Oliver!, Babs, Kate Big Oscar Winners

HOLLYWOOD — Who says things have to be good to be exciting?

This year’s Oscar ceremony, produced and directed by the usually -impeccable Gower Champion, was a shambling—a succession of strained, silly and embarrassing production ideas—and yet, because of unexpected winners, one of the Academy’s most startling and dramatic nights.

Many precedents were set—three of them by Katharine Hepburn who became the first actress to win the Oscar three times, the first (of two) actresses to split it and the second to win two years in a row. She won her statuette for her performance by BMI received Citation of Excellence to Berry Gordy, Jr. The 58 writers and 33 publishers of 40 Rhythm and Blues songs licensed for public performance by BMI received Citations of Achievement as the most performed songs of their period from July 1, (Continued on page 92)

Older U. K. Disk Staffers Overlooked by Incoming Labels?

LONDON—A number of industry producers and administrators who feel they’re stymied in conservative corporations are grumbling and anxious these days because they suspect they’re being overlooked by American companies on the prowl for English personnel to staff newly-opened local offices.

Record World has talked to and heard about high-level executives who feel that they would be suitable to fill posts with in-coming A&M, Warner Bros., UA/Liberty, Liberty, MCA, etc., but are cautious about openly seeking such posts because of jeopardizing their current posts.

And they feel they are unknown to the American employers because the younger men in the business—the “whiz kids”—are getting all the play via press and label publicity.

One annorex executive who feels he’s gathering dust in a well-paying but unrewarding big company slot had this to say to Record World: “To truly assess the U. K. situation, a visiting executive should ideally live in London for two months. Not at a luxury hotel, but preferably in a furnished apartment, where he can listen to the BBC and watch all three TV programs. He should be able to entertain and visit prospective people in their own homes, in a relaxed atmosphere. The industry in Britain is all centered in London. With such a tight group operating, people are very guarded in

RCA Bows Chi Recording Center

RCA Records opened its new recording Center in Chicago this week.

Announcement was made by Norman Racusin, Division VP and General Manager, RCA Records, who said the recording complex, with studios and supporting facilities, will provide RCA and its recording clients a sound center equal to those in New York and Hollywood.

Located at One North Wacker Drive in Chicago's booming West Loop area, the studios incorporate the latest innovations in acoustical design developed in the laboratories of the David Sarnoff Research Center in Princeton, N. J. The studios will have multi-channel recording facilities with the latest in electronic control of the many microphones.

The center will offer Midwest producers of phonograph records, tapes, radio commercials, television and motion picture soundtracks complete facilities and engineering talent, according to W. F. Reilly, Manager, RCA Custom Record Sales, Chicago.

Among the first record companies to make facilities available to other firms in the record industry, RCA has been recording in Chicago since 1935. With the new recording facilities, RCA will be able to maintain its position in Chicago during the future growth of the city as a recording center.

J. F. Wells, Manager, Recording, Chicago, said the recording complex contains three studios each of which is acoustically treated to offer a range of reverberation times thus providing precise conditions for all kinds of music and voice recordings. Studio A, with 55,000 cubic feet of space, is the largest studio in the Chicago area built specifically for sound recording.

Consoles using the latest integrated circuitry will be available to mix as many as 33 microphones on up to 16 channels with extensive equalization on each. The utmost flexibility in monitoring inputs to multiple tracks will be provided.

Control rooms and tape mastering rooms have acoustical treatment similar to the studios to permit moving from one facility to another without changing sound characteristics. Additional lacquer mastering channels will be provided to handle the increased activity anticipated at the new center.

Godfrey Records for MTA

NEW YORK—MTA Records has rushed the first Arthur Godfrey release recorded under a new artist contract between the star and the label. MTA President Bob Thompson produced the session in Nashville which was arranged and conducted by Bill Pursell.

In announcing the signing of Godfrey to read the rush release of "Santa Barbara Gold," Thompson said, "This record is destined to become one of the most important hit records of the year. The material written by Dick Feller and Claire Durham, Glaser Publications writers, is the most topical piece of material ever created especially for an artist. Mr. Godfrey is the most competent professional I have ever worked with, and his immediate grasp of the music and the lyric of 'Santa Barbara Gold' has resulted in that wonderful marriage of artist, material and arrangement that can only result in smash hit."

The combination song and recitation brings into full focus the dilemma of Santa Barbara, Calif., caused by the recent oil well leak from offshore drilling in the Santa Barbara channel. Godfrey, renowned for his conservation and ecology efforts, has issued a biting commentary contained in verse and song.

"Radio reaction around the country to 'Santa Barbara Gold' has been fantastic," Thompson continued. "This serious comment by Arthur Godfrey is the beginning of a combined creative effort by MTA Records to present his (Godfrey) views in a contemporary setting. Call it contemporary folk music if you like, but whatever general term the industry may apply, it is important and timely."

Atlantic Speeds Dusty's 'Windmills'

Atlantic Records broke speed records getting Dusty Springfield's version of the Academy Award winning song "The Windmills of Your Mind" to the country's disk jockeys this week.

Within minutes after the announcement was made on TV Monday night, April 14, at 11:44 p.m., that the Marilyn and Alan Bergman-Michel Le Grand song was the winner, Atlantic's mail clerks, waiting in the company's warehouse in New York, jumped into a station wagon and sped to the city's General Post Office with 2500 packages of Dusty's version of the song. Eight hours later, jockeys from coast to coast were opening their packages containing the record. The dj copy with "The Windmills of Your Mind" on both sides of the disk contained the legend "The 1969 Academy Award Winner."

Wexler Planned Campaign

Jerry Wexler, Atlantic Records Executive VP, had planned the campaign two weeks before the Academy Awards night on the hunch that "The Windmills of Your Mind" would be the winning song. Atlantic had issued Dusty Springfield's version of the tune about a week ago as the second side of "I Don't Want To Hear It Anymore" (it is now the A side). Playing his hunch, Wexler had 2500 copies of "Windmills" pressed up with the Award winner notation on each label. Records were placed in a special mailing envelope, with the words "contains Academy Award Winning Tune: 'Windmills of Your Mind' Sung By Dusty Springfield" hand-stamped on each package. Packages were inserted into huge mail bags over a week ago, waiting for the big night of April 14.

Giant Promotion

Atlantic has set a giant promotion and advertising campaign on Dusty's recording. Her current album, "Dusty in Memphis" which contains "The Windmills of Your Mind," now has a sticker on it noting that the award winning tune is in the LP.
Mongo's newest single
"The Now Generation" is riding high above
"Cloud Nine."

"The Now Generation" is another funky single taken from Mongo Santamaria's album Stone Soul. The same album "Cloud Nine" came from.

DJ's are playing it—and people are into a stone-soul frenzy over it. Which, of course, was the same reaction the "Cloud Nine" single received.

Mongo sure sends us the right messages. First an album with the staff of life on the cover and the staff of soul on the inside. Then two hit singles from the same. My, My, My!

"On New Year’s Day, 1953, Hank Williams died at the age of 29, leaving the country music world an imperishable heritage of songs... No other writer-artist has matched Williams’ achievement in capturing in song the tribulations, tragedies and joyful episodes of life. But the history of Hank Williams did not end on that day in 1953... a number of unfinished songs have been waiting for the right person to finish them and make them available on an album. That person, of course, is Hank Williams, Jr.... an artist in his own right and heir to the traditions of his famous father.... Just as the lyrics are typical of Hank Williams, the melodies reflect the true country idiom.

There are such diverse songs as Cajun Baby* and Homesick And Lonesome. (Among others) another cut, You Can’t Take My Memories Of You will bring a tear to many an eye, for it is truly poetic in concept. This album also firmly marks Hank Jr. as a composer of consequence, following fast on the heels of his successful single, It’s All Over But The Crying, which he wrote singlehandedly. Thus in the capacity of both writer and artist, Hank Williams, Jr., brings to the current world of music these songs which might otherwise have been forgotten. Country music lovers will treasure this album.” Paul Ackerman, Music Editor of Billboard (From the album notes of this LP)

Command/Probe Scores Electronically

NEW YORK — Command/Probe Records hit an electronic double-header with its first electronic pop album "Moog: The Electric Eclectics of Dick Hyman" and a single from that album, "The Miniaut.

The LP (which is approaching the 100,000 mark in sales) is already on the national album charts and "Miniaut," the single from that album, is breaking wide open.

Running over seven minutes in length, the single began to break in Cincinnati where it was first played on an R&B station, WCIN, and is currently number 14 on Cincinnati's WSAI charts. "Miniaut" is also getting heavy play in Philadelphia and several other major markets around the country.

This comes hot on the heels of Command/Probe's announce-ment of an electronic music series for which the Hyman album serves as a prototype. The series is expected to bow early in June.

Three albums will kick off the series and are expected to be released simultaneously. Artists on the albums are Hyman (featuring soul hits), Walter Sear (half chart items and half original compositions) and Richard Hayman (featuring Latin tunes and rhythms). Sear will also serve as programmer/consultant on each of the albums.

Plans to Followup

Plans are underway now to follow up these albums with several on the Probe label aimed at the underground and rock markets. Joe Carlton, Vice President and General Manager of Command/Probe, said, "I have repeatedly stated that electronic music is an art form and must be treated as such. What we are producing is a forerunner of the music of the twenty-first century. We are very seriously committed to this series and we intend to have it perpetuate Command/Probe's quality image."

New Jefferson Single

RCA Records has released as a single two cuts from the new Jefferson Airplane chart album, "Bless It's Pointed Little Head." The single couples "Plastic Fantastic Lover" with all six minutes and 35 seconds of "Other Side of This Life."

THE MAN OF LOVE
Although the liner notes are not as informative as they might be, this album contains one of the late Martin Luther King's most significant summations of the place of the Negro in America. Luminous and illuminating.

HOUR OF THE WOLF

Hassles sound as together as a group can be on this awaited album. It's titled after the longest cut, which is really something, and includes "4 O'Clock in the Morning." The teens should be turning out for the package.

WOMB
 DOT DLP 25993.
Gregg Young seems to be the impetus of this group. He does all the writing—and in an intellectual, introspective vein. Other members of the group are unidentified, but the gal singer has quite a range and intensity. Interesting underground entry.

HAWAII FIVE-O
THE VENTURES—Liberty LST 8081.
The Ventures keep strumming away, and with that well-guided persistence they keep coming up with hits. Right now, of course, it's "Hawaii Five-O." They break it up on "Aquarius," "Spooky," "Traces," "Stormy" as a medley and "Galveston," too.

THE HAMILTON FACE BAND
PHILIPS PHS 600-308.
This new group has plugged in and turned on the juice at high levels and begun to wail. Having done that, they should find success in today's market. The kind of thing that gets underground attention at first.

GREEN
ATCO SD 33-282.
Atlantic has a way of searching out a talented rock group. Green live up to the sharp, vibrant, cool quality of their chosen color-name. Group members split up the composing chores and do well at it.

OUR MOTHER THE MOUNTAIN

One of the last of the folk singers sans-electrification, Townes just walks down his own line. He does tend to write his own material and it's always touching, observant and worthwhile. "Kathleen," "St. John the Gambler," "Why She's Acting This Way."

RECORD WORLD—April 26, 1969
"Get Back" is the Beatles new single. It's the first Beatles record which is as live as can be, in this electronic age. There's no electronic watchamacallit. "Get Back" is a pure spring-time rock number.

On the other side there's an equally live number called "Don’t let me down".

Paul's got this to say about Get Back... "we were sitting in the studio and we made it up out of thin air...we started to write words there and then... when we finished it, we recorded it at Apple Studios and made it into a song to roller-coast by".

P.S. John adds, It's John playing the fab live guitar solo.

And now John on Don’t let me down. John says don’t let me down about "Don’t let me down".

In "Get Back" and "Don’t let me down", you'll find the Beatles, as nature intended. Get Back / Don’t let me down (Apple 2490)

Monument Signs Charles Aznavour for U. S. A.

HOLLYWOOD — Monument Records scored a coup in international artist acquisitions with the signing of an exclusive contract for the U.S.A. recording rights to Charles Aznavour, as the result of the pact between Diques Barclay, Paris and Monument, following negotiations between the two companies for the globally-popular Aznavour's recordings, confirms Fred L. Foster, President of Monument, and Eddie Barclay, President of Diques Barclay.

A major factor in finalizing the agreement with Monument was the promotional attention and activity the Hollywood-Nashville label gave to Aznavour, and, of course, the resulting sales of his Spanish and Italian language product (from Barclay) in the U.S.A. Monument's catalogue features French language product of Aznavour based on recently re-recorded masters Monument acquired from Pathè-Marconi, France, of vintage Ducretet-Thomson releases by Aznavour.

Monument will now have the total output of Aznavour exclusively in the U.S.A. from both Barclay and Pathè-Marconi, with Barclay contributing newly-recorded French, Spanish, Italian and English language titles. Aznavour was busy prior to his departure for Canada this past week (18) from Paris recording the initial English language LP, for Monument.

Bobby Weiss, Monument Vice-President and Director of their international division, personally conducted the negotiations between Monument and Aznavour plus Barclay and his international executives Jean Fernandez and Gerard Dubus.

“We are deeply grateful to our good friends at Diques Barclay and especially to Charles for their confidence and trust in Monument in finalizing the contract between our two companies,” said Weiss, “and we shall be utilizing all the fullest forces of promotion and merchandising headed by our Vice President of Sales and Merchandising, Steve Poncio, and Mike Shepherd, our Vice President of National Promotion, in attaining saturation exposure and sales to match.”

Monument's Weiss has already been busy in setting special English language lyric assistance for the initial Monument-Aznavour English language album by obtaining the collaboration of youthful and contemporary songwriter Bob Morrison to team with Aznavour. Morrison plans to Canada over the weekend (19) to meet Charles in Montreal to complete the lyric adaptations, as Aznavour tours Canada on a series of concerts.

Hosting Aznavour Party

Monument will host a “Welcome to Monument” private reception for Aznavour at the New York Playboy Club on May 8, prior to the May 10 and 11 Carnegie Hall concerts by the French artist, with the label releasing the fourth French LP of the Pathè-Marconi contract, entitled “Aznavour!” The recording will hit the disk shops beginning May 5 in time for the Manhattan promotion. Thus, Monument will already have available, with the upcoming French LP, in May, a total of seven Aznavour albums including four in French (from Pathè), two in Spanish and one in Italian (the latter three from Barclay).

Monument also issued the LP by Henry Byrs, pianist-conductor for Aznavour, featuring a total tribute of instrumental song hits by Aznavour, who not only sings them — but writes the material as well. Aznavour and Weiss will confer in New York regarding the plans for the first English language album on the Monument label with Charles flying to Hollywood May 12 for a two-day visit before continuing on his concert swing to Mexico, etc. Aznavour is also currently filming his starring role in the '00th Century-Fox film, “The Games.”

Family Entertainment.

No, we're not trying to out-Morrison the Doors. Nor out-Fug the Fugs.
But what we do have isn't exactly tame as Tammy, either.
For instance, in one week, Family's new album made it from Number Nothing on the British charts up to Number Six.
For instance two, this new group called Family is creating new impressions about what cohabitation can mean.

They're doing it from New York westward:
New York's Fillmore East (April 9-10)
Boston's Tea Party (April 11-13)
Detroit's Grande Ballroom (April 25-26)
And so it goes. A long tour starting. And all that Family is trying to do is to play for you.
We, on the other hand, want to sell you their new album.

BOSTON-A child-to-parent kidney transplant involving a Huntington, L. I., father and son, and believed to be the first of its kind, has occurred at Peter Bent Brigham Hospital here.

The transplant at Brigham, which pioneered in kidney transplantation in 1954, was performed recently by a team of physicians headed by Dr. John P. Merrill. The recipient was identified as Lewis Dreyer, 53, well known lawyer in the music business. The donor was his 23-year-old son, Steven, a law student at NYU. Both were reported in excellent condition.

"There was never really any decision to make about it," the younger Dreyer said. "It's the kind of thing that when it happens, you just go. I had no major qualms about it. It was something I just had to do and I honestly can't see anyone saying, 'No, you just can't do that.'"

The older Dreyer, a copyright attorney stricken with nephritis, said Merrill had made a genetic test of the kidney and it was perfect pairing. "The cross-match came out like twins," Dreyer said. "My mother offered, too," he added.

And she passed all the tests, but the doctors decided against that."

Dunhill's Steve Barri And The New A&R Awareness

The recording industry has grown to such financial proportions of late that the A&R man has to be aware of both administrative and financial costs of record production, states Steve Barri, A&R Director of Dunhill Records. Barri, a 12-year veteran in the record business, at 27 has achieved a track record of eight gold records for producing and writing at Dunhill.

"It's unfair to the artist and to the company if a producer knowingly wastes precious studio time by not doing his homework. A disorganized producer and his sessions have put record companies right out of business," he said, adding: "There doesn't have to be skyrocketing figures of $50,000 and up in the production of an album."

Barri claims he's been successful in this area by "cutting production costs almost 40 percent. We've been able to do this by scheduling rehearsal hours before we go into a studio session." He cites that nearly all of Dunhill's artists follow this plan and rehearse on an average of four-five weeks before they actually record.

Barri learned the administrative end of his craft by working closely with Dunhill Records' Vice-President Jay Lasker. Lasker works in close sessions with all of his administrative team. Barri likes to sit in on all scheduled financial and administrative meetings, in addition to being in on sales and promotion meetings. His feelings are summed up thus: "An A&R man shouldn't let himself be isolated in a studio. You have to be flexible in today's competitive market. This same procedure is applied by our sales and promotion personnel who make it their business to attend all scheduled production meetings."

Barri claims that Dunhill has an extremely high batting average for bringing releases in. "Last year," he said, "the company released 35 singles and 16 LPs, a considerable low figure in today's market. And this product included the hit albums by Steppenwolf, Richard Harris, the Grass Roots and Mama Cass."

New High Standard

According to Barri, there's a new high standard of quality in album and single product. This is because the public has become more sophisticated and songwriters and producers, in turn, have to meet the demands of this sophistication.

Barri says that writers like Jimmy Webb, Mann and Weil, Bacharach and David are some of the writers meeting these new standards. "The music business today has done more to open its doors to young writers than any other medium in the entertainment business. And all of us in the business should recognize this fact."

Barri states that a producer cannot afford to spend all his time in the recording studio. He finds that the majority of his time is spent listening to new material at his office and on his own time at home. On the average, Barri claims to listen to approximately 50 new songs a week.

Barri also takes side trips to meet publishers outside of the West Coast. "The material is there," he states. In searching for material and to get a feel on new tastes and trends, Barri will occasionally visit record stores. "And by listening to Top 40 stations, you can get some idea for a new sound to new songs," says Barri.

A producer also has to be a talent agent, and Barri makes a point of being on the road at least once a week in search of new artists. Just recently, he and Jay Lasker went to San Francisco and signed a new singing couple named Tom and Nancy Brown. Dunhill re-named them Rejoice and released a new album under the same title.

The young producer began his career by working at Norty's Records on Fairfax Avenue. After working at the store for several years, a demo he recorded was given to Lou Adler, who at the same time was an A&R man for Screen Gems. Adler liked the demo and arranged for Barri to meet with songwriter P. F. Sloan at Screen Gems. In the spring of 1964, Adler started his own production and publishing company, Dunhill Productions and Trousdale Music. Soon after the formation of Dunhill, Adler was joined by partners Jay Lasker, Bobby Roberts and Pierre Cossette.

At Adler's Urging

At the urging of Adler, Barri joined Dunhill Productions. He teamed with P. F. Sloan "Because Phil was strong on melody and I was strong on lyrics." Barri's and Sloan's first hit for the company came in August, 1965, on Barry McGuire's million seller, 'Eve of Destruction.' Barri and Sloan teamed to write such hits as: "You Don't Have the Right," by the Turbines; "A Must to Avoid," by Herman's Hermits; "Secret Agent Man," by Johnny Rivers; and "Where Were You When I Needed You," by the Grass Roots.

In the summer of 1966, Adler left Dunhill to form his own company and Barri took over the helm as A&R Director of Dunhill. Since this time he has produced a number of hits that include: "Let's Live for Today," "Midnight Confessions" and "Loving Things," all by the Grass Roots. The latter tune was just released by Dunhill and this is coupled with Barri's latest production of Mama Cass' hit tune, "Move in a Little Closer." Barri has also produced the latest hit song, "Dizzy," by Tommy Roe for ABC Records.

Between recording sessions and the office, Barri, a film buff, enjoys running old movies — "the oldies but goodies type." His one goal is to write a Bollywood musical. He is currently in the process of doing research for a World Roots and promotion meetings. His office, at 27 has achieved a track record of eight gold records for producing and writing at Dunhill.

"Stick To Your Thing"
NEW YORK—"If you stick to your thing, it'll pay off," says Verve/Forecast's Pat Sky, who is living proof that good things come the way of he who does his thing. Pat has been singing, playing guitar and writing songs since the beginning of the folk thing in New York, and just returned from a very successful one-month tour of England (booked by Nems) where he got rave reviews; perhaps the best reviews of any American artist Nems has ever booked.

"I've always had a following in New York," says Pat, "but there were times I thought I was dead as a performer." Then he went to England, where there are 500 folk clubs in an area about the size of New York State. It was Pat's impression that folk (or "traditional") music is really huge in England, perhaps because England has a "deep tradition." However, it remains a live medium, as English record companies don't seem to be interested in recording one singer with a guitar. Pat wound up his tour at the Royal Festival Hall as the second act, and stole the show.

"I'm not a real folk artist, I'm a singer/songwriter," Pat told Record World. "I try to write lyrics with meaning, but I'm not going to follow trends. I'm sticking with my thing." With his "Reality Is Bad: Enough" LP out currently, and a new one, "Photographs," coming soon, plus a growing following overseas, Patrick Sky's career looks far from dead. And perhaps he's paved the way for more "singer/songwriters" to win wide acceptance via foreign tours.

And anyway, the English will probably start exporting their own soon, which will undoubtedly go down well with American audiences.

SGC's Second Nazz Album
SGC Records, distributed by Atco, has released the second LP by the Nazz. Titled "Nazz Nazz," the new album was produced and arranged by the group and features songs written by them as well, including "Not Wrong Long" and "Under the Ice," the group's current hit single.

An interesting feature of the album is the fact that SGC has pressed it on red vinyl. Advance copies were rushed to Texas in conjunction with the group's recent concerts in Houston.

Velvet Riding The Crest
NEW YORK — The "KQV Easter Monday Show" at the Civic Arena in Pittsburgh may be marked as a milestone in the career of Harbour Records' Velvet Crest.

Joel Gordon, the leader of the four-man group, told Record World about the group's appearance there with seven other acts, including Tommy James, Tommy Roe, the 1910 Fruitgum Company and the Classics IV. It was the Velvet Crest's first appearance before as many as 16,000 people, and they were a resounding suc-

A Family Plan
NEW YORK — Reprise's Family, a five-man group from England, didn't make it on their U.S. debut at the Fillmore East recently, but drummer Rob Townsend and singer Roger Chapman didn't seem too uptight about it.

When your instrumentation includes electric violin, bass guitar, soprano and tenor sax, harmonica, penny whistle, guitar and drums, and (like Family) you happen not to go in for tight arrangements and such, but prefer to let it all happen spontaneously on stage. Also, both Rob and Roger seemed quite amazed at the "competitive" atmosphere here in the states, where the segment of the Fillmore crowd that came to see headliners Ten Years After could not wait for Family to finish their set before applauding and calling for their heroes.

But Family will go on to Boston, and then return to the Scene in New York for a week, and when they have gotten accustomed to the climate here, their music should fall together nicely.

Rob Townsend, however, mentioned that he hates playing concerts in a Fillmore-sized hall. Their music does seem suited to a more intimate club-like atmosphere.

Their second LP, "Family Entertainment," was just released, and if Detroit, Toronto and other cities on their itinerary can accept something new more gracefully than the "Spoonful" fans at the Fillmore, they will be a musical force to be reckoned with.

Roulette Spins With 5 New Singles

NEW YORK — Sid Schaffer, Director of Sales of Roulette Records, reported a new peak of activity for the firm with all of his promotion men on the road herding five hot records which are showing action in different sections of the country.

One-Eyed Jacks' "Sky of My Mind," Schaffer related, is breaking out in Chicago, Iowa, Indiana, Connecticut and Massachusetts, while Harry Batchelor's "Soul Soul Feeling," is showing signs of making it big in R&B markets, with considerable life in Baltimore, Washington and Albany, N.Y.

Quick Brown Fox "Come on Down to New Orleans" and Tasha Thomas' "Michael Michael!" have taken off in several locations, while an important acquisition by Nate McCalla on the Salem label, pursued in Chicago and distributed by Calla, Bobby Rush's "Wake Up," is moving well; and both Schaffer and McCalla are up on a new single, a master purchase from Memphis on the Lo Lo label, also being distributed by Calla, featuring a new artist, Big Elvis, with "I Need a Lot of Loving (To Satisfy Me)," which previews have indicated will be a heavy record in both r’n'b and pop markets.

Schaffer claimed his promotion men had found they were gathering plays on all five records on the same as well as on different stations, because of the diversity of product. With Tommy James' "Sweet Cherry Wine" still building from over half a million, Schaffer says, "and five, six others moving, it looks like prelude is in for one of its biggest years yet."

New Presley Single
RCA Records is rushing into release two sides from Elvis Presley's recent recording session in Memphis. The single, "In The Ghetto" c/w "Anyday Soon," will be among the major participants.

'Kites' Reserviced
Project 3 has had so many requests for "Kites Are Fun" by the Free Design that it has decided to reserve all distributors and radio stations throughout the country. The Free Design also are becoming a star college attraction.

Zombies Gold-disked
The Zombies have achieved their first gold record for their date single, "Time of the Season," Group's new single is "Friends of Mine."

More Buddah Gold
For the fourth time in four months Buddah Records has received R.I.A.A. certification for a million-selling single, "It's Your Thing," written, produced and performed by the Isley Brothers on their Buddah distributed T-Neck label.

Buddah opened this year with "Chewy Chewy" by the Ohio Express hitting the million mark in early January. February saw "The Worst That Could Happen" by the Brooklyn Bridge reach over a million in sales. Then, in March, the 1910 Fruitgum Company's "Indian Giver" sold a million.

"We've equalled our entire track record for last year in the first four months of this year," said Neil Bogart, VP of Buddah. "We're already working on 'Merry' by the Ohio Express as our next gold single and hopefully we'll be able to continue this winning streak throughout the year." Bogart went on to say that he was pleased that Buddah had four diverse million sellers: two bubblegum, one R&B, and one contemporary pop.

Let God Smile on 'Oh Happy Day'

It is no secret that the biggest news in the industry the past few weeks was the breaking out of a gospel record, "Oh Happy Day," by the Northern California State Youth Choir of Oakland California, now the Edwin Hawkins Singers.

Bill Gavin called it the greatest record since the Mormon Tabernacle Choir's "Battle Hymn of the Republic" a few years back.

What caught the industry unaware was that this was the first black gospel record to catch on and be programmed on many of the "Top 40 Rockers," the "R & B" stations as well as many "jazz" stations.

The latter stations should not be surprised since jazz gospel and R & B are all from the same family. (Just check out the number of black stars whose embryo talents were fertilized in the black church.)

Be that as it may, somewhere out in the Bay area an underground station began playing the record. The breakup came and with a nudge from Mr. Gavin it swept across the country. This soon found the record companies in the battle of who will get there "first with the mostest." Buddah Records has won.

Gospel Breaking Pop?

A gospel record breaking pop? We can see now that anything is possible in this jet age. However, let me offer a few words of caution.

Gospel music is very sacred to black folk of this country. This is 1969 and black folk especially those in this industry are aware that it was the record companies who were first responsible for the removal of gospel and religious music from the black stations.

You see the record companies in cooperation with programming consultants, hired and self-appointed, were the ones who went to the station managers and told the white station managers what black folks needed. This has always been the case. There was never any consultation with the black members of the staff. In less than five years gospel programs have all but disappeared from black radio on a daily basis.

The claim by these consultants that gospel was not getting the audience ratings was being disclaimed each Sunday morning by the packed houses of worship in black communities across the country.

They also failed to hear the sound of Aretha Franklin that was beginning to penetrate the wall of "contemporary white music" and proving that music could be the universal language of all mankind. These were the same experts who a few years ago laughed when Ray Charles or James Brown played the Copacabana.

So the rush to have everybody do a gospel record is now on. The scouts are making it uptown, downtown and across town. They're standing outside the churches with their tape recorders, listening and hoping to find a new group.

Some are rediscovering that black people are not all involved with drugs and hitting folks in the head or demonstrating. More are going to church combining militancy with love and reverence. So the scouts may hear a message of love while they are scouting and taping the choir. But it ain't gon' work, my man.

There are a number of brothers who will not play "Oh Happy Day" feeling that the record should be restricted to the gospel shows. I don't agree with them, but I do share their concern that gospel music must be programmed and recorded with proper reverence and respect.

Pate Directs Verve A&R

Johnny Pate has signed as Director of A & R for the Verve label, announces Tom White, MGM Director of Business Affairs. In this capacity, Pate will also be responsible for jazz, rhythm and blues and soul product.

Johnny Pate, Tom White

Prior to joining MGM/Verve, he was mid-west A & R producer for ABC Records for four years. During his career in the recording field, he has been active as a free-lance arranger and producer. He was responsible for the recording success of such artists as the Impressions, B. B. King, the O'Jays, Della Reese, and many others.

Pate also pioneered the use of using recording artists for radio and television commercials for national advertised products.

Born and bred in Chicago, he taught himself to play bass and arrange during his stint in the Army. He has arranged and played for Ella Fitzgerald, Sarah Vaughan, Ray Charles, Joe Williams, Dinah Washington and Wes Montgomery.

With all of the revolutions and revolts going on, the black man has not lost faith in his church. He is assuming new positive postures. A case in point is the successful Saturday morning services brilliant Rev. Jesse Jackson conducts in Chicago. Rev. Jackson is proving that with the Operation Bread Basket, the church can become an important instrument in the area of social agitation and human relations.

Now, the question arises as to whether or not the industry is going to allow itself to become swept up in what some people will try to invent as a "new thing." And find itself on the short end of a program that will backfire and bring irreparable harm.

Finally, allow me to offer that black people are not going to be fooled this time. And if (Continued on page 98)
Receiving Hospital, were Recovering at Home

First reports of his injuries, sufficient to continue on his tour of one-nighters which had been prematurely cancelled.

RCA's John Gary, who was involved in a motorcycle accident on Friday, April 4, has recovered sufficiently from his injuries to continue on his tour of one-nighters which had been prematurely cancelled.

First reports of his injuries, after he was taken to Hollywood Receiving Hospital, were not accurate. Preliminary examinations had diagnosed a compound fracture of the left leg (tibia), but further examination by Gary's own physician, Dr. John McGonicle, after he had been transferred to St. John's Hospital in Santa Monica, revealed that the leg bone was only chipped. The top portion of Gary's little finger, which was almost severed, was sewn back and is healing.

Gary left the hospital on Monday and is recovering at home. He will resume the tour on Saturday, April 12, with a concert at Arthur Hill High School Auditorium at Saginaw, Mich.

He will perform all of the concerts by walking to center stage and sitting on a chair.

THE
L.A. SCENE
Take a Tangerine and peel it and then put the thing on the inside on your record player... do not break it into pieces because that way it sounds very scratchy.
April 8, 1969

Mr. Bob Austin, Publisher
Record World
200 West 57th Street
New York, New York 10019

Dear Mr. Austin:

The past few years has seen Los Angeles assuming an increasingly important position as a center of the music business -- especially in the field of new companies employing and sponsoring young talent. This is a contribution not only to the economics of the music and record industry in Los Angeles and throughout the country, but also to the pleasure of millions of people who enjoy music.

I am pleased that Record World is devoting a special issue entitled "L. A. Explosion" which points up the music and record industry's activities in our city and I commend the magazine for its continuing interest in the significant role Los Angeles plays in this important industry.

Los Angeles, 'Now' City

By DICK CLARK

Music Shocks, Ads., may not sound like Tin Pan Alley, but it and other cities like Philadelphia, Washington, Memphis, New Orleans and Atlanta and, more importantly, New York, Nashville, Detroit and Los Angeles, have emerged as the music production centers of the nation.

The emphasis keeps shifting from town to town, but there is no doubt that Los Angeles has become a key, if not "the" key, center.

The sunny Southland is a magnet attracting every sort of musician and musical group extant. With too few studio facilities to accommodate them all, new studios are being built daily to cope with the demand for making music. And, where once Los Angeles was the home of the "surfing sound," now it is the melting pot of music.

Many new groups concealing as yet undiscovered stars as well as stars of top stature are coming here for the Los Angeles sound. And that does include people from Detroit, Nashville, New Orleans and all the other "sound" centers.

Best Production Talent

Once here, they discover that Los Angeles has the best available production talent. With the exception of soul, Los Angeles is currently setting the pace for all kinds of music. The reasons for this are varied. It's partly because of the surplus of musical talent here, which gives Los Angeles the biggest talent pool anywhere it's due in part to the fact that all the kooky things which make California different also tie her into the music business.

An interesting sidelight to Los Angeles' emergence as a key production center is that it has become the second biggest area in the nation for country music, via the field of night clubs and auditoriums. More importantly, we now find some of the leaders of California rock embracing country music. This includes such notables as the Flying Burrito Brothers, Dillard & Clark and Smokestack Lightning.

Los Angeles has always been the entertainment capital of the world, so it shouldn't seem unusual that it has now become the music capital, as well. It all ties-in. For instance, firms like the Film Factory and Charlatan Productions are busy producing music for avant garde films and television. The film industry is also giving young, contemporary writers a great opportunity. Many of them, such as Mike Curb, John Sebastian and Neil Diamond, are scoring important films and influencing the sound of music around the world.

Market for Music

California is also a tremendous market for music. Concerts and festivals abound not only with events like Woodstock Beach and Monterey festivals, but the concerts which occur almost nightly at theaters, night clubs and auditoriums throughout the state. And the quality of these musical attractions is so good that new music fans are being made daily.

Cassettes Will Do Job

All these factors have cre- ated improvements in new production processes for serving the public's music. The advent of the cartridge tape, which started here and is now spreading across the country, may soon sound the death knell for records as we know them. Before long cassettes will be doing the job for both home and portable use.

Radio Has Played Big Part in Success

Radio, too, has played a big part in creating California's market for music. There are more cars with radios, more radios per capita and more radio stations in Los Angeles than in any other city in the world. And since each of the stations content themselves with just a small segment of an extremely large market, each has developed a different sound.

The cats in Los Angeles are betting out a new kind of time. They're aware that the chart action begins and spreads from here and that their town has become the NOW city.

L.A.: The Perfect Climate For Underground Music

By CARL LeFONG

Sometimes it's easy for us so-called liberals to become very conservative about rock, hard to accept new forms and new facts, easy to relate to the politically conservative who have an even harder time accepting change, hard to let go of a past experienced and enjoyed.

Sitting here in L.A., getting lots of upbeat letters because we don't pay enough attention to what's happening musically in New York or Boston or Philadelphia or whatever, wanting sometimes to write back up-tight with some kind of graph illustrating the statistics, proving how much music is generated here, how many good sounds are discovered here, but deciding in the end that it's fruitless because no such statistics exist, and we'd probably find that statistics would only prove the antagonists right anyway. The L.A. music scene is really more a spirit, after all, than champion in a contest of music production output.

Started with Dylan

The modern American rock scene didn't start here. It started with Dylan's appearance at the Newport Folk Festival five years ago when he appeared with amplification and blew minds with a sound that is pretty close to that on "Bringing It All Back Home," his first electric LP, released almost simultaneously with his Newport appearance. Dylan had already been electrified, though, in Los Angeles, by the group that got the whole thing moving, opened the doors wide to a new age for Dylan and hundreds of thousands of young people. The Byrds.

Ciro's, the Palladium, the Trip, a flight to England, a press agent named Derek Taylor, "Mr. Tamborine Man," a beautiful album, and the Byrds and the L.A. scene were wailing. The Beatles relaxed in L.A., the Stones recorded in L.A., a group called the Grass Roots began to make noise, its leader Arthur Lee began to attract a following and then an- other group with the same name had a hit single—Dylan song, "Ballad of a Thin Man"—and Arthur Lee's group changed its name to Love.

The Rising Sons, playing the mean old country blues under the leadership of Taj Mahal, cultivated a coterie of fans, and then disintegrated in the studio. A fantastic white blues singer by the names of Don Van Vliet, who led a powerful group called Captain Beefheart and His Magic Band, made a short appearance and cut a single which was a lot of hype ago.

Talk About Mothers

Then everyone was talking about a group called the Mothers, who were doing incredible things for audiences at the Whiskey-A-Go-Go and other places. The recording sessions for their first album, for a company that made them add "Of Invention" to their name, were outrageous. And about the Doors, a real insiders' band, underground to even the underground. To see them, you had to go to tiny clubs like the London Fog, seating capacity 45, where Morrison and friends held forth from a stage of planks whose underside provided a ceiling for the men's room.

The Association played the Ice House in Glendale, dressed in carefully pressed suits, aiming to be where the M.F.Q. was—comfortable and playing the Trip—but caught between Sunset Blvd., and the New Christy Minstrels, a rut they've never been able to really escape.

It was a good scene, a time when everything and everyone had to be seen, when it was new and full and good and you didn't dare miss anything. That was a lot of hype ago.

It's only become larger and much less reliable and much more paranoid today. The amount of good music being produced here has increased accordingly.

W-T-Reprise which was just plain Warner Bros.-Reprise in those days and not that big in rock, has become the quantity and quality leader here. A & M has come on strong, has Lou Adler's old label Dunhill, which was there with Barry McGuire when it all began. Epic seems to be stirring into action, now that its British support has dwindled, and is taking care of business in L.A. And Liberty/Imperial has also come alive, following up its (Continued on page 8)

RCA Keeps Pace with L.A. Explosion Via Autonomous Operation

Victor Coast Expansion Continues

By JACK DEVANEY

One of the most striking examples of what is happening on the Los Angeles musical scene is the change in the character and pace of the West Coast office of the giant major label RCA Records.

Just a few short years ago, the RCA Coast record operation consisted of a staff of two—an A&R man and a secretary—housed in the old NBC building on Vine St. Today, the L.A.-based Coast headquarters employ a permanent staff of over 25 people who occupy ultra-modern offices in the beautiful new RCA building on Sunset Blvd.

The best illustration of the change in the thinking of a major label regarding Los Angeles was expressed by Harry Jenkins, Division Vice President, Record Operations, during a recent visit from his Eastern base to the offices here. Jenkins stressed the complete "autonomy of operation" of the West Coast offices, making it possible for the staff here to make decisions and move quickly and keep pace with the immediacy of today's record business. Final product decisions and the final creative judgment of product remain in the hands of Joe Reisman, Manager and Executive Producer, Popular Artist and Repertoire, West Coast.

Again, Reisman gives a free hand to the producers working with him and, as he told Record World, "Leaves the creativity to the creators." In addition to the supervision of producers working directly for RCA, Reisman works closely with the outside independent producers creating product for the label, and personally produces sessions for RCA artists Henry Mancini, Hugo Montenegro, Rouvaun and pop producer Andres Previn. He also stays in close touch with the film soundtrack field and in this capacity works closely with Lester Sill and Jonie Tauppe of the Coast office of Colgems. Latest soundtrack acquired by Reisman is the original Quiney Jones music from the new film "Mackenna's Gold."

We have just been informed that California will shortly slip into the sea. Too bad. These albums were doing so well in L.A. On Columbia Records
Columbia and the California Gold Rush

As offices are being set up in Columbia’s hallways, it is readily apparent how rapidly the West Coast is expanding. Although Columbia Records has had offices and studios on the Coast for quite a while, only in the last few years has the West Coast branch become a major part of the tree.

Even before the San Francisco sound became a major force, Columbia was already in the process of expanding their West Coast operations. The increase in successful product from the Coast became more and more evident. As trips to the Coast became more frequent, it was soon realized that commuting was no longer practical or expedient. Therefore, Columbia started feeding qualified personnel to the West Coast as permanent positions were set up there.

In order to maintain Columbia’s leadership in the industry, the label is expanding its West Coast organization at an unprecedented rate. There have been many important moves to Los Angeles recently. Jack Gold, Vice President of Columbia A&R, is based on the Coast. April Blackwood, Columbia’s publishing company, opened new offices there just last summer. Al Kasha, an experienced New York music executive, moved West in order to run it. The West Coast A&R staff now includes such producers as Jerry Fuller, Sonny Knight, Tim O’Brien, and, of course, Jack Gold.

All Departments Expanded

Within the last two years, Columbia has set up their own West Coast art department, and all other departments have been expanded. And just recently, Richard Klinger, an astute young music executive and lawyer, has been appointed Director of Business Affairs for the West Coast.

Columbia’s A&R staff has been so successful that it is being said that they put the gold in the Golden West. Jack Gold, in addition to producing Barbara Streisand’s gold records, is responsible for Ray Conniff’s newest gold album, “It Must Be Him.” Jack also produces Percy Faith who still maintains his high level of popularity; and Jack’s latest projects are Karen Rondell, a new discovery, and the Jack Gold Orchestra and Chorus, a new sound.

Chorus, a new sound.

Jerry Fuller already has five gold records to his credit. The first four Union Gap singles he produced all received gold records. And O. C. Smith’s hit of “Little Green Apples” not only won Jerry a gold record but also established O. C. as a major artist.

Because of this kind of success, larger facilities are needed. New buildings are currently being acquired and new recording studios are being built.

The newest talent Columbia has discovered on the Coast, San Francisco to be exact, is the Santana Blues Band and It’s a Beautiful Day. Both groups are in the final phases of their first albums which will be released in the near future. Janis Joplin has left San Francisco for an extensive tour through Europe and will work on her next album as soon as she returns. Meanwhile, Big Brother and the Holding Company will soon have their new album completed. In L.A., Sonny Knight is producing an album with the Spiral Staircase to follow up their current hit single “More Today Than Yesterday.”

William LP Completed

The new Andy Williams album has just been completed under the direction of Jerry Fuller. It looks like another gold record for him. Andy has a new single hit, too, “Happy Heart.” And Jerry’s next project will be the new O. C. Smith single. Barbara Streisand, who relocated to the Coast for the filming of “Funny Girl” (which, incidentally, won her a gold record and an Oscar), is working on many new projects. Ray Conniff and Percy Faith continue to record on the Coast and remain consistently strong sellers.

New TV Projects

Two of Columbia’s West Coast artists are doing new projects for television. Jim Nabors is leaving his “Gomer Pyle” show to head a new musical television series. John Davidson has left the Coast for England to star in his own series for ABC. It’s currently being taped in London to be shown here this summer. Staff producer Tim O’Brien is flying over soon to record two albums from the show.

Moby Grape’s album, “Moby Grape, ‘69,” is doing well.

Two new contemporary artists who already have a large West Coast following and have just recorded for Columbia are Mark Spoelstra, from San Francisco, and Hoyt Axton, from Los Angeles. In Columbia’s rock department, Taj Mahal is attracting much wider attention with his new album and a large number of Coast appearances. The Byrds continue to fly high with their new album, “Dr. Byrds and Mr. Hyde.”

Columbia’s success in California shows no sign of any slacking. As long as the Coast remains as fertile as it has, Columbia will remain in the middle of it. Columbia has done well on the Coast in the past, the present is surpassing all expectations and the future looks even greater.

Perfect Climate

for a mediocre band to get it together, and cut down the amount of tripe recorded here. Maybe that’s the statistical tack to take: Fewer lousy recordings made in L.A. than in any other part of the country.

But since the number of lousy records made increases in direct proportion to the good ones, at a ratio of about two to one (anyone care to argue that fantastic statistic?), no matter where they’re recorded, that theory won’t work either.

It’s much warmer in L.A. and the radio here is better than in any other part of the U.S.A.
"New York is O.K. you know, but I lived there all my life and we figured (my Board of Directors and me) that maybe it was enough already with the cold and the hot and the snow. So we came to Los Angeles. They want me to tell you about it because I'm the only guy in the bunch who could fit on one page."
L. A. Seethes with Creativity Says Atlantic's Ahmet Ertegun

More Time, Cross-Fertilization Of Musical Styles Among Reasons

"There is no city in the United States where there is such musical ferment as Los Angeles. More new ideas, more imaginative approaches to music and more fine singers and groups emerge from the Los Angeles area than anywhere else. The entire city is seething with creative musicians."

This statement is from Ahmet Ertegun, President of Atlantic Records and a frequent traveler to the West Coast. And he knows whereof he speaks because many of Atlantic and Atco's top groups hail from or make their home in Los Angeles.

Among the top singers and groups whose home is in Los Angeles and who were signed to Atlantic-Atco by Ahmet Ertegun are such outstanding artists as Sonny and Cher, the Iron Butterfly, Dr. Jon the Night Tripper, Green, Black Pearl, the Blues Image, the Rose Garden and Crosby-Stills-Nash (David Crosby of the Byrds, Steve Stills of Buffalo Springfield, Graham Nash of the Hollies). One of Atlantic's top groups, the late Buffalo Springfield, also made Los Angeles their home.

According to Ahmet Ertegun, the reason for the musical creativity in Los Angeles has to do with the style of living enjoyed by musicians there.

"The pace is easier, the pressure is not as great as New York, it is possible to take time to experiment. In addition, there has been a flow into Los Angeles of musicians from all sections of the country and there has been a cross-fertilization of musical styles. The Buffalo Springfield with a country type sound and the Iron Butterfly with a rock sound both are from Los Angeles. Every variety of musical style emanates from L.A. Our new group, Green, is a classical rock group; Black Pearl is as hard as steel, gritty rock combo; Crosby-Stills-Nash are an outstanding vocal as well as a top instrumental group," he said.

There are additional reasons for the L.A. musical ferment, notes Ertegun. They include the opportunity of groups and singers on the West Coast to be able to secure a showcase in clubs in or near the city. And it also includes the fact that rock fans in the area are anxious to listen to new groups and quickly rally behind a good one. Ertegun points out that recently, when he visited Los Angeles, he heard over a dozen new groups—all of whom were above average—each of which had a sizeable following.

"The hardest thing was to choose the beat group," opined Ertegun.

Another aspect of the L.A. scene, noted Ertegun, is the number of top-flight record producers on the Coast, "like Charles Green and Brian Stone who were associated with Sonny and Cher, the Buffalo Springfield, Rose Garden; Jim Hilton, who has made Iron Butterfly's best-selling albums; Lee Kiefer and Richard Moore, who produced Black Pearl; and Fred Darian, who produced Green. Also, we've just made arrangements with Jim Halberstadt, to produce for Atlantic/Atco/Cotillion. These young producers, with their ingenuity and fresh ideas, have helped make L.A. a swinging place to make recordings."

The West Coast, Ertegun points out, has always had a reputation as a creator of trends and new musical ideas. The surfing sound of the Beach Boys, the hard rock sound of the Byrds, the soft country sound of the Buffalo Springfield, the bright, happy sound of Sonny and Cher—all of these began on the West Coast, out of Los Angeles. This is even more true today. The West Coast loyalty supports its own, too. Sales of recordings by the Iron Butterfly and Buffalo Springfield, for example, are proportionally higher in Los Angeles than in other major markets.

Ertegun's most recent visit to the West Coast was concerned with supervision of Crosby-Stills-Nash's forthcoming Atlantic album, which the trio produced themselves. "This album, I predict, will be one of the most important rock albums to be released this year," said Ertegun. "What is remarkable about it is the vocal work by the three. In fact the reason the group got together in the first place was to sing. I think this album will start another trend for the West Coast."

Decca’s Coast Bee-Hive

With the increase of activity that is very much in evidence on the West Coast, Decca Records has stepped up its recording operation the past year, during which this growth has been particularly significant.

As a matter of record, the growing importance of the music industry on the West Coast prompted Decca to enlarge and expand its facilities some two years ago. At that time, offices were opened at 1777 North Vine St. and Gil Rodin was appointed Administrative Director of Artists and Repertoire for the Coast.

Since then Decca Records has become a bee-hive of activity, involving several new West Coast acts who will soon be making their debut on the label, such as Pidgeon, the Magic Grass and B. J. Baker, among others. The success of soundtrack albums in the Decca catalog has been recently furthered with the release of “Sweet Charity,” the Universal Pictures roadshow production of the Broadway success, and soon to be released is the soundtrack album of “Winning,” starring Paul Newman, Joanne Woodward and Robert Wagner. The picture is about American auto racing with a score by Dave Grusin, who composed some of the additional music for “The Graduate.” He also composed the music for two successful TV series, “It Takes A Thief” and “The Name of The Game.”

One of Biggest Sellers

One of the biggest album sellers currently high on the charts is “W. C. Fields-Original Voice Tracks From His Greatest Movies.” The album was produced by Gil Rodin and Johnny Wayne, of Wayne and Shuster fame. Rodin is presently working on several other projects in the same vein as the Fields album, utilizing the wealth of material in the Universal Pictures catalog.

The Vine Street office also houses Larry Banghart, newly appointed to the A & R staff on the Coast, who is specifically involved with auditioning new acts and masters in the contemporary rock field. On the Universal City Studio lot, Decca is represented with its own building, which features advanced recording facilities. The Universal-Decca Recording Studio was opened in December of last year and boasts the first 16 track console ever to be used on the Coast. The studio is administered by Phil Yeend, chief engineer, and his assistant, Terry Brown. Overseeing is Charles “Bud” Dant, Decca’s West Coast Artists and Repertoire Director, who has produced recordings for such artists as the Irish Rovers, Earl Grant and Pete Fountain, in addition to composing and arranging the music for the Fields package.

The success of the new recording facility is best illustrated by a list of some of the artists who have availed themselves of the studio, such as the Association, Elvis Presley, Jim Webb, Quincy Jones, the Strawberry Alarm Clock and Roger Williams, in addition to the label’s major artists who record on the coast.

Many on TV

As a result of the efforts of Decca’s expanded operation on the Coast, a number of artists on the label have been spotted in segments of several successful television series, such as Earl Grant, who was featured throughout a recent episode of “It Takes A Thief.” The Irish Rovers have guested on three different episodes of “The Virginian,” one of which resulted in their being offered a series of their own. In addition, the West Coast operation has enabled Decca artists to appear on many of the live and syndicated TV variety shows emanating from Hollywood.

Decca feels that the potential has just been scratched on the Coast. The creativity and the production facilities now exist in greater depth than ever before. It is the intention of Decca’s West Coast complex to utilize every existing facility to the best possible advantage, plus adding any new facilities that might further enhance the company’s success and insure Decca’s continued development and growth for the future.

(Boulevard, That Is)

By RON BARON

In the words of L.A.'s Ike and Tina Turner, "What we need is an understanding." This time the understanding pertains to the record industry's picture on the West Coast. One street in particular, the world-renowned Sunset Boulevard, has developed into the axis of the city's musical activity. So much so that Hollywood is becoming reglamorized as it emerges as the leading locale for wax works.

Peculiar attention which had previously always been put upon the starlet in sunglasses is now drawn to the record producer in his own version of wigs and designer names. This new prototype has been instrumental in structurizing the Sunset Strip and its entire boulevard into serving the needs of the industry. This has been achieved by providing everything from recording studios to record labels; from talent agencies to publicity firms, all in proximity to each other on one street.

The reason for Eastern companies coming to Los Angeles to base their operation is, as Charles Monmouth puts it, "Home is not where you live but where they understand you." Los Angeles as especially depicted by a refurbshed Sunset Boulevard is testimonial that a city, by providing facilities, understands its creative workers and vice-versa.

Sunset Boulevard was nominated in November as also the year of transparent film and the cash register. Early real estate ads boasted, "Rich soil, splendid climate, fine view, no floods, and above the fog." Today, 89 years later, the rich soil is occupied by every facet of leisure activity, including record production and its related fields. The "Splendid climate" is another seductive factor in bringing new inhabitants to L.A. Business can become the leading locale for wax works.

Stogels Considered Issue

A warmer climate and a healthier environment is an issue of concern to any family. The Leonard Stogels were one of the Sunset families to consider this issue and their decision was a Beverly Hills home and offices on Sunset Boulevard.

It was a costly decision for Leonard Stogel's highly successful management, as it meant severing ties with Tommy James and the Shondells. The departure was as much one as Stogel didn't feel he could fully guide the careers of an Eastern based group from Los Angeles.

Leonard Stogel is an administrator, first class. He is also a portrait of creativity and perception, all qualities needed in being a manager. However, above all, "Silent" Stogel is a family man and he felt that California had the climate conducive to raising a family. Leonard and his wife, Myrna, who is also active in their business, released the Shondells but, based on their strong convictions to settle in L.A., convinced another of their big clients, the Cowsills family, to join them in the move.

Another main reason for Westward Ho was because the Cowsills have been more and more involved in TV and films, and the move put them in closer contact with these fields. Leonard disclosed to Record World that the Cowsills are up for a possible series of their own. Individual members of the family are also being considered for various feature roles in other properties.

Stogel approves of the informal manner in which business is conducted on the West Coast and he feels his personal relationship with the industry has been strong since his home permits extensive entertaining. He cited having the Cowsills up for a Sunday afternoon barbecue as an example of his ability to fully enjoy the friendship of his clients.

Now away from New York, Leonard is busy signing new writers to his publishing firm, Abkedar, which already owns the important copyrights to "Apples, Peaches, Pumpkin Pie" and "The Rain, The Park and Other Things," among others. In addition to the Cowsills, Leonard and Myrna Stogel handle A & M's Lee Michael and two fantastic new Seattle groups, the Locomotive and the Popcorn, yet unsigned. Plus A & M's Tommy Boyce and Bobby Hart. Stogel is also initiating an insurance program for all of his acts, the first of its kind, he notes.

Associated Newest Addition

Moving East along the Boulevard one sees the 9000 Sunset Building, newest addition to this towering structure is Lee Weisel's Associated Talent Management, which directs the careers of the Iron Butterfly, Black Pearl and the Blues Image.

The Iron Butterfly have skyrocketed since those early days almost two years ago when they were broke and approached Attorney Weisel for assistance. ATM was the consequence of the group's first meeting with Lee Weisel. Today, three LPs later, the Butterfly's first album, "In a Gadda Vanidad," is about to become platinum.

As for Lee Weisel and his partner, Larry Larson, success has been phenomenal as evidenced by the change from a one-room office in the San Fernando Valley to their current prestige address on the Boulevard.

With Stogel Revealed to Record World that ATM has formed Itaska Record Productions, a new affiliate which will produce the Blues Image. Back-up planning is an important thing for groups, and through Weisel's counseling, the Iron Butterfly will make as much in their property investments as they will in record royalties. ATM should stand for the All Together Management Firm because their efforts are applied to careful coordinating and the philosophy of teamwork.

Rivers on Boulevard

Continuing down Sunset one may stumble upon an inconspicuous wooden site bearing a sign painted in another old world lettering, which reads, Riversa Music Co., Work Music Inc., and Soul City Productions Inc. Its exterior resembling an Elizabethan tavern, no one would suspect the business is a music operation headed by Johnny Rivers makes the Boulevard worth some more millions. The Riversa Music catalogue has two of the biggest copyright rights of the decade, "By The Time I Get To Phoenix" and "Up, Up, And Away." It also owns the Riversa composition "Poor Side of Town" and many other Jimmy Webb tunes.

The Riversa-owned Soul City Productions has the Fifth Dimension's "Up, Up And Away." The reason for this is that a L.A. facilities and musicans can create any of the above sounds mentioned.

"L.A. city has come up with groovy records. Any city's sound can be duplicated in Los Angeles. Most people think 'Up, Up And Away' came from New York, but it and many of my old records which were country blues, were recorded in Los Angeles," Rivers further commented, "New York musicians strike me as being too much like businessmen, with a standardized sound."

Johnny's outfit is just up the street from Whisky A GoGo, the place where it first happened for him. He has continued a good rapport with the club's owner, Elmer Valentine, who tips Johnny whenever a really 'big' night is planned. As it is now Johnny listens to new writers and singers whenever they come up to his office. Soon he will be able to test their voices right in his own premises at his $350,000 recording studio is installed downstairs.

Rivers loves California, from his Sunset Boulevard business to his non公网 retreat in Carmel. Johnny has gone through some changes, such as fewer concerts and no television appearances in over two years. The reason, an obvious one, is time. As a songwriter, performer, producer, administrator, and label president, Johnny needs time to just relax, and when he needs it he takes it.

A Creative Complex

Music trendsetters are Sun-

setters. This is where it's at—places, talent, contacts and everything else under the sun. You can almost drive down the Strip as manager Mark Slotkin did with two attractive twin sisters, now known professionally as the Gemini Twins. Upon finding the girls, Slotkin started Creative Complex, with offices in a palatial home in the Hollywood hills, looking down on the Boulevard.

Mark signed two of his acts, the Fields and the Aquarians, to Uni Records. Uni, of course, is another exponent of Sunset. The Creative Complex is exactly as its name indicates, encompassing management, production and publishing. As a publisher, its Crecon Music has the contributing talents of the Fields, the Aquarians (whose music Slotkin describes as "coming down music") and multi-talented Bill Rinehart. Rinehart was a member of the (Continued on page 18)

WB-7A Label Theme

One of the hottest recording companies in the business is Warner Bros.-Seven Arts Records, Inc. In just over 10 years, the Burbank label—formed in 1958 as a subsidiary to the motion picture company—Warner Bros.—has springboarded into a record company among the largest in the world. The growth of the Warners waxy was due in principle to the guidance of its officers and the exploitation campaigns unveiled for each single and album release.

J. K. "Mike" Maitland, President of the label, succeeded Jamison Wallack in 1961 when the latter retired from the music industry. Under Maitland's aegis the Warners diskery has grown in leaps and bounds. Such important recording personalities as Frank Sinatra, Dean Martin, Sammy Davis, Jr., are among a talent lineup that also features Petula Clark, Nancy Sinatra, the Association, Peter, Paul and Mary, Mason Williams and Jimi Hendrix.

To sum up the Warners recording story year-by-year would take just about that much time. And these pages are limited. Keeping this in mind let us just review some of the recent happenings at a recording company that is really "happening."

A Warners Milestone

For example: Just this year Warner Bros.-Seven Arts Records, Inc. opened its own recording and music publishing companies in the United Kingdom. The British subsidiary, a milestone in the progress of the Warners label, is under the directorship 32-year-old Ian Ralfini, one of the leading record and publishing execs in Great Britain. Putting such a young man at the helm of such an important undertaking was in company's policy under Maitland's directorship—that of keeping a young approach to the record market.

"After all," says Maitland, "the record buyers are young—and it takes young thinking people to create and produce the type of product that we can sell. And selling is our business."

Another progressive move undertaken by the Burbank diskery was its entrance into the eight-track cartridge field.

Since January when WB-7 Arts Records first unveiled its cartridges—reaping most of the artists on the label—company sales have soared in excess of 30% over last year. The firm, although beeping its sales with cartridges, will still continue to produce and release approximately 100 albums per year. The total is by far less than other major companies, but for obvious reasons. One of management's primary requisites is not how much product you release—but the type of product you release. Simply that quality will rule over quantity.

"The album product is," according to an executive in the company, "most selective. And seldom do we ever release anything that we later regret."

Promotional Incentive

As a promotional incentive, Warners this year produced and distributed a soundtrack album featuring 23 of their underground artists. Over 10,000 copies, comprised of old and new songs, were shipped to radio, press and record distributors throughout the country. The soundtrack, which will not be sold to the public, was packaged by the company's Creative Services Department and includes such underground favorites as Van Dyke Parks, Randy Newman, Joni Mitchell, Arlo Guthrie, the Every Brothers, Sweetwater, Eric Andersen, Miriam Makeba, the Family, Van Morrison, the Kinks, the Electric Prunes, the Fugs, Tiny Tim, the Mothers, the Invention, Wild Man Fischer, the Pentangle, Neil Young, Sal Valentino, the Beau Brummels, Jethro Tull, Tom Northcott and Jimi Hendrix.

Soundtrack LPs of motion picture scores are also being stressed by the label. Particular those scores from films produced by its parent company, Warner Bros.-Seven Arts, Inc. The WB label does occasionally release movie scores from pictures produced by other companies. One such example was acquisition of the soundtrack score of the Paramount production, "Goodbye, Columbus," which features the music of the Assumption.

Another vital step taken by the Warners diskery this year was an exclusive recording and distribution agreement between WB's Reprise label and Bizarre, Inc. Under this deal Reprise obtains services and product produced by Frank Zappa such as Mothers of Invention and Lenny Bruce's "Berkeley Concert."

One of the highlights of this year thus far was the first U.S. and concert appearances of England's the Pentagon, Jethro Tull and Family.

Did 'Laugh-In' LP

Another coup accomplished by Warners was the production of a "Laugh-In" album which features many of the NBC-TV show regulars. The "Laugh-In" LP, based on the number one rated television show in the country, features Judy Carne, Arte Johnson, Ruth Buzzi, Henry Gibson, Goldie Hawn, Dave Madden, Gary Owens, Alan Sues, Chelsea Brown, Dick Whittington, Joanne Worley and special guest Connie Stevens.

With barely half of the year gone, the Warners record company is already confidently predicting that 1969 will be a banner year in sales and accomplishments. Their optimistic outlook is justified by much of its product.

Opening in May, for example, the company will release 11 new albums—five of which are on the WB label, and the remaining six under the Reprise logo.

On Warners are: the Grateful Dead, Rod McKuen, Louis Shelton (his first album and produced by Boyce and Hart), Peter, Paul and Mary and Glenn Yarbrough. The Reprise sextet are LPs by: Joni Mitchell, the V ou gues, Francois Hardy, the Electric Prunes, John Renbourn, a member of the Pentangle who soled this time around, and Theodore Bikel, recently signed with the company.

Other new artists that will soon be unveiled by the Burbank diskery will be Mongo Santamaria and Laurindo Almeida—both of whom are world-recognized for their musical achievements.

"Hair" (L.A.) Theater Eliminates Dark Mondays

LOS ANGELES—The Aquarius Theater, where "Hair" hangs out eight times weekly, Tuesday through Sunday, has embarked on a vigorous policy eliminating "dark Mondays," according to manager Alex Holt.

The neighbors of Watts are scheduled for a concert April 28, with Frank Sinatra, Bill Cosby, Nancy Sinatra, Nelson Riddle and his orchestra, and with "Hair" co-producer Tom Smothers as M.C. Proceeds go to a child care center in south-central Los Angeles.

Beatrice Arnac in Concert

Franch chanteuse Beatrice Arnac will appear in concert May 5. Designer Louis Estevez will produce the show the afternoon of May 6 as a feature of National Fashion Week.

Elephant's Memory, a new Budapest band, will stage a rock musical based on Mary Shelley's "Frankenstein" simultaneously on both coasts this fall, as the first step in a multiple production deal.

Sarne Writes, Composes, Directs

Sarne will write, compose and direct the rock musical. In making the announcement, Butler noted that a total production, recording, publishing and merchandising program will be created for "Frankenstein." Productions will begin under his and Sarne's direction, from inception of the stage play through production ultimately of the motion picture.

Warners at the present has 31 artists under the WB label and 39 under Reprise. Plans in the artist field are to increase the stable but, by the same token, one artist can be developed and promoted in the same star-studded vein of diskers presently etching for the company.
The Liberty/UA Story:

It Happened in L.A.

L.A. is where it's happening for Liberty/UA, Inc. Since the inception of Liberty Records in 1958—marked by early triumphs such as Jackie DeShannon's "Cry Me a River," Martin Denny's "Quiet Village," hits by Bobby Vee, the Ventures, Johnny Burnette, the Chipmunks, Sy Zentner and many others—through the current major status of several companies operating under its corporate umbrella, the firm has been instrumental in the growth and expansion of the record industry on the West Coast.

Under the guidance of President Alvin S. Bennett, Liberty—evidencing an amazing annual growth rate—became one of the largest independent record companies in the industry.

The extensive corporate structure now includes every facet of effective record company operation. With fully integrated internal operations, the Los Angeles home office is housed in a complex of five buildings including: Liberty Studios, a completely equipped recording studio with the most modern engineering facilities available—multi-track, self-synch, equalization and mastering equipment along with tape storage and library facilities abound.

Presently in the planning stage is an expansion of studio space to accommodate the ever-expanding schedule of recording sessions emanating from Los Angeles. The company boasts fully staffed and totally diversified creative departments. Creative Director Dick Hendler supervises sales aids, merchandising materials and advertising programs. Album art from concept to completion is handled by Executive Art Director Woody Woodward.

The legal, accounting and financial officers guiding the company's fiscal policies, sales and promotion executives and effective management team directing all operations make their headquarters here.

Among Tape Pioneers:

The company was among the first to foresee the influence of tape in its various configurations and, with the acquisition of a tape duplicating plant in Omaha, began Liberty Stereotape, a forerunner in the field and now a highly significant contributor to the company's continuing success. Earl Hortwitz is General Manager, assisted by National Sales Manager Charles Bratnober and Wally Peters who serves as AR Coordinator and Tape production Manager.

Other divisions headquartered at the L.A. home office are Liberty-Imperial with Bud Dain as General Manager. The recordings of Vikki Carr, Gary Lewis, Canned Heat, Julie London, Bobby Vee, the Johnny Mann Singers, the Ventures and many other artists are guided by Dain along with Jack Bratel and Ed Kaminsky as, respectively, National Sales Manager and National Promotion Director for Liberty, while parallel posts are held by Eli Bird and John Antoon for Imperial, whose Prominent artists include Johnny Rivers, Jackie DeShannon, The Classics IV, Slim Whitman and others.

Helming the World Pacific and Pacific Jazz labels is Dick Bock. Bock has long been one of the most highly respected producers and innovators in the industry. He is generally credited with popularizing Asian music in this country and continues this innovation with widespread representation on his label of artists such as Ravi Shankar and other leading exponents of Eastern Music. Richard "Groove" Holmes, Vice President-Manufacturing.

Jean Luc Ponty, Buddy Rich and the Craig Hundleby Trio are but a few of the highly acclaimed artists represented.

Sales Manager for this dual-label division is Macey Lipman, aided by National Promotion Director Ben Scotti. Lipman and Scotti also work with General Manager Johnny Rivers on Soul City where Al Wilson has developed into a major artist and success continues at an exceptionally high level with the Fifth Dimension whose current recording "Aquarius," has been the country's number one single.

Sales for Sunset, a widely accepted budget line with strong representation of children's records, Talespinners, are handled by Howard Alperin.

Close Liaison with N.Y.:

Corporate management in Los Angeles maintains close liaison with United Artists and Blue Note operating in New York. Various home office departments coordinate the activities of United Artists and Blue Note, along with their subsidiary label entities.

The flow of product from all production centers is relayed to Los Angeles for production planning, scheduling and Manufacturing. The vital functions of manufacturing fall to Irv Kessler, Vice President-Manufacturing.

Hit Themes Like Old Times to Garrett

Snuff Garrett and Executive Vice-President Ed Silvers and Vice-President Mel Biy continue to build their multi-faceted organization of publishing and producing — which also includes their own Amigo Recording studios — along sound business procedures.

"We might be somewhat conservative in our approach," Garrett says, adding, "However, our success can speak for itself.

For the record, Garrett became a record producer 11 years ago with Liberty at the age of 19. He was probably the first teenage record producer ever hired by a major label. In 1965, after seven years and with $9,000, Garrett left Liberty to become an independent producer-publisher and started his own label. Today, the company controls copyrights to over 400 songs and ranks among the top publishers in the U.S.

The recording labels are Viva and Bravo Records; publishing companies, Viva Music, Zapata Music, Stone Canyon Music, Barışica Music, in addition to publishing companies co-owned with Trini Lopez.

Garrett Continues to Record

Garrett continues to record with Gary Lewis, Peter Lawford and Dorsey Burnette, and in the past has produced for Bobby Vee, Walter Brennan, Brian Hyland, Gene McDaniels, Julie London, Johnny Burnette, Dorsey Burnette, Jerry Lewis and many others.

In the field of "concept" albums, Garrett has produced the successful series of "Midnight Strings," "Tommy Garrett and His Fifty Guitars" (which alone has pressed 24 albums... all on the charts) and currently Viva Record's chart album, "Themes Like Old Times," a gathering of radio program themes.

Publishing Hits...

Publishing hits include: "The Straight Life," recorded by Bobby Goldsboro; several Vogue hits; "Turn Around, Look At Me," "My Special Angel"; Gary Puckett and the Union Gap's "Young Girl" and "Over You.

Last month, Garrett initiated an expansion program of Amigo Recording Studios in North Hollywood. The facility, one of the most modern in California, is staffed by General Manager W. T. "Doc" Bab, along with two engineers, Hank Cicalo and Greg Venable, and three second engineers, Russ Schmidt, Mark Harmon and Larry Stephens. The studio has been averaging 15-20 hours of continuous operation seven days a week since the start of the year.

Songwriter, Too

Garrett, although he cannot read music, has written such songs as "Everybody Loves A Clown," "She's Just My Style" and "Night Has a Thousand Eyes."

Born in Dallas, Snuff started doing record promotion in his hometown at the age of 16 for several labels. At 17, he went to the West Coast to try and land a job with Liberty which proved unsuccessful, so he returned to Texas and worked as a disk jockey and later did a television show in Wichita Falls.

At 19, Snuff returned to California and met Al Bennett, newly appointed head of Liberty, who hired him. Six months later Bennett gave him his first chance at producing and within a year his salary went from $500 to $1,200 a week. In 1957, Garrett had his first big hit—before he reached his 20th birthday.

Polydor Coast Rep

NEW YORK—Jerry Schoenbaum, President of Polydor, Inc., has announced the appointment of Abe Glaser as the West Coast Sales & Promotion—Popular Division representative for the newly formed American Polydor label. Glaser had been with Metro Distributors in Los Angeles.

One of the West Coast's most successful new companies, Ranwood Records, Inc., has just completed its first year of operation under the direction of President Randy Wood, Vice President and General Manager Larry Welk and Executive Vice President Christine Hamilton.

The international organization with its various publishing-recording interests began releasing product on its Ranwood label in February of 1968 with the Lawrence Welk album titled "Love Is Blue."

The Welk package was an immediate success, hitting all the major charts. Ranwood's latest Welk album, "Galveston," shows indication of being an even bigger success after being out a relatively short time.

In its first year of business, the label was able to establish a top-selling act through a Ranwood series of Exotic Guitar albums, an innovative idea developed by Randy Wood. The first two album releases took equal turns at showing up favorably on the national charts. A third LP is due for immediate shipment. Offering a fresh approach to the instrumental menu of music, the albums have received tremendous airplay to date, on nearly every type of radio station in the country.

Garrett Expands H'wood Studios

Snuff Garrett, President of Snuff Garrett Productions, has announced a $50,000 expansion and re-modeling for the company owned Amigo recording studios in Hollywood.

The facility, already one of the most modern facilities in Southern California, is under the supervision of General Manager T. "Joe" Bob. Re-modeling activity includes installation of a new Spectra-sonic custom console, to be installed by Audio-Industries of Los Angeles and the addition of re-mix and vocal out-dub quarters.

Permanent staff includes Babb, two engineers, Hank Cicalo and Greg Venable and three second engineers, Russ Schmidt, Mark Harmon and Larry Stephens.

Amigo Studios has been averaging 15-20 hours of continuous operation seven days a week for the past 90 days.

Ranwood Celebrates Big First Year

Wood, who continues to be the main creative mind with Ranwood's exciting empire of music, spends a bulk of his time working with the various Ranwood acts. Wood's major efforts have been directed toward presenting a product with a broad enough appeal for programming on all degrees of diversified formats to accommodate the tastes of all ages.

In discussing policies of the company, Larry Welk, Vice President, comments, "We are limiting the number of acts Ranwood has. We feel with today's competitive market that if a record is good enough to be released, it needs maximum effort on the part of the company. If a company releases too much product, it's impossible to give this needed concentration the proper backup of each level.

The Ranwood organization has built a solid structure of music industry professionals at every level, with key personnel in the field, as well as at the home office on the West Coast. Morry Goldman, Vice President of Distribution and Sales, is anchor man in Chicago, while the positions of Regional Director of Sales and Promotion are filled by Vic Frazier in Nashville, by Sy Speigelman in New York and by Polly Reese in Miami.

Ranwood's roster of artists includes such names as: Lawrence Welk, Damita Jo and Ray Anthony. All have had product released during the first year of the label's operation. In addition, several members of the Welk television family have released albums, including: Jo Ann Castle, Ibo Raiton, Myron Floren, Tanya Falan and Frank Scott.

Dot Records continues to garner a large percentage of the domestic and international market, coordinating all of its activities from its home office in Hollywood.

As recently announced, the firm has acquired more space and is now spread over four locations throughout Los Angeles. The additional footage will permit the enlargement of Dot's A & R staff and other creative departments.

In addition to a strong alliance with independent producers on the West Coast, including Mike Nesmith, Anita Kerr, Dick Delvy and Dan Dalton, Dot's present A & R staff in Hollywood consists of Tom Maple, Billy Vaughn, Ray Ruff and Milt Rogers.

Following its 1950 birth, subsequent move to Los Angeles and purchase by Paramount Pictures Corporation in 1957, the firm vaulted into major prominence. Under the direction of Arnold D. Burk, Paramount Pictures Corporation VP, in charge of Music Operations, and President of Dot Records, a continuing growth pattern has been implemented.

It began with the overall enlargement of the entire company, including sales, promotion, finance and administration. New internal sections were also created encompassing such services as advertising and merchandising as well as a complete publicity and art department. Besides Arnold Burk, Dot's electric home office building houses Merchandising VP Jack L. Levy, A & R VP, Jay S. Lowy, and Sales-Distribution VP Ken D. Revercomb.

A fleet of fast-moving executives have done much to create excitement and open new avenues of approach in the realm of marketing records. These include National Sales Manager Dick Bowman, John Rosica, Director of Merchandising and Promotion, Stu Langer, Director of Advertising and Merchandising Programs, and Norm Winter, Director of Press and Information. Dot's Art Department is headed up by Christopher Whorff. His "today" staff includes Beverly Parker and Honeya Thompson. Dot veteran Dorothy Vance continues to headquarter in Hollywood, while helming country-western promotion. The Sunset-Vine office is also home for Caroline Molzan, Production. Judy Hicks, International, controller Howard Marlett and resident counsel Richard Schulemberg.

Moreover, Dot has succeeded in establishing closer ties with the parent company's television and motion picture wings. This is evidenced by the highly rated soundtrack albums which have emanated from these areas. Popular TV series "Mission: Impossible," with original music by Lalo Schifrin, won two Grammy Awards, while movie blockbusters "The Odd Couple" and "Rosemary's Baby," "Baby" proved to be as strong as their celluloid counterparts. Newest entry from Paramount TV is music from the "Mannix" show by Lalo Schifrin.

Dot's charter roster, featuring such veteran performers as Billy Vaughn, Liberace and the Mills Brothers, is creating renewed excitement as a result of Dot's rejuvenation. The legendary Mills Brothers, consistent Dot album sellers for more than a decade, signed a new long-term contract last year. The move was a good one with their singles steadily landing high on the charts and establishing an entirely new fan following. Winner of numerous gold records, Billy Vaughn, besides maintaining his own string of best selling LPs now arranges and produces product for Dot. Liberace also enjoys huge sales in every situation.

Driving to expand its catalog into today's contemporary music, Dot has amassed a stable of artists, fast establishing themselves throughout the world. The American Breed, whose "Bend Me, Shape Me" earned a gold record last year, is a classic example of teen-listener acceptance.

Other notable acquisitions include the Illusion, Womb, Bugay, Neighborhood Children, Mount Rushmore, the Peppermint Trolley Company, Colours, Mint Tattoo, Val Stockeckin, Brian Holland, Hamilton Street Car and Andy Kim, to name but a few... and, Dot continues to develop other contenders.

Kerr Arrangement

The versatile talents of Anita Kerr is also heard on Dot via an unprecedented arrangement. The agreement calls for three Anita Kerr Singer albums per year, in which she performs as an artist-producer, plus six LPs per annum of her own creation as an independent producer. Product runs the gamut of all contemporary musical categories. The composer-arranger-conductor has won three Grammy Awards and two nominations for arrival on the Hollywood scene in 1965.

Additionally, Dot has spawned a powerhouse of country-western product by such personalities as Hank Thompson, Roy Clark, Bonnie Guitar, Mary Taylor, Jack Reno, Diana Trask, Jack Barlow, Justin Tubb and Peggy Little. Other purveyors of the "Nashville Sound" are the Compton Brothers, Molly Bee, Ray Griff, Tommy Overstreet and Japanese discovery Eddy Fukan.

Entered Tape Field

Alert to the burgeoning tape cartridge field for home and mobile situations, Dot has entered this lucrative industry with the production of 8 track cartridges, marketed and distributed by its own distributors and independents.

Music makers from all over the globe are moving Westward... Los Angeles offers the finest services and technicians available anywhere, evidenced by the output of product from Dot and other major west coast labels... And then, lest we forget, there's always the weather!

Smith at Dunhill

Dunhill Records has signed a new mixed-vocal recording act, Smith, announces Jay Lasker, VP. Smith will be produced by Accent on Youth

L.A.'s Dot a World Power

LOS ANGELES - At the fledgling Renaissance (rebirth) Records, the accent is strictly on youth. Helmsmen Marshall Leib and Dallas Smith are 29 and 27, respectively, while label's fast-budding talent roster reverts to post-pubescent ages and beyond.

Contrary to popular opinion, Smith was not born in Dallas, Texas, The moniker is derived and his birthplace is Red Boiling Springs, Tenn. he did most of his growing up in Toledo, Ohio. The handle "Dallas" comes from a great-grandmother who was a Cherokee Indian.

Born in L.A.

Marshall Leib was born and raised in L.A. A sergeant in the Marine Corps Reserves, Leib studied music at Los Angeles City College, formed his own label, Marsh Records, in 1963, and later joined with Lee Hazlewood in the production company. Leib and Smith first came together in 1965, when Smith was A&Ring at Liberty Records (Vikki Carr, Canned Heat, Bobby Vee, Vic Dana, etc.) and Leib assumed the position as head of A&R of Imperial Records. They formed Renaissance Productions two months ago and have just added the diskery wing, Renaissance Records.

Among Pactees

Chaffin, who formerly recorded for Liberty, is a contemporary performer-writer and hails from West Virginia.

"We're going to do the music today and stay with it all the way," ams Smith in an unconscious rhyme.

Anent the partnership arrangement, Leib states, "Dallas and I make one hell of a team. We groove together socially as well as business-wise and we intend to make Renaissance a major."

Steve Barri, A&R Director of the label, and Joel Sill.

First product on Smith will be available in May, according to Marv Helfer, Director of Sales and Promotion at Dunhill.

Concert Associates: Thriving Concern

No organization has catered more to the West Coast preference in musical entertainment than Hollywood-based Concert Associates, one of the nation's major concert promotion firms. The success of Concert Associates has been due in large part to the high caliber of its management and the promotion of major acts. The firm has handled concerts for virtually every major act that plays the area, and has booked more than 10,000 concerts, many of which were for acts that are now household names. The success of Concert Associates is well known in the industry, and the firm has become one of the most successful promoters in the country.

The firm was founded in 1963 by two former employees of Universal Studios, Jesse Rissmiller and Jack Kent Cooke. Rissmiller had previously worked for Universal and had been involved in the promotion of music concerts for the studio. Cooke had been involved in the music industry for many years and had a reputation for being a successful promoter. The two partners met while working for Universal and decided to form their own promotion company.

Concert Associates quickly established a reputation for its high-quality promotions and for its ability to attract top acts to perform in the Los Angeles area. The firm has been successful in booking concerts for a wide range of artists, including rock bands, country music stars, and jazz musicians. The firm has also been successful in promoting concerts for classical music groups, as well as for other types of musical performances.

In addition to its work as a concert promoter, Concert Associates has also been successful in the field of music management. The firm has managed a number of successful artists, including Andy Williams, John Gary, and Buffy Sainte-Marie. The firm has also managed a number of recording artists, including Atlantic Records, which was founded by the firm's co-president, Jesse Rissmiller.

Concert Associates has also been successful in the field of music entertainment, as it has produced a number of successful television shows. The firm has produced a number of successful television series, including The Hollywood Hit Parade and The Hollywood Tabloid. The firm has also produced a number of successful music videos, including The Hollywood Video Bar and The Hollywood Video Diary.

Alphabetical Record Company: A History of 'Firsts'

The year was 1938. Radio was in its heyday; FDR had just captured his first presidential victory — and the depression was in full swing. That same year also marked the birth of Allied Record Company, a foremost West Coast custom record pressing plant and one of the most creative companies in the record industry as well. Allied has been responsible for many of the recording industry's most noteworthy events: introduction of some of the first patents in the economical injection molding process to the recording industry; development of the first tape duplicator for broadcasting; one of the first to press LPs in Los Angeles; and Allied was the first company to provide major distribution for independent labels. This year the firm, one of the largest custom pressing plants in the United States, will be manufacturing product for such companies as Liberty, Dinant, RCA-Victor, Columbia, Mercury, Tower, Golden, Pickwick and dozens of other labels — both large and small — in the U.S.

When Founded, Market Minor

When Allied was founded the record industry was still a minor market and years away from development of the LP and single record. During those years, the majority of Allied's business was in the manufacture of recording industry's most notable results: introduction of some of the first patents in the economical injection molding process to the recording industry; development of the first tape duplicator for broadcasting; one of the first to press LPs in Los Angeles; and Allied was the first company to provide major distribution for independent labels. This year the firm, one of the largest custom pressing plants in the United States, will be manufacturing product for such companies as Liberty, Dinant, RCA-Victor, Columbia, Mercury, Tower, Golden, Pickwick and dozens of other labels — both large and small — in the U.S.

Time for Other Enterprises

With all his activities on behalf of Allied, Broadhead still manages to find time for other enterprises. In 1958 he served as Executive Assistant to the Secretaries of Agriculture, Ezra Benson; in 1959 he was President of the Hollywood Chamber of Commerce; in 1957 President of the Hollywood Rotary Club. For his service to Brigham Young University, Daken received the Distinguished Service Award in 1960. He is currently serving on the Business Advisory Council for Brigham Young University.

Founded Hospitals, Metropolitan Bank

In addition, Broadhead was a founder of Beverly Enterprises Convalescent Hospitals of Pasadena and Metropolitan Bank (now the Bank of California.)

Today, Allied has not only kept pace with the fast-moving record industry, but it has also moved one step ahead. Inside its Los Angeles plant are facilities for pressing, offset printing, quality control, packaging, shipping and record sleeve imprinting. It has remained flexible throughout the years and can boast the fastest of service.

Allied. Broadhead became President, and with his entry into the firm Allied soon began a period of growth and creative development which was to make it one of the biggest and most progressive custom pressing plants in the country.

In September of 1968, Broadhead purchased most of Allied and became the principal owner of the company.

The story of the rise of Allied is a remarkable one. When Allied was founded in 1938, it was a small company with a staff of only a few people. The company started out by pressing records for other companies, but it quickly became clear that Allied had the potential to be a major player in the record industry. In the early years, Allied focused on custom pressing, providing a service that few other companies were able to offer.

In 1958, Allied opened its first pressing plant in Los Angeles, and the company began to grow rapidly. By the early 1960s, Allied was one of the largest custom pressing plants in the country, and it continued to expand over the years.

Allied has always been committed to providing the highest quality product, and it has maintained a reputation for excellence in the industry. Today, Allied is one of the leading custom pressing plants in the world, and it continues to be a major player in the record industry. The company's success is due in large part to the vision of its founder, Jesse Rissmiller, and to the hard work of its employees. Allied is a company that is committed to excellence, and it is a company that is proud of its history. The story of Allied is a story of success, and it is a story of a company that is dedicated to providing the best possible service to its clients.
The Uni Way
To Success

Revealed By
VP Regan

HOLLYWOOD — Less than two years ago, MCA conceived the idea to start a youth-oriented label on the West Coast. Russ Regan was hired as Vice President and General Manager of the label and Universal City Records began its uphill climb to the top of the pop mountain.

Regan’s staff, Rick Frio, Pat Pipolo and Honea Wilson, moved into sunny Sunset Strip offices formerly owned by A&M Records.

“We were superstitious,” Regan explained, “and hoped that we would have the same good fortune as Herb Alpert and Jerry Moss did.” And they have.

Regan started the label with West Coast-oriented sounds but he earnestly felt that he would put out records which would appeal to audiences across the country, not the L.A. market alone. At first, Uni had the reputation of being solely an L.A.-oriented label and therefore Regan had difficulty at the beginning getting air play on the East Coast. However, the breakthrough came when the Strawberry Alarm Clock, a Los Angeles group, recorded “Incense and Peppermint” and Regan was able to bring it home as a number one record in the country.

More Moving to Coast

Regan feels that more and more creative producers, writers and artists are moving to the West Coast. “Mostly, the move is because living conditions here are easier for creative people. It doesn’t require as much money to live here and the pace is not as hectic as it is elsewhere.”

However, Regan is quick to point out that hit records are made all over.” There is nothing in Los Angeles that is spectacular musically. Although there is a lot of good music being made here, I feel that there is no true musical phenomenon coming out of the West Coast. Hits are being cut in Memphis, Nashville, Detroit, New York and anywhere creative people can make music together.” According to Regan, the music business is too spread out to label any area the leader in the music movement in this country.

What Regan is attempting to do with Uni is to put out hit product. He feels no need to create trends. The only thing Uni does, Regan stated, is put out records which hopefully will have mass appeal and are not limited to one market.

However, to add an additional boost to his label’s artists, Regan has retained the services of Mervyn Harman as Uni’s West Coast promotion man. Harman’s duties are to see that Uni’s product gets airplay in its home town.

Regan also has signed a number of West Coast artists to the label. Among these are Strawberry Alarm Clock, Hugh Masekela, the East Side Kids, the Hook, Yellow Payges and the Orange Colored Sky, to mention a few.

A Surprising "My Way"

A surprised Don Costa discovered the above unsolicited tribute last week when he drove past Eddie Carroll’s Swinging Affair Beauty Salon on Los Angeles’ La Cienega Blvd. Carroll explained he simply “digs” the record and he has set up an outside speaker system to play the single “My Way” which Costa arranged and produced for Frank Sinatra.

Country Academy Awards April ‘28

Monday, April 28

Night of Nights for the Academy of Country & Western Music, as it presents its 4th Annual Awards in 21 categories of competition at the Hollywood Palladium.

There’ll be country artists galore in the audience, and on stage as presenters or to entertain, in a gala being assembled by producer Billy Liebert and associate producer Bill Ezell and Bill Boyd. Dick Clark will emcee the event.

Categories of competition include Song of the Year, Single and Album of the Year, Top Male and Female vocalists, Top Group. And, at the discretion of the Board of Directors, a special presentation to the “Country Music Man of the Year.”

That last category honors the person who has contributed substantially to this important area of music during the Awards year. Past recipients have been Roger Miller, Dean Martin and Joey Bishop.

The Academy was formed five years ago, when several members of the local scene met and concluded that more could be done to promote country music in the Western States, particularly Southern California. (The first Awards Presentation was held to a sell-out crowd in 1966.)

Tex Williams was elected the Academy’s first President, and last year he was succeeded by Johnny Bond, who had been Vice President. Current Board (Continued on page 102)

Castle Lighting Towers in L.A.

David Lang and brother Morris, co-owners of Castle Lighting in Los Angeles, right now claim to be the biggest manufacturers of psychedelic strobe lights in the world. Psychodelic and special effects in lighting are their only business. Light manufacturers used to be Thomas Edison Light Show Co. & Castle Kit Mfg. Co.

It was Castle Lighting used in various discothèques and night clubs in the Los Angeles area for the past few years. The reason was simple — David was a concert promoter as a sideline. He started with the Mothers of Invention, bemoans, “I lost money on a concert in Las Vegas … we did a complete freak-out.” Other concerts were at the Los Angeles Shrine Auditorium and the Cheesecake Factory, but “Actually, every concert was to push my lights.”

Since so many other companies have gone broke, Lang was asked, why has Castle gone so big? “The time was right, we didn’t feel we can’t think of any other reason.” And Castle has gone big. “We’re grossing $30,000 a month now, and I expect to be grossing over $1 million a year.”

Castle has 2,200 dealers in the U.S. and abroad, with 20 per cent of the business going overseas, primarily to Japan, Israel and Vietnam. “Military bases buy our equipment,” David pointed out.

In business only a year-and-a-half, Castle must soon move into larger quarters, the current 1,800 sq. ft. being too small. There are 15 employees, all obtained from the Los Angeles area. Two full time engineers and lighting lamps. Then turned to production — he got into the concert business and lighting field. Soon they were doing the psychodelic lighting for TV’s “Name of the Game,” “The Flying Nun,” the Ann-Margaret show, plus such movies as “Picasso Summer” and “Head.”

Castle issues its own catalog, shorty will put out a light show manual. Yet, oddly enough, the home business is the biggest end of the market, with night club shows second.

David, whose company claims the world’s largest strobe lights, hopes to unionize light shows. “As it is now, a couple of inexperienced kids working on the lights can make or break a light show or concert. I’d like to organize them at good pay.”

Castle has also done light shows at weddings, the Hollywood Wax Museum (for a record company promotion-concert), for window displays and TV commercials. The minimum fee is $150.00.

But there are unlimited uses for strobes. “They’re also sold for hypnosis — therapy — Collar unnecessary — lots of people buy a lot of them. And they can be used for boating — as distress signals — burglar alarms at home,” explained David.

“And they are a form of art,” he added. Proof? The Los Angeles County Art Museum is considering doing a light show. And you know whose lights they’ll use.
Coast Workshop Spears New TRO Calif. Drive

The Bob Jung (pronounced Young) Band, the big thing these days in the San Fernando Valley area, over the hills from Hollywood, has become the launching paid for what is expected to be one of the more active phases of The Richmond Organization’s far-flung publishing-production interests around the globe. The first LP by Jung and Company, soon to be issued on the Command label, was produced for TRO Workshop Productions, Ltd., a wing of the TRO headquarters operation in New York, by Albert Marks long been identified with the hipper things in jazz, and particularly as the man who first negotiated his “Hair” for his Trend label. The association and writing is available, a tremendous reservoir of talent in not only Hollywood and environs, but throughout the whole Western United States.

The TRO Workshop Productions shop in Los Angeles is designed to bring into the TRO umbrella the goodly share of the tremendous reservoir of talent in not only Hollywood and environs, but throughout the whole Western United States. President of TRO, who has spent considerable time on the Coast front recently getting the new organism functioning, said, “I’m on the lookout for fresh new talent anywhere from Seattle to Phoenix to Acapulco and personally, I think there’s enough great talent in that area to keep us mighty busy and building.”

5th Dimension Set For Giant International Tour

With “Aquarius/Let the Sunshine In” topping charts, the 5th Dimension has done it again: parlayed their “Hair” medley into a success similar to their first click, “Up, Up, and Away.” The latter won Record of the Year honors from NARAS in ’68, three other prizes for the quintet and a trophy for its then fledgling composer, Jim Webb.

The 5th Dimension’s Soul City label is rushing an album which will include the hit single and bear the title “Age of Aquarius.” Meanwhile, the quintet departs on one of the most ambitious tours of concert halls, nightclubs, college campuses and stadiums ever booked.

Kicking off with a one-nighter at Niagara University April 17 and wrapping up six musicians later at the University of Illinois in Champaign the three guys and two girls will offer more than 200 performances.

The itinerary includes headline engagements at the Royal Box of New York’s Americana Hotel in May, the Greek Theater in Los Angeles in July, the Ilikai Hotel in Honolulu during August and a six-country, 30-performance junket through Europe in August and September.

Midway through the European tour, the 5th Dimension will take time out to film a 60-minute special for television. Negotiations are presently underway for a network airing next winter. Planned as a semi-documentary, the cameras will not only record the 5th Dimension performing, but focus on the fivesome as they visit old country shrines and mix with the natives of the nations they tour.

Arranger-conductor Rene de Kirch and the quartet which has backed the group since their inception will make up the balance of the traveling troupe.

Incredible Varieties

Jimmy Webb’s need to communicate and his energy have carried him into a incredible variety of activities within the past year. He recently wrote the music and lyrics for Universal’s projected roadshow production, “Peter Pan.” He also released two albums for Richard Harris, “A Tramp Shining,” and “The Yard Went On Forever,” which was released by Dunhill Records. Out of the first LP for Harris came the hit million seller, “Mac Arthur Park.” He followed this with two more hit tunes, “Witchita Lineman” for Glen Campbell and “The Worst That Could Happen” for the Brooklyn Bridge.

He has also been commissioned to write two more musicals for Universal, “His Own Dark City” and “J.S. Bach.” The musical theme of “His Own Dark City” is American and its background will focus on morality and social values within a small town in the Southwest.

Producing Sinatra’s TRO LP

Between these activities, Webb has also worked on producing an album for Frank Sinatra. Because of his song “Up, Up and Away,” which won the admiration of TWA, General Motors also wanted to capitalize on his success and assigned him to write the song for their “Open Road” campaign for Chevrolet.

Formed Canopy Productions

Since the tremendous success of his hit songs, Webb formed Canopy Productions. Under this banner he operates a complex of three separate companies. Canopy Productions, headed by Robert Webb, produces artists and product for Dunhill Records; Canopy Films, headed by Howard Golden, which encompasses the fields of motion pictures, television, stage and commercials; and Canopy Music, the publishing arm of the three companies which is headed by Webb.
Bizarre Records—First Underground Conglomerate

"Just what the world needs. Another record company.

That line, from an early announcement ad for Bizarre Records, tells a lot about the organization behind it, which is fast becoming the underground's first entertainment conglomerate.

Bizarre, Inc., founded by Frank Zappa and Herb Cohen eight short months ago, has grown from one record company with a publishing arm, into a multi-media entertainment complex with the most unusual array of talents, products and services in show business.

With the announcement a few days ago of the company's second label, Straight Records, whose roster includes a strong contingent of underground artists such as the abstract rock band Alice Cooper, Tim Buckley, Judy Henske and Captain Beefheart's Magic Band, Bizarre has achieved status as the most aggressive avant garde record company in the record business.

The backbone of the organization, of course, is Bizarre Records. The label's first release, "The Berkeley Concert," a two-disc recording of the last Lenny Bruce concert, is already a strong contender for comedy album of the year honors. Albums by the Mothers of Invention and Wildman Fischer were released earlier this month. The Bizarre label is distributed by Reprise, while Straight Records product is distributed independently.

Records Only Part

But records are only a part of the Bizarre story. Other "leisure-time interests" as the establishment conglomerates call them, are music publishing, personal management, film production, book publishing, merchandising and advertising.

Bizarre's music publishing interests—the Bizarre Music, Third Story Music, Frank Zappa Music (all BMI) complex—holds the rights to a wealth of material, including all songs by Tim Buckley, Fred Neil, Judy Henske and Frank Zappa, as well as modern standards such as "Hey Joe."

Meanwhile, artists the organization manages include the Mothers, Tim Buckley, Linda Ronstadt, Captain Beefheart and the GTOs. While the GTOs are involved in their own very special activities in the L.A. rock scene, the other artists are among the hottest concert attractions in this country and Europe. This year the Mothers will tour Europe twice, and Buckley will make his third continental concert tour this fall.

Bizarre's film production activity is currently centered on "Uncle Meat," a movie now being completed by Zappa. The Mothers' new Bizarre album, bears the same title and in fact is the soundtrack from the film.

Zappa and the Mothers have been tapped for music for other film makers' work, too, creating Bizarre's soundtrack production. Haskell Wexler, who is completing a film titled "Medium Cool" for MGM, will use tracks from the Mothers LPs in the movie's soundtrack. And director Roger Corman, whose "Wheels on Fire" motorcycle film is the talk of the West Coast film colony, has commissioned Bizarre to produce the track for the film. In addition, Tim Buckley composed original material for the current smash movie, "Changes," and will do the same for "Wild Orange," a film he will also star in. Production on "Wild Orange" begins this month in New York.

Bizarre's first book publishing venture, "Bizarre and the Groupie Papers," a compilation of the memoirs of the Plastercasters, the GTOs and other girls of rock, along with transcribed groupie interviews, will be ready to show to publishers by next month.

ad Agency a Hit

Finally, Bizarre's advertising agency, Nifty, Tough and Bitchin', is becoming a leading producer of music for radio and television commercials. Among the agency's recent clients are Ludens Cough Drop and Hagstrom Guitars. Bizarre's soundtrack for a Ludens commercial won several awards.

All of these diverse activities are handled professionally by a staff whose most remarkable quality is a common disdain for conventional business posture. Bizarre's refusal to take itself seriously, a tone set by Zappa and Cohen and their iconoclastic stance on the rock music scene, produces lines like "Just what the world needs. Another record company."

The company's executive offices are becoming ground zero for the Coast's creative scene. Rock and roll guerillas are constantly dropping in to audition or rap. New journalism writers know they can always find a story there, and regularly fail by to absorb the atmosphere and leave with several leads on different items. Then there are the company's artists, and friends, poets looking to record, burrito salesmen arranging to cater parties, agents and managers, irate parents and out-of-work seismologists.

Donna, Kimberly and Pauline, the charming secretary-asst., direct this traffic with aplomb indicating several years of experience each in front-line soup kitchens.

Grant "Weirdo" Gibbs is the company's sales-promotion-advertising director, and sits in an office crammed with promotion material, records, tear sheets, clippings and posters, a telephone constantly to his ear, guiding the organization's flow of information.

Joe Gannon, who handles the management side, works closely with Cohen directing the affairs of Bizarre's many artists, plans all concert engagements, and produces Bizarre concerts and other events.

Cohen arrives at the office at 9 each morning and juggles appointments, phone calls, surprise visitors, listening sessions, meetings and strategy sessions until 8 each evening, and somehow manages to handle the personal affairs of Frank Zappa and Tim Buckley while guiding the entire Bizarre complex.

Cohen comes in to the office occasionally, but most of his time is spent either touring or lecturing at various universities, or if he's in town, recording, editing film, or rehearsing. Free and administrative hassles, he concentrates on creating.

Creativity is what Bizarre is all about. To the casual establishment observer, the Bizarre operation appears as having "no commercial potential."

But Zappa remembers being told at the beginning that the Mothers of Invention had no commercial potential. With five chart albums, including LPs that have won awards, the music industry must think twice before making a judgment on the potential of Bizarre.

E.A., C & W Firm, Expands Offices

HOLLYWOOD—Entertainment Associates, Inc., personal management firm specializing in country music artists, has outgrown its offices and has taken up headquarters in the new Sunset-Cahuenga Towers at 6430 Sunset Boulevard.

John R. Owen, Vice President of the Hubert Long International agency, has also completed the move. Owen is sharing the quarters with E.A. and agrees that the move is necessary and closer to the center of activity.

"The Towers is easily accessible to the entertainment field," stated Vern Carstensen, the new General Manager of E.A. "It seems we spend most of our time in this part of town anyway." E.A. was formerly located in Glendale, Calif.

New Kennedy LP

Doug Moody, President of Solar Productions of Hollywood, is completing production of a documentary LP entitled, "The Last Hours of Robert Kennedy."

The production is narrated by Ted Charach, independent newsmans who was with Senator Kennedy during his last hour. Actual recordings of the assassination have been acquired by Moody and Charach, including the last recorded words of Robert Kennedy.
TEC Goes Forward

Forward Records, TEC's first independent label, was launched in late March with several of the record industry's most prominent figures heading up its creative and administrative end.

Bud Fraser

Bud Fraser, TEC Executive Vice President and a 20-year veteran in the record industry, became President of the label. Fraser served as President of Tower Records, Capitol's wholly-owned subsidiary, before joining TEC.

Danny Kessler became A&R Director and brought with him an extensive amount of experience as well as successful track record in the industry. He was A&R Director of Epic/Okeh; A&R Director of Groove Records, a subsidiary of RCA Victor; and A&R Producer for RCA.

Sal Licata became Director of Sales and Promotion and Bill Burdell Director of Administration and Finance. Licata had more than a half-dozen years experience in sales and promotion at the national level and Burdell was financial administrator for several national companies before joining the label.

Forward, which will pursue an "open door" A&R policy, expects its first product to be ready for release in late April or early May.

Cosmopolitan Air at Double-Shot

By IRWIN ZUCKER

Exec VP, Double-Shot Records

"At last I've found an L.A. record company that comes on like a New York operation!"

Such was the praise—or damnation? — of a Broadway writer-producer visiting our Double-Shot hq for the first time.

Elaborated the visitor, "No swimming pool—just a busy office really in the swim of things."

Perhaps we're cosmopolitan. Our prexy Joe Hooven got his musical roots in Chicago, our vpeep-producer Hal Wain hails from England, and I paid my promo dues in N. Y. for the first seven years of my 21 in the biz.

Cosmopolitan, too, is our talent line-up. Our artists come from all over the U. S.—except Hollywood. The Count Five, who launched Double-Shot almost three years ago with the giant "Psychotic Reaction," are based in San Jose. Hit-maker Brenton Wood is a Shreveport, La. native. Producer-writer Maurice Rodgers is another Chicago product.

Hits From Everywhere

There is no set L.A. sound for us. Hits come to us from all over the U.S. Recently, via a tip from promo man Bernie Kaplan of New Orleans, we acquired the Funky intrumental of "It's Your Thing" on our subsidiaries Whiz label, poses a enigma. Their record was cut and released so fast we hadn't had time to inquire as to where they're from.

Although we have a Sunset Blvd. address, we'll continue to hustle and bustle Eastern-style. We won't have to see that glorious California sun?
Disney Records Circle the Globe

Disneyland Records and Buena Vista Records, headquartered on the West Coast, produce a steady flow of records that are heard and enjoyed in all parts of the world.

New record product and releases emanate almost daily from the company’s home office at 800 Sonora Avenue, Glendale, Calif., 91201. Helmed by Jimmy Johnson, the company is foremost in the field of children’s records with several Gold Records to date and others nearing that pinnacle.

Launched on a small scale in 1956, and drawing primarily upon Walt Disney motion picture soundtracks for product, the company’s initial growth was steady, if not spectacular. However, with more markets opening up, new record product becoming available from Walt Disney motion pictures and television, an expanding catalog, and with new concepts in packaging and merchandising to offer to distributors, dealers and the public, the Disneyland Records and Buena Vista labels emerged as important contributors to the record industry. From its humble beginning 13 years ago, the company has risen to become one of the major members in the family of enterprises that make up Walt Disney Productions.

Continuing Sales Increases

Filling the record needs of a huge domestic market and the rapidly growing international marketplace has resulted in continuing sales increases and income for the two Disney labels. Disneyland Records’ ‘The Jungle Book’ remains in second place as the all-time best selling record in Sweden, having just been awarded that country’s gold record which represents 25,000 LP copies sold. Now nearing the 50,000 copies mark in sales, the “Jungle Book” shortly expects to be awarded Sweden’s diamond record. Only one other LP in Sweden has ever earned the diamond record award, and that was a local product.

Record Retailer in England presented Disneyland Records with the award, “Best Selling Independent Label in the United Kingdom” at a recent awards luncheon in London, at the March, 1969, NARM Convention held in Los Angeles, Calif., Disneyland Records was once again recipient of the award, “Best Selling Children’s Line.”

During the coming summer Disneyland Records will release 12 of its best selling titles on 8-Track Stereo Cartridges and 4-Track Stereo Cassettes.

From its West Coast base in Glendale, Calif., where it all began, Disneyland Records and Buena Vista Records help to fill the recorded music needs of America and the world. This success story symbolizes a giant step forward since the beloved Mickey Mouse appeared in the first Walt Disney “sound cartoon,” back in 1928. The cartoon was titled “Steamboat Willie.”

Sun Rising For Sundown Records, Inc.

Operation Handled by Hand

Along the famed Sunset Strip, on the 14th floor of the all-black 9000 building, is an office with a multitude of identifying signs on the door. These signs indicate that within the confines such businesses exist as Jim Hand Enterprises, Sundown Records, Handsome Music Company, Executive Chef, Big Sky Cattle Company, The Only Way Corporation and Jimmy O’Neill Management.

The secrets to the workings of these companies is told by Jim Hand who at 31 has accomplished what most dream of but few will obtain.

Handles Athletes

Hand is in the business of handling the management and investment careers of professional athletes. Among his roster of superstars are Deacon Jones and Dick Bass of the Los Angeles Rams; Lance Alworth of the San Diego Chargers; Donny Anderson of the Green Bay Packers; and Rick Berry of the Oakland Oaks.

Through the guidance of Hand, these athletes have outside business interests besides sports.

According to Hand, “Many of our clients have also expressed a great interest in securing a career in entertainment.”

It is this basic philosophy that saw the birth of Sundown Records, which already has one release, “Love of the Common People,” by guitarist of the company’s two non-athletes, Deane Hawley. The other non-athlete is writer, singer, producer Jim Ford.

Hand is ready to release its second single, which will be by Deacon Jones. When Jones first began recording, the sports press indicated that he was doing his vocals as a novelty. This type of thinking came to an abrupt halt after Los Angeles sports columnist Charles Maher sat in on a session. He wrote that before long, Deacon would be an entertainer who plays football.

Established Professionals

Jim Hand is new to the music business, so he saw to it that the people heading up Sundown were established professionals.

Jimmy O’Neill is the label’s President. O’Neill, former star of ABC’s “Shindig,” also manages the entertainment careers through Jimmy O’Neill Management. Britisher Jonathan Rowland is Sundown’s Vice President. Rowland was instrumental in developing the careers of Tom Jones and Engelbert Humperdinck.

Other names that are easily recognizable to the business include promotion head Mike Borchetta and Dan Blocker, head of foreign and domestic sales.

Jones Preparing Night Club Revue

Deane Hawley and Deacon Jones are produced by Marshall Lieb of Renaissance Productions, which is not a part of Hand Enterprises. Besides recording, James is preparing a night club revue which he’ll have ready to debut by May 1.

The other companies mentioned earlier have to fill non-entertainment needs of Hand’s clients. Hand is quick to point out that just because he has the right facilities to promote an entertainment career, there must be raw talent and an eagerness to work, otherwise it’s all for show… and that’s something Jim Hand is not.

GRT Going Great

LOS ANGELES — GRT Records, whose first releases appeared in February, is pressing new releases at a steady pace.

The company, located in Los Angeles, has signed the Mojo Men, a popular San Francisco group formerly on the Warner Brothers label whose "Sit Down I Think I Love You" was at one time in the top 10. GRT Records has just released its first single with the group called "I Can't Let Go," and will follow that later this month with an album entitled "Mojo Magic." The group now has a strong female lead singer named Jan Enrico.

GRT has signed an agreement to distribute the RSVP label. First GRT releases under the agreement are "The Slightly Irreverent Comedy of Ron Carey" and "Didi Pavreau."

At the same time, the company will release "Nickles and Dimes," produced from a master just purchased from Cymbal-Tobin Productions.

From Ashley-Kozak Management, Ltd., the London firm that manages Donovan, GRT Records has acquired the master of a single entitled "Rainbows," performed by a group with the same name.

Kragen Mgmt. Firm Formed

Ken Kragen and Friends, Inc., a personal management firm which will be active in motion picture and television production industry, has been formed by Ken Kragen, former principal in Kragen, Smothers & Fritz.

Kragen continues to be one of the producers of "Hair" at the Aquarius Theater in L.A., in association with Michael Butler, Tom Smothers and Ken Fritz. One of the properties which Ken Kragen and Friends has under development for television is "Saucepans and the Single Girl," based on the best-selling Doubleday book of the same name by Ken Kragen and Judy Perry. The pilot, already shot in association with Hollywood Video Center, features Joanne Plaug as hostess and Tom Smothers and Michele Lee as the guests. A motion picture property in the developmental stage is "The French Have An Island for It," a screen treatment of the true story of three young California businessmen in Tahiti.

Plans for Kragen's clients in the immediate future include a motion picture and a CBS developmental deal for Pat Paulsen. Mason Williams television special, a TV series for John Hartford, extensive college concert tours and commercial tie-ins for the First Edition and a summer replacement TV show for Jennifer and John Hartford.

A series of invitational industry presentations will be hosted by Miss Mimieux at the conservatory at regular intervals. Two rock groups, Sufi Pipkin,' and Galactic Rift, will debut shortly.

Electronic music specialist John Newman will design unique sounds specifically suited to each piece, and will concertize with groups throughout the country. He will also provide studio facilities for any groups desiring to produce material in a professional and creative manner.

Blue Thumb For Hit Records

Krasnow, Graham Team Has It

Everyone knows that someone with a green thumb grows the greenest lawns, the prettiest plants and all those prize-winning roses. But what about someone with a Blue Thumb? When the someone is Bob Krasnow or Don Graham, it means experts in creating, cultivating and capturing prizes for some of the finest record product marketed today, and doing it with a merchandising and promotional excellence setting new standards for the industry.

Blue Thumb Records opened its doors barely more than six months ago, but already it has established the success pattern, the reputation and the sales. (When orders verge on 100,000 in five days, you move!) A few weeks earlier, Blue Thumb presented an album by the Aynsley Dunbar Retaliation, marking the American debut for what has been hailed as one of England's finest blues groups. To insure attention, the group was imported for a cross-country swing of concerts and introductory parties, newspaper interviews and major television appearances.

3 Initial LPs Selling

Still selling are the trio of LPs that signaled the debut of Blue Thumb in September, 1968: "Anyone Who Hates Kids and Dogs Can't Be All Bad," a W. C. Fields collectors album; "Political Pornography" by newsmen Lou Irwin and Len Chandler; and "Personal," with Capt. Beefheart and His Magic Band.

At that time Krasnow advised the industry he was intent on "making revolution, by becoming the first total involvement label."

"By that, I meant that the artist and producer would be involved in every phase of production and sales, not just A&R," he remarked. "Every LP has a special merchandising and sales campaign developed for it, and none is released without one.

"We don't purchase a master for the sake of releasing it. Any LP worth releasing is worth doing something special for. That is and will continue to be our philosophy."

The philosophy led to instant success and, in February, conclusion of a distribution agreement with General Recorded Tape, whereby GRT distributes all Blue Thumb product.

Krasnow today functions as the label's President, devoting his time primarily to selective development of product and expansion. Don Graham, who left A&M Records in February to join him as partner and General Manager, is responsible for the overall administration of sales, merchandising and promotion.

Bob Krasnow, Record World's
Ron Baron

Krasnow entered the recording industry as a sales representative for Decca in Los Angeles, later became an R&B specialist with King Records, and is credited with helping develop James Brown.

He ultimately became National Promotion Manager for Del-Fi Records and, in 1964, General Manager of the Loma Records subsidiary of Warner-Reprise. There he worked with Ike and Tina and the Olympics, was credited with discovering Mike Nesmith and shortly switched to Colpix and Screen Gems to help mastermind development of the Monkees.

Culmination of Years Planning

Krasnow spent two years as West Coast Director for Kama Sutra Records before embarking on his Blue Thumb venture, the culmination of several years of planning. He felt a small label could do a more effective job of distribution and marketing than a larger one by concentrating in depth on a smaller inventory.

"Every album doesn't have to sell a million copies to make money," he commented. "There is profit in LPs that sell 50,000 or 15,000, if they're handled right and geared to the right market."

Graham resigned as A&M Records' Director of National Promotion to join Krasnow in a philosophy he shares, giving Blue Thumb the lustre, distinctition and presence of the person named "National Promotion Man of the Year" by Bill Gavin for three consecutive years, 1966-68.

Graham entered the industry nine years ago as a sales representative in the San Francisco area and later became Northern California promotion representative for Warner Brothers Records. A year later he was elevated to Western States Promotion Manager.

During this period, Graham was responsible for the introduction of acts such as Peter, Paul and Mary, Bob Newhart and Alan Sherman.

He joined Trident Productions, San Francisco, in 1965 and in the year with this organization developed We Five and their million-seller, "You Were on My Mind." A&M lured him away in 1966.

But now it's Krasnow and Graham at Blue Thumb. Going strong. Growing hits. Showing the industry how it can be done. And, how does your garden grow?

Urie Sees Music, Film Merging in One Medium

John Urie, one of the first professional film-makers to shoot promotional films for music acts, thinks that music and film will soon become inseparable.

Urie, the head of a $3,000,000 West Coast-based film production company, says commercials made without music today are almost unsaleable. "Advertisers have finally learned what extent music is influencing our culture and our lives. Music now becomes the frame of the commercial, while the film becomes the center of attention. They're just about inseparable."

Having shot films with Brasil '66, Dean Spanky and Our Gang, the Rascals, Turtles and others, Urie also uses contemporary composers to score his commercial projects. He assigned Van Dyke Parks to create music for a series of Datsun commercials now running on television. Under a loose production arrangement with ABC-TV, he is currently submitting a number of show ideas, every one of which employs contemporary composers and musicians.

Urie's unusual approach to commercials has earned him huge success and many awards. Yet, instead of the usual chrome and walnut atmosphere, his offices are housed in colorful cramped quarters at 5631 Sunset Blvd. No sign heralds his offices. Instead, a paper cow in the window serves as the only notice that John Urie is indeed here. Once, the cow was removed for a commercial and the Urie switchboard lit up with 50 calls asking as to its whereabouts.

Revolution on Film

Urie is predicting that the current crop of student film makers will create a revolution on film that will also affect the music business.

"Soundtracks are just beginning to be appreciated today; and we've only begun to explore the sounds of our times. The demand for more creative film will stimulate more creative music. Once the film revolution begins on a large scale, today's composers are really going to have to reach deep within themselves to keep pace with the camera men. The soundtrack from 'The Graduate' will be regarded as nostalgia in another five years. I think what will happen is that the 1960 school is going to become as cliché to film, as the organ accompaniment to radio shows, and the new sound explorations will be more kinetic and empathetic to the visual forms. Total environment and living theater are on the threshold of being popularized," said Urie.

Urie has backlogged some 30 ideas for TV specials. "I want to put the right composer with each one of these projects. Some of the people that come to me seem to think that music for television has to be bland. They couldn't be more wrong. TV is one area which is completely open to new musical ideas and treatments. It's much freer than top 40 radio for instance. Some composers and musicians still judge TV by "The Beverly Hillbillies"; and they should take a hard look at the distinction between series music and special music. With special music, the networks and the sponsors are definitely going to be looking for the unusual, the different."

Urie also feels that underground television is just around the corner. "In the next two years, we're going to see UHF stations around the country programming hard rock acts just like the underground FM stations are now doing. It's the next logical step. Young musicians are going to get fantastic exposure on these shows, because such programs will be beamed to their immediate public. Janis Joplin or the Doors will draw fantastic ratings on such shows, at which point, network underground TV will become a reality. Nothing would please me more than to be able to work on such a show."

B, S&T Gold

Columbia Records' hot rock group, Blood, Sweat and Tears, has achieved a gold record for its best-selling LP "Blood, Sweat and Tears."

Linda Country Hit

Singer Linda Ronstadt's debut solo album, "Hand Sown, Home Grown," is getting strong airplay on country radio stations as well as on the nation's underground stations, according to Capitol Records. The LP is selling well in both areas.

TEC Expanding Under Curb

In just over four months, Transcontinental Entertainment Corporation has blossomed into one of the most aggressive and prominent young forces in the entertainment industry on the West Coast. Under the direction of Mike Curb, TEC's 23-year-old President, the company has already acquired some of the label industry's most creative production teams. Included under the TEC umbrella of companies today are:

Together Records—run by independent producers Gary Usher, Curt Boettcher and Keith Olsen. Between them they have a dozen gold records; Forward Records—run by TEC's Executive Vice President and President, Billy Fraser, the label was organized four weeks ago; James William Guercio Enterprises—which includes the producing talents of the 26-year-old Guercio, who is responsible for Blood, Sweat & Tears, Illinois Speed Press and Chicago; Attarack—with Ray Harris and Seymour Heller; and Sidewalk Productions—with producer Harley Hatcher.

Purchased Levine, Resnick

In early April, Curb negotiated one of TEC's most important acquisitions—the purchase of the Levine & Resnick production company, writers and producers of Ohio Express and the two men responsible for much of the so-called "bubble-gum" pop tunes that flooded the market by Kasenetz-Katz and Buddah Records. In addition to L&R, the agreement calls for Harold Burkman and Harbour Records to also fall under TEC.

The Levine & Resnick transaction is also TEC's first move into the East Coast, where L&R will headquartered.

The following week, TEC concluded another agreement with television producer Winter and Rosen. Winters/Rosen Records, the name it has thus far, will distribute all of its product through TEC. The two are among the most prominent in the television industry with such specials as Ann-Margaret to their credit.

The rapid growth of TEC and its expansion greatly to Curb, a tireless worker who intends to make the company a "haven for creativity." TEC has left the control of each company in the hands of the people who founded it, and is responsible for its growth. It is a policy that TEC—and Curb—will continue to follow.

Together Credo: Mutual Agreement

Together Records, formed in March, 1969, by three of the music industry's most successful producers, is in reality the kind of label with which every artist in the industry would like to record.

Gary Usher, Curt Boettcher and Keith Olsen have a dozen gold records between them and are the three A&R producers who formed the label. They describe it as an "artist-oriented" label and they've left no doubt as to how important the artist actually is with their policy of:

a) giving artists approval of all artwork and advertising
b) giving artists approval of all product before it is released

c) Saw Many Labels Start This Way...

Everything at Together is done by mutual approval—that is, the artist and producer must agree before anything goes ahead, whether it be an advertisement or album cover. In addition, the trio have shown their concern over the artist with the establishment of an "advisory division," which gives an artist advice on everything from management and booking agencies to clubs and concert halls.

The purpose of Together was to form a "perfect marriage" between the artist and the producer. Usher, Boettcher and Olsen are three producers who have seen many labels start out with this type of policy in mind but then falter because of too much growth or dollars and cents becoming more important than artistic freedom.

"We Don't," Usher said when the label was launched, "intend to fall into any of those pitfalls. We'll keep a limited roster of artists, maybe no more than six or seven. After all, if you can't hit with a handful of artists, there's no reason to think that you can make a hundred successful."

Saul to MGM

Coast Promo Post

Ron Saul has joined MGM Records as West Coast Promotion Manager.

For nine years he was associated with Consolidated Distributors in Seattle and won many awards for outstanding promotion from such companies as Buddah, MGM, Mercury, Liberty and Atlantic.
Epic Has Top California Year

Epic Records is enjoying its best year on the West Coast.

In the last several months, the West Coast Artists and Repertoire office has been actively signing contemporary new groups and has acquired several musical sound tracks. Twenty new albums have recently been recorded, running the gamut from heavy underground to pure middle of the road.

One of the most widely reported signings was Poco, a country-rock group that finds its roots in the rural Springfield, Richie Furay writes most of the songs and Jim Messina produces, as they did with the Springfield. Their first album is due next month. They already have a tremendous following from California appearances (under their earlier name of Pogo) and a packet of rave reviews from those appearances.

Discovered New Composer

Epic's Hollywood offices have also discovered an outstanding new composer and arranger, Harry Betts. Harry has just finished the soundtrack from a surfing movie, "The Fantastick Plastic Machine." And he has just completed music for an album in conjunction with Johnny Mandel, the writer of the Academy Award-winning song, "The Shadow of Your Smile."

'Major Achievement'

Epic further announces the release of "a major achievement" in Greg Dycke's "Prince of Peace," a jazz cantata written for a television show to be aired in June. The work is performed by members of the Synanon House in Los Angeles. It is a combination of jazz and rock based on several quotations from the Bible.

The renowned jazz flutist Paul Horn has just returned to the West Coast from a trip to India with the Maharishi and brought back some tapes that he recorded live in the Taj Mahal. These, along with some new jazz concepts recorded by Paul, will be released in two forthcoming Epic albums.

The Williams, a California blues singer, has just finished his first album. The album was recorded with some of the great blues men living on the West Coast.

Kaleidoscope, the heavy West Coast underground group, have changed producers and are now ready to take the country by storm, making their own brand of "Middle-East Blues." The Kaleidoscope are using a myriad of instruments in their drive to achieve the perfect mixture for their fans.

And, as this article was being written, one of pop music's influential leaders, San Francisco's Sly Stone, has just released his latest, eagerly awaited album, "Stand!"

Gregory, Cohen Head Staff

The West Coast A&R office, staffed by its Director Chuck Gregory and his associate Mark Cohen, has begun a major campaign to generate new product.

Strong underground and top-40 product has been produced by Epic's independent producers James Fleming, Steve Goldman, Paul Horn, Bob Johnston and Jackie Mills. Their hits, the soulful Red Beans and Rice, the electrifying C. K. Strong, the inimitable Flamin' Groovies, the outlawish Dan Hicks and His Hot Licks and the down-home West have all produced heavy underground product for Epic.

Furthermore, Epic has high hopes for the top-40 charts in the likes of Carmen! and Keith Barbour.

Perry Mayer Reveals:

Tower Records' New Look

Tower Records has completely revamped its operation and is taking a new approach to the business under its new management team topped by Perry Mayer, recently named Vice President and General Manager of the first Epic label.

Mayer said that the effectiveness of Tower's new look was evidenced by the number of phone calls Vice President of A&R Eddie Ray and Sammy Vargas, A&R in New York, were receiving from top-flight producers anxious to make deals. In the future, Tower will be operating in the style of a wheeling-dealing independent.

Dave Fox, National Promotion Manager, will be working closely with distributor promotion staff and is in the process of hiring regional promotion men to cover the country and work with distributors.

Mayer said that one of the most important assets in re-aligning the label's sales department was the hiring of Jay Swint as National Sales Manager. In his new capacity, Swint has already changed the price structure and return policies with distributors.

Execs Will Travel

All of the top executives of the company will be travelling extensively throughout the country during the year to further strengthen the promotion and sales of product. A production agreement signed under the new regime was with Chips Moman and Tommy Cogbill. Memphis-based producers are currently hot on the charts with several hits. First disk under the agreement is Eternity's Children's new release, "The Sidewalks of the Ghetto," produced by Moman-Cogbill for Crooked Fox Productions and Tower. A second production is under new artist Charles Ross III whose first record, "A Railroad Trestle in California," will be released this month.

A production agreement with the Atturhack-Heller Corp. continues with Ed Cobb and Ray Harris producing the Chocolate Watch Band and Dick Dodd, former lead singer with the Standells, for Tower.

Distribution deals are in effect with Burdette Records of Seattle and Showtown Records, a new Los Angeles-based label.

The highly successful arrangement between AIP and Tower for release of the motion picture firm's soundtrack albums continues with the current release of the original soundtrack album from the film, "Three in the Attic." A new label, Cap Latino, has been established under the Tower banner with Ozzie Venzor named General Manager. Venzor is currently on the road setting up a separate distribution network for Cap Latino.

Mayer said that the over-all release schedule by Tower will be cut back with fewer releases and more concentration on the records that show potential. Mayer feels that the hiring of additional field personnel, frequent field trips by all the executives of the company and a closer working relationship with distributors will assure maximum exposure for all product on Tower Records.

Uni Gets First Soundtrack LP

Russ Regan, VP and General Manager of Uni Records, poses with (from left) Robert E. Peterson, actress Andrea Kermott, Regan, Robert L. Dellinger to celebrate the deal for Uni to release its first soundtrack LP, based on the Robert E. Peterson Productions, "Follow Me." A single from the surfing pic, "Surf Spray Colored Glasses" b/w "Somebody" sung by Dino, Desi and Billy, will be released first, followed by the April 25 release of the album to coincide with the world premiere of the film in L.A. "Follow Me" was produced and directed by Gene McCabe and Robert E. Dellinger as exec producer.

ABC: A Major Coast Factor

Notes Label's Howard Stark

By DAVE FINKLE

NEW YORK—Howard Stark, who is heading ABC Records operations out of Los Angeles and more specifically L.A.-based Apt, Impulse! and Bluesway there, was itching to get back to California when he met with Record World here.

"The atmosphere is more conducive to creating there," he said.

Evidently something is going right because the California sun and air has resulted in "Dizzyee Rose" and "You Gave Me a Mountain" by Frankie Laine.

And more product is on the way quickly. Stark has been reaching a couple of acts for his new Apt label. For release shortly are the Caney Creek Reunion featuring Sherrie Mathews on "Back to Georgia," Don Lauren on "Try a Little Kindness" and Phoenix, Newly signed to Bluesway are Sonny Terry and Brownie McGee. New Impulse contractees are Emil Richards and Mel Brown.

'Migrate from Everywhere'

About Los Angeles and his Los Angeles activities, Stark said, "There is so much talent out there. They migrate from everywhere." We're being picky and choosy, though, and we just don't take an act unless we know we can devote the proper time to it. Our whole family out there gets involved on every group. When we sign an act, we discuss exactly what to do with each act so that when a record is released we know exactly where we're trying to go. We like to know who's associated with an act before we sign them and we usually like to have a producer in mind. We don't tell acts who their managers should be or how they should guide them to agencies because that's not our business. But we do like them to be associated with people cognizant of the record industry. There's got to be a reason for everything we do. Nothing lies fallow. We don't cut anything that we aren't going to release immediately. We cut it and put it out. Everything is done for today because if you wait for tomorrow, you find a whole new trend in music."

Stark right now is helming a staff of about 20 people augmented by independent producers and promo men when the need arises.

One of the many serendipities of Stark's life is the resurgence of blues and with it the interest in Bluesway. "There's a whole new generation to appreciate blues now. Some of these kids come up to me and say, 'Who's this great new blues singer, Jimmy Reed?' or 'Who's this new artist you have, B. B. King?'"

Stark noted that he's looking for a new building to house all the expanding ABC concerns somewhere where he can continue to follow his policy of creating an atmosphere where creativity is encouraged. "Right now we make sure that wherever we always got a dialogue going. There's always someone belting a record. There's always music. I like to keep the late afternoon open every day so we can get together and argue about what happened that day."

"You can say that by the end of this year," Stark concluded, "ABC is going to be a major factor in California." And then he amended that to "we are a major factor."

HOLLYWOOD—Amaret Records has completed its objective within six months. Amaret, which is a division of the newly formed West Coast corporation, the American Association of Recorded Talent, Inc., headed by record veteran Kenny Myers, has signed to the label diversified acts. In addition to the talent, Amaret has signed 12 writers to its two music firms, Amak (ASCAP) and Daje (BMI).

"The West Coast literally vibrates with talent of every conceivable sort," says Myers, a transplanted mid-Westerner having relocated on the West Coast two years ago. "In addition to recording talent, the availability of creative supplemental personnel is overwhelming. It's with this latter group that the American Association of Recorded Talent, Inc., will expand and four other divisions similar to Amaret are now being formed. Each division will operate autonomously within the framework of the corporate policy and will have a limited roster of artists who can be generously serviced with complete career planning to afford each talent the maximum in the way of creative recordings as well as effective management and agency affiliations."

'Advances Staggering'

"The engagement between audio and visual is over," says Myers, "the marriage is here. The technological advances being made in the L.A. area alone these lines is staggering, and this growth potential in the entertainment industry alone guarantees an absolute explosion toward music's dominance in leisure time entertainment."

As the pilot division for the American Association of Recorded Talent, Amaret Records has for the most part sought out new talents.

"To date I can't say that we have established any sort of personality for the Amaret label since I am primarily interested in raw talent," claims Myers. "I can honestly say that I am not interested in hit records. I am interested in developing hit acts whose musical aptitudes and abilities will, in turn, produce wanted recorded product."

This is the case with the Amaret roster to date which includes: David Antrell, a 20-year-old classical pianist who is a prolific contemporary writer portraying his material with the guidance of producer Jimmie Haskell; Crow, a driving hard-rock group who have been a top attraction for the past year in the upper mid-West area (produced by Bobby Monaco of Dunwich Productions); Ginny Tiu and the Pew, a seasoned performer whose new group basics at the bubble-gum set (produced by Bill Traut and Gary Loizzo for Dunwich Productions); Lillith O'Leary, a writing/performing Irish import (produced by Stan Worth and Jimmie Haskell); Mrs. Miller, a household name whose career has been re-born through her statements of social commentary (produced by Val Johns for Sidewalk Productions); New Life, whose current hit of "Ha Lee" exemplifies the pop group (produced by Larry Goldberg); Raintree Minority, a vocal group aimed to Top 40 audiences (produced by Bobby Whiteside); and the Triangle, a Western blues combo produced by Howard Steele.

Larry Sales, Promo Mgr.

Rick Lawrence is Sales Promotion Manager for Amaret; Joyce Bauer, Office Manager, and Jeanne Bennett, Administrative Manager.

Currently, every Amaret act is involved in exposure other than its record activity, such as personal appearances, concert pictures and television presentations. Myers states: "Every act on Amaret has the creative support and individual talent to become a star. It's just a matter of time as to when—but it will be!"

Jubilee West: New But Swinging

Record World recently interviewed Bobby Applegate, Jubilee Records West Coast Director of Operations, and Mickey Eichner, Vice-President and Director of A & R and National Promotion for Jubilee. Eichner serves as direct liaison between both offices.

Concrete Example

M.E.: A very concrete example of the type of things that have happened over the last few months is the success of "Sophisticated Clay" by the Meters on our Josie label. It was largely because of Bobby's promotion efforts out there that we "brought in" the record in those 11 Western states. Our promotion out there is much stronger since Bobby has been there.

RW: What is currently happening as a direct result of the new office?

B.A.: Well, for one thing we just signed the Olympics. They had a whole slew of hit records like "Western Movies."

The West Coast Scene: Where the Action Is

By STAN BLY

West Coast Representative, Bell Records

Bell Records opened their West Coast office a little over a year ago. At that time almost a third of the top 40 records were coming out of Los Angeles and San Francisco. Even records that had been cut in the East or down South were breaking first on the West Coast.

Many companies were contemplating a West Coast office before that time, partly with the growing popularity of "underground" groups, most of whom seemed to center in California. But they also wanted to see if the West Coast sound was a passing fancy or here to stay. Bell's opinion is that it's here to stay, and so are we.

Besides being closer to the sound, Bell is also closer to many of its artists and producers who live in California—Mel Carter, Bill Medley, Bones Howe and Bob Darin, to name a few.

A Logical Move

It's also a logical move for a label like Bell that is completely promotion-oriented. Larry Uttal, President of Bell, decided that the 11 Western states—crucial to any hit record—could best be serviced by a permanent West Coast office.

Most Exciting New Function

The most exciting new function of the West Coast office will be to coordinate activities and cooperate with Columbia Pictures Industries and Screen Gems. Our recent acquisition by Columbia Pictures Industries and the creation of a Columbia Pictures Industries Record Division centered around the Bell operation will be greatly aided in its formation by the West Coast office.

Hits can happen anywhere, but so many hits are happening in California that it's safe to say they are as common to California as oranges. And besides . . . it never rains.

I was able to before. For the last few months, of course, we've been getting the office together. Now I can get out to hear a group rather than sit and wait for someone to come to me. I think this is an important part of Jubilee's thinking. Too many companies have a "wait and see" attitude. Jubilee's attitude is "Let's make it happen."
The Multi - Faceted Amos Operation

LOS ANGELES—During the past six months Jimmy Bowen's Amos Productions has doubled its output, stamping it as one of the largest independent production companies in the country.

In 1968, Amos Productions produced such hit singles as the First Edition's "Just Dropped In," Sammy Davis' "I've Gotta Be Me" and Mason Williams' instrumental "Classical Gas," the latter earning a Grammy for Amos producer Mike Post.

During the past year, Amos Productions appeared on 2½ million single records and more than 850,000 albums. These figures include such Amos-produced artists as: Frank Sinatra, Dean Martin, Sammy Davis, Frankie Avalon, James Darren, Mason Williams, Dick St. John, The First Edition, Dorsey Burnett, the Honey Ltd., Frankie Laine and Ray Peterson.

The production personnel responsible for producing the mentioned artists include Mike Post, Glen D. Hardin, Baker Knight, Walt Meskel and Dick Burns.

Another important arm of Amos Productions is Amos Engineering, headed by Eddie Brackett. Latter has been responsible for engineering more than 600 hits, including all of the Nancy Sinatra-Lee Hazlewood product. He has also engineered portions of Frank Sinatra, Dean Martin, Sammy Davis and Frankie Laine product. He draws much aid from engineer staffers Chuck Britz and Mic Liets.

The major recording companies that Amos Productions and Amos Engineering has produced product for include Warner Bros.-Seven Arts Records, Reprise, Music Factory, Dot, ABC and Uni Records.

Amos Records Formed

The tremendous amount of volume and revenue Amos Productions has reaped in resulted in another arm to company—Amos Records.

Amos Records was formed at the beginning of this year and their initial two album releases were Bing Crosby's "Hey Jude, Hey Bing" and "The Ballad of the Evergreen Blueshoes."

Management of Amos Records is headed by Bowen as President, Tom Thacker as Vice-President and Secretary-Treasurer, and Bruce Hinton as General Manager of the label. Dick Burns from the parent company of Amos Productions heads the publishing division of label. In addition to Crosby and the Evergreen Blueshoes, t'eiir artist roster to date includes singer Lee Dresser, the Great Awakening, Steve Colt Paradox, Jerry Fisher and the Timepiece and the New Kiek.

One thing that Bowen has learned from working with the likes of Sinatra and Martin, is that time is of the essence. Other groups may be able to spend six months producing "Good Vibrations," but Sinatra and Martin—and a lot of other performers—don't have that kind of time.

SECTION II
Elektra West Running, Jumping But Not Standing Still

Paul Rothchild and the Doors relax a week before they can get into the studio. De laney and Bonnie have studio time to complete before Elektra's most successful group to date can start their fourth album. And after the Doors, Rhinoceros will get in; and so on.

Meanwhile, back at the ranch, "Spider" John Koerner and Willie Murphy are finishing up their "Running, Jumping, Standing Still" album, while Dave Ray and his new band, Bamboo, wait their turn. All of which goes to prove that Elektra's two West Coast centers are busy. The number of studios in the Los Angeles area runs into four figures, but the newly conceived Elektra studio at 962 N. La Cienega Boulevard in Hollywood and the Feather River Ranch with its four track equipment are unbeatable. Thus the waiting line.

As it is, the Dillards have to use Wally Heider's Studio Three, and Love has to search for another.

In retrospect Arthur Lee and Love are the raison d'être for Elektra being on the West Coast at all. President Jac Holzman admits the label would have inevitably opened a Coast office, but his discovery of Love at the now defunct Hide Lido's in 1964 (not to mention the second act on the bill—the Doors) provided the impetus.

Extension of Dream

Elektra West provided Holzman with an extension to the dream he began in 1950—and it followed much the same lines as Elektra had in the East. In New York he began with one room in the back of a Village record store. The Western counterpart was a two-room cell in a Sunset Strip office building, over a bank and beside a hair restorer's.

Holzman hired David Ander le, a drop-out drama student in California. Since the end of his scholastic career, Anderle had worked for Muntz Stereo, as a punch helper in Brian Wilson and Michael Vosse set up what was to have been the Beach Boys' scholastic career. Anderle had set up what was to have been the Beach Boys' building, over a bank and beside a hair restorer's. So the Doors have to search. The first album he began in 1950—and it happened that the recording industry Elektra was very present, but showed Holzman, Harvey and everyone at Elektra, too. One step was that part of the La Cienega office was finished. The other half was the realization of a thought—the kind of a thought that has made Elektra's Coast office is. Somebody said why not have a place where artists of voice, instrument, paint, ledger, promotion and publicity can get away from big-city New York and Los Angeles and either rest or record or both?

Search Took a Year

The result was "the ranch," high in the Feather River country of Northern California. The search took a year but it was worth it. The albums that have come out of the ranch have a relaxation, a tone of peace that pervades the "excellent music that would have gone down no matter where the album was recorded. The four-track studio is just part of a lush scene. Just because the tape is rolling doesn't mean the artists to sing to it. They still sing to the trees and mountains and it just happens that the tape picks it up.

The studio in Los Angeles is much the same. In the early days, most of Elektra's Coast recording was done at Sunset Strip's Elektra's two engineers, John Haeny and Bruch Botnik, were found there. These two were very much a part of the design team who moulded the L.A. studio concept.

David Anderle's office is filled with deep rugs, old Spanish wood, and pillows. Suzanne Helms and Ellen Vogt hold the reception fort while Pat Faralla and Michael Jackson handle publicity, artists relations and various other tasks in the black room.

And it's only one third finished. This month ground was broken behind a huge Elektra barricade for the rest of Elektra West. The whole Spanish mission style building will contain a courtyard as well as other necessary offices and perhaps another, even better if possible, studio.

Tucked away at the far end of the business district on Santa Monica Blvd. in West Hollywood is a cavernous night spot that is one of the most important talent showcases in the country today.

Doug Weston's Troubadour, a dimly lit grotto where customers come in blue jeans, mink or any persuasion in between, has been the jumping-off place for some of the highest-priced talent now roaming the bistro belt. What earned the Troubadour its unique position is Weston's uncanny ability to spot "come-ons," many discovered at the Monday night Hootenanny which has helped the careers of the Smothers Brothers, Hoyt Axton, Roger Miller, the New Christy Minstrels, Barry McGuire, the Nitty Gritty Dirt Band, Hearts and Flowers, Hedge & Donna, the Dillards, the Byrds, and many many appearances.

Grand guru of the hall is Weston, a man whose physical proportions are commensurate with the oversized proportions of his club. At 6' 7", he may be the tallest impresario on record.

Monday Night "Hoots"
The concentration of creativity has brought to L.A. an influx of talent such as perhaps no other city in the world can boast. Much of it finds its way to the Monday night "Hoots" at the Troubadour, where any act can audition by the simple device of being there, signing up and performing. It costs the entertainer nothing.

Roger Miller first auditioned on a Hootenanny, and was signed by Weston to be the second act with the Dillards, themselves a previous Hoot discovery. Hedge & Donna, now under personal contract to Weston, were launched in the same way shortly after their graduation from Whittier College. Now their second Capitol L.P., "It's Gonna Happen II," has just been released. Hootenanny nights were started in 1963 with actor-singer Randy Boone, later a regular on TV's "The Virginian," as first Hoot Master. Other H.M.'s who've gone on to further success, include Art Podell, later of the Smothers Brothers, and Mike Nesmith, now one of the Monkees.

Weston's is also a constant look-out for emerging talent on the East Coast and in Europe and Canada. Joni Mitchell, Gordon Lightfoot and Dave van Ronk made their West Coast bow at the Troubadour. It was the second date on their U.S. tour, which they started the week before at the Fillmore East in New York City.

So successfully has Weston captured the title of "star-maker" that one of the top members of the latter group, Art "Spider" John Koerner, the Grand guru of the Troubadour, often comes to spend several days in Hollywood, scouting talent from among Weston's suggestions.

The East Coast people still drop in. Jac Holzman spends about 10 days each between New York and Los Angeles. William S. Harvey drops out now and then to discuss the latest album cover concepts with the groups concerned. Larry Ray appears to talk to Gil Bateman, his West Coast promotion man. Mel Foner sees George and Stella and sales as often as possible. Dennis Murphy gets there to talk things over with Pat Faralla and Michael Jackson and any M.G.M. people who happen to be in town.

The Paradox Group is centered across the street from the new office. That's Elektra's publishing house which includes Ten Reel Music, the Nitty Gritty Dirt Music and Paradox Music. Russ Miller heads it up with Linda Perry. Their West Coast life is infiltrated with groups from New York based Larry Harris, Vice President of Business Affairs, and Sue Roberts, Elektra's New York publishing executive.

Very Much A Part

So it happens, with all the personal and telephone contact, that Elektra West is very much part of Elektra East and vice versa. Neither is an extension of the other. While Alan Emig is producer in Los Angeles and Bamboo at the ranch, David Anderle is producing Judy Collins in New York; while Paul Rothchild waits to produce the Doors in New York, Russ Miller is producing Lonnie Mack in Mount Healthy, Cincinnati.

So, you see, it's all one.

Mercury in L.A.: Total Commitment

Mercury Record Corporation's Los Angeles operations represent a total commitment on the part of the company to the music scene in Southern California. From its offices at 6922 Hollywood Boulevard, the Mercury L. A. staff is involved in everything from production to promotion to sales publishing.

Headquartered in the corporation's L. A. offices are such key people as Liza Kelley, who is involved in the A&R administration, and Frank Leffel, who covers Western states promotionally for the corporation: Don Williams, Mercury's West Coast Mercury Record Corporation publishing representative; and George Haltom, Western District Sales Manager.

Much of the corporation's artists' roster is composed of talents from the Los Angeles area. On the rock side, the Mercury label is represented by the Buddy Miles Express, a nine-piece soul/big band act led by former Electric Flag drummer Miles. The group's debut LP, "Expressway to Your Heart," was just released on the Mercury label.

Los Angeles also is the home for producer Brad Miller's Mystic Moods Orchestra, the top-selling tape combine. The Mystic Moods have met with success on every LP released by the band, from their first, "One Stormy Night," to their just-released "Extensions."

The corporate's electronic and avant-garde Limelight label has released LPs by two L. A.-based acts, the Sound of Feeling and Ruth White. The Sound of Feeling's L.P., produced by Leonard Feather, is called "Spleen," while "Trumps from the Tarot Cards" comes from Miss White, one of the world's foremost electronic music producers.

Los Angeles, too, is, of course, the home of the Smothers Brothers and the Mercury label is well represented with albums by the controversial humor team. The Smothers' latest, "The Smothers Comedy Hour," was released through a production deal with Rubicon River Records.

Another major promotion endeavor involving an L. A. figure is with top arranger/instrumentalist Don Costa, who has brought a number of top acts to Mercury Corporation fold. Costa's latest instrumental effort, "The Don Costa Concept," and "good music" LP, was just released on the Mercury label.

On Mercury Staff in Los Angeles

Involving in much of the production work in Los Angeles is Mercury's staff production team, a group that includes Abe Kesh, Frank Morin and Milan Melvin. Morin recently produced the Sir Douglas Quintet's latest Smash LP, "Mendocino," in Los Angeles, while Melvin carried the A&R chores in L. A. on Blue Cheer's latest for Phillips, "New! Improved Blue Cheer."

Los Angeles also is headquarters for Irwin Garr's Pulse label, manufactured and distributed by the Mercury Corporation. The label is well represented by top talent, including British organist/saxophonist Grahame Bond, who is now living in Los Angeles. His LP, "Trumps from the Tarot Cards," has been reviewed by the group.

Los Angeles also has a number of top acts to Mercury Corporation fold. Costa's latest instrumental effort, "The Don Costa Concept," has been reviewed by the group.

This pattern of activity has placed London's Hollywood-based regional promo team Jerry Hoff squarely in the spotlight as one of the key cogs in the operation. Hoff maintains close liaison between London headquarters staffers in New York and the Camarata-owned Coliseum label. He has also been instrumental in the launching of Touch, and has worked closely with the group as it prepares to commence its first personal appearance tour within the next week.

Yet another West Coast phenomenon in which London now finds itself directly involved is that of Aum, a new rock group from San Francisco, which is on the London-distributed Sire label. Aum is under the management wing of Bill Graham, owner of the Fillmore (East, West and South) and the group has already created a stir through its appearances at Fillmore West.

To Phillips-Adler

HOLLYWOOD — Producers John Phillips and Lou Adler have acquired a third partner for their independent picture and television activities as well. Phillips Adler Inc., a new personal management firm — now being formed: Arthur Linson, 27-year-old attorney-agent, formerly with the Frank Cooper Agency. He has joined Phillips Adler and will function as the firm's business affairs administrator.

Phillips Adler also is involved in a major production agreement with Halmac Productions, headed by Harold Battist and Mac (Doctor John) Revennack. Halmac has already been responsible for such Pulsar albums as "Blue Stone" by Tobias Wood Henderson and "A Man In Love" by King Floyd.

London Records

With 1968 having provided a rousing in of exciting West Coast original happening for London Records, the firm and its execs have already in the works ambitious plans to keep their Hollywood-based pot boiling.

Principal among these is the Mercury group, the much-talked-about Touch, which has recorded an album for Tutti Camarata's London-distributed Coliseum line, and which is now on the point of a brand new single release.

The group was first signed by Camarata in mid-1968. Under a deliberate "go slow" policy in terms of releases and appearances, the group has spent recent months preparing for its in-person debut, now a matter of only weeks away. The original LP, known simply as "Touch," and released at the end of last year, drew critical bravos and is to be followed soon by a second and even more vivid excursion into the new frontiers of group sound.

A major promotion and merchandising effort is now being blueprinted to coincide with the forthcoming personal appearance tour.

Another Promising Career

Still another promising career Coast-wise is that of young, attractive Jennifer Russell, until recently a star of the Los Angeles "Hair" tour, who also records for London. Jennifer has a current single out of songs from "Hair," the original LP, to be seen in a number of television slots in the months ahead.

The West Coast, and particularly the Hollywood area, has been especially involved in the sharp and fast-breaking success of at least four London or London group artists in the past year, a fact which has served to bring home again and again the vitality of the California record scene for London.

Prime among these talents is Britain's Moody Blues, whose first album enters second success phase, issued early last year, became a hit after its initial breakthrough in the West Coast markets. Both San Francisco and Los Angeles contributed to this phenomenon, and it has also persisted even today in the LP releases by the group.

Other London and group artists which have achieved the same kind of "today the Coast, tomorrow the nation" explosion, include the 10 Years After, Savoy Brown Blues Band and perhaps most of all John Mayall, one of the foremost blues artists on the current British-American scene.

Hoff Key Cog

This pattern of activity has placed London's Hollywood-based regional promo team Jerry Hoff squarely in the spotlight as one of the key cogs in the operation. Hoff maintains close liaison between London headquarters staffers in New York and the Camarata-owned Coliseum label. He has also been instrumental in the launching of Touch, and has worked closely with the group as it prepares to commence its first personal appearance tour within the next week.

Yet another West Coast phenomenon in which London now finds itself directly involved is that of Aum, a new rock group from San Francisco, which is on the London-distributed Sire label. Aum is under the management wing of Bill Graham, owner of the Fillmore (East, West and South) and the group has already created a stir through its appearances at Fillmore West.

Dunhill in the ‘Hits’ Biz: VP Jay Lasker

Dunhill Records, formed on a dime in 1965, is ranked among the top recording companies in the business today. Jay Lasker, Vice-President of Dunhill, says, “Our idea was to get away from the stereotyped record company that tries to please everybody, producing everything from Hawaiian records to classical.” The firm decided to concentrate on one type of market. We wanted to get strictly into the ‘hits’ type business aiming at the young teen-ager.

Judging which records are good enough to be released has been Dunhill’s forte, notes Lasker. “We make a lot of records but we put out only a few,” he explains. “We avoid things by the pound. None of our first seven records went anywhere but they were good records. Our eighth record, ‘The Tracks,’ by Barry McGuire sold a million. Our careful selectivity has paid off. When a radio station receives a Dunhill record they know that it’s worth at least listening to.”

Lasker credits the quality of his product to the artists and men around him. Such artists as the Mamas and Papas, the Grass Roots, Jimmy Webb, Steppenwolf, Mama Cass, Richard Harris and Three Dog Night are among the Dunhill family. “We have exceptional personnel to back up our artists,” says Lasker. He adds, “It goes back to people. It all depends on the people you have in your organization and the attention you give to the product they put out.” Pointing proudly to the gold records arrayed in his office, Lasker talked about Steve Barri, A&R Director of Dunhill.

“Barri is a 12-year veteran in the record business, has achieved a track record of eight gold records for producing and writing.” Barri says he likes to know that his product to the artists and relations to develop and record them.

There is always much sound-track activity at the MGM Studios. MGM’s “Till the Clouds Roll By” was the first soundtrack album released in 1947. I produced this as well as many other soundtrack and pop albums. We still scrutinize all films for potential record LPs. Presently scoring is the music from “The Gypsy Moths” composed and conducted by Elmer Bernstein. Already working for a soundtrack album is the Arthur Jacobs musical production, “Goodbye, Mr. Chips.” The film stars Peter O’Toole and Petula Clark. The songs were written by Leslie Bricusse and the music supervised by L.A.’s Johnny Williams.

MGM Records has always been very active on the West Coast in every area of the recording business. Many big single and album hits have been made here. To make it complete, a few years ago MGM Records opened its own record distribution branch in L.A. which handles the sale of records and tapes in the Southern California area.

Multi-Faceted MGM, W. Coast

By JESSE KAYE

MGM Records West Coast VP

There will be considerable activity on the West Coast in the foreseeable future for MGM Records. Many important acts are resident in the L.A. area. The Cowills, who are running very strongly with their new hit single “Hair,” have recently moved here permanently from the East. Their recordings and their business will be handled from the L.A. area. Bill Medley (MGM Records) and Bobby Hatfield (Verve Records), who now record separately since the Righteous Brothers split, both reside in Los Angeles and their recording activity is centered in the area. Eric Burdon has a home in L.A. and for the past year has done all his business and recordings in Hollywood. Although actually a resident of Nevada, Wayne Newton does most of his recording in Hollywood as well as maintaining a business office in Beverly Hills. Michel Legrand spends as much time here as in his native France.

Acts not based in Los Angeles very often do some of their recording here either because they are making personal appearances in the area or because L.A. is a “happening city” and top-flight producers, arrangers, composers and music critics of all types in the music media are available here. During the past year the acts which fell into this category were Connie Francis, Lainie Kazan, Jimmy Smith, Richie Havens, Sheb Wooley, the Velvet Underground, Arthur Pynes, the newly acquired Cathy Carlson and many others.

Borchetta Adds Cooper

HOLLYWOOD — West Coast independent promoter Mike Borchetta has added Bob Cooper to his promotional staff. Cooper held a similar position with Warner Brothers over the past two years. Borchetta’s growing office is currently handling promotion for Glen Campbell, Tommy Roe, the Guess Who, the Ventures, Deane Howley (Sundown Records), Willie & the Red Rubber Band and the Four Seasons for Philips Records.

Col to New L. A. Bldg.

Columbia Records Division of Columbia Broadcasting System has signed a long-term lease to occupy the entire fourth floor of the new $11 million, 16-story Sunset-Cahuenga Building in the heart of Hollywood, it is announced (Continued on page 96)

Ventures Wilson, Bagle Form Production Company

Don Wilson and Bob Bogle of the Ventures have formed Armada Productions, Inc., in a joint venture with Bob Reis- dorff, former owner of Talent Records and most recently Liberty Records' chief in England. The trio have capitalized the new production firm with $1 million, which will be used during the coming months on production work and the construction of a recording studio in Hollywood.

As part of the agreement, Reisdorff will become manager of the Ventures. Members of the group are drummer Mel Taylor, and guitarist Jerry Mc- Gee in addition to Bogle and Wilson. John Durrill will become the fifth member of the group and will add, for the first time, an organ to the group's sound. Reisdorff will resume his A&R work through Armada, which will also be signing a "selected few" new artists in the future.

In addition, recorded product by the Ventures will come through Armada as well as product developed with other artists. Reisdorff will head the new company and its publishing subsidiary (as yet, unnamed), which will contain all the Ventures' songs as well as those of new writers who will be signed to the company. The Ventures, who are currently under contract to Liberty Re- cords, have more than 30 LPs in the Liberty catalogue. They currently own their biggest-selling instrumental hits with the theme from "Hawaii Five-O."

Reisdorff said that the new company has plans to expand into television and motion picture production and will utilize Venture music in both media.

Hassinger Music Complex Set Up

Dave Hassinger, formerly staff producer for Warner Bros.-Seven Arts Records' A & R Department, announced the opening of his own music complex, consisting of Damo Pro- ductions, Inc., a BMI publishing company, Newcomer Music, and two recording studios, Sound Factory and Sound Factory West.

During his 10-year career in the music industry Hassinger, while with RCA Victor for eight years, was credited as an recording engineer on five Roll- ing Stones albums and seven singles, including their hit "Satisfaction." Also during that period he engineered the two Jefferson Airplane albums "Surrealistic Pillow" and "The Jefferson Airplane Takes Off." Among the many hit artists Hassinger has been involved with is all included Sam Cooke, the Byrds, Yardbirds, Jackie DeShannon and the Monkees.

During his two-year stay at WB-7 Arts he produced two chart singles by the Electric Prunes, "I Had Too Much To Dream Last Night" and "Get Me To The World On Time," as well as two albums, "Elec- tric Prunes" and "Maas In F Minor." Also included in his activities was the production of two Grateful Dead LPs, "Anthem To The Sun" and "The Grateful Dead," plus al- bum product of the "Collec- tors" and "Sweetwater."

Under the terms of an ar- rangement between Hassinger and WB-7 Arts Records he will continue to produce, but has a new home in Hollywood...

Concert Review

Nancy Delights Apollo

NEW YORK—At the Apollo Theater last week, Miss Nancy Wilson headlined a thrilling, magical mystery tour of the wonderful world of spring. Such tunes as "Peace of Mind," "Satin Doll" and "Please Don't Take Your Love from Me" added sparkle to the journey; but there were some sad moments also — "Guess Who I Saw Today"—and some bittersweet—"Free Again."

Also appearing with the Capitol songstress were Philly Groove's The Delfonics, Verve's Arthur Prysock and comedian Irwin C. Watson.

For those who missed the delightful Nancy, two demerits for not taking care of your work. —Alfred Rushing.

Audio Magnetics About To Re-Enter Tape Duplicating

GARDENA, CALIF.—"There is a lot of tape duplicating business around these days," Irving Katz of Audio Magnetics told Record World last week, "Anybody who can't get business doesn't deserve to be in it." This observation was by way of announcing Audio Magnetics' re-entry into the duplicating business. Although no official announcements have been made pending signing of contracts for acquisitions of duplicating operations, Katz acknowledged that such word was due in the very near future.

Right now Audio Magnetics is only making blank tapes at a rate of about 1 million a month. Since his company and the tape industry in general is expanding at such a rapid rate these days ("We're a major supplier to major companies," he says), Katz confided that he expects to be turning out 3 million tapes per month by the end of the year.

Audio Magnetics is a completely self-contained tape manufacturer, with expansion of facilities going on at a couple of his plants.

Katz predicts that the cassette field will grow, especially in the educational field. "There are ways to use cassettes that we never dreamed of," he said. "People who never learned to read or write are using them as a form of communication instead of letters. They are so simple to use. Give them to a child and after you demonstrate how to do it two or three times, a child can handle them. This is great for education purposes."

Katz, who started with records but has been working with magnetic tapes for some years now, said, "We've been successful with tapes because we know how to do it. And we know how to do it cheaply. That's an important factor today."

Hart Named VP, GM Of Tape-Tronics

Burt Mahler, President of Tape-Tronics, Inc., has announced the appointment of Atlee S. Hart (Al) to the position of Vice President and General Manager.

In his new position, Hart will have direct responsibility over all internal operations and will provide a needed additional path for information flow between Tape-Tronics and its customers and suppliers.

The new position, said Mahler, is a direct result of Tape-Tronics rapidly expanding operations in 8 track and cassette duplicating and related fields.

Hart, 33, is a member of both AES and IEEE, and prior to the announcement has been associated with Tape-Tronics in all phases of its production and engineering operations.

Buddah & ITCC Ink Long-Termter

A bond of faith in each other is taken by Buddah Records and International Tape Cartridge Corporation as the two companies resign a long-term tape duplication and marketing pact. Korvette's Rothfeld Advises LPs Cite Tape Availability

When Record World asked Korvette's David Rothfeld what suggestion he had for manufacturers in promoting their tapes, he said that a line on album jackets advising the availability of tape versions of the album would be a great merchandising aid. Subsequent snooping around on Record World's part has turned up the report (via responses from many dealers) that much duplicate record and tape buying is going on, especially among teens. Certainly enough for waxery-taperies to adopt Rothfeld's suggestion.

Such tie-in promotion could only help tape sales (and what about vice versa?), especially in stores where the record and tapes displays are not that proximate.

Ampex Forms New Sales Group

A new sales group to market blank audio tape for consumer recording and playback has been formed by the Ampex Stereo Tapes division, Elk Grove Village, Ill.

Donald V. Hall, Vice President-General Manager, said the new marketing force will concentrate on the sale of Ampex 301 Series tape for use in home recording. Series 301 tape is available in both open reel and cassette forms.

MGM Sets New Julie Budd Push

MGM Records is setting the pace for a second major campaign for its 14-year-old artist Julie Budd.

Julie has just finished recording her second album for the label, arranged and produced by Herb Bernstein, who discovered her a few years ago at a Catskill Mountain resort hotel. The album is "Wild and Wonderful," taken from one of the songs in the set called "Wild and Wonderful Me." Unlike Julie's first album, "A Child of Plenty," this one is not geared strictly towards the elderly appeared in the set. Instead, Bernstein decided to put heavy concentration on well known standards. A single will probably be released later.

Julie's album has just been released.

WLIB Carnegie Benefit Entertaining Evening

NEW YORK—April is jazz month in New York City, and many great things are happening. Black Expo, which opens April 22 at City Center will feature the bands of Thad Jones/Mel Lewis (Solid Slate) and Duke Pearson (Blue Note). Billy Taylor and his group will also perform at that April 26 session.

Another Blue Note artist, Dexter Gordon, will come home to the Village Vanguard for, hopefully, an extended stay, beginning April 22.

On April 16, WLIB-FM presented their third Annual Jazz Concert at Carnegie Hall. The proceeding from the entertaining evening go to a Musicians’ Emergency Fund. Lou Donaldson, Roy Eldridge and the Thad Jones/Mel Lewis Orchestra were some of the featured artists.

The concert was highlighted by two very good performances by the ever-delightful Dizzy Gillespie and the unlimited Herbie Mann. Suprisingly, it was the vocal numbers which received the best audience reaction. Dizzy sang a tune from a recent album (“Swing Low, Sweet Cadillac,” Impulse), “Something in Your Smile,” and then did the title tune from that album, with some vocal support from James Moody.

Linda Sharrock joined Herbie Mann’s group, and did a very beautiful and emotional number, titled “Black Woman.” April is jazz month in New York, and anyone with any kind of feeling for jazz should get out and support it.

Newport Jazz Fest Lineup

Producer George Wein has announced the lineup for the 19th annual Newport Jazz Festival. On Friday, July 4, there will be an afternoon jam session hosted by organist Jimmy Smith with about 30 of today’s top jazz instrumentalists. Friday evening’s concert will be a major innovation of this year’s festival—“An Evening of Jazz-Rock” featuring Jeff Beck, Blood, Sweat and Tears, Roland Kirk, Steve Marcus, Ten Years After and Jethro Tull.

Two concerts will again be presented on Saturday, July 5. Featured on the afternoon session will be Art Blakey, Gary Burton, Miles Davis, The Mothers of Invention and the Newport All Stars with Hank Crawford, Tal Farlow and Red Norvo. The evening concert will feature Dave Brubeck and Gerry Mulligan, Woody Herman Orchestra, Sly and the Family Stone, O. C. Smith and the World’s Greatest Jazz Band. A solo concert by James Brown will be presented Sunday afternoon, July 6. The festival will close Sunday evening with the “Schitz Mixed Bag” sponsored by the Jos. Schlitz Brewing Co. and featuring Herbie Hancock, King, Buddy Rich Orchestra, Teddy Tate, Joe Turner, Winter, and Led Zeppelin.

Chi B’nai Brith Fetes Morris Price

Mercury Record Corporation Morris Price will be feted by the Music and Performing Arts Lodge of B’nai Brith at a “Rib and Roast dinner” at 7 p.m. Tuesday, April 29, at the Sheraton O’Hare Motel in Chicago.

Price, the industry veteran who currently is Product Manager for Mercury’s economy line, was the first and present President of Chicago’s Music and Performing Arts Lodge. He also was a founder of the New York Lodge. Tickets for the “Man Only” dinner are $7.50.

Prestige Inks Bryant, Butler

BERGENFIELD, N. J.—Recording Director Don Schlitten announces the signing of saxophonist Rusty Bryant and guitarist Billy Butler to exclusive Prestige contracts. The first Prestige release by each artist will be available May 10.

Bryant had hit recordings of “Night Train” and “Castle Rock” in the 1960s and headlined many shows at the Apollo Theater. In recent years, he has led his own band throughout the mid-West. Singer Nancy Wilson is one of many Bryant discoveries. His debut LP features him playing the Con Multi-Vider.

Butler had a major association with Bill Doggett for many years and is the co-author of “Honky Tonk.” He is among the most in-demand guitarists for studio work in New York. A sample of his work is available on Dee Dee Warwick’s smash “Foolish Fool.” In recent months, he has appeared on Prestige with Illinois Jacquet, Richard “Groove” Holmes and Sonny Stitt. Butler’s first Prestige LP showcases his unique “singing” sound and has a feature spot for his bass guitar work.

the groups stay within the confines of the church and the writings are from singers and dedicated writers who are sensitive and reverent, there may be a chance that gospel will become more widely accepted. But don’t make the mistake of thinking that you can tangle up with the black man as you have other music. Proceed with caution for the black man is thinking today; and may God smile on “Oh Happy Day.”

Jim, Dale to UA

Velvet Crest

The group has been together for two years, and hail from the tiny hamlet of Mineral City, Ohio. Joel describes their bag as "contemporary pop," and stressed the fact that strong vocals à la Association, Fifth Dimension and the Vogues are their main concern. They are self-contained, however, using an amplified acoustic guitar, bass and drums for a good full sound.

The Velvet Crest's "Look Homeward Angel" is the first release on Harbour, distributed by Budah. At present they are working on lots of original material for their first album and a new single.

New Kaplan-Cullen Complex

NEW YORK—Artie Kaplan and Bob Cullen announced the formation of Kaplan-Cullen Asociates, Inc., a diversified music complex encompassing a record production office, two music publishing companies and a talent consultation service.

Kaplan-Cullen currently produces Wayne Newton for MGM
Records and the Crystal Mansion (who charted with The "Song of Loving You") and Erik Pauluker for Capitol Records. Hot initial sales on the new Crystal Mansion album have been reported by the label and several cuts from the LP are under consideration for the next single release.

In addition, Kaplan-Cullen are developing a project of major proportions for Metro-media Records, with details to be announced shortly.

Kaplan-Cullen also marshall
- two publishing firms, Golden egg Music (BMI) and Mike Music (ASCAP), Dave White, who wrote "The Thought of Loving You," has been signed to Golden Egg. Former leader of the hit group Danny & the Juniors, White is also the writer of "At The Hop," "You Don't Own Me," "L, 2, S," "Like a Baby," "Rock and Roll Is Here To Stay" and many other hits made popular by such artists as Len Barry and Leslie

A unique talent consultation service provided by Kaplan-Cullen Associates has already been successfully channeled to motion pictures. At the request of Don Kirshner, President of the Kirshner Entertainment

ociates developed three young singer-actors who met exacting casting demands for featured roles in a forthcoming major musical film to be produced by Kirshner and Harry Saltzman.

The three young men have been combined with a young lady to form the group named Tomorrow. Kaplan-Cullen Associates now owns a percentage of the three young singer-actors in all professional areas.

Artie Kaplan, former Pro-essional Manager in the music department (publishing area) of Screen Gems, will soon record as a talent producer for Cullen Associates. Kaplan is also one of the most successful musical contractors in New York, having played on recording sessions for Jav & the Amer-

Recently somebody tapped me on the shoulder, and said, "Bet you don't know who I am!" Natch, I recognized Bob Klein on a lightening visit to Berlin. The wrong word from the latter—all-too-often a one-sided opinion—can lead the visitor to a totally incorrect impression. In London's highly competitive record industry, a person who receives only laudatory comment is probably someone who never says no and puts his personal popularity before his company interests."

He went on to suggest discretion on the part of the would-be employee as contacting prospective personnel and urged a greater investigation of the experienced men providing the catalogue backbone of London's successful companies.

The current unrest seems to have been provoked by publicized complaints from ta'ent-hunting stateside moguls who have only interviewed a few recommended men for jobs and have subsequently said that they aren't finding qualified tradesters.

Around the World with Monument

HOLLYWOOD—When Monument Record Corp. President Fred L. Foster decided in October, 1965, to begin his worldwide identification for the Monument label, following some seven years of being previously released on the London label, he went out to secure the most knowledgeable American in the foreign field, someone who would be familiar with the record as well as the music publishing scene overseas.

It was then that Bobby Weiss, was brought into the organization to become Vice-President and Director of the newly-created International Division—to begin the buildup of Monument globally.

Foster was made aware of the completely professional approach of Weiss as a result of the build-up Weiss had already given to Capitol Records (as European Director) and Warner Brothers Records (as International Director). for Weiss had already become the first American to represent a major American record company as a resident abroad, when launching the European distribution of Capitol in October, 1962—and in 1968, after leaving Cantilo joined WB, still maintaining his Paris residence although roaming the globe in behalf of the film firm's record arm.

Thus, Weiss came to Monument with over 12 years of foreign music business experience in 1965—and Hollywood, the "music nerve center" of everything West of the Mississippi, as Hollywood was selected by Foster as well as Weiss as being the ideal headquarters for the division, as well as the site for Monument-West (as opposed to the official headquarters back in Nashville). Since the opening of the 900 Sunset offices, Weiss has maintained a hefty schedule of foreign as well as domestic activity, as he also helms the West Coast offices, with the latest addition being the promotion man and now Monument's West Coast exploitation manager, Buck Stapleton, who recently left Capitol to accept the assignment to cover the 11 Western states out of Hollywood.

Monument's Hollywood office plays host to a steady string of foreign visitors - licensee music publishing representatives of the company, coming from Japan, South Africa, Germany, England, Sweden, France, India, Argentina, etc. Monument's International Division maintains liaison, from Hollywood, with more than 80 different countries in the licensing of the Monument, Sound Stage 7 and Rising Sons recordings (all issued overseas on the Monument label). The one product is marketed at particular times, arranging foreign promotional tours of their artists, obtaining foreign masters for the distribution in the U.S.A., and certain other foreign markets from abroad, securing foreign copyrights for publication in the U.S.A., and reaping up foreign publishing firms or sub-publishing new American hits of Monument's Combine, Vintage, Music City Music, Songs of the World and Wide World of Music music companies—overseas, etc.

The International Department out of Hollywood also coordinates the foreign sales programs of Monument with the U.S. Military abroad via the excellent Charles Brady and Associates organization—plus scouting the local Hollywood sound stage scene for possible soundtracks as well as soundtracks from foreign films (such as their "Tokyo Olympiad" score), meeting with local Hollywood talent, songwriters and other songwriters visiting the 900 Sunset offices.

Buck Stapleton, Monument's energetic West Coast Exploitation Director, doesn't spend too much time in the office, as he has to be "on the road"—Los Angeles, San Francisco, Denver, Phoenix, Seattle, Hawaii, etc., as he comes from promotion on the scene in behalf of Boots Randolph, Ray Stevens, Joe Simon, Billy Walker, Don Cherry, Charles Aznaveur, the Nashville Singers, Ella Washington, Addy Flor and Tony Joe White.

In conjunction with Steve Poncio, Monument's Vice-President in charge of Sales and Merchandising, Buck meets with distributors and their promo people to set the tempo on upcoming releases and to aid them in their sales campaigns with solid radio airplay on specific releases, artists. Buck also helps watch the talent during his West Coast travels with the hope of finding that one "different" artist.

Helping round out the Monument "West staff are Cheri Williams, Vice-President, Bob Weiss, and Mary Theresa Isacco, who aids both Weiss and Stapleton.

The day starts early at Monument West, one with the vast time differences between the USA and foreign countries, and it ends late.

NEW YORK — This week marks the second anniversary of Kelli Ross and Art Wayne's Alouette Productions.

In the short time they've been in existence they've created a unique position for themselves within the music industry. When a producer or artist decides to start a publishing company the administration usually falls into the hands of a lawyer who acts mainly as a licensing house and collection agency. Alouette not only serves in this capacity, but functions in every aspect necessary to maintain a successful publishing company. This service includes the making of foreign sub-publishing deals, supervising the making of demos, promotion and, in many cases, the maximum exploitation of material.

Mrs. Ross and Wayne started off in one room with just a few clients—Lesley Gore's Buffet Music, Inc., and Enchanted Music, Inc. and Quincy Jones' Earth Music, Inc. (which they own). As the operation grew, more deals came their way. When Quincy wrote his award-winning score to "The Parnbrook," he and Eli Landau formed Parnbrook Music with Alouette Productions. The film and score have since won countless awards and has become a worldwide smash.

Shortly thereafter a 15-year-old prodigy walked through the door and added another rung to the ladder in their upward climb. The 15-year-old was Janis Ian, and she and her manager Celia Resnick (ASCAP) to Mrs. Ross and Wayne for administration. In the past year some of the biggest hits Levine and Resnick produced are included in the Peanut Butter catalogue: "Chewy, Chewy" and "Down At Lulu's" by The Ohio Express; "Shake" by The Shadows of Knight which smashes "Gimme Gimme Good Lovin'" by the Crazy Elephant and "Mercy" by the Ohio Express. Exclusive writers signed to Peanuts include Joe Levine, Kris Resnick, Layng Martine, Jr., Pat Poor and Steve Feldman. Although Levine and Resnick productions and rubbiers were sold to Transcontinental Investment Corporation last week, Alouette will continue to run Peanut Butter and Jelly music companies.

Last week the final papers were signed between a group of Wall Street investors and Gary Geld and Peter Udell in a six-figure purchase of Geld-Udell Music, Inc. The catalogue includes "Save Your Heart For Me," "Ginny Come Lately," "Warmed Over Kisses, Left Over Love" and "He Says The Same Things To Me." These and some 150 other copyrights will be put into two newly created firms—Andalusian Music Co. (ASCAP), and Tapestry Music, Inc. (BMI), and will be exclusively administered and exploited by Alouette.

Wayne is currently preparing a folio which will be comprised of the biggest hits in the Geld-Udell catalogue and will be titled "Twelve Million People Can't Be Wrong." Along with the folio, a record including various renditions of the hit tunes will be distributed to every A & R man and independent producer in the United States and Europe.

Wayne will be flying to various recording centers in a concentrated effort on behalf of Andalusian and Tapestry Music. His itinerary includes Los Angeles (May 4-13), San Francisco (May 14-17), Memphis (May 21-23), Nashville (May 24-26), London (June 18-29) and Paris (June 30-July 5). This will be the first of many acquisitions made by the group. A Fifth Street investor is making a $1 million effort to build a multi-million dollar publishing compound that will be exclusively run by Alouette Productions.

Three more administration deals that were just signed include indie producers Ron Haffkine and Barry Oslander’s Blue Snow Music, Inc., and Bob Beth Music, Inc., which has Pepe Marcello and Sol Burke as exclusive writers contract. Their first joint effort, “The Good Rate,” album for Kapp (of which Marcello is the leader), will be released this week. They are currently preparing their second album.

The latest artist’s publicity to join Alouette’s compound are “The Fool”—a three-quarters Dutch, one-quarter English group who have worked with the Beatles among others. All the material in their first Mercury album was written by the Fool and published by Fool Arts Music, Inc. They are currently preparing to go on an extensive European tour to promote the album and start working on their next record.

Among the artists to have recorded in the Alouette compound are: “The Fool” by Al Stillman.

Lanin ‘Aquarius’ Rushed by Metromedia

Metromedia Records has rushed the release of an instrumental version of the hit "Aquarius," by Lester Lanin and His Orchestra.

The record, previously released on Lanin’s own Jolle label, was distributed to thousands of disk jockeys across the country but no commercial stock was pressed. The single has already received much radio exposure and is showing up on many playlists. A commercial demand has been created and the single will be immediately released and distributed on the Metromedia Records label.

RECORD WORLD—April 26, 1969
Wonderful Wembley

What a day for country music was Saturday, April 5, 1969. At long last, British country music fans had an opportunity of seeing and hearing the biggest galaxy of American country stars outside of Nashville.

Four hours of fabulous entertainment was presented before a cheering throng of over 10,000 fans who filled the vast confines of Wembley. But let me begin at the beginning, when the stars arrived at London airport on Friday, April 4. Although the plane was not due to arrive until 10:40, the fans were there en masse by 8 a.m.

What a colorful collection gathered together for the eventual arrival which was over an hour late. The Conway Twitty and Merrill Moore fans were dressed in their rock-'n'-roll garb (specially made kind of zoot suits; padded shoulders, knee-length jackets and long pencil-pointed shoes), along with 20 beautifully mini-dressed hostesses in attractive suede outfits wearing black tights, plus representatives from various record companies (RCA, MCA, CBS, Atlantic and Southern) plus all types of Western wear. There were autograph sales at all the stands and sales of $5,000 worth of disks.

Ladies Stepped Forward

As the ladies in the party came forward, the hostesses stepped up and presented them with flowers after they came through customs. The ladies being Loretta Lynn, Jan Howard and Mrs. Jo Walker. As they and the rest of the party emerged, the cheers echoed throughout the building. Bill Anderson was met by the Po' Boys, Conway Twitty and the Lonely Blue Boys, George Hamilton IV, Merrill Moore, Charlie Walker, John Wesley Ryles, Hubert Long, Bob Neal and O. V. Lynn (Loretta’s husband) made up the rest of the contingent.

Taken to Town

After meeting the fans, taking photographs and giving autographs, the party was taken into town by five gleaming Rolls Royces (driven by smartly dressed chauffeurs in convoys) and flying British and American flags.

More press and fans greeted the Nashville stars when they pulled up at the new and elegant Royal Garden Hotel near London’s West End. Just about everyone needed the remainder of the day to rest up in order to be good and refreshed for the next day. From 10 in the morning the crowds came through the turnstiles at Wembley that Saturday to visit the Festival. This consisted of trade stands in the corridors of Wembley Pool. MCA, RCA, and CBS were the major record companies represented at the Festival. During the day, the stars came to the stands of their respective companies to sign autographs and meet their fans. The MCA stand alone needed eight Wembley guards to control the fans wanting to meet their favorites.

Music publishers Acuff-Rose and Southern were busy displaying and selling catalogues of sheet music, while the musical instrument manufacturers and retailers Rose-Morris rang up a number of orders for guitars and such. Of the trade papers, all were busy signing up new subscribers, as well as selling present and past issues. Soho Record Centre reported a sale of £5,000 worth of disks during the day.

Mrs. Jo Walker was busy on the CMA stand handing out information about the association, and selling a number of country music publications. The Westerner Shop displayed and sold all types of Western clothing, while the Mervyn Conn Organization stand (promoters of the Festival) acted as the information center. Beaming with British and American flags and ribbons, and staffed by a number of beautiful hostesses, it was the focal point of the day for obvious reasons.

Another great attraction was the Remuda Western Club made up of members who dress cowboy style and do all kinds of tricks with lariats, guns, etc. About 6,000 showed up for the Exhibition, another four thousand came to Wembley in the evening. The huge Wembley Pool was filled to capacity, when the British group the Orange Blossom Sound opened the show. By the time they finished their segment with the "Orange Blossom Special" they had made countless new fans, Irish C/W favorite Larry Cunningham followed. With his Jim Reeves-styled voice, Larry and his boys were given a warm welcome by both the Irish who flew over especially for the day, and those resident in Britain. The festival was rock 'n' roll from beginning to end. Merrill Moore who flew in from San Diego, Calif. for the event had some mike problems, but nevertheless made quite an impact.

John Wesley Ryles was a new name and talent to many at Wembley, but after finishing his stint, John could hear for himself how enthused the audience was about his performance.

Loretta a Showstopper

Loretta Lynn did what we all expected she would; she stopped the show. After her singing stint, Loretta kicked off her shoes and did her Scuba dance as a finale. That really did it. The Loretta Lynn Pool had 10,000 added to its list.

To close the first half, Bill Anderson, Jan Howard, Jimmie Gateley and the Po' Boys left the stage and sundry thrills were present to hear such a bevy of talent. The second half opened with two Liverpool groups, Phil Brady and the Ranchers and the Hilliders. Both have large followings in this country which will have increased considerably after their appearance at Wembley.

Before the next act came on, organizer Conn came on to thank all those participating both on stage and behind the scenes and on both sides of the Atlantic who helped to make Wembley such a tremendous success. At the same time, Conn made a few pointed remarks about artists who had signed contracts to appear at the Nashville Festival and failed to honor them. In closing he announced a Marty Robbins tour is being arranged for later this year. This sparked off a thunderous cheer.

The stage show resumed with an American now resident in London, Wes Buchanan. Wes had amplifier problems, but was a crowd-pleaser all the same. Charlie Walker thrilled to be on stage for his portion. In the next 15 minutes Charlie tore the place up, and the crowd was loathe to let him go. But Wes was now on his way into its fourth hour, with the audience enjoying every minute of this marvelous evening. George Hamilton IV came out front and center and was welcomed by a mighty round of applause, since he is no stranger to these shores. As usual, George was tremendous, and it was the closing act of Conway Twitty and the Lonely Blue Boys. The hour was close to midnight, and yet not a soul moved to go home when the fans did their last number. In fact, they all stood and cheered for more. But it just wasn’t possible.

I had the honor as one of the M.C.’s of the show to bring to my fellow emcees, David Allan and Stephen West, along with all the 40 or so performers to fill up the huge Wembley stage from end to end, for a mass bow to an ear-splitting cheer from the Wembley audience.

It was the most exciting moment in my life, a sentiment shared by just about everybody who was involved. To all of you who came over from the states for the Festival, it was good to see you and I hope we have you back with us again soon. To the knockers, the doubters, the uncommitted, the International Country and Western Festival of 1969 proves that British country music is here to stay!

Nashville, Memphis to BMI Meet

A special charter flight carried this group of executives to the First Annual BMI Awards Presentation in Detroit, April 15. Frances Preston, BMI Vice President based in Nashville, co-ordinated the special flight carrying Memphis and Nashville music industry leaders.

To Stop

Rudy Preston was in Nashville last week with his wife Carol and accomplished quite a bit.

Preston signed a contract with Stop Records and recorded two sides, "Him of the Hour" and "Circumstantial Evidence," which will be released in May. He also placed songs with Yonah Music, Owe-par Music, Window Music and Dixie Jane Music and made appearances on the Ernest Tubb show and at the Black Poodle. He plans to move to Music City next month.

Lover's Guitar

Chet Atkins— RCA Victor LSP 4135.

More beautiful (in both senses of the phrase) instrumentation from Chet. Many of the selections on the album have a Latin flavor. Included are "Cajita de Musica," "Cancion del Viento," "Estudio Brillante," and "La Madrugada."

The Country Beat of Warner Mack

Decca DL 75092.

No stranger to top of the country charts, Warner should be seeing that charmed area again with this new package of "Leave of My Dream Alone," "Be Proud of You Man," "Don't Wake Me I'm Dreaming," "Be Good to Your Neighbor Everyday."

I've Got Precious Memories

Faron Young—Mercury SR 61212.

Faron got some precious memories and he's also got some precious songs to sing. Always a winner, the fellow'll keep it going with "Cause I Do," "You Bet Your Sweet Life," "Drinking Champagne," "The Woman Who is Waiting."

Country Style

The Johnny Mann Singers—Nashville 5231.

Easy listening versions of country tunes. The airplay and sales should start right off when "Hicktown," "I'm Proud of You Man," "Don't Wake Me I'm Dreaming," "Be Good to Your Neighbor Everyday."

Barbara to Col

Lark Enterprises, a triplex operation for handling of production, publishing and talent for Country and Western recordings, introduced itself recently with a reception at the flagship hotel in Galveston, Texas. A combine for Lark Records, Liberty Talent Agency and Stacy Publishing, Lark Enterprises is located at 504 Independence, in Liberty, Texas. Simultaneous with introducing itself, Lark Enterprises released its first record as well, a single entitled "Smalltown U.S.A." by Lorece Friemom with "Including Me" by Matt Framen on the flip side.

Principals of the new venture are Matt Friemom, President of Lark Records and Libeary Talent Agency; Macey Thompson, President of Stacy Publishing; and Johnny Lindsey, Business Coordinator.

(Columbia Records has just signed Barbara Mandrell to an exclusive recording contract. Picture above are Barbara and Columbia's Billy Sherrill, Director, Nashville Artists and Repertoire, at the signing. Barbara started in show business when she was 11 and has appeared with such country artists as Johnny Cash, Red Foley and Gordon Terry.)

Buck Owens Studios Set

Capitol Records star Buck Owens announces the establishment of his new recording studio, Buck Owens Studios. The label has been designated as Blue Book Records, named in conjunction with the Buck Owens music publishing house, Blue Book Music.

Work is now being done on a specifically designed control board to regulate the studio. The studio will be able to handle all recordings, ranging anywhere from 2 tracks to 16 tracks. A great deal of exceptional equipment has been planned for the studio, including the highly specialized Moog Synthesizer.

According to Owens, this studio will comprise the finest recording system on the West Coast and will be utilized by many top artists because of its advanced technology. A tentative date for the opening session has been set in late September.

McCall Back In Action

Cash McCall has returned to the country music scene. McCall suspended personal appearances and recordings some months ago to finish studies at Eastern Michigan University. He remained active as dj at WJCO in Jackson, Mich., and hosted his own TV show on WILX in the same city.

McCall is reorganizing his band, the Greenbacks, and has a new record release on the Jesus label.

Sessioning

Jordannaire member Gordon Stoker; Dick Miles, Capitol artist and songwriter for Moss Rose Publishing Co., Inc.; Merlin Littlefield, Capitol's Nashville promotion director, and Capitol producer Larry Butler go over arrangements during Miles' recent session. Miles had a hit with "The Last Goodbye." He also wrote his forthcoming single, "The Deal."

By RED O'DONNELL

Remember Smokey Lamson of TV's "Hit Parade"? He'll be back on network television Friday (25) doing guest shot on ABC's "Generation Gap." Lamson now records for Starday and does an occasional supper club booking; betimes he's in the automobile business here and doing okay! . . . This-is-Fame Dept.: Local post office received letter the other day from Marsha Carter, Waterloo, Iowa, addressed "To the home of Jeannie C. Riley, Nashville, Tenn." It was delivered without delay to office of Shelby Singleton for whose Plantation label she records. Nine months ago the postal clerks would have asked, "who's Jeannie C. Riley?" . . . What with two network video series and a Mickey Spillane movie "The Delta Factor") in production heretofore, the town's temporarily populated with name brand performers; like Doug (Trampas) McClure of "The Virginian" this week and "Boonanza's" Dan (Rose) Blocker next week.

Metromedia Rushes 'Spring'

Metromedia Records has rushed the release of a single titled "Spring" recorded by country vocalist Clay Hart.

The song, the story of the life of a girl named "Spring," gives indications of being one of the hot pop-country songs to come along in 1969. Hart recorded the song in Nashville.
