One of the
true
innovators
in radio . . . is available to you for a
programming
or management
assignment

There are many radio people whose creativity is limited to what tape brings in from creative stations elsewhere. I don't know how many genuine innovators there are, but I know they are few indeed, and I also know (at the risk of seeming immodest) that I am one of them. Name: Bill Stewart. Background: 3½ years with McLeondon, 3½ years with Storz, now with the Star Stations, but choosing to part company for reasons unrelated to my work. I'm eager to tackle an assignment which can fully utilize my programming experience, management capacities, and the exuberance of youth—seasoned, albeit, youth. (Age: 31). You can phone me at Terrace 8727, Omaha. Or, write Bill Stewart, 2509 South 84th Street, Omaha, Nebraska.
