Now for the first time, every song appearing on the CCM contemporary hits airplay chart during the magazine's first 20 years is compiled into one volume.

It is presented here as a part of CCM MAGAZINE's continuing task of documenting the growth and evolution of Christian music, preserving its history and offering a record of the many artists who have attempted in one way or another to represent their faith in their work.

AUTHOR'S NOTE

As an avid researcher of popular music since the late 1970s, I first discovered my love of music and numbers listening to Casey Kasem's American Top 40 radio show on my hometown station WCIL-FM in Carbondale, Illinois. Like so many other listeners, I became enamored with Kasem and his weekly presentation of Billboard Magazine's charted songs. Back then, a new chart record was being broken seemingly every week as the Bee Gees and the Saturday Night Fever Soundtrack dominated the peak positions of the pop singles and pop albums charts. Relatively speaking, it was a very exciting time to be a chart watcher.

By the early 1980s, my love of music extended from being a listener each week to being a performer as well, playing the same music I heard, live every weekend. From there I developed interests in radio and party music both as a disc jockey and audio engineer. I followed my musical interest to Nashville and after graduation from Belmont College with a Music Business and Marketing degree, began working at one of the nation's most prominent independent country music labels, Step One.

Since 1986 my career has also taken me through a myriad of unique experiences in the entertainment industry. I've interned with RCA Records, worked in record stores, appeared in music videos, worked on a remote video and sound truck, engineered and produced several demo projects, formed a music publishing firm, written songs and played in church worship bands.

Although I became a Christian as a young boy, it was just a few years ago that a renewed faith and revelation of Jesus Christ as not only Savior, but Lord, led to interest beyond general market music and into Christian music's contemporary sound. I found Christian music's Billboard Magazine with my discovery of CCM MAGAZINE and its charts.

Over the years, Billboard has allowed several authors to use its charts to create reference materials. The most prominent of these is Joel Whitburn, whose chart books have become fixtures on most music industry desks. Hot Hits was inspired by a vision to chronicle today's popular Christian music and achieve the same quality standards as set by Whitburn and his company, Record Research.

This project would certainly not have been possible without divine guidance and the help of many friends and family members. My sincere thanks go to Mom and Dad for the time, money and effort. Thanks for loving your son. To Steve, Daphne, Chad and Sa for making sacrifices so that your brother could survive and prosper. To Bob and Kim Stafford for opening your home, gifts, computers and hearts to a friend. To Sandy Smith, for obliging a friend with your extremely precious time and talents. To Jeff, Erin, Chandler and Braden Benz for being my best friends and my Nashville family. To Will Jones for having a loose screw and being a true friend. To David and Nicole Buchanan and Ellen Dickenson for the use of all those cool old albums. To John Styll for trusting God's plan for this project and empowering His servant to see it through. To Lori Morrison, Shelley Bright, Linda Pfrommer, April Hefner, Joanne Scaife, Susan Zaffiro, Sarah Aldridge, Roberta Croteau, Brian Smith, Ross Cluver, Gregory Rumburg and the rest of the staff at CCM for indulging the new author-on-the-block. To Karen Berry, Kate Adams, Jackie Chapman and the GMA Resource Center folks for trusting that all those files would be put back in order and that the copier wouldn't overheat. To the label folks, Nancy O'Donnell, Matt Williams, Robyn Standridge, Rachel Murphy and Dionne Petitpas for the invaluable artist info. To the Ruby E. Dare Library at Greenville College, Greenville, Illinois and the Lila D. Bunch Library at Belmont University, Nashville, Tennessee for resource material unavailable anywhere else in the world. To Harvest Christian Fellowship, its cell groups and Bloodbought Ministries for being the support mechanisms they were designed to be. And to Yeshua (Jesus) for the inspiration, love, discipline and joy and most of all, for saving my soul.

As you read through Hot Hits, try to remember where you were or what you were doing the first time you heard a particular song. Once you visualize that, look at how far you've come since then and how God has been there with you through it all. Then stop and give him thanks. In this way, we glorify Him.

Jeffrey L. Brothers

METHOD

Currently, CCM receives data from a specific number of radio stations regarding the number of times a song is played. This airplay data is then assigned points and weights based on the cumulative number of plays per song. The result is a weekly chart that ranks the most played, and presumably, most popular songs.

From July, 1978 to September, 1986, charts were derived essentially the same way, however, they were published monthly. On September 30, 1986, the charts became bi-weekly, and the current weekly released charts began on June 15, 1992.

All of the chart data used to compile this volume has been converted into a weekly format. Hot Hits has taken information compiled by CCM since 1978 and further compiled it into a digestible format for fans and industry professionals. In these pages, every song that ever appeared on a CCM Contemporary Hits chart is represented, along with songwriter(s), label and artist information.

This edition covers only the Contemporary Hits Radio charts for 1978-1997. Future volumes will cover Adult Contemporary, Inspirational, Rock, Country, Albums and more.

USING HOT HITS A GUIDE

At the top of each page of Hot Hits is the following header:

Artist/Group	Debut	Peak Week	Peak	WO	Song/Songwriter	Label

Debut denotes the date in which the song in that column debuted on the CCM Contemporary Hits chart.

Peak Week denotes the week in which the song attained its highest position on the chart. (This is usually the week that a listener would have been most likely to hear the song.)

Peak denotes the peak position attained by the song. Songs that achieved and remained at number one for a period of weeks are noted by a "weeks at" bullet.

Weeks On (WO) denotes the total number of weeks that the song stayed on the chart. If a song fell off the chart and then reentered, the cumulative total will appear here.

Song/Songwriter - Under each song title, each songwriter credited on the record or CD label is listed. In cases of more than one writer for a song, songwriters are listed according to the percentage of writing credit claimed.

Within artist bios, other artists who have entries in Hot Hits are in bold letters.

Below the artist bio, GMA Dove Awards presented to the artist are listed and denoted by

FOREWORD

When CCM MAGAZINE was launched in 1978, contemporary Christian music had grown from its birth in the Jesus Movement to something of an industry all its own, complete with the controversies that surround any new or pioneering endeavor. If Christian music was to have impact in the culture, then it needed to be taken seriously by the music industry, the media and the public. As we began planning the first issue of CCM MAGAZINE, it was therefore our goal to cover the emerging field of Christian music with the same thoroughness and journalistic integrity that the leading publications in the general market used to cover pop and rock music. Starting out more as a trade journal and gradually evolving to a consumer focus, CCM MAGAZINE has always tried to avoid both the shallowness of a 'fanzine' and the weighty seriousness of a religious periodical.

In our view, part of doing a thorough job involved documenting the exposure being given to artists and their songs. From the very first issue, charts were published which accounted for both sales and radio airplay of contemporary Christian artists' albums and songs. Derided by some as inappropriate rankings of ministries, the charts nonetheless became a valuable tool for those involved in the business side of Christian music and, at the least, a point of curiosity for fans. (For many years CCM's charts contained a disclaimer which stated that the rankings were merely statements of fact regarding sales and airplay and should not be construed as a ranking of ministry value.)

Now for the first time, every song appearing on the CCM 'Contemporary Hits' airplay chart during the magazine's first 20 years (a chart which has carried various names during that time), is compiled into one volume. This project was a labor of love for author Jeff Brothers, who must be commended for his diligence and patience in assembling such a mass of information. It is presented here as part of CCM MAGAZINE'S continuing task of documenting the growth and evolution of Christian music, preserving its history and offering a record of the many artists—some long forgotten—who have attempted in one way or another to represent their faith in their work.

SANDI PATTY

Pop/inspirational singer born in 1956 from Oklahoma City. She moved to Indiana, performed with the Ron (father) Patty Family and became a session singer which resulted in jingles for Juicy Fruit Gum, Steak-n-Shake Restaurants and Chick-Fil-A Restaurants. She attended San Diego State University from 1975-77, Anderson College [IN] from 1977-79 and was a member of the group New Nature. She began recording as a solo act in 1978. From 1981-82 Patty was a featured soloist with the Bill Gaither Trio and Imperials. Her first solo tour was in 1984 and she subsequently appeared on The Tonight Show with Johnny Carson. Her popularity led her record company to sell background "tracks" which reinvigorated that market. In 1994, her confession of an extra-marital affair and divorce made news. She currently continues recording and touring. The use of the last name "Patti" in the early part of her career stemmed from a typographical error on her first album.

CMTA Test-markets BDS in Christian Radio Markets

Potential new airplay chart to be decided by year-end

In a move to more strongly establish its Christian radio airplay, the Christian Music Trade Association is currently test marketing BDS (Broadcast Data Systems) technology in 20 to 25 radio markets in hopes of generating label support for a BDS-powered Christian AC radio chart.

Electronically monitoring BDS radio stations in eight primary music formats in the U.S. to calculate song spins, BDS is the source for Billboard magazine's airplay charts. Using a unique "target printing" system, BDS "transmits" its station to various markets, creating a sample from which to calculate weekly spins.

Results of the test, as well as the format for the proposed chart, which would be headed to publication by the CMTA, will be announced within 30 days, according to Gospel Music Association President Frank Brodwin. Brodwin, who is collaborating with CMTA, Marketing Director Rick Brodwin, issued the specifications of a potential affiliation with BDS to the members of the association monitoring Christian radio sales several years ago.

"There are several concerning considerations that the music trade can't credential the generation and reliability of various music formats in the marketplace until BDS Standardization, we view BDS as one of those considerations," Brodwin said. "This is one of those areas, where not any competition is our absence. This is another opportunity to take our industry out of the ghetto as we can be considered by those on the outside with credibility."

Retail, Radio Aid in Hurricane Relief Efforts

IN THE AFTERMATH OF Hurricane Dennis and Floyd, which swept the Eastern and Southern coasts in late August and early September, including 47 lives, Christian retail stores and radio stations are now being used to their own and others' benefit by the masses.

"When all was said and done, more than $5 billion in damage had taken place in Florida's coastal areas, where the majority of the damage occurred. Some estimates the damage toll could reach $6 billion. Millions were affected in some way by the storm, including at least 200 Christian retail stores, according to CMA.
