank Stanton called to say "thanks for everybody" for a "distinct service to all broadcasters."

Leonard Goldenson wired: "What you said you should have said and you have the right to say it."

Vic Emanuel, chairman of Avco Corporation, wrote: "... what you say is a great defense of freedom applicable to the printed word as well as the spoken one and also, in my opinion, to all enterprise in this country."

Frank E. Pellegrin, president of the Radio-Television Executives Society, New York, sent 4,000 reprints to advertisers and agencies on behalf of H-R Television Inc., with the notation that the message "deserves the widest possible circulation and attention on the part of everyone engaged in advertising or in media of all kinds."

Edward Petry, pioneer station representative, wrote that "it is regrettable that we have to indoctrinate the public as well as officials of government, by paying for space in newspapers which take every opportunity to deprecate our entire industry."

James C. Hagerty, press secretary to the President, wrote: "It was a good job, well done."

Richard A.R. Pinkham, senior vice president, Ted Bates, wrote: "It badly needed saying and was beautifully said."

Whitney North Seymour, presiding-elect of the American Bar Assn., described the advertisement as an eloquent statement of the case against government control. Mr. Seymour, an authority on constitutional law and special counsel to the NAB during the FCC's programming hearing, took occasion during his speech to the NAB convention last week to recommend the message for its "clarity of prose."

T. Rex Rhodes, of the Bank of New York, wrote: "It is distressing that an editorial comment such as your ad embodied, had been made necessary by a good deal of slanted reporting and opportunism."

To these and to the scores who wrote us we express our sincere thanks.

To those who reprinted the advertisement in their local newspapers and who broadcast it over their station facilities we extend our appreciation.

Sincerely,

[Signature]
Secret, no. You’ll find this on both sides of the Iron Curtain. It’s only a power tube for a radio transmitter. But weapon, yes. The power of radio is a weapon of destruction or construction... and only on our side of the Iron Curtain could that power be used to broadcast a program like “Scope Unlimited.” This documentary presentation of all sides of all issues is produced by the KRLA Public Affairs Department Sunday mornings at ten. “Scope Unlimited” is another illustration of KRLA leadership in modern-day, independent radio programming: music, news and service features carefully proportioned to attract, build and serve a maximum audience.

Drug maker’s tv success

Editor: In the March 7 issue page 30 you ran an article about my medical special events tv series under the head “Drug maker uses tv for soft sell.” It is an excellent article, accurate in every detail. In fact, I liked it so well that I want a dozen copies.—Howard Whitman, Howard Whitman Productions, Westport, Conn.

Mattel Inc. is sponsor: Part II

Editor: On Jan. 5 I wrote you about an incorrect listing for Matty’s Funday Funnies on your TV NETWORK SHOWSHEET (OPEN MIKE, Jan. 18). Now that the next issue of the TV NETWORK SHOWSHEET has been published in the issue of April 4, I see that the information is once again incorrect . . .

The listing should read: “Sunday afternoon, ABC-TV 5:5-5:30 p.m., Matty’s Funday Funnies, Mattel Inc., E.”—Alfred Harvey, President, Harvey Films Inc.

[Mr. Harvey should get A-plus for his patience and restraint. How could we possibly explain a double goof?—The Editors.]

Disagrees with catv group

Editor: I am surprised that you have not published a reply to the unfair letter of Milton J. Shapp [Jerrold Electronics Corp. president] in your OPEN MIKE section of the March 7 issue . . . I would appreciate having my letter to Mr. Shapp considered . . .

“You mentioned that some 92 or 93 tv stations have gone off the air since the post freeze. I have been able to verify approximately 91 instances . . . of which 80 were uhf. In approximately 90% of the uhf cases, the story is well known in regards to their competing with vhf stations. All total, 13 were in competition with catv. This actually increases by a large percentage the number of stations claiming catv trouble . . .

“You also mentioned some 42 cities in which catv operators and broadcasters co-existed. I would appreciate a list . . .

“Being familiar with the station situation in Pennsylvania, I have some facts which might interest you. There have been nine stations which have gone back in this state with catv in four of these cities. There are 19 stations on the air in 11 cities and only one of these contains a catv system . . .

Criticism's tender spot

EDITOR: Some people close to the tv industry are excruciatingly sensitive to tv critiques by newspaper columnists (witness the Monday Memo by Clay Rossland in Broadcasting March 21).

Yet these sensitive types take for granted the great dollops of promotional space, free and uncritical, given tv by daily newspapers each week.

Is there a tv station in the country which regularly donates free time to promoting the coverage and features of newspapers in its area? - C. R. Appleby, Partner, The Daily Report and KASK-AM-FM Ontario, Calif.

Another automation system

EDITOR: It has come to our attention that there was a recent story about the newest advances in automation for the broadcaster ["Perspective '60" issue, Feb. 15; also see NAB convention exhibits story, April 10 issue]. For your information our firm has been manufacturing an automation unit since April 1959. Our Auto Jockey has more of the most wanted features, including lower cost, faster operation, electronically cued records (spins them and backs them up), tapes cued by sound, absolutely no silence between tapes or at the start of a record. . . . The first of these units was installed at KTTR Taft, Calif., while I was owner of the station in July 1958. It is still in operation. -Kenneth Aitken, President, Shaler-Aitken Communications, Taft, Calif.

Long-run religious series

EDITOR: The recent exchange of letters on long-time religious broadcasts (Open Mike, March 14, Feb. 29) was of special interest to all of us at WIP.

The oldest continuous program on WIP, the oldest radio station in Philadelphia, is the Sunday morning 11 a.m. broadcast of the services from Holy Trinity Episcopal Church. It has been on the air without interruption since Dec. 23, 1922, just nine months after WIP made its bow on the local scene. - Florence Lowe, Director of Public Relations, WIP Philadelphia.

White House conference

EDITOR: While the White House Conference on Children and Youth may not have received the kindest attention from the press . . . I feel that the public should know something about the mood and temper of the participants and the work groups in which they participated.

In the work group on radio-television, of which I participated, the position of the delegates was quite clear. . . . We explored the FCC to exercise its authority through existing legislation [including the standards in the 1946 report] more popularly known as the "Blue Book." . . . We urged the public to exercise discrimination through its use of tuning dials, purchases, and public expression of opinion.

We recommended to the President that members of the regulatory agencies be appointed without regard to political party allegiance and with consideration to public service, integrity and competency in the arts and sciences. We also recommended the establishment of a National Advisory Commission to work with the FCC and to help determine broadcasting in the public interest.

We strongly urged that when complaints are made about the programming policy of individual stations, that license renewal hearings should be held in the local community to provide opportunity for responsible public opinion to be heard on the stewardship of the licensee. . . .

If the published reports . . . are couched in rather mild language, it will be only because the editorial committee was instructed to be concise and to express ideas in positive fashion without philosophy or rationale. However, my impression of the temper of the work-shop groups was anything but mild. . . .

—Henry H. Mamet, Executive Director, Broadcasting Commission, Chicago Board of Rabbis.

The hope of youth

EDITOR: . . . A young man just sinking his roots into the field of broadcasting is abound with idealism, but constant battering at the hands of irresponsible stations leads him to almost believe the station manager's battle cry, "This is a business" and its follow-up "This is reality." Refuse to conform . . . refuse to believe that high ideals have no place . . . and you are out of a job.

Many young men coming from colleges and universities, well steeped in the theory of moral responsibility, are searching for quality stations that realize that radio-television is more than mere business. By giving them a chance to prove themselves, it might prove to be a contribution to the betterment of radio. —Peter W. How Sara Lee bakes $25 million ‘cake’

There are three main reasons why Sara Lee spends 50% of its $2 million advertising budget on broadcast media: (1) The importance of endorsement of Sara Lee products by national and local broadcast personalities; (2) the opportunity to fully demonstrate the quality ingredients story that is so important to all Sara Lee products, and (3) the excitement that can be created by properly merchandising national and local personalities and programs to the trade and consumers.

In the selection of “buys” in broadcast media, ratings generally are not very important.

We feel it is much more important to be associated with the right type of program—one that provides a good selling environment and strong merchandising opportunities, than to allow our evaluation to be based on ratings. There are some very highly rated shows that Sara Lee would never consider sponsoring. There also have been programs and “specials” that other advertisers turned down because of potentially low ratings that proved to be excellent buys.

Some of these buys that were particularly successful for Sara Lee included, in 1958, the ABC-TV election night telecast. It was offered to Sara Lee after many national advertisers turned it down. When this program was offered to us a week before it was to be telecast, we made an immediate decision to buy. The results were excellent, a good sales increase resulted, and by the way, the ratings on a cost-per-thousand basis turned out to be excellent. Another example is our current Chicago sponsorship of the critically acclaimed Play of the Week.

Presently we are in our third year of sponsorship of Arthur Godfrey Time on CBS Radio and are completing our first year of sponsoring Captain Kangaroo on CBS-TV. On a local basis we are in the midst of the biggest radio continuity campaign in Sara Lee history. Currently close to 100 personalities in key Sara Lee markets are selling the complete line of Sara Lee baked goods to their loyal audiences. Response has been excellent.

Often Overlooked What are some of the main problems Sara Lee has experienced in using broadcast media on a network basis? Oftentimes the networks overlook Sara Lee (and no doubt other advertisers our size) as a potential sponsor until the program has been presented to all the “blue chip” advertisers.

We feel this is a mistake because our advertising budget is designed to allow great flexibility and, because we are a small company, we make over-night decisions on “hot” buys. Also, because we are in a growth cycle we often make additional advertising investment appropriations if the situation warrants it.

What about problems experienced in local market buys? There are several areas where broadcast media should improve.

Perhaps the most important is making good local tv spots available to short term advertisers. Because the limits of the Sara Lee budget prevents 13 or 26 week spot commitments we find it extremely difficult to buy good prime time spots in many local areas. Our local campaigns most often are seasonal and last for two or three week cycles.

During these campaigns we have large budgets available for local spot purchases, yet quite often find ourselves forced to divert these funds to other media because not enough satisfactory tv spots are available to us as an “in and out” local advertiser.

Merchandising Another area where improvement is needed is that of networks and local stations providing more merchandising cooperation. Here, tv and radio could take a lesson from print media, where excellent cooperation is provided.

One of the strongest selling points newspapers offer is their localized approach. This is extremely important when merchandising a campaign to the local sales force, customers and consumers.

Actually, broadcasting is just as “localized,” but because of the lack of effort of the media to capitalize on this aspect, far greater efforts on the part of the manufacturer are necessary in order to achieve full merchandising impact at a local level. There are, of course, many exceptions.

Spots and Rates There are two other problem areas in using broadcast media. The first concerns buying spot tv and radio and the fact that few stations will accept orders more than 30 days in advance of the starting date.

This presents a severe problem because it may take over a week before it is possible to evaluate all the availabilities in a given market. Then, if there are not good availabilities, other media strategy must be developed on a “helter-skelter” basis.

The second point concerns the “bugaboo” of national vs. local rates on spot buys. Sara Lee buys spots at national rates through our agency, Cunningham & Walsh, but it is a strong temptation for a national advertiser not to buy tv or radio spots locally when they are offered at up to 25% less than rate card. Oftentimes the spots offered at the discount price are better than those the national representatives have available.

A uniform policy should be established with local rates meaning just that, available to local advertisers only, or better still, offer one rate only to both national and local advertisers.

How important is broadcast media to future Sara Lee advertising plans?

Since Sara Lee was founded in 1951 (sales $400,000), approximately 50% of our advertising budget has been spent in broadcast media. We are in the midst of planning our 1960-61 advertising appropriation (1960 sales estimate $25 million).

Assuming that proper advertising vehicles are available, this forthcoming year will represent the largest Sara Lee expenditure in broadcast media.
The value of TIME is our use of it. Thus, productivity becomes the significant indication of our TIME's worth.

At WBAL-TV in Baltimore, productivity is our principal orientation. We seek to use our TIME well by employing good creative talent, good judgment and good taste to produce the kind of programs that people watch.

With many award-winning public service features to our credit, and with over 75 live local shows each week, the variety, quality and interest of our regular schedule is not easily matched. Every minute of our day is planned with care and consideration for our public responsibility and executed with the attention of professional excellence. Audience and sales follow naturally this healthy pattern of productivity.

THERE’S MONEY IN PUBLIC SERVICE

Radio and television can increase income as well as prestige

Most buyers say public service has ‘sales appeal’

NBC Spot Sales’ Timebuyer Opinion Panel gives details

Broadcasters are neglecting their pocketbooks as well as their prestige by not putting more emphasis on public service programming.

If they would do more—and promote it more—they would sell more.

These conclusions, defying the popular conception that public service lacks commercial appeal, represent the majority thinking in a group of 292 agency buyers and executives who participated in the sixth NBC Spot Sales’ “Timebuyer Opinion Panel.” Results of the study are being released today (April 18). Highlights of the findings:

- Two out of three panelists think a good public service image improves a station’s sales effectiveness for advertisers.
- Six out of ten have bought or would buy spots adjacent to public service programming.
- Seven out of ten would be more inclined to recommend the purchase of a public service program if stations supplied more qualitative information.

A majority think stations are “seriously remiss” about reporting their public service activities.

- More than nine out of ten think public service programming can be a good vehicle for building an advertiser’s corporate image. Two of three consider it effective in selling a high-cost hard-goods product (but only one in four think it can move a low-cost, high-turnover item effectively).
- Eight out of ten think controversial subjects can be explored without harm to a program’s sponsor, provided both sides are presented fairly.
- Six out of ten think advertiser interest in television public service programming will increase in the years ahead. Almost five out of ten expect increased interest in radio public service programming.
- Almost seven out of ten believe that big-budget advertisers should share the responsibility for public service programming by sponsoring some of it.
- News significance, documentaries and local problems rank 1-2-3 in audience appeal in nighttime public service programming in the opinion of the panelists. By program type, their current commercial interests are primarily in news and weather, convention and election coverage, legislative reports, religious programming, classical music programs and such special-interest shows as farm news, market reports, etc.

- Imaginative presentation, good production-direction-writing, wide viewer and/or listener appeal and timeliness or newsworthiness were most frequently mentioned as qualities needed to make a public service program commercially attractive. Others included quality talent and guests, judicious choice of subject matter, objectivity and accuracy, informative matter, straightforward approach on controversy, local appeal, advance promotion and publicity and more advantageous scheduling.

In releasing the report, Richard H.

Public service: radio does it; television is next

Television and advertising have reached a point of maturity where both stand to gain from public service programming. So suggests Sam B. Vitt, vice president and associate media director of Doherty, Clifford, Steers & Shenfield, New York, in comments contained in the public service programming study being released today (April 18) by NBC Spot Sales (see above). In Mr. Vitt’s words:

“Public service programming...is just coming of age. Perhaps this maturing will be further stimulated by the recent criticisms of the broadcasting and advertising industries. But it is not really surprising that public service programming is where it is now, nor that it appears headed for a brighter, more productive future.”

“In the first place, if one is concerned about public service programming in the broadcast industry, it is probably that either consciously or unconsciously he is thinking about television. For certainly radio, in reality, is public service programming to a considerable degree. With its news, time signals, weather reports, traffic analysis, panels, etc., all held together with music, radio has fashioned its survival out of public service programming.

“Television, of course, is another story. But it does not seem unfair to say that its difference is principally one of youth. In the beginning it faced the question of survival and after successfully surviving a period of technical awkwardness, a period of programming development and a period of adjusting to a third network, it would appear now that the necessary attentions may be focused against public service programming. Additionally it would seem that as television matured, so did many of the advertisers utilizing the medium, and as a result not a few of them find themselves at a point where they can effectively utilize the principal merits of public service programming.

“So...it would appear that historically, in terms of growth, both the television industry and the advertising industry have developed simultaneously to the point where public service programming (becomes more attractive) as being potentially mutually advantageous to them both.”
The opinions of the agency panel...

NBC Spot Sales surveyed 292 agency timebuyers and executives about the U.S. on the major questions surrounding public service programming by radio- TV, its present commercial appeal and its prospects. Here's a breakdown of replies to the principal questions:

Close, vice president in charge of NBC Spot Sales, noted that "the results are not meant to be projected to the total universe of several thousand persons engaged, directly or indirectly, in the purchase of broadcast time." But, he said, they "offer an interesting reflection of current opinions among a very important and articulate section of the timebuying fraternity."

The 292 panels represent 225 advertising agencies or offices throughout the U.S. A total of 37% are with agencies billing more than $1 million a year and, as in past panel studies, the viewpoints were reported not only for the entire group but also for large and small agencies separately.

Many Meanings # The panelists defined public service in different ways. Some, for instance, thought World Series broadcasts fall into that category; others did not. Sanford L. Kahn, radio-tv director of Mulle, Breen & Waldie, Los Angeles, defined it as "any program that fills a definite need." Others, like Leslie B. Sterne, radio director of Smith, Taylor & Jenkins, Pittsburgh, considered it akin to the color gray, capable of falling "anywhere between pure white and absolute black."

Two-thirds of the respondents—and an even larger percentage of the small-agency group—held that a station with a strong public service image is more effective for advertisers (see Table 2). Among big agencies this feeling was somewhat less prevalent (56%), although a number of major-agency executives went on record with strong convictions. For instance:

Arthur S. Pardoll, associate media director, Foote, Cone & Belding, New York—"Through diversified public service programming a station has an excellent opportunity to establish a close identity with the local community. In this way the broadcaster can provide a favorable backdrop for the advertisers' messages. The image of the station can have an effect upon the

The responsibility for public service programming lies with the broadcast industry. Do you feel that the heavy users of broadcast time (i.e., major corporations) should share this responsibility by sponsoring some of this programming in the same way they support scholastic awards, research projects, and community health, educational and welfare organizations?

Don Heller, broadcast buyer for N.W. Ayer & Son, Philadelphia, summarized this point of view as follows: "Public service programming, I believe, attracts the 'seldom' or 'selective' viewer. Therefore it brings back to television an additional audience. I would venture to say that this group encompasses the upper portion of the market in terms of education, income, community leadership and trend setters. Qualitative studies of the public service audience would be extremely helpful in our evaluation of this programming for use by [prestige] products."

Wanted: More Information ■ But not

many stations are supplying that sort of information. A large majority of the respondents said they never receive such reports, although they thought this data would make effective station mailings. Here are some of their quotes:

"... I am not aware of any continuing series of reports to agencies on all the public service activities of a station, although networks and individual stations often report on a single broadcast or telecast."

"... Reports should include history of program, ratings, homes delivered and qualitative audience information; also audience reaction and results if the station has pinpointed these."

"... I have never personally seen such a report. It should have rudimentary information as to schedule of spots, programs, time periods, special station promotion efforts."

Although public service programming as a rule may attract less than a mass following, the panelists did undertake to rate nine program types according to ability to pull large audiences in evening time: News significance, documentary, local problems, scientific, political, cultural, educational, panel discussion and religious programs were ranked in that order (Table 10).

Controversy Not Bad = Despite widely publicized exceptions in the past, the agency people said they did not regard the treatment of controversial issues as harmful to a program's sponsor if it is handled fairly. That was the verdict of 79% of the panelists (81% of those with large agencies) and another 10% (13% in large agencies) said they didn't know the answer (Table 9).

A total of 36% said they had recommended—or a client had expressed interest in—sponsorship of a radio public service program. In tv the percentage was somewhat higher: 42%. For both radio and tv the interest was higher among agencies billing less than $1 million a year than among larger agencies. (See Table 1.) Six out of ten have bought or would be willing to buy spots adjacent to public service programs (Table 8).

Some of those who have used public service programming offered enthusiastic reports on the result:

James B. Rogers, president of Rogers & Collins, Baltimore—"We are probably one of the few agencies in this market that have employed public service approach to a commercial problem. We feel quite strongly that this is an embryo vehicle for commercial participation and that the future will see many more sponsors using this tack for foundation media planning. Great care must be taken, however, to buy on an individual need."

Trent Christman, director of radio and tv, Holst & Male, Honolulu—"This agency is currently producing for Hawaiian Electric Co. a series of 25 one- and two-hour public service programs [which cover] all aspects of Hawaiian heritage and culture, past, present and future. We feel that this program can and does do an exceptional job of maintaining a valuable

National Guard's light touch sells recruiting

A public interest campaign, competing with hundreds of others for a place on the station schedule, has to earn its way in listener appeal.

Fletcher Richards, Calkins & Holden, taking on the National Guard recruiting-community relations account this year, decided to upset tradition and take a light-hearted approach to the subject of "missile age minutemen." A room full of Pentagon brass bought the idea and by now 60 and 20-second prints have been shipped to a national saturation list of 550 stations.

The film opens on a whistling boy drawing a line in limbo. (l. above) A smaller boy walks in and asks: "What's that?" Older boy: "That's the first line of defense." Younger boy: "What's that?"

The young artist flips the line to show a sign (over creaking sound) (r. above). Older boy: "The National Guard." Younger: "Guard against what?"

Wind spins the boys and blows in a live action scene (l. below) Older: "The unexpected." In succeeding frames they watch civil emergencies and military scenes.

(Over march music c. below). Younger: "Hey, how come you know so much about the National Guard anyhow?" Older: "Cause my Pop told me. He's a corporal in the National Guard."

Younger (r. below): "Gee! How about that?" A final cut to the guard logo follows. Steve Roppolo, agency writer-producer, created the spot. Vic Miranda, art director, did the storyboard and Pintoff Productions filmed.

Others responsible: Lt. Col. James R. Connor, chief of the National Guard Bureau office of public affairs; Sy Frolick, Fletcher Richards senior vice president and director of tv-radio; Bruce Jacobs, account executive, and Bob Nugent, tv-radio account executive, who "sold" the storyboard in Washington.

WPIX-11 carries more minute advertising from the top 25 national spot advertisers than any other New York television station. Leading advertisers select WPIX-11 for the “network look” of its programming, its Nielsen-proved quality audience and the guaranteed good company of other national advertisers. Your product message will never appear with “mail order” or over-long commercials—because WPIX-11 does not accept this kind of advertising. Only WPIX-11, of all seven New York TV stations, offers you so many opportunities to place minute commercials in such a productive selling atmosphere during the prime nighttime hours!

Where are your 60-second commercials tonight?

WPIX New York
The check came in a letter saying: “I send it to you because I thought your coverage of Squaw Valley was superb. And I understand it cost you a pretty penny over and above any advertising income.”

The letter was one of literally thousands reflecting the excitement and appreciation felt by 80 million Americans who watched the series of 14 programs on the CBS Television Network covering the 1960 Winter Olympic Games.

They came from all elements of the population—from some of the highest ranking government officials, one of whom described the broadcasts as “a spectacular job of detailed coverage” as well as from farmers, teenagers, businessmen, and housewives. A Midwestern newspaper published an editorial headed “CBS deserves a gold medal.”

It goes without saying that this remarkable surge of enthusiasm was especially gratifying to the real sponsor of the series—Renault, Inc.—which was able to demonstrate the quality of its automobiles to tremendous daily audiences. During the average minute that the 14 broadcasts were on the air they commanded the undivided attention of 20 million viewers. More people watched these broadcasts than the combined viewers of all other programs on the air at the same time.

Naturally this overwhelming response pleased us, too, since it set the stage for our exclusive coverage of the Summer Olympics next August and September against the magnificent backdrop of Rome. (For 18 consecutive days, in a series of 29 broadcasts, you will see the world’s foremost athletes competing in the historic Marathon and Pentathlon events, as well as in 32 other sports contests ranging from boxing to yachting.) It set the stage, too, for an advertiser to write a check making him a sponsor. In fact, we’re expecting it.
Do-it-yourself public service creates a symphony

Through Edwin Phelps, WIKB vice president and general manager, and a handful of interested parties, a group of area musicians and music lovers was assembled to discuss the matter. Twenty-three attended the first meeting and membership later swelled to 33. WIKB agreed to underwrite all organizational expenses and publicity, with Mr. Phelps as business manager.

With rehearsals in full swing, WIKB began pounding the promotional drums with a flourish of spot announcements which gathered momentum, first to wire services, the daily press and finally to state and government officials.

The symphony made its debut before a capacity audience two months ago and was a great success. Future plans call for guest soloists, under-the-stars concerts and a series of spring, fall and winter appearances.

company image while at the same time providing a vehicle to showcase the company's selling spots."

Owen N. Dailey, Owen N. Dailey Adv., Bakersfield, Calif.—"The shows we have programmed [documentaries on major surgery] have been highly successful both from the standpoint of audience and that of the medical profession. . . . Customer response has been excellent. . . ."

Exceptions • Not all panelists could give success stories. One said his agency recommended public service to its clients regularly but was consistently turned down on the basis of low ratings. Or, as put by Mal Ochs, Grey Adv., New York: "There is much good public service programming available. Unfortunately; too many sponsors are interested only in ratings and numbers."

Approximately two-thirds of the panelists thought television's public service programming had improved in the past few years. Two-fifths thought radio's had too (Table 5). This belief was more prevalent in large agencies, where respondents also were more inclined to expect increased sponsorship of public service programs in the future (Table 11).

What Service Can Sell • The ability of public service programs to promote the sponsor's corporate image was recognized by 95% of the respondents—and by 98% of those in larger agencies. But a majority (64%) felt these programs could sell high-priced hard goods as well, although only a fourth thought they would be a good investment for a low-cost, fast turnover item (Table 5 (c)).

Sales effectiveness was explored from another angle in a question asking the agency buyers to compare public service with average commercial programming as a setting for advertising messages, apart from audience size. One out of three thought public service more desirable and another 32% saw no difference, while 22% considered it less desirable and 11% had no opinion (Table 3). Thirty percent said they had bought or would be willing to buy spots adjacent to public service shows (Table 10). Said Jack Scanlon, media buyer at Benton & Bowles, New York:

"I don't think we should ever underestimate the level of interest of our audience. Certainly, editorial association and 'thinking' interest in a program should provide some additional value to selected types of products."

And Jack K. Carver, media supervisor of Doherty, Clifford, Steers & Shenfield, New York, said: "The question of whether public service programming is a more or less desirable backdrop for a commercial depends on several factors: products being advertised; the commercial itself—how and what it says and does, and the type of program—commercialists that blend in editorially with a program can best retain the attention of the audience."

Sponsor Responsibility • More than two-thirds of the panelists thought that high-budget sponsors ought to share broadcasters' responsibility for presenting public interest programs (Table 12). Observations included:

Alice Ross, timebuyer, Heineman, Kleinfeld, Shaw & Joseph, New York—"It is the responsibility of large business interests to help in the dissemination of public service programming since . . . they have a great deal to gain if they assist in creating an even more aware citizenry than we now have. This includes the networks along with large corporations. . . . If businessmen who have the most to gain don't do something and do it fast, the government might be forced to step in and the situation would worsen."

Curtis G. Williams, owner, Cushing-Williams Adv., Phoenix—"Contrary to some strong opinion, I feel that good, effective public service programming will have to come from heavy users of broadcast time. This stuff all takes money and brains. . . . This means from successful business."

What's Good? • The panelists showed a wide range of ideas about what subjects would be good for exploration in public service programs—and how they should be handled. For instance:

Janet Murphy, broadcast media supervisor, L.C. Gumbinner, New York—"More local issues should be explored."

Walter Guild, president, Guild, Bascom & Bonfigli, San Francisco—"Public service' programming does not have to be 'egghead' programming. Your [panel questionnaire] categories do not include such things as travel, foreign subject-biographical programs, etc., yet these, too, perform a public service plus entertainment."

Leonard Kay, broadcast supervisor, McCann-Erickson, Chicago—"Public service need not be dull and dry. I believe the answer lies with the writers and producers. . . . What's really needed . . . is a campaign by the broadcasters to raise the image of public service programming."

Robert J. Smith, media supervisor, W.B. Doner & Co., Chicago—"The public service program can be an effective tool for the advertiser if done in a favorable image and merchandised for greater sales effectiveness."

Kenneth W. Wittleder, vice president, Stern, Walters & Simmons, Chicago—"Don't call it public service (how about 'special interest' shows?). The term is too self-conscious to prospective buyer and viewer. Put top talent to work creating them and promote shows in other media and in cross plugs."

William W. Cook, vice president, Dennis, Parsons & Cook, Jacksonville, Fla.—". . . final production of a public service program [should be] the responsibility of the 'show business' people at the station. This should insure that material that might otherwise be dull will be handled in an interesting and dramatic manner."

Dalton E. Nelson, Fischbein Adv., Minneapolis—"Those programs serving the public interest that have been treated with a light, sometimes humorous touch, have an audience . . . and will keep right on having an audience. . . ."

Stanley Newman, media director, Richard K. Manoff, New York—"Good public service programs like any good

In this multi-city market—Lancaster, Harrisburg, York, and numerous other cities—buying is solidly in fashion. Two reasons: the people have money and spend it. This Channel 8 station delivers an audience greater than the combined audience of all other stations in its coverage area.

BROADCASTING, April 18, 1960
washed out with soap for saying. The reason is that so many public service programs are carried on a sustaining basis. Little money, even less effort, goes into them.

Paul Silver, president, Paul Silver Adv., Baltimore—"Public service programming could and should be made imaginative, vibrant, alive. To the discredit of the broadcasting and advertising industries, I personally feel that the average magazine article packs more of a wallop than the best of broadcasting to date. Broadcast has shackled itself with an 'equal air time' attitude toward every major item of discussion and has a deep underlying fear that a potential advertiser might be driven away by something the station or network says. Until the silk gloves are removed, you will never produce truly effective programming in the public interest."

Rene James Reyes, media director, Jackson Assoc., Holyoke, Mass.—"The general tendency to schedule public service programming on Sunday morning and other time periods of least viewing . . . is a sad state of affairs. This tends to encourage mediocre or downright poor production and programming, since the attitude is that no one is taking time to watch their television sets anyway."

Patricia Hutchison, media buyer, H. L. Douglas Adv., Orlando, Fla.—"Too much public service programming is downright boring. Too much time is spent trying to cram in facts, figures, unimportant statistics and personalities. Too little time is spent in creative, imaginative production. . . ."

R.A. Patterson, Gordon Schonfarber & Assoc., Providence, R.I.—"On the whole, public service programming is fairly well done. Subjects are usually timely—they are informative and interesting. Like anything else, there occasionally is a dud that appeals to the minority and is dull."

Clifford Gill, Clifford Gill Agency, Beverly Hills—"Public service programming is not public service. An enlightening few words or few feet of film in a commercial program—that happen to be there because they belong there—can accomplish a greater public service mission than a full hour of uninteresting togetherness."

BROADCAST ADVERTISING

TV'S SMOKESCREEN GETS THICKER

Tobacco companies, breweries, toys, up tv expenditures in '59

There's more cigarette advertising in television now than in previous years and it's the filter-tips which account for the major flow.

The tobacco industry last year spent $106 million at gross rates for network and national spot, compared with $98.4 million in 1958. Last year's tv investment represents about $2 out of every $3 spent on tobacco advertising.

Cigarette advertising (spot and network tv gross time billings) came to $96.3 million contrasted to $89.2 million in 1958. (Cigars and pipe advertising on tv accounted for the other tobacco billing.)

This data was released today (April 18) by the Television Bureau of Advertising along with these sum-ups of toy and brewery advertiser activity in 1959:

- A record pace in tv for the brewers: $48.9 million gross billing in network and spot and in 1959 compared to $46.1 million in 1958. Cited by TvB:
  - The unusual and varied approaches—for example, Erich Brewing Co. (Koehler beer) meeting sales results through 2-second spots in competition with large national brands, and Anheuser-Busch (Busch Bavarian beer) developing the practice of tailoring its distribution pattern to the reach of the tv signal.

- Toy advertisers increased use of national tv (network and spot) from $46,014,958 to last year's $6,2 million, a 77% bump in gross billing. The case of Mattel Inc.: Before 1955 and its tv use, the ad budget was about $50,000 a year. With its tv entrance the advertiser's budget went to $500,000 and in 1959 the Mattel gross time expenditures were $853,600. During this five-year period Mattel's gross sales increased 315%. The case of Louis Marx & Co. Ent. tv for the first time last year, though it formerly had never advertised in any medium. It spent $676,535 at gross rates for tv time (network and spot) in 1959.

Among the cigarette brands, 7 of the 10 leaders in tv were filters. The 10 brands accounted for more than 72% of all cigarette sales in 1959. Top brand: Kent, a filter-tip, which placed over $10.1 million gross in tv (network and spot). The five major tobacco companies according to their rank in tv billing: R.J. Reynolds, Brown & Williamson, P. Lorillard, Liggett & Myers, Effie may well be the first to open this TV-radio “business” publication she’s just found in Mr. Timebuyer’s basket. Gets lonely here at night, and Effie likes the pictures on the slick paper.

But what about Mr. Timebuyer? Why didn’t the pictures and fancy layouts captivate him? Well, he’s a busy man and he puts it this way:

“There isn’t time to read them all!”

There isn’t time to plow through the 1,000-odd pages of assorted reading matter sent him monthly under the guise of TV-radio “information”. He’s particularly tight-fisted with time for magazines that arrive gratuitously, without being asked for.

After all, he receives – and pays for – BROADCASTING every week. Its pages give him, concisely and accurately, the full background of latest facts on everything significant in the television and radio business. When he can get all this from one publication, why bother to read a whole basketful of others?

BROADCASTING is the only TV-radio business journal qualifying for membership in the Audit Bureau of Circulations – which verifies paid circulation publications exclusively. This is an important assurance for advertisers who would rather have their messages in a medium people want enough to pay for — instead of ones that have to be given away. Makes sense, don’t you think?

P.S. – BROADCASTING’s guaranteed circulation is now at 25,000.
American (a heavy user of syndicated shows in its spot buying) and Philip Morris. Reynolds, leader in domestic cigarette output (30.3% share of the market), was tops in tobacco company network sponsorship. Brown & Williamson led in spot.

Sales Rise • In 1959, TVB observed that a new record in cigarette sales found 456 billion units sold compared to 436 billion units the year previous, with 4 of the 5 major cigarette companies showing earnings at an all-time high despite costs of introducing new brands. Filter-tips took a 50.5% share of the market last year, followed by regulars with 30.5% and king-size accounting for 19%.

TVB in assembling sales figures noted also that the brewers expect a new record of some 89 million barrels to be produced in 1960 while toy sales were at the $1.65 billion level last year compared to $1.4 billion in 1958.

AAA A CONVENTION PLANS
Boca Raton meet to air objectionable ad problems and methods of solving them

Seven hundred members and guests of the American Assn. of Advertising Agencies are expected to participate in the AAAA annual meeting this week at the Boca Raton (Fla.) Hotel and Club.

The convention gets under way with business sessions on Thursday for members only, followed by open meetings Friday and Saturday with advertiser and media guests also attending.

A report on what AAAA is doing about the problem of objectionable advertising will be one highlight of the three-day session. It will deal with the association’s interchange system of handling criticisms of advertising and will be presented Friday morning by Robert E. Allen of Fuller & Smith & Ross, chairman of AAAA’s board committee on improvement of advertising content.

Agencies and Clients • Another feature, to be covered in a closed session, will deal with “The client-agency working relationship,” a subject that often has received priority attention in meetings of both agencies and advertisers in recent years. This is one of three subjects to be explored in concurrent meetings Thursday afternoon; the others are “Making your payroll dollars more productive” and “What you can do about it” if house agencies are a problem.

Not on the program but slated for showing several times during the convention are a collection of television commercials that won awards in the 1959 international film festival at Cannes and a group of other commercials demonstrating “new and fresh techniques.”

Elections will be held Thursday and the new officers announced at the Friday session by Robert M. Ganger of D’Arcy Adv., New York, current AAAA chairman.

Film Show • The Friday morning agenda also includes a filmed panel presentation exploring the question “Are the people brighter than we think?” James T. Aubrey Jr., president of the CBS-TV network, will introduce the presentation, in which Richard D. Heffner, director of special services for CBS-TV information services, is moderator of a panel composed of Elmo Roper of Elmo Roper & Assoc., research; William A. Lyndgate of Earl Newsom & Co., public relations; Dr. Paul I. Lyness of Galbraith & Robinson, research; and Pierre Martineau, research and marketing director for the Chicago Tribune.

Charles H. Brower of BBDO will discuss “The climate of greatness.” David Ogilvy of Ogilvy, Benson & Mather will present the second annual Arthur Kudner Award, and Herbert M. Cleaves of General Foods will speak on “Advertising means business,” also at the Friday morning meeting.

The Saturday agenda includes talks by Fairfax M. Cone of Foote, Cone & Belding, Chicago, on “Some problems to dispose of in the sixties”; Sinclair Wood, president of London’s Institute of Practitioners in Advertising, on “Agency management’s responsibility in the selection and training of agency personnel”; Martin Gainsbrugh, chief economist of the National Industrial Barnyard symphony • Suppose you were to pour yourself the third martini of the evening, switch on your TV and see a pig knocking down to a honky tonk tune on the piano while his partner, a hen, did a frantic dance—would you take the pledge? The question posed is not rhetorical, because martins not withstanding, viewers of WMT-TV Cedar Rapids, Iowa, are being treated to the sight of a pig-hen combo, that provides a minute of entertaining, if not highly unconventional entertainment.

The pig and hen, “employees” of the feed department of Rath Packing Co., have star billing on a series of filmed commercials which started April 2 over the Iowa station.

Neither Knuckles the pig or Nellie the hen have had any sort of professional training, although an Arkansas veterinarian and his staff did show them the bare rudiments of the act, instructing Knuckles on how to swing and Nellie on how to square dance, calypso and honky tonk.

The series was created and produced by Colle & McVoy, Minneapolis ad agency, with music composed and arranged by Herb Pilhofer, a jazz composer. Commercials will also be seen on several other Iowa stations, starting in late April. No mention was made as to whether the new act would make an album, but a Madison Ave. wise guy would have a field day with the title.
How the television receiver works, including a gratuitous comment about evolution

Electronic bumps run down a flat lead-in made of two parallel wires, after having been plucked from thin air by the business end (not to be confused with the editorial, or reflector, end) of a prehensile antenna finger generally wrapped around a chimney. In strong signal areas the bumps crawl thru the walls and the finger may be dispensed with.

The tuner ("front end" to us au couranteurs) accepts the hash of plucked signals, selects a channel with the help of a person ("human being"), who applies a kind of discriminatory judgment that makes it all worth while (in Eastern Iowa at least). The tuner's larynx makes smorgasbord out of the hash, selecting and amplifying the picture and sound seeds which come wrapped in the same bump, or hull. The tuner IFs the RF into the IF and video amplifiers.

A video detector (not to be confused with Mike Hammer) detects the video and separates the men from the boys and the picture from the sounds. The men are shunted to ground, the picture bumps go into more video amplifiers (the picture bump getting bigger and bigger), the boys and the sound bumps go thru the audio section where the frequency-modulated signal bump is amplified, demodulated, decoyed, amplified, and engaged to be married, after which it goes into the loud speaker and there you are.

Various controls are scattered around the outside of a set. These knobs, screws and dinguses are there for one purpose: twisting. Without them a reasonably curious set owner would have to resort to baton twirling when a picture started rolling, which would be bad for the psyche and furniture.

Well, that's about it. In Eastern Iowa, evolution may be observed at work: Because WMT-TV (Channel 2) (CBS television for Eastern Iowa) is number one in share of audience in all time periods from 9 a.m. until sign-off Sunday thru Saturday (no matter what survey service you subscribe to), most channel selectors of the front ends of sets in the area have atrophied. The Katz Agency, our national reps, has additional anthropological and technical data.

New service will test commercials’ effect

The creation of Television Advertising Research (TAR), an in-home evaluation service to test the effectiveness of TV commercials and programming, was announced April 11 by George K. Gould, president of NTA Telestudios Inc.

The new service, which will be a division of NTA Telestudios, is designed to measure a commercial’s effectiveness under typical viewing conditions, according to Mr. Gould. Prior to a telecast, 200 households are selected by a random sampling method; reached by telephone, and alerted to watch a time segment that includes the test program. A token premium is offered for viewers’ cooperation, but they are not aware they are participating in an experiment, Mr. Gould stated.

Immediately after the telecast, trained interviewers will begin personal interviews in each of the pre-selected households. The TAR method will report on the following measurements: the extent to which the commercial creates a memorable impression; the extent to which people are likely to purchase the product as a result of the commercial; the extent to which people believe and accept the claims, and the extent to which the specific elements of the commercial are remembered by the viewer. The research for the service will be conducted by Blankenship, Gruneau & Ostberg Inc., New York.

Pepsi tips Reynolds out of top radio spot

Pepsi-Cola jumped to the top of the “home broadcasts” list in February’s Nielsen Top 20 advertisers in network radio. Pharmaco Inc., a front-runner since the preceding four weeks, jumped up to number one in commercial time.

Pepsi’s ascendancy means that R.J. Reynolds is out of the leadership spot in the homes list after holding the place for 11 months. Whistle drop to number two in minutes after a consistent lead since November.

D-F-S expands its Chicago operation

Dancer-Fitzgerald-Sample is expanding the “scope and operations” of its Chicago office, with emphasis on creative and service facilities for its radio and other accounts.

Harbinger of the realignment was the appointment of Henry Hempstead, formerly head of Benton & Bowles’ Detroit office, as vice president in association with F. Sewall Gardner, Chicago office chief, in account supervisory and management activities.

Among broadcast accounts serviced by D-F-S in Chicago are Swift & Co.’s Pard dog food and Cruncher (spot tv and radio), Frito Co. (heavy in radio for Fritos) and Carey Salt Co. (spot radio and tv), among others.

Art Directors Club honors five tv ads

Awards were announced April 12 at a luncheon of the 39th annual national exhibition of advertising and editorial art and design of the Art Directors Club of New York. The club placed on display in the Astor Gallery of the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in New York a total of 474 entries from some 14,000 submissions.

Two art directors club medals and three awards of distinctive merit were presented in the av category. Aside from those main awards, Mort Rubenstein, CBS-TV stations, and the late William Golden (died October 1959), CBS-TV, received awards of distinctive merit in advertising design, while Raymond Jacobs was presented with an advertising art award of distinctive merit for his photograph in a WCBS New York advertisement. A special commemorative also was made to Mr. Golden in recognition of a lifetime devotion "to the highest principles of creative design."

Four management award medals were presented to Warner S. Shelly, president, N.W. Ayer; David L. Luke, West Virginia Pulp & Paper Co.; Herbert R. Mayes, editor, McCall's magazine, and Frank Pace, board chairman, General Dynamics Corp. The awards were for inspiration and encouragement given to art direction. Mr. Shelly was cited for the agency's support to its art directors "resulting in the high standards of excellence for its clients."

The club medals in tv were awarded to Robert Gage of Doyle Dane Bernbach for the Philip Morris' Alpine cigarette commercials, and jointly to John Wilson and Stan Freberg for a commercial series for Instant Butter Nut Coffee (Buchanan-Thomas). The Alpine commercial was in the film, live action category, Butter-Nut in full animation.

The winners of the awards of distinctive merit in tv: Stephen Frankfurt, Young & Rubicam, for Johnson & Johnson commercials (film, live action), recipient last year of a special medal for a series of J&J commercials; Alex Anderson and Fred Crippen (art directors-writers), Guild Bascom & Bonfigli, for Rival Dog Food Co. (full animation), and Saul Bass & Assoc. for Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp., through D'Arcy Adv. (full animation).

George Schantz, formerly at Tatham-Laird, as assistant account executive on Fritos and New Era potato chips and of Arthur Silver, previously with Foote, Cone & Belding, to D-F-S' copy department. No changes are planned directly involving broadcast personnel, with Thomas O'Connell continuing as radio director.

As onetime manager of B&B's Detroit office, Mr. Hempstead supervised the Studebaker and Studebaker-Packard corporate accounts. He also was vice president of Geyer, Newell & Ganger Inc., heading its Detroit office, where he serviced the Nash-Kelvinator and Gordon Baking Co. accounts. He most recently headed up his own agency in Chicago.

Mr. Silver served as copy writer on the Dial soap, Johnson wax and Kraft foods accounts. Mr. Schantz was account service manager at Tatham-Laird.
A touchy question...seldom discussed openly. But discussed penetratingly and unflinchingly by a panel of distinguished guests on CBS Owned WBBM-TV, where Chicagoans look for—and have come to expect—imaginative, courageous, provocative local television programming throughout the week.

People who value their time find more worth watching on WBBM-TV. Which is, simply enough, why time is so valuable on WBBM-TV, Chicago's top-rated television station for 57 consecutive Nielsen reports.

Time sales

Top Brass buying = Revlon Inc., N.Y., for its Top Brass men's toiletries, will enter top 10 markets May 2 with night-time TV minute spots in a six-week campaign. Agency: Mogul Williams & Taylor Inc., N.Y.

Boyle-Midway multi-brand = Boyle-Midway Div. of American Home Products launches a multi-brand promotion, first in B-M's history, on network TV this week. Starting on April 21, the advertiser will be spotting its 60-second contest commercial on 12 network TV shows in which the division participates (includes shows on all three networks). Products are all in the household category: Aero Wax floor wax, Easy-Off oven cleaner, Wizard room deodorizer, Wizard Wick, Sani-Flush and Easy-Off window cleaner. Commercials will invite housewives to enter a $75,000 sweepstakes. Entry blanks will be available in retail outlets. J. Walter Thompson is Boyle-Midway's agency.

Dude ranching = Ralston Purina Co., St. Louis (Guild, Bascom & Bonfiglii), and the Seven-Up Co., St. Louis (J. Walter Thompson), will co-sponsor Guestward Hol, a new comedy series about a New York family that opens a dude ranch in New Mexico. It is scheduled for next season on ABC-TV (Thur. 7:30-8 p.m. EST). The Desilu produced series, which is based on the book of the same title by Patrick Dennis and Barbara Hutton, will star Joanne Dru and Mark Miller.

Taps ice show = U.S. Brewers Foundation, N.Y., signed sponsorship of NBC-TV hour-long color special, Summer on Ice—1960, scheduled for June 2 (Thur. 9:30-10:30 p.m. EDT). Starring Craig (Peter Gunn) Stevens as host, Giselle Mac Kenzie, Tab Hunter and the cast of Ice Capades of 1960, the program will originate on color video tape at the Pan Pacific Auditorium in Hollywood. It will pre-empt The Ford Show and You Bet Your Life. Agency: J. Walter Thompson, N.Y.

Joins Clark show = Positan Corp., subsidiary of Drug Research Corp., N.Y., last week became the 24th participating advertiser in ABC-TV's American Bandstand (Mon.-Fri. 4:30-5:30 p.m. EST). Positan purchased 13 alternate quarter hours for 26 weeks, starting April 19. Agency: Kastor, Hilton, Chesley, Clifford & Atherton, N.Y.

Water chaser = U.S. Brewers Foundation, N.Y., signed sponsorship of NBC-TV color special, Esther Williams at Cypress Gardens, which will be videotaped in Florida for presentation Aug. 8 (10-11 p.m. EDT). Appearing as guests on the hour-long musical-water show will be Fernando Lamas and Joey Bishop. Agency: J. Walter Thompson, N.Y.

June renewed = E.I. du Pont de Nemours & Co. (Textile Fibers Dept.), Wilmington, sponsor of June Allyson Show on CBS-TV (Mon. 10:30-11 p.m.), renewed the weekly dramatic series for next season in a new time slot (Thur. 10:30-11 p.m. EST). Produced by Dick Powell for Four Star Productions, the series will continue in its current time period during the summer, the network said.

Sweet smell of bakery buys = The Kitchens of Sara Lee (baked goods), Chicago, bought saturation spot schedule on three radio and three TV stations in that city, effective April 7 for three weeks, to introduce their new frozen Chicken Sara Lee. Agency: Cunningham & Walsh. Company also bought half-sponsorship with Miller Brewing Co. of NTA Play of the Week on WGN-TV Chicago, April 17-June 12. Miller agency: Mathison & Assocs., Milwaukee. Sara Lee spot schedule will run about $25,000. It spends about 30-33% of estimated $2 million annual advertising budget in broadcast media, with sponsorship of Arthur Godfrey CBS Radio show and Captain Kangaroo on CBS-TV for which it spends about $500,000. Its annual sales currently are running about $25 million as against $10 million two years ago.

Hot summer = The Rolley Co.'s Sea and Ski, suntan lotion, will make its first move into network TV this summer with participations on NBC's Jack Paar Show and Today, it was announced. While refusing to release budget figures, Charles A. Rolley, executive director, said this would be the biggest consumer campaign in the company's 11-year history. Network time in June and July had been ordered and confirmed. Foote, Cone & Belding, San Francisco, is the agency.

Date with Jeannie = Procter & Gamble Co. made a June 30 appointment with The Jeannie Carson Show on ABC-TV (Thur. 9-9:30 p.m. EDT). The situation comedy series, which stars singer Jeannie Carson, is a Four Star production. The program concerns problems encountered by an outspoken Scottish girl as she becomes acquainted with America. Agency: Grey Adv., N.Y.

'Bandstand' = Carter Products Inc., via Sullivan, Stauffer, Colwell & Bayles, N.Y., and General Foods Corp. (D-Zetta), through Foote, Cone & Belding, N.Y., signed renewal and new order respectively for ABC-TV's American

96% of budget goes to radio

Radio sells like "hotcakes" for Mother's Cake & Cookie Co., Oakland, Calif.

Mother's is a home-grown California company that distributes throughout the state. In the past few years, sales have spurred each year, coinciding with their preponderantly heavy investment in local radio in the markets in which Mother's distributes. Last year, for example, the company operated with an advertising budget of $205,000. And 96% of it was in radio.

Sales in 1959 rose about 11% over 1958, company officials reveal. As a result, the advertising allotment for 1960 is being upped by 14%.

Through its advertising agency, Guild, Bascom & Bonfiglii, San Francisco, Mother's buys a total of 275 one-minute spot announcements in San Francisco, Los Angeles, San Diego, Stockton, Fresno, San Bernardino, Chico and Sacramento at times of the day to hit the primary target—the housewife.

GB&B officials also give credit to the well-planned promotions and Mother's hard-hitting sales force. The promotions include contests tied in with the station's advertising and trade promotions in cooperation with the local supermarket or grocery. Robert Whitehead, GB&B account executive on Mother's, sums up the company's successful involvement with radio in this way:

"The sales success Mother's has enjoyed in the past few years has justified better than any yardstick the confidence we have in radio as an effective medium. Radio delivers the maximum saturation aimed at our best potential customer—the housewife—and its flexibility makes it possible to coincide with Mother's regularly-scheduled trade promotions at a realistic cost. Add to this the benefits of complete merchandising and promotional cooperation from the stations, and it provides Mother's with a well-rounded program at both consumer and trade levels."

Tea readings ☆ Thomas J. Lipton Inc., Hoboken, N.J., has been testing its Lipton instant tea for past year, introduced product nationally April 11. First tv exposure: Father Knows Best on CBS-TV. Spot tv starts at end of May in minimum of 80 major markets using 20-second and one-minute commercials and some IDs. Radio spot also will be used in selected markets. Company says its new product—Lipton's first new "tea development" since its four-sided "flow through" tea bag in 1954—will be given greater frequency on tv compared to any other competing tea company. Agency: Sullivan, Stauf- fen, New York.

Deputized ☆ General Cigar Corp. has renewed alternate-week sponsorship of NBC-TV's The Deputy for 1960-61 season. Western series starring Henry Fonda premiered Sept. 12, 1959 (Sat. 9:9:30 p.m. EST). General Cigar's sponsorship will be continued through summer schedule (June 18-Sept. 7), which will include two new half-hours in addition to reruns. Performances by Mr. Fonda, limited this season by other commitments, will be doubled next season. Agency: Young & Rubicam, New York.

Radio money ☆ General Mills (Wheaties), through Knox-Reeves, Minneapolis, will sponsor two 5-minute programs starring athlete-minister Bob Richards across board on CBS Radio beginning May 2. Programs will be "moral profiles" of famous people and are scheduled at 12:30 and 7:55 p.m.

Pick seven ☆ Chesebrough-Pond's Inc., N.Y. (J. Walter Thompson), and Sunbeam Corp., Chicago (Perrin-Paus Co., Chicago), signed participation schedules in seven ABC-TV daytime programs. C-P order of some 146 quarter-hours over period of 38 weeks is considered by ABC-TV as one of its largest daytime sales this season. Sunbeam will run eight weeks.

Back to school ☆ W.A. Sheaffer Co. (pen products), Fort Madison, Iowa, is lining up schedule of animated tv commercials in about 70 markets for "back to school" promotion in August. Company conducted a similar regional program last year in central U.S., utilizing about 30 markets, but new campaign signifies national spot tv coverage. UPA Pictures Inc. will produce commercials. Agency: BBDO, Chicago.

Pick a pair ☆ Anheuser-Busch Inc. (Budweiser beer), St. Louis, has bought saturation spot schedules on 145 tv and 450 radio stations in May and June for its fourth annual "Pick a pair of 6-paks" promotion. Agency: D'Arcy Adv., that city.

Agency appointments ☆ Brooks Foods Inc., Collinsville, Ill., manufacturer of condiments and soups, appoints S.E. Zubrow, Phila., to handle advertising and merchandising. Intensive use of local media is planned in selected markets throughout the Midwest, according to the agency.

Eatwell Provision Inc., Fall River, Mass., processor of Nopoli brand Italian-style meat specialties appoints Weiss & Geller, N.Y. The agency announces that tv spot is contemplated for future use, and that a saturation radio campaign is to begin May 9 on WRCA New York, with a schedule of approximately 30 10-second and minute spots per week for an indefinite period. Nopoli's previous broadcast exposure was limited to participation in a Saturday cooking show over WOR New York.

WLS Chicago appoints Reach McClinton & Co. of Illinois, as its advertising agency. Lester A. Weinrott, R-M vp will be account supervisor and George C. Mead account executive.

Rambler Dealers' Assn. of Washington, D.C. named Geyer, Morey, Madden & Ballard Inc., N.Y., to handle intensified newspaper, television and radio campaigns. The District dealer

Radio-tv's ability to capitalize on a current event as the basis for an immediate sales message was again demonstrated following the Mobilgas Economy Run.

Tv moved to get the news that Rambler had won the test run to tv viewers of Southern California within 24 hours of the announcement of the Rambler victory. Anderson-McConnell, Los Angeles, agency for Rambler Dealers of Southern California, had spots on KTTV (tv) the day following the run reporting the exact number of miles per gallon achieved by Rambler in the contest.

With all of tv's speed, its production requires making no match for radio. Within four hours after the results of the Economy Run were made public, a dozen radio stations in Southern California were telling their listeners that Plymouths had won in both their six-cylinder and eight-cylinder price classes. Fuller & Smith & Ross, Los Angeles, agency for the Plymouth Dealers Assn. of Southern California, had spots ready for broadcast over KHJ, KNX, KFI, KABC, KFWB, KMPC, KRKD, KLAC, KPOL and KPOP Los Angeles; KBIG Avalon (Catalina) and KEZY Anaheim, only hours after the results were announced.

Mobil Oil, through Compton Adv., got maximum tv spot mileage out of the run, also. In a 210-station buy, it telecast results of the test to viewers across the country the day following the run. Stations were sent basic art

Also in advertising

Boston bound — Fuller & Smith & Ross Inc., New York, has announced the opening of a New England service office which will be housed with Ingalls Assoc., Boston ad agency, located at 137 Newbury St., enabling the exchange of some agency facilities. It's understood that the new unit was set up primarily to provide better service for the recruitment program of F&S & R client Raytheon Co.'s plants in eastern Massachusetts. Charles A. Farrington, previously vice president at Ingalls Assoc., has been named manager for recruitment advertising.

AFA man pleads for ad honesty

Broadcasters and advertisers must strive for absolute honesty in their advertising messages or face the consequences of stiff government regulation.

This view was expressed by Lee Fondren, vice-president of the Advertising Federation of America and manager of KLZ Denver, Colo., in a speech to the Denver Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Fondren accused the government of "whittling away" at the foundations of advertising and suggested that the only way to avert "total destruction" is for total honesty. He suggested that if government regulations over the broadcasting and advertising industries are not checked, there will be total regulation by 1980.

The KLZ manager said government regulation is not limited to one medium. "... This could become malignant and spread through the whole body of advertising and reach right down to the merchant with only one door through which customers could enter."

A BRIEF

HISTOIRE D'AIR FRANCE
(that is also a history of French aviation)

L'HISTOIRE ANCIENNE  L'HISTOIRE MODERNE

FIRST MEN TO FLY. Joseph and Etienne Montgolfier successfully take to the skies, June 5, 1783. Man's ancient dream of air-borne travel suddenly becomes a practical reality.

FIRST ENGINE-POWERED DIRIGIBLE. Remarkable speed of 6½ MPH was clocked by Henri Gifford on a Paris-Trappe flight, September 24, 1852. An early demonstration of the French genius for technical achievement that is a tradition with Air France today.

LES PLUS GRANDES ROUTES. Today, Air France the world's largest airline. Routes cover more than 202,000 unduplicated miles...connect 210 cities in 76 countries. Air France is the largest French airline, too. Though it cooperates closely with all other French airlines, none are part of Air France. As the official French national airline, Air France maintains its unique identity...the oldest, the largest, the most experienced of all.

FIRST INTERNATIONAL FLIGHT. French aviation gained new stature when Louis Blériot flew 25 miles across the English Channel, July 25, 1909. This memorable journey focused world attention on the immense possibilities of commercial flight.

LES PLUS GRANDS JETS. All Air France jets are superb! The 707 Intercontinentals are the largest, fastest, longest-range jets in the world. Air France Caravelle Jets have an outstanding performance record. Air France uses both to provide the world's only jet-to-jet service between the U.S.A., Europe, Africa and the Middle East.

FIRST INTERNATIONAL PASSENGER FLIGHT. Air France's flight from Paris to London, February 8, 1919. Eleven passengers made the trip. Flew 187 miles in 2½ hours. Today, Air France passengers fly 1500 miles in the same 2½ hours.

LE PLUS GRAND SERVICE. Air France service is incredibly lavish, incomparably French. On every flight, passengers enjoy superb French cuisine, exquisite French service at no extra cost. Experienced Air France pilots are experts at providing smooth, restful flights. They have flown more than 5,000,000 pure jet passenger miles.

A feature of each clinic will be a period devoted entirely to discussing "the most frequent objections to buying radio," according to Warren J. Boorom, RAB vice president and director of member service. He adds that "brief, concise and logical answers will be supplied to each objection." Another highlight of each meeting will be a session called "All About Newspapers," during which material developed by RAB on newspapers will be revealed. A new brochure presentation aimed at persuading retailers to use radio also will be spotlighted during the clinic.

RAB officials who will participate in the clinics are Mr. Boorom and Miles David, vice president and promotion director; Robert H. Alter, manager, sales administration; Robert Nieman, national sales group manager; Patrick Rheuma and Maurice Fiedler, executive member-servicemen; Keith Andere, Arthur Jost, William Lacker and Dale Woods, regional sales managers.

Safety council makes its annual awards

The National Safety Council has announced 1959 Public Interest Awards for 5 radio and 4 tv networks, 144 radio and 48 tv stations, 1 radio-tv syndicate, 2 news wire services, 51 daily and 14 weekly newspapers, 19 general and 53 specialized magazines, 6 labor publications, 50 advertisers and 72 outdoor advertising agencies.

The award was established in 1948 to honor "leadership, initiative and originality in the furtherance of accident prevention by the mass media." Each recipient will receive a plaque. Radio, tv and advertiser winners also are considered for the Alfred P. Sloan Awards for highway safety to be judged later.

YOU CAN LEAD A CROWD TO CULTURE,
BUT YOU CAN'T MAKE 'EM THINK!

If you agree with that statement, you're not in tune with the times. And that can prove disastrous to a radio station!

It's easily documented that the tastes of the general public are more discriminating than ever before—their needs more complex, their interests more varied. Listeners are hungry for educational and informative programs—not trivia. They want to hear good music as opposed to caterwauling. They want news in depth and from news analysts—not headlines from disc jockeys. And as long as they have dials on their radios, these needs will be satisfied—by one station or another. storer sales up 15%

Storer Broadcasting Co., Miami, last week announced an increase in sales of 15% and an increase in earnings of 39% for the first quarter of 1960 against the comparable quarter of 1959. Net earnings for the three months ended March 31 were $1,423,079 compared with $1,024,183 in the corresponding period of 1959. Earnings per share this year's first quarter were 57.5 cents as against 41.4 cents in last year's. The earnings per share are based on the 2,474,750 shares of common and Class B stock outstanding in both years.

Storer stations are: WJBK-AM-TV Detroit; WJW-AM-TV Cleveland; WSPD-AM-TV Toledo, Ohio; WITI-TV Milwaukee; WAGA-TV Atlanta; WIBQ Philadelphia; WGBS Miami; WWVA Wheeling, W.Va., and KPOP Los Angeles.

Variety Clubs awards

Variety Clubs International, an organization devoted to humanitarian activities whose members represent every phase of the entertainment field, has established an annual award to the radio or tv broadcaster who “best interprets the organization's varied activities in behalf of handicapped children.” Newspaper and magazine news articles and photographs will be judged on the same basis, according to International Chief Barker George Eby of Pittsburgh. A special trophy and cash award of $100 will be made in each category with the first judging to take place during the Variety Clubs' convention in Toronto May 31. The Variety Clubs consists of 10,000 members in the U.S., Great Britain, Ireland, Canada & Mexico from motion picture, radio, and allied entertainment fields. During 33 years of existence, it has raised more than $78 million for charity.
"Frankly, I didn’t know we were that good!"

"Zoroma," Channel 8's weekly televised excursion into the San Diego Zoo, has captured top honors in one of the video industry’s more important awards ceremonies.

The program was selected as the outstanding local children's series in the Sylvana Television Awards for 1959. The awards were announced today in New York.

The prize was made in recognition of the cooperative effort of the station and the zoo staff in bringing TV each Sunday afternoon, a feature on the nationally famous Balboa Park animal display.

The award was based on one of the shows late last year which covered the entrance from the children's section of the zoo. The entrance was filled with people, and the segment was directed to the Sylvana viewers.

Oliver's knowledge of the Zoo comes in handy when a minor crisis develops during the program, as they're bound to in a zoo program. "They've been cooperative," he said. "Even on rainy Sundays, "Zoroma" has been able to go on.

The award was accepted by Don Blankenship, head of the Sylvana operation, who said, "We had to make a last minute switch two weeks ago because we had planned to do a bird show, and they're not at their best when wet."
Chicago city council bars broadcasters

Chicago's City Council last Thursday mounted another attack against electronic journalism, barring all tape-recorded and tv newsreel coverage of its regular proceedings.

Crews of local stations appeared at City Hall, as promised, but failed to gain access with their equipment. At the same time, the council set next Thursday for a hearing with broadcast media representatives before its rules committee. Aldermen voted down a motion, 43-4, to permit recorded and newsreel coverage, but permitted radio- tv newsmen to cover the meeting with paper and pencil.

In Thursday's floor proceedings, the administration's floor leader, Alderman Thomas E. Keane, held that the council has "the right to determine its own rules and procedures." He noted that tv cameras are not permitted in Congress or certain state legislature meetings. Other aldermen supported a motion to "invite" radio-tv in. They argued for broadcast media's constitutional right to cover proceedings.

The core of electronic newsmen's argument for access is an Illinois State Law which provides that all legislative groups perform their duties in open hearings. Controversy has arisen as to whether it applies to radio and tv and over a proposal by Alderman James Murray that Chicago stations submit films or tapes to the council rules committee for editing or carry full proceedings.

Bar, media groups hit blank in grant search

The American Bar Assn. and participating media groups have hit a stone wall in their cooperative attempts to get a foundation grant for proposed study of Canon 35.

That was the frank admission of a bar spokesman last Thursday in connection with the joint move for funds to underwrite an initial survey on the effects of radio-tv courtroom coverage. NAB, Radio-TV News Directors Assn. and other groups are represented on the all media-ABA committee.

Four foundations originally suggested they would approach the media committee members have been asked to submit a list of others which might be approached. The names will be pooled and acted upon sometime after May 1, it was reported.

Purpose of the initial pilot study would be to determine whether a second in-depth study of Canon 35 might be indicated. It's represented that neither bar members nor media representatives would feel it feasible to raise their own funds looking toward such a study and that they ought to come from an impartial, outside organization inclined to perform a public service.

Meeting schedule drawn up by NAB

A schedule of conventions, board meetings and fall conferences was announced last week NAB. It follows:

Fall Conferences, 1961: Oct. 9-10, Jefferson, St. Louis; Oct. 12-13, Sheraton-Dallas, Dallas; Oct. 16-17, Hotel Utah, Salt Lake City; Oct. 19-20, Sheraton Palace, San Francisco; Oct. 30-31, Robert Meyer Hotel, Jacksonville, Fla.; Nov. 9-10, Somerset, Boston; Nov. 13-14, Pittsburgh-Hilton, Pittsburgh; Nov. 16-17, Leamington, Minneapolis.

KXYZ airs trial

Obtaining permission of the presiding judge and the attorneys in the case, KXYZ Houston last week began broadcasting a murder trial direct from the courtroom. By connecting with the public address system, the station is able to bring live testimony to listeners as part of its public affairs programming. KXYZ has broadcast major trials in the area in the past and has announced plans to bring future ones to its audience under the same conditions.

Creative Programming with the GATES NITE WATCH

From across the nation come reports of success with NITE WATCH. Radio stations, both large and small, have found that better programming, larger audiences and a more profitable operation are possible with the Gates Nite Watch Automatic Programming System.

Gene Lyons, Chief Engineer for WKY, listens as the NITE WATCH tape control unit and automatic transcription changer play back the prepared program, complete with announcements and music in perfect sequence. The NITE WATCH system provides up to 7 1/2 hours of continuous programming.

Gene Lyons, WKY's Chief Engineer, says:

"WKY's choice of the Gates Nite Watch was based on a careful study of all automatic programming systems available to the industry. We consider the use of a full track tape machine for speech and the use of sub-audible tones for control superior in assuring a satisfactory signal-to-noise ratio. The Gates Nite Watch is thoroughly engineered, straight forward in design, with good mechanical layout and quality workmanship. The adaptability of the Gates Nite Watch to make-up at one location and play-back at a second location was a necessity in our particular installation. After initial adjustments the unit has been trouble-free."

Complete information on the Nite Watch is yours for the asking, along with an up-to-date listing of Nite Watch users. Write the Audio Products Section, Gates Radio Company, Quincy, Illinois, today.

*WKY was the third commercial radio station established in the United States, and the first west of the Mississippi River. Both WKY Radio and WKY-TV have attained national stature for outstanding quality in local programming and public service.

Don Wallace, WKY announcer, utilizes NITE WATCH production unit to prepare program material. Full editing, sequence record selection and dubbing facilities are incorporated in the NITE WATCH system.

TELEVISION’S BAN MAN

Tv Code head Hartenbower takes fearless look at new job

Joe Hartenbower is no bluenose. The man who heads NAB’s television code believes the medium can improve its public image without destroying its effectiveness as a sales tool or source of entertainment.

KCMO-TV Kansas City offers living proof that smart supervision rather than strict censorship can solve many of television’s present problems, according to his industry colleagues.

As new chairman of the NAB Tv Code Review Board, the vice president-general manager of the Meredith stations in Kansas City has taken over one of the nation’s toughest assignments—keeping tv advertisers, their agencies and tv stations in tune with the times.

And the times are rough, really rough, as Congress, federal agencies, newspapers, magazines, assorted civic agencies and viewers turn their wrath toward television.

Joe Hartenbower—its actually Elton K.—took over his extra curricular assignment a fortnight ago from one of the industry’s ablest administrators, Donald H. McGannon, president of Westinghouse Broadcasting Corp. Succeeding the aggressive Mr. McGannon isn’t going to be easy. But luckily, the new chairman combines business and personal traits with code experience and zeal for the job. The combination will be highly effective, his fellow code board members believe.

Big Job Ahead ■ The new code chairman faces a tough travel routine and long hours of extra work. Helping him is the fact that Meredith Publishing Co. and Payson Hall, director of Meredith stations, are providing complete cooperation in this industry-service project.

In effect, Joe Hartenbower is television’s chief censor. He’s a take-charge executive despite his easy smile and quiet manner, a trait now familiar to broadcasters who saw him in action as an NAB Radio Board member and vice chairman in the mid-50s.

A year ago when Mr. McGannon named him chairman of the code board’s personal products subcommittee, hottest spot in the code scene, this mild man ran a strict chair despite Mr. McGannon’s membership on the subcommittee. He started off as boss man and that’s the way the subcommittee operated, with the top code official happy to cooperate when he saw what was happening. Gaines Kelley, WPMY-TV Greensboro, N.C., was the third member.

What was happening behind subcommittee doors was dramatic. Preparation H (hemorrhoidal remedy), depilatories, bathroom tissue, anti-perspirants, headache pills—these and dozens of others were drawing public revulsion that couldn’t be ignored.

Taking a typical Hartenbower approach, he called on the NAB code staff headed by Edward H. Bronson and Harry Ward to collect a single film of distasteful and doubtful commercials. This can of horrors—47 potent plugs for personal products—was viewed, reviewed and analyzed. Life became a melange of armpits, hairy legs, runny noses and aching noggins, a code staffer recalled. Actually it was a methodical effort to find out what was offensive and to seek ways of avoiding viewer irritation.

Major Step ■ Next Mr. Hartenbower called a subcommittee meeting under the nose of the American Assn. of Advertising Agencies, holding a late April convention at White Sulphur Springs, W.Va. Mr. McGannon was an AAAA speaker. The subcommittee members talked informally with top agency executives. And one week later they went to New York for more meetings with AAAA and also the Assn. of National Advertisers.

At that point the Hartenbower group was taking a major step in code enforcement—expanding the contact at the source. Agencies and advertisers were interested and became convinced the problem was really serious, as subsequent events have borne out.

Later AAAA agreed to distribute a copy of a subcommittee analysis prepared in the late spring weeks. This document, now a standard reference work on the subject, outlined the personal products problem, reviewed commercials by types of products, and suggested ways of advertising them in good taste. Some of the distinctions were finely drawn but proved to be practical. For ex-

Broadway melodies, ballet, jazz and “off-beat and unusual high fidelity recordings,” WBAL-FM is on the air from 5 p.m. to midnight weekdays, 1:30 until 11:30 p.m. Saturdays and 9 a.m. until midnight on Sundays, the station reports. It further states that all-new broadcasting equipment has been purchased, with improvements, at a total cost of over $100,000. Bob Benson, formerly assistant manager of the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra and program director of WFSF-FM, is program director of WBAL-FM. The station operates at 87.9 mc with 20 kw power.

Memorial awards ■ Annual scholarships donated by Broadcasting Executives Club of New England have been named the Harold E. Fellows Memorial Scholarships in honor of the late NAB president. An illuminated scroll announcing the club’s dedication of the awards has been sent to Mrs. Fellows.

Legal news guide ■ A handbook designed to aid radio-ram reporters and broadcasters in the handling of legal news is being distributed by the American Bar Assn. to stations, newspapers, bar groups and journalism and law schools. Titled Law and Courts in the News, the 25-page booklet is intended to serve as a reference source for radio- tv and newspaper libraries and as a teaching aid in schools. Publication includes a glossary of legal terms and diagrams showing federal and state court structures.

Radio-tv monitors ■ Radio Reports Inc., New York, has stepped up monitoring and recording services for radio and television to include more than 250 U.S. markets. During the past year the company’s service of taping commercials in many markets had been dormant, according to David Fins, vice president and general manager. Current expansion was said to be brought about by growing market competition and demands for accurate, up-to-the-minute information on radio and tv which “can only be supplied by monitoring personnel on the scene in each market.”

Fm treaty ■ KCIR (FM) Los Angeles has signed a reciprocal sales representation agreement with KPEN (FM) San Francisco-Atherton. The management ample, hemorrhoidal remedies and toilet paper.

Black Sheep Return • Last June, 16 TV stations were thrown out of the code structure because they carried the Preparation H (hemorrhoid) account, barred by the very nature of the product. Another 19 stations resigned rather than give up the business. Of the 35 stations, 33 are now back in the code fold.

While a hemorrhoidal remedy is banned by its very nature, the Hartenbower subcommittee decreed toilet tissue commercials can be acceptable if based on the words “bathroom tissue” or “bathroom paper.” Acceptable visual and audio procedures were suggested.

That was the sort of problem the subcommittee faced constantly. And it faced the problem firsthand Sept. 14-15 at a meeting with the principals of Ted Bates Inc., agency for the Preparation H account. Despite NAB’s blacklisting, the meeting was calm and the parties understood their opposing viewpoints. Not one of the 381 TV code subscribers now carries the account, code officials believe.

A new subcommittee was formed by Mr. Hartenbower when he assumed his role as code board chairman, during the April 3-6 NAB convention. Members are Mr. Kelley, chairman; George Whitney, KFMB-TV San Diego, Calif.; Mrs. A. Scott Bullitt, KING-TV Seattle, and Mr. Hartenbower ex officio.

Then there’s a second subcommittee, set up to guide the code board’s expansion program. The membership of the board has increased from five to seven. A New York office will be opened and another staff executive added in Washington. Joe

Mr. Hartenbower
Not an easy job
Herold, KBTU (TV) Denver, is chairman. Other members are Robert W. Ferguson, WTRF-TV Wheeling, W.Va., James M. Gaines, WOAI-TV San Antonio, Tex., and Mr. Hartenbower ex officio.

All that means more work for the chairman. Happily he’s a hard worker. When the code board meets again next June, he’ll be fully prepared when he calls the meeting to order.

Those Statues • One of the touchy subcommittee projects under Hartenbower chairmanship centered around the Greek statues used by Bristol-Myers in its commercials for Ban, an anti-perspirant and deodorant. They’re really statues of a late Roman era rather than Greek, as dubbed by the journalistic craft. Featuring a deep, resonant voice in- toneing the social hazards of sweating by the mature male and female, Ban commercials aroused nationwide comment. This was generally unfavorable.

Numerous conferences were held with the sponsor and its agency, Ogilvy, Benson & Mather. A new series of plugs, minus such clinical words as male and female, has emerged and will be on the air within a week. They’re believed to be much less irritating. Both sponsor and agency have cooperated with code officials though Ban sales seemed to be zooming parallel with the irritation stirred by the commercials.

Mr. Hartenbower is deadly serious about his code service. "If the long-run the future of television lies in the code’s basic ethics, in the quiet day-to-day application of code principles without exception and without compromise," he said.

Speaking in the calm voice he always uses, a result of his training in the old Niles Trammell-Sidney Strotz school of salesmanship in Chicago, he added, "The code must continue to grow with the television medium. Its influence must be expanded. Industry and public awareness of the code must be broadened." Don McGannon is a hard man to follow. His leadership in meeting the torrential attacks on broadcasting as code chairman will live in industry history. The heat’s still on broadcasters and no letup is in sight. Happily the code board remains in strong hands—those of genial Joe Hartenbower, a man who moves carefully and fearlessly.

Joe’s gentle approach is his own special way of getting results.

of these stations have expressed the belief that this alliance will do a better selling job for both stations. Wally Brazeal will sell in San Francisco, while Jack Dalton and Ward Glenn do the same in Los Angeles.

Goes ABC • KNTV (TV) San Jose, Calif., ch. 11, became a primary affiliate of ABC-TV on April 1.

Another for NBC-TV • KTVU (TV) signed up KSOO-TV Sioux Falls, S.D., as a primary affiliate during the NAB convention. The station, which got its grant in July 1957, will go on the air sometime this summer, operating on ch. 13.

European Pact • RKO General Inc. has signed an agreement with Radio Luxembourg subsidiary; Information Et Publicite, making its sales representative for all RKO stations in every European and North African country. According to Thomas O’Neil, president of RKO General, the joint efforts of RKO and Radio Luxembourg “should benefit the international advertiser and at the same time resolve in progressive and profitable exchange of information and programming material for both radio and television.”

Murrow returns • CBS newsmen Edward R. Murrow, currently on sabbatical leave, will return to CBS News headquarters in New York in June and assume a variety of assignments. He will be featured in a new weekly 25-minute series, Background, beginning July 3 (CBS Radio, Sun., 12:05-12:30 p.m.) and has been assigned to the CBS News team covering the Democratic convention in Los Angeles and the Republican convention in Chicago. Following these events, he will cover the election campaigns and comment upon the election night returns in the summer and fall, respectively.

Big winner • Seven out of nine first place awards in the annual Theta Sigma Phi best writing contest for Pacific Northwest media went to KREM-AM-TV Spokane, Wash. The station’s news service and its personnel were honored by the national professional sorority for women in journalism. A new feature of the awards, the “Edward R. Murrow Radio-Tv Plaque,” placed four inscriptions on the honor roll. KHQ-AM-TV Spokane won one of those inscriptions while KREM won the other three. The awards covered news media in areas of Washington, Idaho, Montana and Oregon.

Am & fm ■ Directors Guild of America reports that arbitrator Peter Seitz ruled that WABC New York must use DGA members on separate fm broadcasts as well as on am broadcasts. Station had contended that it could use non-union directors on its separate fm programs.

SRA awards ■ Station Representatives Assn. will present its annual awards for 1960 on May 4. During ceremonies in New York presentations will be made of the “Silver Nail” timebuyer of the year award in honor of Frank Silvernail, who retired from BBDO in 1958, and of the “Gold Key” award. In addition, this year SRA will present an award known as the “Chicago” to a timebuyer for an advertising agency there during a luncheon in Chicago, also on May 4.

New policy ■ WJW Cleveland, a Storer station, has announced a switch in format from news and music personali ties to “all good music”. Grady Edney, Storer’s national radio program manager, will head the production staff that will launch the new policy and will make his headquarters at WJW for the next few months. He says the format will consist of uninterrupted music for 12-20 minute periods with commercials clustered at certain parts of the hour. He further states that limitations will be placed on the number of spots in each hour. NBC news and local news will be carried hourly as well as other network features. The change applies to WJW only and not necessarily to any other Storer stations, it was announced.

AB-PT dividend ■ American Broadcasting-Paramount Theatres Inc., N.Y., has declared second quarter dividend of 25¢ per share on outstanding common and preferred stock, payable June 15 to holders of record on May 20, 1960.

Unusual ■ WPAQ Mt. Airy, N.C., reports it has received notice that its 10 kw, 740 kc program on Feb. 17 between 10:28 and 10:55 a.m. was received by a DX listener in Ornskolds- vik, Sweden. Ionospheric skip to that 4,000-mile distance is not unusual at nighttime, but is extremely rare for daylight hours, Ralph D. Epperson, general manager of the North Carolina station noted.

U.S.O. d.j’/s ■ Radio stations and personalities have been invited to join the “USO-Disk Jockey Network.” Participating stations are asked to play numbers requested by servicemen overseas and dedicated to families and friends in the local community, and, it’s hoped, produce local request shows to be sent overseas and broadcast to servicemen through American Forces Network stations. USO headquarters are at 237 E. 52nd St., New York City.

New Hawaiian tv station ■ Hawaiian Broadcasting System Ltd., Honolulu, has been granted a construction permit by the FCC to build and operate a translator station in Lihue, Hawaii. The new station will transmit on ch. 70 and is scheduled to make its air debut about May 1. Hawaiian Broadcasting System reportedly will have the only statewide tv network in Hawaii with signals emanating from six transmitting stations: KGMB-TV Honolulu, KMAU-TV Maui, KHBC-TV Hilo, K70BS Kulani, K74BA Naalehu and the new facility.

Sets Teletape division

KUTV (TV) Salt Lake City has announced the formation of Teletape Inc., a wholly owned subsidiary, to handle its video tape production and recording operation. John P. Brophy, former program and production director of KUTV, has been appointed manager of the new division. Most recently he has been account executive and TV supervisor for Fallon, Brangham & Moon, Los Angeles.

Teletape Inc., organized at a cost of $200,000, will have separate studio facilities in addition to a mobile unit housed in a custom-built 32-foot trailer with its own screening room for immediate field playback. The unit is equipped with one Ampex VR 1000B recorder, slide and film chain, three image orthicon cameras and full audio facilities.

Brent H. Kirk, general manager of KUTV, said that Teletape would perform the same function for his station as do vtr departments in other stations, but would be able to expand its production and recording activities beyond regular station use with its mobile unit.

The studio facility will be ready for business May 15. Operational date for the mobile unit is June 1.

New Hot Springs TV set

Plans have been made for the building of a new television station, KFOY-TV, in Hot Springs National Park, Ark., following a meeting between the city commission and officers of Southwestern Operating Co., the permittee. Target date for the new ch. 9 station is May 1. The call letters are to suggest "fountain of youth."

Southwestern's officers are Donald W. Reynolds, president and 100% stockholder; R. T. Bentley, vice president, and C. W. Parkinson, secretary-treasurer. John Whitt, of KFSA Fort Smith, Ark., has been named acting manager of KFOY-TV. Hammett & Edison, San Francisco, are consulting engineers and Haley, Wollenberg & Kenehan, Washington, the attorneys. Mr. Reynolds owns other broadcast properties in Arkansas, Nevada, Oklahoma and Texas.

FCC, OREN AGREE ON PLUGOLA 'RULE'

Commission's controversial interpretation deemed impractical

There seemed to be general agreement last week among broadcasters, the FCC and congressmen that the controversial new interpretation placed by the FCC on an old law—which would require a station to announce the names of companies which give it so much as a free record—is completely impractical and probably unfair to the station.

What to do about it was the big issue during the House Communications & Power Subcommittee's Tuesday-Wednesday hearings on a group of bills covering payola, plugola, rigged contests on the air, quickie grants, procedures for applications for new stations and sanctions to keep down abuses of laws and FCC rules.

The subcommittee hearing was marked by a seldom-displayed conciliatory attitude on the part of Chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark.) in conceding that both present and proposed laws present knotty problems, but this didn't keep him from making his usual outbursts charging FCC laxity and broadcaster defiance of regulation.

The FCC held Sec. 317 of the Communications Act, which requires an announcement naming a person who gives "services, money or other valuable consideration" in exchange for exposure of broadcast material, is subject to varying interpretations. FCC Chairman Frederick W. Ford suggested the FCC be given discretion in its rule-making to determine what constitutes valuable consideration. Mr. Ford said the term "property" employed in HR 11341 narrows the definition so that any property, including records, would be covered. Promising to submit suggested legislation, the FCC chairman two days later (Thursday) submitted language which would give the FCC authority to waive Sec. 317 requirements at its discretion and institute rulemaking to draw the line.

Chairman Harris stated his agreement with the belief that a station shouldn't be required to make an announcement in the case of a single record, though he thought a "$5,000 library is something else." He expressed skepticism of FCC rulemaking, saying that though the present members of the FCC may plug loopholes on payola and other abuses, "some other commission down the line can change the rules and get back to the same procedure." He expressed similar doubts about FCC suggestions that it be allowed to handle other problems by rulemaking.

Vincent Wasilewski, NAB government relations manager, said NAB thinks the FCC has interpreted "valuable consideration" incorrectly and the association believes the term should be restricted to its "contractual" meaning; i.e., that a broadcaster would have to make a promise to play the record for the law to be applicable to him. A broadcaster required to identify the donor of a record would be giving the donor an additional plug and broadcasters don't want to give their time away, he said.

Thomas K. Fisher, vice president and general attorney of CBS-TV and its owned TV stations, said the language of Sec. 317 was handed down from a 1912 law applying to publications enjoying second-class mailing privileges. The FCC in 1944 started rulemaking similar to its most recent interpretation, Mr. Fisher said, but there were so many protests it adopted its present rule instead. He suggested amending Sec. 317 so matter given a broadcaster would be considered payment only (1) if it was in exchange for identification of the donor to an extent beyond that reasonably necessary to the material's use in a program or (2) if the material constitutes editorial comment for use in a political program or discussion of public controversial issues.

Ford Statement: FCC Chairman Ford said the Harris bill (HR 11341) fails to give parties in interest certain rights they have under existing law. The bill would require dual hearings, on a construction permit and on the license covering it, he said. Its requirement of a hearing on non-contested applications for new facilities or major changes would delay processing by adding a hearing a week, he said, and would require more personnel as well as more money for travel to conduct hearings in local areas.

Rep. Harris had criticized the paucity of local hearings in the past.

Mr. Ford urged passage of S 1898, approved by the Senate, which sets up a pre-grant procedure to allow parties to object to a grant made without hearing before it becomes effective instead of the present protest procedure, where objections made after a grant can delay a new service to a community for months or years.

House raps FTC

The House Independent Offices Appropriations Subcommittee took the opportunity of rapping the knuckles of the Federal Trade Commission while approving the agency's 1961 budget.

The subcommittee slapped at the FTC's increasing involvement in record company and disc jockey payola disclosures and urged it "to stress anti-monopoly and anti-merger work . . . ."

The total FTC appropriation of $7.415 million was approved by the subcommittee with the stipulation that no part of the commission's budget shall be expended on investigations until Congress provides funds to finance the cost. Although the FTC approved budget is up $575,000 over last year, it is $185,000 less than was asked for.

Rep. Harris noted he had made a public remark that broadcasting abuses were "widespread." "Anyone who says they're not is not familiar with the facts," he said, since rigged tv quiz shows were carried to affiliates all over the country.

Fisher Views • Mr. Fisher said CBS supports the pre-grant procedure in S 1989, which, he said, makes a grant reasonably final so the grantee may proceed with some assurance it won't be upset. It also removes the necessity for hearings on issues which are not substantial, he said. CBS does not see the advantage of local hearings which HR 11341 would require, he said, but in view of the cost, the FCC and Congress should make that decision. CBS feels cease and desist orders are more useful than suspensions, though they are seldom used, he acknowledged. Fines and forfeitures also might be useful, he thought.

Mr. Fisher pointed out what he felt were several flaws and loopholes in proposals on quiz programs.

On sponsorship identification proposals, Mr. Fisher pointed out several things which might be affected by the present narrow definition of Sec. 317 as interpreted by the FCC. These, he said, include weather information; films from government departments and transportation furnished in connection with such activities; access to hotels, churches or athletic fields; free books for review or tickets to theatres; spot announcements from public service organizations and press releases by the thousands for government, business, labor, associations and public and private individuals.

He said CBS supports the application of Sec. 317 to non-licensees such as employees, independent contractors and the payors. HR 11341 attempts to specify the nature of the announcement which must be made, he said, but CBS feels it would be best for the law to say "appropriate announcement" and let the FCC specify in its rules what kind should be made in each situation.

Mr. Fisher said CBS opposes requiring an applicant for renewal to submit narrative reports on his past programming because when the FCC begins to consider whether this satisfies community needs, the government begins to dictate what the needs are. The only exceptions, he said, should be where proposals by two applicants must necessarily be compared and where a broadcaster's performance is so at variance with his promise that he becomes a liar and thus his character becomes questionable.

Bar Groups • Warren E. Baker, representing Federal Communications Bar Assn., and Ernest Jennes, representing the American Bar Assn., testified in favor of S 1898. They said the bar groups are not taking positions on the substance of the bills, but on their legal procedure aspects.

Rep. Harris said the subcommittee staff questions the language of S 1898. Both witnesses said they would be glad to discuss that bill and other drafting technicalities with the staff.

Rep. John B. Bennett (R-Mich.) filed a statement supporting bills he has introduced on network regulation, payola, deceptions and license suspensions.

Rep. Emanuel Celler, chairman of the House Antitrust Subcommittee, filed a statement saying he is concerned that 12% of the stations in the U.S. have admitted to payola in some form. "The equanimity with which the regulatory agency regards the present state of affairs only emphasizes the need for additional legislation," he said.

Senate-broadcaster hearings scheduled

Senate Commerce Committee hearing of broadcasting groups—NAB, advertisers, agencies and networks—on problems confronting the industry and what is being done about them is tentatively scheduled in two or three weeks, according to committee officials. The hearing was postponed because of the Senate's civil rights debate.

Also in the works about the same time will be a hearing on S 3171, which

Lee, Mills nomination hearing set April 27

The Senate Commerce Committee last week set April 27 to hear the nomination of Edward K. Mills Jr. to the FCC and the renomination of Commissioner Robert E. Lee to a new seven-year term starting July 1. Both are Republicans.

Mr. Mills, former mayor of Morris-town, N.J., and former deputy director of the General Services Administration, was nominated by the President March 24 to serve the 15-month unexpired term vacated by the resignation of former FCC Chairman John C. Doerfer (BROADCASTING, March 28). Commissioner Lee was nominated for a new term last February.

Chairman Warren G. Magnuson (D-Wash.) of the Senate group has said he will notify senators from the nominees’ home states they may appear to endorse or oppose their confirmation by the Senate. Commissioner Lee is from Illinois.

Dismissal of antitrust suit is denied

A federal judge in Tacoma, Wash., has denied motions for dismissal of a $15 million private treble damage antitrust suit against KIRO-TV Seattle and CBS.

The motions were made by KIRO-TV and CBS. The suit was brought by Tribune Publishing Co., owner of KTNT-TV Tacoma and involves the 1958 transfer of CBS Television affiliation from KTNT-TV to KIRO-TV.

U.S. District Judge William J. Jame son ruled that the plaintiff was entitled to a trial on the issues.

The Tribune Publishing Co. charged that CBS and KIRO had an understanding regarding affiliation for television when KIRO received a tv grant. This is a violation of the Clayton Act, the Tribune alleged. KIRO-TV went on the air in February 1958, with the CBS affiliation.

A pre-trial hearing has been scheduled for May 16 in Washington, D.C. The trial itself has been set to start July 12 in federal court in Tacoma.

mission, BMI said that a Justice Dept. communication made public in March bears out charges made by Sidney Kaye, BMI board chairman that “discriminatory payments by ASCAP constituted the chief source of payola.”

BMI quoted the Justice letter to ASCAP: “that songs performed as background or theme songs on programs appearing two or more times a week received 35% of all performance credits for the total of tv network use. On certain of such programs, theme or background use credits exceeded by almost seven times their normal use on other similar programs.” BMI told the commission that “the amount of money involved in the payola caused by ASCAP’s practices would seem to dwarf all other payola put together.”

WEATHER CASE

FCC's Waco ruling is argued in court

The provision in Sec. 315 of the Communications Act prohibiting stations from “censoring” a candidate’s appearance “strongly supports” the FCC’s contention that the political opponent of a KWTX-AM-TV Waco, Tex., weathercaster is not entitled to equal time.

This is what the Justice Dept., FCC and KWTX told the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans Friday in arguing against an appeal of the commission’s ruling by William H. Brigham, candidate for the Texas legislature. The seat Mr. Brigham is seeking is held by Jack Woods, KWTX-AM-TV weathercaster, a candidate for reelection (BROADCASTING, March 28).

The no-censorship provision “firmly indicates” that material involved in a Sec. 315 use is that prepared by the candidate to serve his own purposes rather than that prepared by the station employee for presentation on a regular program, Justice told the court.

In appealing the commission’s declaratory ruling that Mr. Woods’ appearances are not a “use,” Mr. Brigham maintained that the former’s regular news show “... constitutes a material advantage to him [Woods] and a material disadvantage to petitioner in their respective political campaigns ... Petitioner ... will suffer irreparable injury if equal time is not granted him.”

The FCC disputed Mr. Brigham’s contention that the 1950 “Lar Daly” amendment to Sec. 315 restricts the exemption to cases in which a candidate appears as the subject of a newscast. With the exception of news documents, nothing in the bill requires the candidate to appear in any particular role on news shows, the FCC said.

Also, the agency argued, the legislative history of last year’s amendment shows a clear congressional intent to afford a broad exemption to Sec. 315 to news and informational programs in general rather than merely making narrow exceptions to previous interpretations.

TX Weatherman — All three respondents pointed out that Mr. Woods is not even identified by name on his appearances but merely as the “TX Weatherman.” “There is not the slightest hint ... that this weathercaster’s appearance involved anything but a bona fide effort to present the news,” the commission said. “His employment is not something arising out of the election campaign but, rather, is a regular job.”

Mr. Brigham first asked KWTX for “equal time” in January and the station asked the commission for a ruling. The agency replied that Mr. Woods’ weather presentations do not constitute a “use” of the station under the 1959 amendment to Sec. 315. It is this ruling that Mr. Brigham, a Waco attorney, has appealed.

Since the Texas primary is May 7 and the two candidates are seeking the Democratic nomination, all parties have agreed to let the three-judge court decide the case on the basis of the written statements. There will be no oral argument in an effort to expedite a ruling.

Court upholds FCC Selma, Ala., ruling

U.S. Court of Appeals in Washington last week upheld an FCC ruling which denied the application of ch. 8 WSLA-TV Selma, Ala., to move its transmitter from downtown Montgomery, Ala., and to build a 2,000-ft. tower.

In a split, 2-1 vote, the court maintained the FCC findings that WSLA-TV was not financially qualified to build the new tower and that the station had not proved that a tower of that height could be safely erected.

The court’s decision was written by Circuit Judge David L. Bazelon, for himself and Judge Henry W. Edgerton. Judge Learned E. Burger dissented, stating that he thought the FCC should be required to incorporate in the record all the information it may have on the costs and engineering of a 2,000-ft. tower.

WSLA-TV requested the move in 1955. Objections were raised by Montgomery tv stations and by the U.S. Army and Air Force. The military objected to the tower height. An initial decision favoring the move was rendered in 1956. The FCC’s final decision was issued Sept. 8, 1958.

Way cleared for grant as applicants merge

The way is now clear for the FCC to grant a construction permit for ch. 9 in Baton Rouge, La. The two applicants for the channel have informed the FCC that they have reached a merger agreement. Community Broadcasting Co. agrees to withdraw its application and purchase 20% of Modern Broadcasting Co., the remaining applicant.

Under terms of the merger, Community will receive $23,000 for expenses incurred and has an option to purchase “not more than” 20% of Modern.

WDSU-AM-FM-TV New Orleans (Edgar B. Stern Jr., 68.84% owner) is majority owner of Modern Broadcasting Co.

The ch. 9 case was highlighted by a U.S. Court of Appeals reversal of an FCC special temporary authority to ch. 28 WABF-TV Baton Rouge, to operate temporarily on ch. 9 pending the outcome of a two-party comparative hearing (BROADCASTING, Feb. 15). The decision is considered a landmark ruling on the matter of temporary authorizations, superseding previous court decisions which upheld the FCC’s authority.

IN THE HILL HOPPER . . .

Here are capsuled versions of new legislation of interest to broadcasters and advertisers: S 3359, Sen. William Proxmire (D-Wis.) — would require the FCC and other federal agencies to open a “comprehensive file” open to public, wherein would be filed all communications (including written summaries or oral communications) from senators and representatives to members or employees of agencies concerning status, disposition or merits of any hearing. Judiciary Committee. April 11.

HR 11669. Rep. Joel T. Brophy (R-Va.) — raise the pay of hearing examiners in several government agencies and departments (including the FCC and FTC) from the present $12,770 minimum to $17,500 minimum. Judiciary Committee. April 11.

HOW IS IT POSSIBLE FOR ONE STATION TO EARN 79% OF LOCAL BUSINESS?

It's true in Des Moines, Iowa, where KRNT-TV has had over 79% of the local business in this major 3-station market for 3 years!

There is nothing so satisfying as doing business with people who know what they're doing and where they're going. Leading local and national advertisers have known for years that the "know-how, go-now" stations in Des Moines are KRNT Radio and KRNT-TV.

They have confidence in the ability of our people to make their radio and television investments profitable. It seems clear that for these astute advertisers, there is nothing so satisfying as radio and television fare presented by good, honest, experienced air personalities who know what they're doing.

From surveys made several times a year for the last several years, it seems evident that the people of Central Iowa like to listen to and view our stations.

Latest F.C.C. figures show KRNT-TV handled over 80% of ALL the local television advertising placed in this three-station market. The-year before, over 79% . . . and the year before that, over 80%. Our local RADIO business in a six-station market has always exceeded that of our nearest competitors by a country mile.

We know for a fact that these figures are merely a reflection of our public acceptance ... our long-standing excellence in public service . . . reliability that is vital in all selling! We believe this to be true: the ones that serve are the ones that sell in Des Moines.

People believe in and depend upon these stations. Check the ratings, check The Katz Agency, check the cash registers.

KINTNER: FEWER BAD ADS NOW
FTC head says self-regulation is a reason

The Federal Trade Commission is encountering fewer objectionable claims in national advertising, Earl W. Kintner, chairman of the FTC, said last week.

Mr. Kintner, speaking last Monday to the Baltimore Academy of Television Arts & Sciences, said that several factors were contributing to this improvement.

"Call it self-discipline, self-interest or just plain caution," Mr. Kintner said, "one or another is having effect on advertisers themselves."

Other factors that have aided in this result, Mr. Kintner said, were the combined efforts of media to reject questionable advertising.

"With reputations for integrity to maintain," Mr. Kintner stated, "the media—all of the responsible media—turn down a tremendous amount of revenue rather than carry sleazy ads that would gyp their listeners or their readers and offend their better advertisers."

In addition, the FTC chairman said, competitors now know where to lodge a complaint (with the FTC), and business in general is getting educated on the subject by their trade associations and industry organizations.

The FTC's own efforts are also a factor contributing to improvement in advertising, Mr. Kintner said.

Other highlights of Mr. Kintner's speech:

- The trade commission is not going into the business of previewing advertising before publication or use on the air. It does not have the manpower or the money. Such a move would be an abdication of the advertiser's responsibility for self-policing. The issuance of formal complaints is necessary to ensure that cease and desist orders remain in force in perpetuity. Violators are subject to fines up to $5,000 per day.
- Any hope that the FTC will become less aggressive in its policing of advertising is erroneous. Monitoring activities now cover not only radio and TV commercials but also advertising in newspapers and magazines (BROAD-

The rule for TV advertising is very simple. The FTC will question any "substantive" claim that goes to the merits of the product—or of the competing product if used for comparison. If an advertisement gives to a product material virtues that it lacks or falsely disparages a competing product, then the ad is deceptive.

"On the other hand," Mr. Kintner observed, "simply to present a product's virtues in their most favorable light would not be objectionable . . ."

FTC gets two payola consent judgments

Two more consent judgments on payola complaints were announced by the Federal Trade Commission last week—swelling the number of settlements to 21.

Agreeing to consent decrees were Duke Records, Houston, Tex., and Marmel Distributing Co., Philadelphia. Both were charged last December with making payola to radio and TV disc jockeys. The consent agreements require that the public must be informed when a record is played over the air for which the station employee received any significant consideration.

Meanwhile, three record companies filed denials of payola complaints with the FTC. The trade commission has issued 69 complaints, charging record companies and distributors with illegally paying radio-TV disc jockeys to "expose" records on the air.

Robert's Record Distributing Co., St. Louis, challenged the March 2 FTC complaint on the ground there was nothing illegal about the under-the-counter payoffs. It asserted it was compelled to distribute payola in order to get its records played by disc jockeys and that it was impossible to compete without making payments.

The disbursement of payola, Robert's declared, "is not unlike the giving of Christmas presents, the buying of gratuities, the dining and wining of customers and the other grand array of good will and fine-fellowship practices which have permeated every scene and every scale of American modern day business whether it be the sale of missiles, automobiles, pianos or toothpicks . . ."

Robert's said it would be glad to joint a nationwide cease and desist order if the FTC could enforce it.

The other two companies denying making illegal payola payments were Ace Record Co.-Record Sales Inc., Jackson, Miss., and Chess Record Corp.-Argo Record Co.-Checker Record Co., Chicago.
TV SPOT REP BAN

FCC stands pat on network rep order

CBS-TV and NBC-TV must get out of the general TV spot representation business, the FCC said last week for the second time in refusing to set aside its order last fall (Broadcasting, Oct. 12, 1959). In denying petitions for reconsideration filed by NBC and four of the stations it represents, the commission repeated its earlier ruling that spot sale representation by networks gives them the power to curb competition and creates an inherent conflict of interest.

The FCC said that generally the arguments presented by the petitioners already had been considered by the agency. An alternate proposal by NBC that such representation be prohibited only when a network threatens to withhold affiliation would not be workable administratively and would not adequately protect the public interest.

Divorce of networks from station spot representation was recommended in the FCC’s Barrow Report 2 1/2 years ago. The ruling prohibits networks from represented affiliated stations, other than network-owned outlets. CBS and NBC were given until Dec. 31, 1961, to comply. ABC gave up spot representation in 1952. Radio representation is not affected.

CBS did not appeal the commission order and has said it will comply, which means giving up representation of seven stations. One (KHOU-TV Houston), will leave CBS Spot Sales in September in favor of H-R.

NBC, on the other hand, said last fall that it would seek relief in the courts if the commission denied its appeal. A spokesman said last Thursday (April 14) that the network still intends to petition the courts for review of the FCC order. NBC represents six stations and joining in the appeal to the commission were KOA-TV Denver, WRGB (TV) Schenectady, N.Y., KSD-TV St. Louis and WAVE-TV Louisville.

USIA budget cut

The House last week voted to cut the U.S. Information Agency budget to $116.9 million, $1.2 million less than 1960, and $6.8 million less than requested. Earlier the House Appropriations Committee had recommended that USIA use its personnel more efficiently. The committee granted $8.74 million of the $9.2 million request for construction of a high-power short wave station in Liberia to serve Africa and the Middle East.
INFLUENCE IN ST. LOUIS?

More arguments in ch. 2 case are filed

Hearing Examiner Horace Stern's initial decision in the St. Louis-Springfield, Ill., ch. 2 deintermixture case is "contrary to the weight of the evidence and incomplete," FCC general counsel's office said last week.

In exceptions to the examiner's decision (BROADCASTING, March 14), FCC Associate General Counsel Edgar W. Holtz said Signal Hill Telecasting Corp., which now operates KTVI (TV) on ch. 2 in St. Louis, should be given a comparative demerit in any further proceedings because of the ex parte activities of Harry Tenenbaum, its president.

Signal Hill and ABC both maintained that there was nothing improper in Mr. Tenenbaum's contacts with commissioners and that the FCC's shift of ch. 2 from Springfield and subsequent assignment to KTVI were within its legal bounds.

Judge Stern had ruled that the shift of ch. 2 was "voidable" because of Mr. Tenenbaum's activities but that no party should be disqualified from further proceedings or receive a comparative demerit. The form and nature of future commission consideration of the case was left up to the agency by the examiner. The case had been returned to the FCC by the courts because of testimony in Congress on the ex parte contacts.

Sangamon Valley TV Corp., lone remaining applicant for ch. 2 in Springfield, would go even a step beyond Mr. Holtz's recommendation. Sangamon said that the initial decision "has made it clear that ch. 2 now is allocated to Springfield . . ." and that Signal Hill should be disqualified from receiving any future consideration for ch. 2.

An opposite view was taken by operating ch. 20, WICS-TV Springfield. It maintained that ch. 2 has been deleted from the Illinois capital city and that Sangamon now has no legal interest in what use is made of the facility.

Four Exceptions ★ On behalf of the commission, Mr. Holtz took four exceptions to the initial decision. He said the examiner's characterizations of Mr. Tenenbaum's contacts with commissioners as "casual" and "offhand" are not in line with the facts. "The record clearly indicates that Mr. Tenenbaum made a persistent and concentrated effort to cultivate a personal and social relationship with the individual commissioners," Mr. Holtz said.

He maintained that these contacts were always made privately and never intended to be made known or revealed to the other parties. The examiner erred, the FCC counsel said, in implying that Mr. Tenenbaum's conduct was generally acceptable and approved by the industry and in that he did not point out that most officials and parties felt the proposed channel shift was "so adversary in nature as to forbid private communications of the type made by Mr. Tenenbaum." Signing the FCC brief, in addition to Mr. Holtz, were attorneys James Brennan and Joel Rosenbloom.

A Rulemaking Proceeding ★ Both Signal Hill and ABC, which is affiliated with KTVI, maintained that the case was a rulemaking proceeding and that off-the-record presentations were both perfectly proper and accepted. KTVI said that the only period requiring scrutiny was from June 26, 1956 (when the FCC instituted rulemaking to shift ch. 2 to St. Louis), to Feb. 26, 1957 (when the action was finalized and KTVI was given temporary authority, in a separate proceeding, to shift from ch. 36 to ch. 2).

The examiner erred in finding that the shift of ch. 2 to St. Louis is "voidable" because of Mr. Tenenbaum's activities, Signal Hill said. During the pendency of the rulemaking, the station maintained, Mr. Tenenbaum's presentations related solely to collateral issues—none of which would require reconsideration of the reallocation.

There is no reason why the commission cannot reaffirm its decision without reopening the record, KTVI said. KTVI filed a total of 22 exceptions to the initial decision, most dealing with inclusion of Sangamon proposed findings, which KTVI maintained were "argumentative." ABC said that the FCC should reaffirm forthwith its shift of ch. 2 because the ex parte contacts in no way affected the St. Louis assignment. The network pointed out that rulemaking activities come under the Administrative Procedures Act with no guarantee that all parties will have an opportunity to submit comments on all views expressed.

ABC said it "seriously questions" whether Mr. Tenenbaum's approaches were illegal or improper. "To hold otherwise would, as a practical matter, largely nullify the right to petition for the repeal, issuance or modification of a rule . . . ."

Sangamon's Views ★ Sangamon charged that the hearing examiner did not carry out the mandate of the court, which ordered the case returned to the FCC "... to determine the nature and

House unit okays $2 million uhf study

The FCC's proposed uhf study passed its first hurdle last week when the House Independent Offices Appropriations Subcommittee approved $2 million for the project. The committee granted $250,000 less than the FCC asked for and stipulated that the $2 million would be available for the project until June 30, 1962.

The study (called by Commissioner Robert E. Lee the most important item to appear in a commission budget in years) will try to determine if uhf can work in the biggest market in America, New York. The commission originally earmarked $1.15 million for the construction of two uhf stations of a million watts power with the remainder of the proposed $2.25 million spread among development and engineering project reports Broadcasting, Feb. 8).

The total budget for the FCC recommended by the committee (HR 11776) was $12.935 million. This raised the agency's total appropriations to $2.385 million more than last year but provided $656,000 less than asked for. The committee granted $10.55 million for FCC salaries, lopping off $385,000. It will allow the FCC to fill 31 new positions, half that requested.
FCC grants two tv's, six translators

The FCC last week granted two new tv stations and six new translators.

Construction permits were granted to Santa Fe Telecasting Co. for ch. 11 in Santa Fe, N.M., and to Electron Corp., for ch. 11 in Grand Island, Neb.

Grants for three new translators were made to Miami Translator System Inc., Miami, Tex., for translator stations on chs. 72, 78, 82 to translate programs of Amarillo stations KGNC-TV, KVII (TV) and KFDA-TV.

The other three new translators were granted to Windom Area Television Inc., Windom, Minn., for tv translator stations on chs. 70, 77, 83 to translate programs of WCCO-TV and KSTP-TV both Minneapolis, and KELO-TV Sioux Falls, S.D.

Antitrust dates set

U.S. District Court Judge William B. Herlands has set April 21 as the date for the filing of briefs and for summations in the antitrust suit against Screen Gems, Universal Pictures and Columbia Pictures. The trial began in New York on March 14 (Broadcasting, March 21).

The government contended during the trial that the acquisition by Screen Gems of the distribution rights to the pre-1948 library of Universal contravened sections of the antitrust laws because it lessened competition in the field. (Screen Gems is a subsidiary of Columbia Pictures.) Counsel for the defense, through various witnesses, countered that the agreement did not result in a lessening of competition.

Old plan revived

William Benton, a former U.S. Senator from Connecticut, bobbed up last week with his national citizens advisory board for radio-tv proposal he helped introduce in the Senate nine years ago. (It got a three-day hearing and then was tabled in committee). Mr. Benton, now Encyclopaedia Britannica's publisher, saw the board as a means for helping to solve "thorny" tv problems such as educational tv's development and the lack of intellectual and cultural programming. During his Senate career, Mr. Benton was a strong supporter of etv and led its cause nationally.

The Benton proposal envisions a presidentially-appointed board of private citizens to advise the chief executive, Congress, the FCC and the public on national broadcast policy, and to act as radio-tv's "conscience" by operating as a "publex," which Mr. Benton coined as the name of "a new rating system."

missile bases on rails

A time-tested principle of warfare—swift maneuverability—is the railroads’ newest contribution to the Missile Age.

Mobile launching pads on wheels will be able to fire missiles of intercontinental range from almost any point along the nation’s 220,000 miles of railroad line. Most importantly, the mobility of these bases protects against enemy detection and destruction.

This development, announced by the Department of Defense, underscores once again how the needs of the nation are met by the railroads—the backbone of our transportation system in war and peace.

And it’s one more reason why the health of the railroads must be assured through enlightened public policies, providing for equal treatment with competing forms of transportation. America’s railroads—lifeline of the nation—are the main line to your future.
PROGRAMMING

IN THE GOOD OLD SUMMERTIME

The emphasis will be on re-runs in summer TV schedules.

It's a good summer for film residuals. Better than half of all the nighttime half-hours on any given network are re-runs, and if you look at it in whole- show units the balance is heavier for the old shows, 82 of 110 programs making some use of what's been seen before.

At least one program department is still trying to decide which re-runs to re-run in some vacant slots.

Schedules by now are fairly firm with a few last-minute announcements slated for this week. The re-run season broke as early as March (the Maverick and Cheyenne hours on ABC-TV picking up impetus this month and next and settling into a pattern from June through September).

There are some oases. Half a dozen shows are having their first time out this summer on NBC-TV and others are a mixture of some old, some new. CBS has a new entry, Diagnosis Homicide, in the final hour of the Tuesday lineup with Ed Sullivan and the panel shows carrying on the live tradition.

The newest thing on ABC-TV's bill is Music for a Summer Night, successor to Music for a Spring Night, which went underway in March.

Summer Sales - Whereas some of NBC-TV's starters have been sold, most notably to such 52 week standbys as Kraft and Chevrolet, neither Diagnosis nor Music as yet has a backer. CBS-TV does have another sponsored half-hour which qualifies as "new," the still untitled pre-election series which West- inghouse signed for long ago. Standbys with a new edition each week on ABC- TV are Dodge Dancing Party, Jubilee, Ted Mack, Dick Clark, and the Wednesday Night Fights.

Politics, in fact, may provide the heat-wave high point for viewers who saw everything the first time around. Chunks of programming will give way to election coverage two weeks in July when the parties convene in Los Ange- les and Chicago. Only CBS-TV has the package to date, with the multi-million Westinghouse convention election deal.

The coming Civil War and situation comedy deluge is foreshadowed in Kraft's replacements for Perry Como in the middle of the Wednesday night lineup on NBC-TV. Happy is a gun- fighter who lost an arm in the Civil War. Chevrolet's Sunday night hour will be in the mystery category as the Suspense title implies, featuring name writers, but will avoid violence, according to Executive Producer Henry Jaffe.

Debuts - NBC-TV's Music on Ice, in the Sunday 8-9 p.m. period picks up the theme of one of last summer's successful specials. U.S. Brewers Foundation (through J. Walter Thompson) put on an hour ice-skating show last June and liked it so well the brewers will program another one June 2. NBC-TV, tracking a national trend to rink skating, fashioned a series around it. Although the brewers are not involved in this new series, still unsold, are they buying another sport show, an Esther Williams adventure, in the center of the NBC-TV series replacing the Plymouth-Steve Allen show Monday nights, 10-11 p.m. Other editions of the Monday summer specials will be a combination of re-runs of last season's specials and new hours. NBC-TV is filling the hole left by the departing Gillette fights in the end hour Fridays with a new suspense show, Moment of Fear, originating in New York and to be produced by Robert Stevens.

TV editors of newspapers are loudly criticizing the re-run season as will an occasional agencyman or advertiser. Still, in most cases the re-run represents a sponsor's considered judgment in the context of a 52-week contract. And for the network it means a lot less peddling to fill the old-time "Summer Hiatus."

FALL LINEUP
Tv network sponsors make late revisions

While the television networks were hammering their summer program schedules into shape (see page 82), a spurt of 1960-61 business last week produced wholesale revisions in their new fall lineups.

Alberto-Culver, Rexall, P. Lorillard, Reynolds Tobacco, Reynolds Metals, Procter & Gable, Sterling Drug, Chevrolet, Bristol-Myers, Lever Bros., State Farm Mutual Insurance and S.C. Johnson were among the advertisers reported signed or near signing during the week for nighttime network programs next fall.

The resultant shuffling and firming were accompanied by other changes by which the networks hoped to strengthen their 1960-61 schedules further, leaving the lineups reported only a week earlier (BROADCASTING, April 11) outdated in many respects. Changes had been expected, however, and the word again last week was that more were sure to come.

Here, by network, are the changes reported as of last Thursday in the nighttime schedules announced April 3 by ABC-TV and NBC-TV and in those elements of the CBS-TV lineup which had been unofficially identified (all times are New York time):

ABC-TV = Fred MacMurray Show, probably with Chevrolet sponsorship, was reported likely to go into the Thursday 9-9:30 period which had been tentatively reserved for Down Home. A Warner Bros. anthology was being considered for 10:30-11 on Thursdays instead of The Yank. Room For One More, a situation comedy, was in the running for 7:30-8 Fridays, and The Law and Mr. Jones, a drama with Procter & Gamble for sponsorship, was being substituted for an anthology at 10:30-11 the same night. The Dick Clark Show, originally planned for Friday at 7:30, was rescheduled at 7:7-10 Saturday. Though no program change was involved, Reynolds Metals buttoned up Harrigan and Son in the Friday 8-8:30 period.

CBS-TV = Unconfirmed reports said the Sunday evening schedule probably would open at 6 p.m. with To Tell the Truth or Person to Person, followed by 20th Century at 6:30-7:30. Bristol-Myers was said to be buying Candid Camera for 10-10:30 Sunday. Also for Sunday, CBS announced that Lever Bros. and State Farm Mutual Insurance would sponsor Jack Benny in his originally scheduled 9:30-10 period.

The Weir Brothers and For Pete's Sake, a pair of situation comedies, were being aimed for Mondays at 7:30 and 8, respectively. For Tuesdays, Dobie Gillis was moved into 8:30-9 replacing Tom Ewell, who was rescheduled at 9:9-30. For Wednesdays, Aquanaut, adventure drama, was pegged for 7:30-8:30 and some thought reportedly was being given to moving the 601 Park Ave. detective-story hour to make way for two as yet undetermined half-hours between 8:30 and 9:30. I've Got a Secret was installed at 9:30-10 on Wednesdays.

For Thursday, the choice for 7:30-8:30 was said to be between Checkmate and 601 Park Avenue; S.C. Johnson and Lorillard signed for Zane Grey at 8:30-9; Angel, a comedy for which General Foods signed some time ago, was inserted at 9-9:30, Ann Sothern was reported under consideration for 9:30-10 and Twilight Zone (perhaps with Orson Welles) or Dr. Kildare for 10-10:30.

For Fridays, Route 66, an adventure story with Chevrolet reportedly set as part sponsor, was being considered for 8:30-9:30. And although these were not certain, Westinghouse's campaign-and-election roundup were said to be tentatively set for 9:30-10 and Twilight Zone, if it doesn't go in to the Thursday night spot, for 10-10:30 Fridays.

NBC-TV = A live drama series starring Shirley Temple was identified as Project X at 7-8 p.m. Sundays, and National Velvet, a family-appeal show with Rexall signed as alternate-week sponsor, was ticketed to follow at 8-9 instead of the originally scheduled No Place Like Home. Tab Hunter in Bachelor at Large, situation comedy with Lorillard and Alberto-Culver sponsoring, was moved into the Sunday 8:30-9 spot in place of One Happy Family. NBC meanwhile announced that Chevrolet would be back with Dinah Shore at 9-10 as scheduled. The Sunday 10:30-11 period became temporarily open with transfer of the Barbara Stanwyck dramatic show to Mondays at 10-10:30 with Alberto-Culver as alternat-nee-week sponsor.

In other Monday-night changes, Klondike was expected to go, probably with Reynolds Tobacco sponsorship, into the 9-9:30 spot in place of Tall Man. The 9:30-10 period, originally down for Hollywood Angel, was designated open and the hour-long specials at 10-11 were rescheduled to Tuesdays at the same time.

Sterling Drug signed for part sponsorship of Thriller, mystery-suspense hour, which was scheduled to move to 9-10 Tuesday's, ousting Dante and The Westerner. Move of Tab Hunter to Sunday nights left Wednesdays 10:30-11 open. There was no change in Thursday's scheduling, but Alberto-Culver signed to sponsor This Is Your Life in the 10:30-11 spot.

For Fridays, replacements were being considered for Raven at 7:30-8:30, and Dante, an adventure series, was being considered as replacement for Headquartes at 8:30-9. On Saturdays, Tall Man, a western, was under consideration for 8:30-9 in place of Klondike, which was expected to go into Tall Man's originally scheduled Monday-night period. Band of Gold might be inserted at 9:30-10 Saturdays, in which case World Wide 60 would move back to 10-11 instead of 9:30-10:30.

Color cartoon plans
In its first foray into the domestic tv film production field, Fremantle International Inc., New York, has announced that the company is co-producing a series of Goldenatoon five-minute color cartoons in association with Cullen ASAP Inc., New York. Fremantle has been active in the overseas distribution of tv films. Goldenatoons will be animated versions of both Little Golden Books and Golden Records and will employ the original story material and soundtrack. Groups of three or four of the cartoons will be offered to national sponsors for inclusion in network children's programs.

NO MIAMI IN MINNEAPOLIS

D.j. meeting is far cry from last year; serious debate produces code of ethics

The First Annual Membership Meeting of the Disc Jockey Assn., April 9-10 in Minneapolis was a far cry from the riotous Second Annual Radio Programming and Pop Music Disc Jockey Convention, held in Miami Beach last Memorial Day weekend.

In Minneapolis, the disc jockeys were strictly businessmen.

In Miami Beach "some 3,000 disc jockeys, station executives, record company salesmen and talent sunned, swam, swizzle-sticked and business-ses-Inioned their way" through a three-day weekend. It was estimated the soiree cost the Storz Stations, convention host, $55,000 and the record companies another $200,000 out of a total collective tab more than $800,000 (BROADCASTING, June 8, 1959).

The Minneapolis meeting had no host, no record company representation, no sunning, no swimming and very little swizzle-sticking. About 100 disc jockeys met to frame a code of ethics and elect officers (see box).

Debate Consideration • The DJA code was produced after hours of earnest consideration and heated debate by a committee under the chairmanship of Grahame Richards, program director of the Storz Stations. It was unanimously approved by the membership.

The code states that each DJA member "accepts as continuing requirement of his position the obligation to entertain and to inform the listening audience to the best of his ability within the framework of his station's policies and industry-wide governmental regulations."

In fulfilling his obligations, the code proposes that each member should be guided by these principles:

"That such individual judgment and discretion as is granted to him by his station for the selection of recorded music to be broadcast should be based on his personal bias and knowledge. In order to prevent having his judgment influenced, he shall avoid the acceptance of any favors from interested parties which may tend to evoke a sense of personal favoritism or professional obligation."

"That he shall have no outside interest, business or professional connections without the advance knowledge and approval of station management.

"That he shall conduct himself, on and off the air, as to bring credit, distinction and public approval to the broadcasting industry."

Changing Atmosphere • No one who has seen the word "payola" blazoned in 96-point type across the front page of his daily newspaper has to wonder what caused the change in climate from the disc jockeys' gatherings in 1959 and 1960. The TV investigations arising from charges, denials and, at long last, confessions of rigged quiz shows, turned to radio with companion charges that some of the records on the most-played lists won their enviable position not from merited choice but from payment for placement. Oaths of purity were required of record players by station management; legislation to ensure such purity was proposed in Congress; all d.j.'s were questioned. A few were found guilty and lost their jobs.

Jim Hawthorne, Sunday night disc jockey at KFWB Los Angeles, weekday weatherman and host to the late movies on KTTV (TV) in that city, was re-elected to his second term as DJA president. He emphasizes that the organization's origin predates the current investigations. It was early in 1958, he recalls, that Bill Gavin, radio program consultant who is now DJA treasurer, approached him with the idea of a professional association of disc jockeys designed to encourage a higher public regard and respect for the profession.

Mr. Hawthorne says the DJA has won the support of a number of broadcasters whose stations specialize in d.j. programming. Todd Storz, president of the Storz stations; Lionel Baxter, executive vice president of the Storer stations; Gerald Spain, program director of WHK Cleveland (one of the Metropolitan stations); Joel Sebastian of KLIF Dallas (a McLendon station) and Chuck Blare, program vice president of Crowell-Collier's broadcast division and program director of KFWB Los Angeles, were among the management representatives at the Minneapolis meeting. Mr. Hawthorne reported. He paid special tribute to the efforts of Robert Purcell, head of Crowell-Collier's broadcast operations, for eliciting the support of station management for DJA. "Without Mr. Purcell, there wouldn't be an association today," Mr. Hawthorne said last week.

Support NAB Stand • In addition to drafting and adopting a code of ethics, the DJA membership authorized DJA's attorney, Ben Starr of New York, to draft a letter to the National Assn. of Broadcasters in support of NAB's stand on the current FCC interpretation of Section 317 of the Communications Act. The d.j.'s say an announcement that records were not purchased but supplied free works an unwarranted hardship on both the station and its audience.

Rep. Oren Harris (D-Ark.), chairman of the House Legislative Oversight Subcommittee which has spearheaded the government's payola investigation, was invited to attend the DJA meeting. Wiring his regrets, Rep. Harris said: "I applaud your efforts to crystallize your association into a strong cohesive force in the interests of the radio industry and formulation of a code of ethics for those of your industry."

KYW-TV pre-empt

'Today' for etv show

KYW-TV Cleveland pre-empts a half-hour of the Today show each Tuesday to present a program designed to keep area teachers abreast of modern educational developments. Titled Tomorrow's Learning—Today, it will be watched by 2,000 teachers in classrooms of 21 area schools from 8:30 a.m. for eight consecutive Tuesdays.

Dr. Bernard H. Gundlach, associate professor of mathematics at Bowling Green State U., is the instructor. The show will center around the making grade school arithmetic and algebra novel and exciting to the students.
Television is proving its potential again this season to viewers across the nation. Each week "The Play of the Week", a highly-acclaimed dramatic series, presents a theater classic with a cast of top Broadway talents. Integral to the show is "Scotch" Brand Video Tape, used by the show’s producers, National Telefilm Associates, Inc., to capture the "live" perfection of the original performance. Tapes are then used for rebroadcast by television stations from coast to coast. And so it goes throughout the television industry.

Memorable moments as well as "hard-sell" commercials are being captured on tape in increasing numbers. The wonder of tape pares production costs substantially, creates "fluff-free" performances, permits flexibility in rehearsals and shooting. Is it any wonder that tape has revolutionized the television industry? "Scotch" Brand Video Tape, like audible range and instrumentation tapes, was pioneered by 3M research—the kind of research that keeps 3M magnetic products first in proved quality for professional use.
FOREIGN SNAG IN TV FILM TALKS
Producers offer pension plan payments instead of residuals

Feeds for foreign broadcasts of U.S. produced tv film programs continue as the major hindrance to completion of a contract between the writers and producers of tv film programs. Negotiating committees of Writers Guild of America and the Alliance of Television Film Producers met last Tuesday and again on Wednesday (April 12-13). They adjourned without setting a date for the next meeting. Meanwhile, the guild committee will study a formula proposed by the producers for payments to a pension plan, offered in lieu of foreign residuals. The question unanswered last week was whether WGA will accept any substitute or hold out for foreign residuals.

Today (April 16), WGA negotiators are scheduled to meet with a similar group from the Assn. of Motion Picture Producers. This is the first time the writers and the major motion picture producers have met since 10 days before the WGA strike against AMPP began last Jan. 16. Both sides were cautious about predicting what may happen. But an optimism was reflected that the method of settlement of the conflict between AMPP and the Screen Actors Guild (AT DEADLINE, April 11) might be applicable here as well.

In both disputes, the paramount issue was the demand of the guilds for additional payment to their members when post-'48 theatrical motion pictures on which they were employed are sold to television. The new AMPP-SAG contract calls for such payment to actors for theatrical films produced after Jan. 31, 1960. But the actors did not win these fees for movies produced between Aug. 1, 1948, and Jan. 31, 1960. Instead, the producers agreed to contribute $375,000 toward establishing a health and welfare fund for actors and to make payments totaling $2.25 million to give actors a pension plan similar to that enjoyed by other motion picture unions.

Unlike the actors, the writers have been participating in the Motion Picture Industry Pension Fund, so that part of the formula used in settling the SAG-AMPP strike could not apply here. WGA does not have a health and welfare plan, however. The attitude of many writers is reported to be that their dispute with the producers is primarily a matter of money and that the method of payment does not matter very much, so long as the money is forthcoming.

Next item on the SAG agenda is to negotiate a new contract with the tv film producers. The former agreement was to have expired on March 31. But because SAG was then embroiled in its strike against the major movie makers, the tv contract was extended for an indeterminate period not to exceed 60 days. SAG has not yet drafted the demands it will present to the tv film producers, but expects to do so in time for negotiations to begin early next month.

An added starter in the list of those asking for a share in the proceeds from the sale of theatrical motion pictures to tv is the Composers and Lyricists Guild, which has NLRB certification as bargaining agent. Like the other guilds, CLG wants a share of the tv money and has called a membership meeting for Thursday (April 21) at the Beverly Hills Hotel, to ask for authorization to strike against the major film producers.

AMPP has had no formal demand for any request for negotiating meetings from the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employes, which earlier made known its position that it would expect double the amount given to all other guilds and unions for the rights to use the theatrical pictures on tv, to be allotted for the studio craftsmen and technical employees belonging to the more than 20 unions linked together as branches of IATSE. It is believed probable that IATSE will not approach the AMPP until the producers' association has reached agreements.

New news: In a time when newsmen are preoccupied with "news in depth," WNEW-TV New York has decided to add another dimension to its coverage, news for children. Children's news segments premiered this month on two shows, the weekday morning Sandy Becker Show, and the weekly Wonderama, three-hour Sunday morning program conducted by Sonny Fox. The programming grew out of station research confirming for WNEW-TV that there is a need of "news for the tremendous children's market."

Segments on the Sandy Becker Show use government sources and occupy the final five minutes of the daily 8:30-9:30 a.m. show time. News on the Sunday Wonderama takes the form of 15-minute in-depth discussions by children themselves. The first one was on presidential primaries April 3, presented with a mock primary and recorded messages from Sens. John Kennedy (D-Mass.) and Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.) asking for the young New Yorkers' "votes."

with the writers and directors and possibly other groups as it has with the actors on sharing TV receipts from the sale of theatrical movies.

The Directors Guild of America presented its demands to ATFP and AMPP Thursday (April 14) in a two hour session that adjourned without any date being set for resumption of negotiations. The current guild contract, which expires April 30, is a joint pact covering all film production, whether for theatrical or TV use, unlike the practice of WGA and SAG which have separate contracts with ATFP and AMPP.

Like the other guilds, DGA is asking for a share in proceeds from the TV use of theatrical films, extra payment for foreign use of TV films and increases in minimum wage scales (Broadcasting, April 11).

WGA, networks agree

The Writers Guild of America and NBC, ABC and CBS have reached agreement on a new contract covering radio-TV staff and freelance writers. A WGA spokesman said the proposed pact will be submitted to the membership for ratification in about 10 days. Neither the networks nor the union would discuss details of the agreement, though the union has sought a substantial increase in wages and freelance fees and a provision for payment for overseas sales of programs.

Only 33 can collect in BMI suit—Ryan

The judge in charge is on record as making clear that only the 33 plaintiffs in the so-called "song-writers' suit" against BMI and the broadcasting industry are eligible to collect damages in the suit.

The ruling by Judge Sylvester Ryan in U.S. Court for the Southern District of New York was expected to impede seriously the plaintiffs' practice of soliciting contributions from non-plaintiff songwriters to help pay for the prosecution of the suit. The plaintiffs have maintained that they were suing both for themselves and in behalf of some 3,000 other songwriters.

Judge Ryan also indicated, although he said this would not be binding on the trial judge, that the plaintiffs might not be permitted to present testimony by other songwriters in their effort to make their case.

The suit seeks $150 million damages, but earlier rulings denied the songwriters the right to recover for nondramatic performance rights, which defendants say account for practically all of the damages sought.

CALLS FOR MORE TV CULTURE
Weaver says quality can work for public

Leaders in visual communications last week heard a plea for a "cultural breakthrough" in television and a prediction that video tape will replace film entirely in television within three to five years.

These were the TV highlights of a two-day International Visual Communications Conference held in New York under the auspices of the Art Directors Club of New York. In a preconference session, the club presented its annual awards for artistic creations in 1959, including TV commercials (see, page 46).

The call for a cultural breakthrough came from Sylvester L. (Pat) Weaver Jr., former NBC chairman and now chairman of McCann-Erickson Corp. (International).

Mr. Weaver challenged those executives at TV's helm who feel cultural programming will not work and that TV must program "what the people want." To the contrary, he said, "quality" or cultural programming can work for the public and the public can want such shows if they are programmed and scheduled correctly and sold knowledgeably.

Wrong Time Slots. At one point, Mr. Weaver, who delivered the keynote address to the conference, said current failings in "non-fiction" programming can be laid to the shows appearing at the wrong times and to wrong exploitation. (He made an oblique reference to NBC-TV's slotting public service programming in prime time on Saturday night.)

The communications industry, said Mr. Weaver, must "fight always for quality while disseminating information about the 'new age' the world is entering. He noted, for example, that communications advances would mean that in time women freed by modern appliances from "drudgery of work... will not be either frustrated or trivialized in interests by mesmerizing entertainment, but rather will be shown what leisure can mean to the whole person."

What can TV leaders do: "Elevate standards and inspire the finer things... "Let it be known that management will reward the new and experimental."

Mr. Weaver: Those at the top in TV should be doing "more shows about the real world," and providing TV programs to "upgrade and uplift" the TV art. They have "no excuse" for not bringing the "glory and excitement of the real world" to the public, Mr. Weaver observed, adding that management in TV is in need of thinking that is not "ante-diluvian." He attacked what he called "slipshod reasons" of TV executives in perpetuating a notion that TV must program what the people want. His theme: As in the uphill fight to gain acceptance among advertisers for the spectacular, people couldn't determine whether or not they wanted them because "people didn't know what they were."

Comics and Sports. If the current "electronic attitude" were applied by newspapers in the same manner as in television, papers would run only "comic strips and sports pages," Mr. Weaver avered.

In another session, Charles Black, former NBC chairman and now president of Ampex Corp., predicted that "electronic video-tape processes" would replace "photo-chemical processes" in television production within three to five years, film photography having a "little or no application." Mr. Black hailed the Ampex-developed "intersync" which permits editing of tape with ease as a breakthrough permitting tape to be used in as many versatile ways as any other product including film.

Future advances — The tape technique, he commented, was not static; "It hasn't even got started." In video-tape other advancements were seen by Mr. Black: Highspeed duplication of tapes; better cameras (he noted the Marconi camera and the new RCA camera already introduced), electronic editing and splicing (as already shown at the NAB convention), electronic wave-length lighting, cartridge automatic programming, smaller, lighter and cheaper recorders and home TV recorders.

Ironically Mr. Black followed an Eastman Kodak speaker who appeared earlier that afternoon (Norman E. Salmons, manager, Eastman's Audio-visual service) on new audio-visual devices developed by that company which also is a leading supplier of motion picture film.

Five stations win SDX journalism award

Winners of Sigma Delta Chi's 28th annual Distinguished Journalism Service Awards are being announced today (April 18) by Victor E. Bluedorn, national awards director.

Among the recipients are WBZ-TV Boston (Westinghouse station), WGN-TV Chicago (owned by the Chicago Tribune), WIP Philadelphia (Metropolitan station), and newsman for KPFK-FM Los Angeles and KGVO Missoula, Mont.

Bronze medallions and plaques will be presented at the national professional journalistic fraternity's annual awards banquet at Washington's National Press Club May 18. They will be given to WBZ-TV for public service in TV journalism, WGN-TV for TV reporting, WIP for public service in radio journalism, KPFK-FM's program and public affairs director, Gene Marine, for radio newsmaking, and to KGVO's news director, Donald H. Weston, for radio reporting.

The presentations will be made by V.M. Newton Jr., managing editor of the Tampa (Fla.) Tribune and SDX national president.

The awards, made annually since 1932, cover 15 categories, including radio and TV.

The citations:
To WBZ-TV — For a "comprehensive and imaginative report" (Sick Transit), for focusing attention on a metropolitan problem and skillfully dramatizing solutions.
To WGN-TV — For coverage of a Chicago Midway Airport crash, despite pre-dawn obstacles; getting the story
In its day, the stage coach was tops. With the freight wagon, it served communities with no other suitable transport. When the railroads reached enough of the old stage towns, the coach and freight wagon faded into dusty frontier history.

Not only because the railroad could better handle the existing business the stage coaches had, but more importantly because the enormous new business created by superior service was traffic which could never have been handled by muscle power.

In transportation, as in other fields, business tends to go to those best qualified to handle it . . . to those able to provide, overall, the best service. And new forms of transportation in turn create new business the older forms never had.

Not all the freight handled by motor truck has been taken from railroads, to cite an example, nor is all air freight business diverted from either railroads or trucks. Availability of truck service has created vast new markets for industry and agriculture — many of them beyond the physical service facilities of other forms of transportation.

Trucks are fast, flexible—able to pick up, deliver or line haul any time of the day or night wherever there are roadways. That is why trucks today haul more tons of freight, within and between communities, than all other forms of transport combined.
“accurately, completely, effectively and uniquely.” A vivid, direct assessment of loss of life, injuries and property damage, eye-witness account and follow-up interview.

To WIP—For its series, World in Perspective, thoughtfully conceived and effectively produced, bringing obviously strong audience impact. Other virtues: international scope, coverage of a wide range of subjects and directness of approach.

To Mr. Marine of KPFK-FM—For depth storytelling of the celebrated Caryl Chessman case. Though the latter's drawn-out legal fight to escape the gas chamber was headline news, Mr. Marine reported in depth—a document spanning 11 years.

To Mr. Weston of KGVO—For radio reporting in direct broadcasts from the scene of the Madison Canyon-Yellowstone Park earthquake and in taped recorded interviews with survivors and rescue workers—under extremely difficult working conditions.

Broadcast members in AP increase

Radio-tv membership in the Associated Press rose from 1,878 in 1958 to 2,042 in 1959. Frank J. Starzel, AP general manager, reported to members.

The general manager's Annual Report, mailed to members in advance of the annual meeting in New York on April 25, shows that publication membership rose slightly from 1,763 to 1,778 in 1959; 537 members were served directly on the Wirephoto network and 91 others subscribed to other types of wirephoto service.

The number of countries served abroad, Mr. Starzel said, reached 75, with the addition of service to Bulgaria and Honduras.

Mr. Starzel noted that the year brought expansion of activity in the AP news report in response to the "ever-growing demands by newspapers and broadcasters for more reporting-in-depth, more analysis of significance in events and trends and wider portrayal in human interest or 'people-to-people'-terms."

'Herridge' sales rise everyplace but U.S.

CBS films has been bunching sales abroad for its taped Robert Herridge Theatre but the going is sticky in the U.S., though Polaroid reportedly has shown interest. There are 26 shows in the anthology, an experimental concept that budgeted each show at an estimated production cost under $15,-000 (BROADCASTING, May 18, 1959).

The boxscore stood two weeks ago: entire series sold to Australian Broadcasting Commission to be telecast on six stations about July 1; similarly to the Canadian Broadcasting Corp. for broadcasts to begin July 5 on CBC's 35-station English speaking network 10:30-11 p.m., and individual programs in the series to stations in Sweden, Denmark, Germany, and Finland. Should CBS Films fail to find a network slot for the series—even as a summer replacement—it will place the programs in syndication in anticipation a profit could be returned if the series is sold to six stations in major markets at the market price.

Capitol Records offers stations three plans

In the first official action by a record company since the FCC's March 16 notice on sponsor identification, Capitol Records Distributing Corp. has announced that it is offering radio stations three plans for obtaining Capitol and Angel recordings.

M.D. Schuster, Capitol vice president for distribution, outlined the plans in a letter to program directors. He said that stations (1) now receiving free records could continue to do so in the future; (2) may subscribe to Capitol and Angel programming services, and (3) may purchase recordings at the distributor's price (46 cents for monophonic singles).

Capitol said that it was the first company to give free records to radio stations—beginning in 1943. In a related development, Capitol Records Inc. President Glenn Wallichs joined the list of those asking the FCC to reorder its order that all free records must be identified as such when broadcast by stations. In a wire to the commission, Mr. Wallichs said that the present literal interpretation creates a "situation in which it is all but impossible for new, young talent to be heard via records."

News Assoc. plans convention coverage

News Associates Inc., Washington audio news service, has made extensive plans for coverage of the political conventions of the two major parties. It plans to set up a special leased line to feed convention activities live to subscribing stations, in addition to taped excerpts, interviews and a wrap-up program on election eve and election night.

President Herbert Gordon reports that five stations have signed up for the convention service so far: WGN Chicago; WHAM Rochester; WHAS Louisville; WJR Detroit and WTAG Worcester, Mass. Convention activities will be covered by an NAI staff of political reporters and editors from the Washington bureau, including Donald Bowers, executive news editor and a team of station editors. Among these are William Small, news director of WHAS and president of the Radio Television News Directors Assn., and William Sheehan, news director of WJR.

Program shorts

Adult cartoons = Bob Elliott and Ray Goulding, stars of CBS Radio's Bob and Ray Show, will poke fun at time-honored motion picture plots in a new tv series, Bob and Ray's Hollywood Classics, aimed at adult viewers. Production is reported to have started on the first of 39 half-hours, all of which will be produced entirely by Messrs. Elliott and Goulding at their own animation studios. The cartoons will be packaged through Kennedy Films Inc.

Backlog sale booms MGM net

One of the advantages of having film backlogs to sell to television is pointed up in the second quarter report of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Whereas gross revenues from television activities amounted to only $7,982,000 of the company's $65,147,000 gross in that period (28 weeks ending March 17), they amounted to $5,402,000 of the company's $8,957,000 net.

The obvious reason: TV film rights, having been amortized years back, don't shrink much going from gross to net. By comparison, the $49,181,000 gross from film production-distribution and foreign theatres shrank to $1,393,000 in net, and the $7,291,000 gross from records and music shrunk to $1,469,000 in net.

M-G-M's after-taxes-and-interest net profit was $3,759,000 for its second quarter 1960. This compared to $3,798,000 for the same period a year earlier. The respective dividends were $1.47 in 1960 and $1.80 in 1959.

M-G-M noted that $6,434,000 of its tv gross was for licensing of pre-1949 features and shorts to tv, while $1,548,000 was grossed on film series and commercials produced for tv. The company said that existing contracts for pre-1949 product will bring in another $25,863,000 before they run out.
For high-fidelity transmission of both Closed Circuit and Broadcast signals... at minimum cost

Philco microwave systems are "made-to-order" for you... designed, engineered and installed to meet your specific requirements. Stable, broad band transmission makes Philco microwave equally applicable to closed circuit TV for educational and industrial use; for community TV and for S-T-L relay.

Philco TLR-6 microwave provides economical transmission of NTSC compatible color or monochrome TV signals, plus full audio channel. It also provides the highest power in the industry—1 full watt output, to assure outstanding operational reliability for continuous, unattended service.

Philco engineers will be happy to help you with your special microwave requirements. Write today for additional information. Inquire, too about Philco's highly efficient TURNKEY SERVICES which include... Site Survey • System Planning • Installation • Field Service.

Channel image • Modern Broadcasting Inc., New York, is offering tv stations a Channel Image Identification Plan, which consists of 20 fully animated segments in either color or black and white. The company assures exclusivity in a market and delivery in 30 days of eight 2-second, nine 10-second, and three 20-second customized segments. The production team includes Larry Eigart for music, Abe Ajay for creative art and Elektra for animation. MBF's new location: 545 Fifth Ave., zone 17.

60-year coverage • Milestones of the Century, consisting of 260 three and one-half minute films of news stories going back to 1900, is now offered by Cinema-Vue Corp., New York. The series is produced by Pathe News Inc., New York. Ed Herlihy, tv announcer, narrates the program which is designed for five times weekly telecast.

Old sailors never die • Screen Gems Inc., N.Y., has completed a co-production agreement with Charles Schneer Productions, which made "The Seventh Voyage of Sinbad" for release by Columbia Pictures two years ago, for a new tv series titled Sinbad the Sailor. The half-hour episodes, which may be filmed in color, will be shot on location in Spain and England. It's reported that two networks have put in bids to obtain the series in advance of pilot production. Producer is Sidney Cole, who produced the Adventures of Robin Hood tv series.

Night and day • NBC-TV's daytime quiz show, Play Your Hunch (Mon.-Fri. 10:30-11 a.m. EST), added a weekly nighttime version starting April 15 (Fri. 7:30-8 p.m.). The program, which stars Merv Griffin as m.c., will have the same format as the continuing daytime series, which was launched Dec. 7, 1959. One nighttime extra: cash prizes are doubled. People Are Funny, currently in the Friday night slot, moved April 13 to Wednesday (10:30-11 p.m.) as replacement for the departing Wichita Town.

Outdoor type • CBS Films, New York, signed Matt Wayne, star of The Californian, to play leading role in a new western series entitled The Hawk. The series is set for filming on location in Utah as well as in Hollywood, and will be produced for CBS Films by Audrey Schenck and Howard Koch.

For the kiddies • California National Productions (NBC film subsidiary) and Fremantle Inc. to co-finance Henry and His Claymates children's tv series being filmed in stop-motion technique.

Determined to see that there are no dull spots in the proceedings of the Democratic National Convention the party's Committee of the Arts has set up a four-point program designed to keep the tv audience tuned in for the full five-day meeting at Los Angeles' new Sports Arena from the opening prayer on Monday, July 11, to the final huzzah for the party's candidate on Friday, July 15.

As outlined by Alan Rifkin, national director of DNC's arts committee, the entertainment program comprises:

1. A 26½-minute film which will be used during an appropriate part of convention proceedings, but not as a replacement for the keynote speech as was done in 1956, when "Pursuit of Happiness," a filmed review of party history, was the major item on the opening day's program. CBS-TV dropped its coverage of the film after a few minutes, leading to a vehement exchange between DNC and the network. CBS hotly rejected charges of sabotage and demands that it do a make-good broadcast of the film at a later date (Broadcasting, Aug. 20, 1956).

2. Live entertainment during the five-day convention.

3. About a dozen vignettes to be taped in advance for use during any dull spots that may occur in proceedings. These will be available to the tv networks if they want to use them.

4. A two-hour spectacular to precede the appearance of the candidate in the coliseum on Friday evening.

George Seaton, well known screen writer, is national chairman of the arts group, Mr. Rifkin said. Mr. Rifkin, himself, is a prominent producer-writer of television and motion pictures.

David Susskind, founding partner in Talent Associates and an ardent advocate of "live" programming, is chairman of live tv for the committee. Harry Ackerman, vice president and executive producer of Screen Gems, is chairman of filmed television. Serving with Mr. Ackerman, among others, will be Martin Manulis, head of Martin Manulis Productions and former executive producer for 20th Century-Fox Television; Hubbell Robinson, president of his own production company, and Rod Serling, award winning tv writer-producer. Johnny Green has been named musical director.

CNP will distribute in this country, Fremantle abroad. Output planned is 104 five-minute tv minute stories in full color, created by Art Clokey Films, Hollywood, and designed for integration in stations' children's programming.

Tv tapery • NTA Telestudios, N.Y., is making available a 35-page fact book, Questions and Answers About Video Tape Commercials. Heavily expanded use of tape in the past year prompted NTA Telestudios to publish the booklet for newcomers among producers, copywriters and directors. President George Gould of the tape production firm said 163 stations are equipped with Ampex recorders, covering 82 markets and 95.5% of the viewing audience.

Polito series • A group of 44 educational tv stations throughout the country last week began telecasting a series of seven half-hour programs dealing with the presidential conventions, titled Hats in the Ring. Consisting of film and tape, the programs were produced for the National Educational Television and Radio Center, New York, by Elliot, Unger & Elliot, New York, with Donald Hillman of the Center staff as executive producer. The programs will be made available to commercial tv stations by the Center, which is located at 10 Columbus Circle, New York 19, N.Y.

'Gang' growth • National Telepix Inc., N.Y., reports a total of 15 "Our Gang" comedies have been scored and prepared for syndication, with a balance of 63 to be completed over the next 10 weeks. The package is "up-dated and streamlined" by adding original music scored by Jack Saunders and new sound effects. Each of the 78 units runs approximately 13½ minutes, according to David Dietz, president of National Telepix.

Hour for Noah • CBS-TV last week commissioned composer Igor Stravinsky and choreographer George Balanchine to create a contemporary music and dance work based on the biblical story of Noah. The Stravinsky-Balanchine creation, which was commissioned through Sextant Inc., N.Y., a newly-formed tv and motion picture production company, will be seen on CBS-TV as an hour-long special at an undetermined date. Following its tv premiere, the new work will enter the repertory of the New York City Ballet.

Opens film company • Carl A. Carbone, formerly sales and production executive with National Screen Service, has formed his own film company, Spicing up the show.

BROADCASTING, April 18, 1960
Carla Productions Inc. at 245 W. 55th St., N.Y. Mr. Carbone will specialize in commercial and promotional films but plans also to enter the TV program and motion picture fields.

First shooting Filming started last week in New York on the new CBS Films' series, 36 Maiden Lane, starring Scott McKay, Diana Van Der Vlis and Chance Nesbitt. The series, which concerns a free-lance special claims investigator, was created by Art Wallace and is being produced by George Justin and directed by Gerald Mayer.

Best safety films UPA Pictures and the American Automobile Assn. have received award of merit certificates from the National Committee on Films for Safety for the best spots and shorts in the television category during 1959.

'Beat the drums' Illinois' primary election system was examined by WBBM-TV Chicago April 8 in the first of a series of four 60-minute documentaries by its news and public affairs department. The CBS outlet spent three months with its crews touring the state and capturing political figures in action. Purpose of the program aired in prime time (8 p.m.), was to evaluate the primary election system compared with the old state convention procedure of 50 years ago.

Emmy producers National Academy of Television Arts & Sciences has appointed TV producers Desi Arnaz and David Susskind as academy producers in Hollywood and New York respectively of the 12th annual Emmy awards telecast, which will be seen June 20 on NBC-TV (Mon. 10:11:30 p.m. EDT). The program will be sponsored by Procter & Gamble for Lilt and the Greyhound Corp.

Page from life Gore Vidal is seeking the Democratic nomination for representative of New York's 29th Congressional District. The candidate, grandson of the late Sen. Thomas P. Gore of Oklahoma, wrote and appeared in "The Indestructible Mr. Gore," on the NBC-TV Sundance Showcase Dec. 13, 1959 (8-9 p.m.). The author's "Visit To A Small Planet" went from the old NBC-TV Philco Playhouse to Broadway, where he currently has a play, The Best Man, about a national presidential campaign. Republican Rep. J. Ernest Wharton holds the office sought by the writer, a resident of Dutchess County, N.Y.

Argonne series ABC's WBKB (TV) Chicago has joined hands with Argonne National Labs to produce a special two-hour documentary exploring the peacetime uses of atomic energy. There will be two telecasts, the first as part of a discussion program moderated by Norman Ross on May 6 and the second as a video taped presentation (Inside Argonne) on May 7. Documentary was produced by WBKB at Argonne Labs near Lemont, Ill., and will be passed along to the Ford Foundation for use on educational TV networks.

On the death sentence On April 8 from 9:05 to 10 p.m., WBZ Boston presented a documentary dealing with the moral, social and legal aspects of capital punishment. Called An Eye for an Eye, the program featured exclusive interviews with political figures, wardens, convicted murderers, prison chaplains and life term inmates among others. The station announced that Vice President Nixon spoke in favor of capital punishment; Ohio's Gov. Michael Di Salle spoke against it. Dr. Karl Menninger, leading psychiatrist, also was heard.

Tv squirls Flamingo Films Inc., New York, has completed distribution arrangements for a new, animated cartoon series, The Nutty Squirls, produced by Transfilm-Wylde Animation. The cartoons, each about six minutes long are part of a library of 150 color cartoons originally produced for theatrical distribution. The squirrel characters, created by Don Elliott and Sasha Bur, also are featured in novelty song recordings.

Interfaith newscast Church World News, quarter-hour weekly program produced and distributed since 1951 by the United Lutheran Church in America, has become a part of the broadcast ministry of the National Council of Churches of Christ in the U.S.A. Some 100 radio stations currently carry the program. Distribution is by Council's Broadcasting & Film Commission; production by UCLA.

MORE MADE AND MORE SOLD

Radio-tv production and sales show climb

Radio manufacturers produced 500,000 more radio sets in January-February than during same period in 1959. Electronic Industries Assn. reported last week.

In same two-month period, tv manufacturers made 100,000 more video receivers than for same 1959 period.

Sales in both tv and radio were also up for the two months of 1960 compared with the same period in 1959.

EIA reported also that for the first time stereo phonograph retail sales led monaural sales. For the first two months of 1960, 716,824 stereo phonographs were sold compared to 250,859 monaural. The number of stereo sales is more than double that sold last year in the same period, while monaural phonograph sales dropped over 60%.

Production and sales figures for tv and radio are given below:

Ten firms to join U.S. space tests

Nine American and one foreign communications firms have notified the National Aeronautics & Space Administration that they will participate in the communications experiments using a passive satellite balloon in orbit 1,000 miles above the earth. The project, called "Echo" by NASA scientists, is scheduled for sometime near the end of April. The plan calls for an orbiting 100-ft. diameter balloon to bounce radio signals across oceans and continents.

Also participating will be Jodrell Banks, Manchester, England.

Under contract with NASA is the Bell Telephone Labs., Holmdel, N.J.

Actually the soaring balloon will be available to anyone who wants to beam a signal to its aluminumed surface and arrange to receive the reflected signal.

The first shot will be used to test out the sky jump for continuous wave and narrow band communications operations, it was understood. A second shot to be undertaken later will probably go a step further, using teletype signals and perhaps, voice. At a more distant date, it was speculated, a TV signal might be used.

Money Sought • Space agency is asking $5.6 million for communications satellite experiments in the new fiscal year. This was disclosed in testimony by NASA executives before the House Appropriations Subcommittee last month, released last week.

The $5.6 million compares with $3.1 million in fiscal 1960.

The testimony also revealed that NASA was planning a multiphase payload for launch by a single vehicle. One of these will be launched in 1962. Also to be studied in fiscal 1961 are data transmission requirements, with emphasis on such use in meteorological satellites. Also under research are prototype models of high-gain antennas and mount, and the initiation of suitable modulations systems.

Amplex 'idea' winner

Winners of the Ampex "Videotape idea station of the year" contest at the NAB convention were Larry Carino, general manager, WWL-TV New Orleans, who received a $2,000 Ampex home stereo system; J.W. Wright, manager, KSL-AM Salt Lake City, who won an Ampex 601 tape recorder, and Roger Pratt, chief engineer, WHO-TV Des Moines, who won 50 four-track stereo tapes from the United Stereo Tape Library.

Technical topics

Long-neck mikes • Electro-Voice Inc., Buchanan, Mich., has introduced two models of long-neck microphones, which it describes as thin, trim and inconspicuous. The models E-V652 and 652A allow the user and audience an unobstructed view; they can be tilted through a 120-degree arc with respect to the stand coupler. Complete specifications can be had from Electro-Voice.

Versatile lens • The new Traid Twenty Eight lens for 16mm cameras with a range of focal lengths from 28mm to 80mm provides the versatility of telephoto, wide angle or normal shots. It has a control lever for zooming focusing scale with settings from 48 inches to infinity and will fit any 16mm camera with "C" mount.

Voltage regulator • Tel-Instrument Electronics Corp., Carlstadt, N.J., is offering an automatic voltage regulator which may also be used to obtain a continuously variable voltage up to 130 volts AC. The company claims an extremely high degree of reliability from the instrument over the frequency range of 50 to 70 cps.

New for RCA • RCA last week announced the formation of a department for the production of magnetic tape recording devices needed in telecasting, business data processing, remote control telemetering and the U.S. space program. Called the RCA Electronic Recording Products Dept., it will be headed by M.A. Trainer, who has been serving as manager, market development for RCA broadcast and television equipment division. Other executives in the new unit include: Jerome L. Grever, marketing manager; Henry H. Klerx, merchandising manager; G.F. Rester, sales manager, and A.H. Lind, head of the department's engineering activity.
Broadcast advertising

Bernard J. Kramer, co-founder and partner of Gresh & Kramer, Philadelphia advertising agency, elected president of newly incorporated company. He continues as creative director of advertising, merchandising and pr services. Jack J. Dush, founder and formerly president of WBCB Levittown, Pa., joins agency as vp and executive director of client services.

Dr. Virginia Miles and Stephen Richards named vps of McCann-Marschalk Co., N.Y. Dr. Miles is director of research and Mr. Richards, director of pr.

James P. Felton, director of advertising on Sunkist products and Forest Fire Prevention at Foote, Cone & Belding’s Los Angeles office, promoted to vp. He joined agency in 1949.

Donald W. Walton, vp and formerly director of merchandising, named copy chief on Oldsmobile Div. account at D.P. Brother Co., Detroit. Other promotions: Jack R. Hendrickson, assistant account executive on Oldsmobile, to director of merchandising; Harold P. Richardson, member of agency since 1955, advanced to assistant account executive on Oldsmobile; Thomas W. Jipson, account executive on Rochester Products Div. account, receives additional account responsibilities for Guide Lamp and Brown-Lipe-Chapin Div. accounts; Thomas H. Reid, with agency since 1956, and previously copywriter on New Departure, named New Departure account executive; Thomas R. Boyd, member of creative staff since 1954, to assistant account executive on General Motors Guardian Maintenance; Edmund F. Rushton, copywriter on Accessory Group accounts, named Accessory Group copy chief, and William M. Adams named director of pr. Further additions to Brother’s creative staff are: Frank A. Picard II, radio-television department; Charles H. Ohlson, AC Spark Plug Div. account; William C. Richardson and William R. Easton, both on Oldsmobile account; David M. Hadley, art department, and Patrick R. Martin, marketing and research staff.

Mrs. Carolyn Churchman appointed vp in charge of pr for Ruben Adv., Indianapolis. She will also serve as agency consultant. Mrs. Churchman previously was air personality for WTTV (TV), that city.

SOUTHWEST FULLTIMER

Large market in Southwest. Popular station—gross potential $200,000.00—doing 5/8 of potential now. Price $450,000.00 with 25% down and five (5) years for pay out. An excellent buy.

SOUTHERN MICHIGAN AREA

Daytimer—with good dial position. Can be bought for $52,000.00. Possibly could arrange for stock and physical assets for $28,000.00. Negotiate balance. Station and market capable of grossing $70,000.00.

TV AND AM STATION

Southwest—Radio fulltime and a money maker. TV station could do better with owner on scene. Presently absentee ownership. Fair amount of excellent real estate involved. Price for both around $200,000.00—$60,000.00 down and liberal terms on balance.

TEXAS DAYTIMER

Needs capable owner. Station suffered from bad management. $65,000.00 with $16,500.00 down and liberal payout. Fine potential.

NORTHERN MICHIGAN

Fulltime No. 1 station in market. $350,000.00 with 29% down, eight years on balance. Station in excellent condition. Absentee ownership presently—active owner and operator could do greater volume.

INTERNATIONAL

Third service, on uhf, urged for Britain

A third television service for Britain's viewers on the uhf band has been urged by Gerald Beadle, tv director of BBC.

Mr. Beadle, addressing the Incorporated Advertising Managers' Assn., said that a third tv channel is needed "to give a perfect service both for BBC and ITA [Independent Television Authority] to England and Northern Ire- land."

The channels allocated to Great Britain, Mr. Beadle emphasized, are under international agreement and are for two services.

BBC's television service covers 98.5% of the population, Mr. Beadle said. ITA's covers 92%.

Nielsen in Canada

The Canadian branch of the A.C. Nielsen Co. has started putting together a Nielsen Broadcast Index in 15 major markets there.

George W. Ralph, vice president and broadcast division manager of Nielsen Canada, said the initial 15-market rating coverage, an extension of the Nielsen Service Index in this country, would ac- count for 80% of Canada's tv homes. The service eventually will be expanded to the whole country.

The markets: Calgary, Edmonton, Hamilton, Halifax, Kingston, London, Montreal, Ottawa, Quebec City, Regina, Sherbrook, Toronto, Vancouver, Windsor and Winnipeg. Reports on four of the markets—Montreal, Toronto, Van- couver and Winnipeg—will begin this summer. The others will start in the fall.

Overseas station rep makes staff changes

Intercontinental Services Ltd., New York, overseas radio-tv station rep firm, has realigned its executive staff. Also announced was the establishment of an associate company, International Services Ltd., with offices in Beirut, Bang- kok, Hong Kong, Manila, Tokyo and Mexico City. ISL also recently opened new headquarters offices at 20 E. 46th St., New York.

In executive changes Harry M. Eng- gel Jr. moves up to president and general manager of ISL succeeding Stephen A. Mann, who resigned to become sales manager of ABC International, a newly-formed division of the American Broadcasting Co. Other ISL of- ficers are Walter Staskow, executive electronics at Zenith Radio Corp., Chicago.

The new associate company's activities, Mr. Engel said, include "consulting in the management, program, sales, and technical facets of the radio-tv business." International Services, he stated, is negotiating for station licenses, "generally with local participation," in various markets. (Uganda, Egypt, Malaya, and others). The company is also prepared to assemble and distribute low-cost tv receivers.

Canadian radio-tv get 25% of ad revenue

Canadian radio stations last year took in $26.9 million in national advertising, a gain of 29% in five years, according to a report made for the Canadian Assn. of Broadcasters by the Toronto management consultant firm of Wood, Gordon & Co. The report was presented at the CAB annual meeting in March. Radio accounted for 11.4% of the total advertising in Canada last year, 10.5% of the national advertising.

Television accounted for about $32 million or 13.6% of all Canadian advertising last year, up from 1.7% in 1953, while national advertising on tv increased from 3.5% in 1953 to 20.8% last year.

The report pointed out that 75% of all national radio advertising went to 41 stations, 23% of the total. More than 75% of all national television advertising went to 14 stations, 35% of the total in operation.

Israeli commercial tv

The Israeli government radio has inaugurated spot advertising. With Israeli Cabinet approval, the spot announcements will be given a six months' trial run. The present system calls for 40 spot commercials a day of 15-second duration. More than half of the advertising time for the next six months is already sold.

Station promotion study released

The average tv station allocates about 3.6% of its annual gross revenues to general promotion, exclusive of salaries. And audience promotion is by far the greatest activity at stations, averaging 22.2% of gross revenues.

These are some of the findings which emerge from a tv promotion-publicity-merchandising survey released by Broadcasters' Promotion Assn. It's part of an overall radio-tv promotion study conducted by its special projects committee under John Hurlbut, WFBM-AM-TV-FM Indianapolis. The results were announced by BPA President Gene Godt. KYW-TV Cleveland. The study covered last October-November.

Approximately 92% of all tv stations have fulltime promotion departments, while 72% of all outlets maintain fulltime departments. Newspapers get about 38.5% and trade books 25.3% of promotion budgets in tv, while the figures run 23.8% and 19.4%, respectively, in radio promotion.

The study also breaks down stations by area set count groups, am affiliations, departmental setups, number of personnel and other factors, including station budgeting practices.

May is 'Radio Month'

Promotion material for use by radio stations in celebrating National Radio Month in May has been distributed by NAB. The observance is centered around the theme, "Radio, the Heart Beat of Main Street."

New jingles created by Faillace Productions, New York, have been recorded by 19 top singers and musicians. They were pressed by Gotham Recording Corp., New York, on 33rds 12-inch discs. These discs include 30-second and 10-second vocal-instrumental versions of jingles plus a 60-second all-instrumental cut for use by representation firm. Theme of the display is "America's most popular news programs and newscasters are local."

A silhouetted map of the U. S. shows PGW-represented radio and tv stations against a background photomural of typical local news events. A 17-inch screen in the center of the map has a rear projection unit that shows slides of the station's call letters, their top newscasters and news stories currently being covered. The slides change automatically every six seconds, creating in five minutes a national cross section of important news stories in the local markets.

Each station is cooperating in the promotion furnishing newfilm shot each day. Some 60 stations (radio and tv) are represented. The display is in movement 8 a.m.-7 p.m. each day. After a short stay in New York, the display will be "bicycled" for showings in all nine cities where PGW has offices.

Eye Catcher A window display on New York's Park Ave. just north of Grand Central, is designed to catch the commuting advertising executive. The animated, 12-foot display at 250 Park Ave. (branch of the Marine Midland Trust Co.) was set up by Peters, Griffin, Woodward, station Listening for grandsons - Folks around in 1994 will get a radio-eye view of Ft. Wayne, Ind., by simply digging up a sealed time capsule. Buried by WOWO, that city, the capsule contains a transistor radio, phonograph records, tape recordings of prominent radio voices, color slides of Ft. Wayne churches, a weathercast tape, and over 200 other items which should be of interest to Hoosier heirs.

The permanently-sealed, stainless steel "bomb" was buried March 31 on the grounds of the Ft. Wayne historical museum. A plaque will be hung in the museum to remind future radio fans that it is to be opened Oct. 22, 1994—the 200th anniversary of the city.

stations under their own promotional announcements or mixed with other program material.

The NAB promotional kit includes fact sheets about radio, sample news releases, newspaper mat, speech text for local use by broadcasters; proclamation to be signed by mayors or city managers; tips for local promotions and programs, and order forms for a promotional film and additional speech texts.

Oscar's record

The $700,000 that the motion picture business put out for the tv-radio Oscar show may have ruined the national box office for a night, but already compensating millions are flowing in. Movie men estimate they more than doubled their investment in hoopla surrounding the two-nation simulcast, with television and radio carrying a fair share of the publicity here and in Canada.

The audience, acting on the movies' own advice, stayed away in droves from theatres April 4 and gave the show a historic rating. Arbitron's seven-city service recorded a thumping 51 average for the nearly 2 1/2 hours (including the preceding 10-10:30 p.m. Oscar interview show sponsored by Procter & Gamble). The Arbitron all-time high compares with last year's seven-city Oscar rating of 47.3, which was the old Arbitron record. (Weekly Arbitron highs average in the twenties and low thirties.) Trendex' 30-city service recorded an 85.6 average minute audience tuned for the first half hour of the award show and 71 for the 10-11 hour. (Trendex telephoners don't take ratings after 11 p.m. in the various time zones.)

Box office lines were forming the day after the NBC radio-tv show. Metropolitan-Mayer was talking about a possible unprecedented gross of $100 million internationally for "Ben Hur," which took 11 Oscars. The British entry, "Room At The Top," may make another half million in this country after leading lady Simone Signoret's Oscar and its best-picture nomination. The exposure probably will increase the fortunes of "Black Orpheus" by 50% in bookings after its "best foreign language film" designation.

The Motion Picture Assn. of America says the promotion got twice the play of last year's. Exhibitors, who chipped in on the bill, did yeoman work to keep their customers at home. NBC also is credited by the association with a "magnificent job" of promotion. The association is satisfied that the success in the Hollywood mammoth tradition grew out of a unified effort, conducted "as if all nine major studios got together on one picture."

Committees and subcommittees of MPAA and exhibitor organizations saw that Oscar got maximum exploitation in every conceivable medium from telephone and mail meter to outdoor, car card and halls of Congress. Among television and radio stations, non-partisan cooperation was obtained from network affiliates and independents alike. Stations programmed announcements and shows. Record companies joined in to promote old award songs as well as this year's nominees. The MPAA disc-jockey kit containing discs of nominated songs went to 1,000 d.j.'s this year, more than triple last year's list. NBC got special recognition from the sponsor for a record number of plants in all media. One windfall was especially noted by MPAA. WCBS-TV programmed films starring old Oscar winners the week leading up to the NBC-TV show this year.

In the 30-second mid-show break (185 stations lined up by Donahue & Coe at a cost of $36,000) Olivia De Havilland chided viewers, "Why aren't you at the movies?" The immediate answer is obvious but bullish movie men are confident viewers have taken the suggestion for theatre-going days to come.

'Color Day' success

A complete telecast day given over to color on April 10 by KMTV (TV) Omaha (Broadcasting, April 11) was hailed by RCA distributors as "a perfect promotion."

KMTV (TV) programmed all day in color, carrying 10 hours of local and seven hours of network shows without a break. Joining in the extensive promotion was an RCA distributor, Sidles Co.; 50 dealers in Iowa and Nebraska and Omaha's four leading realty firms. KMTV General Manager Owen Sad-dier received a message of congratulations from Robert W. Sarnoff, NBC board chairman, John L. Burns, RCA president and other industry leaders. The station reported that from 250 to 600 people visited the distributors’ stores during the promotion.

Media men to see game

WRC-AM-FM-TV Washington will host a group of New York radio-television media executives at the opening game of the Washington Senators today (April 18.) The game will highlight the day’s program for the media buyers of New York’s leading agencies and members of NBC’s Spot Sales organization who are scheduled to fly in this morning for a conference with department heads and inspection of station facilities of WRC.

After the morning business meeting a luncheon buffet will precede the season opener. Tom Parro, WRC-TV sales director, Joseph Goodfellow, manager of WRC-AM-FM, and Richard H. Close, vice-president of NBC National Spot Sales, will host.

WPIX puts it in a book

WPIX (TV) New York has produced a handsomely-printed book presenting the theme “WPIX is the independent station with network programming, audiences and advertising.” The book is attractively packaged in a box, has color photographs as well as black-and-white and is 11 inches high by 14 inches long.

Scenes from WPIX-produced public service programs and educational TV are also reproduced. The second section reports on a Neeilsen survey giving the profile of the average family that watches the station (age, income bracket, occupation, etc.). The book ends with a list of WPIX’s national advertisers.

Many illustrations in color are included in addition to the photographs.

Drumbeats

Premium plaque • The Texas Co. (Texaco), N.Y., and its agency, Cunningham & Walsh, same city, have received a bronze plaque from the Premium Industry Club in the consumer and retailer traffic building premium category for the best such promotion of 1959. The citation was presented at the National Premium Buyers Exposition in Chicago for Texaco’s toy tank truck promotion (for auto check up in the fall season Texaco offered at $3.50 a Buddy “L” truck that retails at $7.95). The promotion appeared on commercials in Texaco’s Huntley-Brinkley news shows (NBC-TV) and in spot TV in 85 markets as well as in dealer radio sponsorships. In addition, promotion appeared in other media.

Trim’ format • WAUX Waukesha, Wis., sent 340 Milwaukee area barbers letters suggesting that the station’s relaxed musical programming would help hold customers still. The promotion was part of the station’s “Music for People” program.

Asks rulemaking

WHP-TV Harrisburg, Pa., has requested rulemaking proceedings to reconsider the New York City TV-44 assignment. The ch. 55 facility was assigned the FCC to assign ch. 21 to Harrisburg. WHP-TV said that its local competitor, WTPA (TV) operates on ch. 27 and the commission has consistently recognized the technological difference between the upper and lower uhf channels, which affect the attitude of the television broadcasting industry.

final decision on its application and that of WATP-TV in the area.

HOW TO GET THE SHOW ON THE ROAD
A leading TV film producer uses Greyhound Package Express to circulate a weekly TV film to local stations. Making enough prints to go around would be too costly. Greyhound "gets the show on the road" right on schedule and at the least cost!

IT'S THERE IN HOURS
When getting it there in a hurry means business, you can count on Greyhound Package Express! Your packages go anywhere Greyhound goes, by dependable Greyhound buses on their regular runs. That means you get service seven days a week...24 hours a day...weekends and holidays! And you can send C.O.D., Collect, Prepaid—or open a charge account. For information, call any Greyhound bus station, or write Dept. 8D, 140 South Dearborn St., Chicago 3, Ill.
OUR RESPECTS TO...

Norman Collins

Ever since the Magna Carta, Britons have been keen on civil liberties. And so when Norman Collins stumped the country campaigning for free television, he eventually won the day.

Ironically, for a man who has spent his working life in modern communications, Mr. Collins had to fall back on word of mouth when he decided to challenge the government broadcasting monopoly. At the outset, only one newspaper reported the issue, so it was up and down the isles for him "like Elmer Gantry," preaching the gospel wherever he could gather a congregation. It took four years and the mission culminated in one of the most protracted parliamentary debates in recent times, drawing the crustiest peers out of backwood retreats. The Television Act got royal assent in June 1954 and Mr. Collins came by his unofficial designation, father of commercial television in England.

This was a milestone in one of several careers Norman Collins has pursued the past 30-some years (he is 52 now). He works at the career of novelist simultaneously with whatever else he is doing. His television job the past 4½ years, deputy chairmanship of Associated TeleVision Ltd., takes him often around the world, but the manuscript goes with him, and he writes himself to sleep at night.

Fast Start - Norman Collins has 14 novels and as many years in broadcasting behind him. Before joining the British Broadcasting Corp. in the forties, he had been active in newspapers and publishing. Educated at the William Ellis School in Hampstead, he started at age 19 with the Oxford University Press and at 20 became assistant literary editor of the London Daily News. He stayed there three years, leaving for the publishing firm of Victor Gollancz Ltd., where he was deputy chairman seven years.

Meanwhile the Collins byline was seen over freelance reviews, fiction and humor in the Observer, Manchester Guardian and Punch. His first book had been published when the author was 22. It was a history of the English novel, "The Facts of Fiction." This has been followed by the novels, several of them best sellers on both sides of the Atlantic. "Bond Street Story" was published here last fall by Harper & Bros. Its predecessor was "Dulcimer Street," retitled "London Belongs to Me" for the American trade.

Mr. Collins' broadcasting career got underway during the war. He directed the General Overseas Service and soon took over the Light Programme. He boosted its share of audience in 20 months from 30% to 70% with innovations in news, women's programming and other areas. Mrs. Dale's Diary is still running 12 years after he introduced it.

Inside BBC TV - Mr. Collins became controller of BBC television. Dilution set in quickly. In two years he was convinced BBC was not taking television seriously and in 1950 cut loose to start his long campaign to break the government monopoly.

Nowadays they say British broadcasters are all but embarrassed by TV riches. (ATV, which supplies around half of the independent programming, made more than $15 million profit before taxes last year.) But there were precarious days in the beginning. Before the Independent Television Authority was created, Mr. Collins financed his barnstorming with book royalties.

Before ATV stockholders began collecting dividends, investors were looking for enough capital to get on the air. Mr. Collins, one observer reported, sold his insurance policies to invest $7,000, an investment now worth more than $1.5 million. The pioneer group (Pye interests, bankers and others) secured a seven-day franchise from ITA, serving the Midlands weekdays and London weekends, and joined forces with Incorporated Television Programme Co., whose main shareholders were theatre and talent interests (Prince Litter, chairman of ATV; Val Parnell, managing director Lew Grade, deputy managing director, and others).

ATV signed on Sept. 22, 1955, in London but was delayed five months getting on the air in the Midlands. Overhead was high and revenue slow getting started. New capital came into ATV when the London Daily Mirror, an early supporter of independent TV, joined the enterprise.

Ramification - The group recouped losses the second year, then began to "ramify," an operation in which Mr. Collins has been active around the world. ATV subsidiaries now include, besides Independent Television Corp. in the U.S., film and broadcast operations in Australia, organizations in Canada, the Bahamas, Jamaica, Trinidad, British Guiana, Bermuda and East Africa. Domestically subsidiaries include Pye Recording Co., the British Muzak franchise and pay TV systems.

Mr. Collins is working now to internationalize television programming to an extent that "it will be so confoundedly and complicatedly international that no legislator, no lawyer, no actor, no writer, no trade union official will ever be able to decide whether it is American, Canadian, British, Australian or what have you."

Two More Campaigns - The seasoned battler has new crusades underway. Having broken one monopoly, he's denouncing the new system and demanding fully competitive TV. Mr. Collins also is plumping for private radio. His group, Independent Broadcasting Services, was organized toward this end in 1957. Since then more than 20 others have formed. They look for an official inquiry soon.

Although he has been out of the studios for some time, Mr. Collins still will take on an occasional assignment. He produced the Prime Minister's television appearance on election eve last fall, taping the program for play on both the independent channel and BBC. Regular executive duties include chairmanship of two bodies functioning under the ITA, one an association of program contractor firms and the other a common news organization.

Mr. and Mrs. Collins (she was Sara Martin) have a cottage at Bedfordshire, 50 minutes from London. Their children are Anthea, 24, who is married to an economist, Z. Zeman; Delia, 15, and Roderick, 12. Roderick and his father are birdwatchers. Mr. Collins also likes tennis. He is chairman of the English Stage Society, a director of Watergate Productions and of the London Philharmonic Society, among other interests. And when he's writing, the author escapes to other worlds altogether.

Assaulted the BBC monopoly

OUR LESSON for today is addressed to the publishers of newspapers and magazines that have chortled over the new rules for sponsor identification imposed upon broadcasting by the FCC.

A good many publishers have been amused to watch broadcasters squirm under the commission's March 16 "interpretation" of Section 317 of the Communications Act. We're sorry to spoil their fun, but we feel obliged—in the public interest, of course—to point out that the U.S. Post Office could hang the same absurd "sponsor identification" rules on publishers if it wanted to.

If the law requires broadcasters to announce the source and conditions of acquisition of every piece of free programming or free program assistance that they get, the law also requires newspapers and magazines to label as an "advertisement" every piece of editorial material that is furnished free by an outside source.

Before we examine the ridiculous effects this would have on newspapers and magazines, let us pause for a moment of legal history.

Section 317 of the Communications Act reads:

All matter broadcast by any radio station for which service, money or any other valuable consideration is directly or indirectly paid, or promised to or charged or accepted by the station so broadcasting, from any person, shall, at the time the same is so broadcast, be announced as paid for or furnished, as the case may be, by such person.

There is a striking, and by no means accidental, similarity between that law and another governing the marking of advertising content in publications using second-class mail. The legislative history of the Communications Act shows that Section 317 was lifted, with only the necessary editorial changes, from Section 234 of Title 39 of the U.S. Code, the postal law. Section 234 reads:

All editorial or other reading matter published in any such newspaper, magazine or periodical for the publication of which money or other valuable consideration is paid, accepted or promised shall be plainly marked "advertisement." Any editor or publisher printing editorial or other reading matter for which compensation is paid, accepted or promised without marking the same, shall upon conviction in any court having jurisdiction be fined not less than $50 nor more than $500.

If the FCC's interpretation of Section 317 is correct, we figure that the publisher of the New York Times owes the government several thousand dollars in fines for violations of the postal law in yesterday's editions.

To apply the FCC's interpretation to Section 234 of the postal law would mean that every story based in whole or part upon material or assistance furnished the paper would have to be labelled an ad.

The book review section should be called "advertising" throughout because books were given to the reviewers by publishers hoping for a review.

So with theatre and movie reviews and sports stories written by writers who were given passes.

But these are obvious "violations."

Under an application of the FCC's concept, a newspaper reporter writing about a missile shoot would be writing an ad, not a story, if the Army gave him a free ride to the scene.

The television columnist's interview with a star would have to be branded commercial, no matter how objectively he wrote, if the star's press agent bought the columnist lunch.

If the FCC's interpretation had been the rule of the time, all the battlefront coverage of World War II would have had to be labelled advertising. In the present thinking of the FCC, military transportation to the front would have constituted "valuable consideration."

Though our principal affection is directed toward radio and television, we are in the publishing business ourselves and therefore vulnerable to any crackdown in the postal law. Perhaps, improvidently we pride ourselves on the originality of our reporting, and our auditor will testify feelingly to the bills we pay for our own editorial coverage. Yet there is hardly a page in this or any issue of Broadcasting that could escape the advertising label if Section 234 were interpreted by the Post Office as Section 317 is now interpreted by the FCC.

For example, this page, under that interpretation, ought to be headed "Advertisement" instead of "Editorials." Our quotation of Section 317 was taken from an FCC public notice that was sent to us free, and a lawyer for whom we may some day be able to do a service gave us, at no charge, a copy of the postal law.

Public service for profit

WE HAVE said many times that broadcasters do far more public service programming than they ever get credit for. Now we would like to urge the obvious: that they promote it as well as do it.

As reported elsewhere in this issue, a significant body of agency executives and buyers—participants in an NBC Spot Sales Timebuyer Opinion Panel Study—contends that stations are missing a good bet in their approach to public service programming. In short, they could sell it if they tried.

The astonishing fact is that few stations, according to the panelists, have ever tried to capitalize on public service by keeping agencies informed about it. Seven out of ten participants in the survey said they'd be more inclined to recommend a public service program to clients if they had qualitative information to support the decision. Even if the program itself doesn't sell, the panelists stand 2 to 1 in the belief that a station which has a good public service image is a better buy, generally, than one which hasn't.

Smart broadcasters will take the tip. They'll take pains to deliver quality-grade local public service programs—for quality is essential—and they'll be equally alert to see that the word get around to the proper places. If they stand to gain in profits as well as prestige, how can they lose?

Well, how's my favorite 'disc jockey' today?"
